Natives Clamor To Attend School

EAST LONDON, South Africa — (CP) — Natives in East London are being lifted from ignorance to literacy in three months—all for 5s. (75 cents).

The only catch is that the East London Technical College cannot at present cope with more than 12 students at a time, and thousands of natives are anxious to take advantage of the Maida White system of teaching now in use.

In the last 12 months about 50 native men and women have been able to bridge the gulf between illiteracy and enlightenment.

This advance in education is the result of pioneer work done in the Philippines by Dr. Frank Laubach of the United States.

Brought Out Reader

The result was a literacy reader in Xosa which can be digested by the student in 36 lessons.

The course has been evolved on the supposition that the students have a large adult vocabulary, and a reasonably wide general knowledge.

They are first taught to recognize sounds. One man who passed through the classes is 26 years old and shared a house in the East Bank Location with a grey-haired patriarch who was a voracious reader of the Bible.

Inspired by the passages which the old man read to him he wanted to explore the Bible for himself.

He went to the Technical College classes, and in five months was able to read the Bible with greater proficiency than his friend.

Business Direction Course At College

TORONTO, May 18 (CP) — The University of Toronto Wednesday announced creation of an Institute of Business Administration.

It will develop the study of business administration and industrial relations in the school of graduate studies and will be responsible for administration of the master of commerce degree course. It will absorb and continue the work of the Institute of Industrial Relations.

Dr. Sidney Smith, University president, said the school will do research in business, production, marketing, finance, personnel administration and industrial relations. Development of close contacts with business, government, industry and unions and provision for educational service to these groups is planned.

About a dozen business men will be named to the staff.

Expect 300 Youths To Attend Convention

MONTREAL, May 18.—(CP)—Three hundred youths from Ontario and Quebec are expected to attend a two-day youth convention at the Seventh Day Adventist Church here Friday and Saturday.

The Rev. T. W. Dunbar, of Washington, spiritual leader of 150,000 Adventist youths, will be one of the main speakers.

Others will include the Rev. G. Eric Jones of Oshawa, former president of Atlantic Union College in Massachusetts; the Rev. A. W. H. Kaytor, Oshawa; the Rev. U. M. Michael, Kingston; the Rev. Clarence Long, Ottawa; and the Rev. Malcolm Fisher, Waterloo, Que.

State Control Fear Always Faces Doctors

OTTAWA, May 18 (CP)—Dr. E. Kirk Lyon, Leamington, newly-elected president of the Ontario Medical Association, said Wednesday night that the "fear" of state control is "constantly hanging over the heads of the medical profession."

"We find the profession disturbed by events abroad, and uneasy about many tendencies at home," Dr. Lyon told the association's 71st annual convention here.

"The increased cost of illness has brought government subsidies into the picture until the cost of many preventive treatments has come to be an accepted responsibility of the government," he said.

Under these conditions, it had to be admitted that the medical profession is enjoying a freedom of enterprise and investigation, subsidized in part by the government, that has improved the health of Canada, increasing life expectancy from 34 to 67 years.

Henry Wellwood 70 Dies In Cedar Harbor

CEDAR HARBOR, May 18.—(CP).—Henry Wellwood, 70, who was second in command of the Canadian Railroad Construction Corps in France during the First World War, died Tuesday at his Lake Simcoe home here.

Mr. Wellwood was born in Kingston, where in his youth he was known as a football and lacrosse player. He was on the engineering staff of the Federal Transport Department and retired three years ago.

Surviving are his widow; a daughter, Nursing Sister Evelyn Wellwood, Camp Borden, and a son, William, Montreal. The funeral will be in Kingston.

Expect All Quints Live To 50 Years

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—Statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company said on Wednesday that the chances are two in three that the Dionne quintuplets will live to celebrate their 50th birthday together.

The famed Canadian sisters will be 16 May 28.

The chances are 97 in 100 that all five will attain their majority.

The Dionnes and the Diligentis of Argentina, born in 1943, are the only known cases of quintuplets in all medical history who have survived infancy, the announcement said.

Church Opposition Spread In Diocese

LONDON, Ont., May 18 (CP)—The Anglican Synod of Huron, which Tuesday protested to the Ontario government legislation allowing Sunday sports and civil marriage today carried its opposition to every municipality in the diocese.

Every mayor and reeve in Huron diocese will be advised that the Synod "strongly condemns all secularization of our Christian Sunday through the opening of the day to commercialized sport, and that we feel most deeply the danger of continuing inroads of commercial interests upon the Lord's day."

Driver Charged Drunk Driving

Judgment was reserved by Magistrate R. B. Baxter in police court today in the trial of Jack Dinsdale, who was living at 537 Armour Rd., charged with drunk driving.

Charles Gallister, Toronto, said while driving south on Water St. the night of April 17 he came upon a car stopped in the middle of the road. He drove around it, but a block farther on decided it was a danger to traffic, circled the block and went to push it to the curb.

At this point Dinsdale walked up to him and said he was the driver of the car. He commented to Dinsdale it was a strange place to leave a car, someone might have been killed.

That's too bad, Dinsdale answered.

Gallister went back to his car and as the other car passed him, Dinsdale stuck out his tongue at Gallister.

Gallister said he started to drive back to his hotel in the same direction as Dinsdale, but as he was crossing London St. he saw Dinsdale pull into a lane in preparation to turning around.

Backel Around Corner

I sensed what was going to happen and stopped right there Gallisted said. He said Dinsdale backed out of the lane and started to drive toward him. He said Dinsdale swung over from his right side of the road and started heading directly at Gallister who backed quickly around the corner.

If I hadn't, it would have been a head on crash, Gallister said. He then started out in pursuit to try to get the licence number. He said Dinsdale kept turning corners at every block and he was unable to catch him.

He cruised around the area for some time and then saw Dinsdale's car again and verified his impression of the licence number. Gallister reported the incident to police.

Traffic Officer Harold Mesley said he and Constable Harold Andrew located the car in front of 537 Armour Rd. He said Dinsdale was lying on the front seat with his feet under the steering wheel. Saliva was running from his mouth onto the seat. In his right hand he held a bunch of keys as if he had just taken the ignition key from the switch.

The police shook Dinsdale awake and helped him to the police car.

He was in a very drunken condition, Constable Mesley said. He was very unsteady on his feet and his breath smelled strongly of intoxicants.

He also said one fender of Dinsdale's car had a very recent dent in it.

Stuart Heffernan, who had boarded with Dinsdale, testified Dinsdale had come into his room where he was reading about 12.30. Dinsdale sat and talked and then brought in a bottle of whiskey. He said Dinsdale had about four or five drinks and he knew that he had been drinking before coming home. But he was not drunk when he first came in said Heffernan.

After about half an hour, Dinsdale said he was going out to get the keys of his car. Heffernan said he listened for the car starting because he knew Dinsdale was in no condition to drive. He heard nothing and looked out, saw the car there, decided Dinsdale had gone for a walk and he went back to bed. The next morning he was informed Dinsdale had been arrested on a charge of drunk driving.

Expensive Pictures

MUNICH, Germany, May 18 — (AP)—A United States high commission court Wednesday sentenced a Czech national to two years in prison for taking photographs of U. S. army manoeuvres in Germany. Karl Wanka, 55, pleaded guilty. He claimed he was compelled by Czech authorities to accept the spying assignment in order to gain his freedom from prison.

Grieve Too Soon Bishop Alive

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP) Approximately 1,000 church workers bowed in deeply expressed grief for a time Tuesday night after being told—erroneously—of the death of Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam.

The incident was apparently the work of a morbid practical joker.

Bishop Oxman good-naturedly assured a reporter in New York that he was not dead.

The Rev. Dr. Frederick Reissig, executive director of the Washington Federation of Churches, announced at a meeting of the Federation that he had just been informed of the death of Bishop Oxnam, resident Methodist Bishop in the New York area.

The nearly 1,000 persons present joined in silent prayer, and then sang the "Doxology." The meeting adjourned before they learned of the apparent hoax.

Dr. Reissig explained to reporters later that the "message" had been brought to him by a hotel bell hop on what appeared to be a telegraph blank. He said it was addressed to him and was unsigned.

He could give no explanation of where it might have come from.

Weekly Papers Start Flood Area Fund

BRAMPTON, May 18 (CP) — The Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association has opened a fund for rehabilitation of 12 Manitoba weeklies seriously affected in the floods.

Roy Bean of the Waterloo Chronicle, president of the CWNA, and W. E. McCarthey of the Brampton Conservator, managing director, announced Wednesday the establishment of the fund with the approval of the board of directors.

A committee of Manitoba members of the CWNA is being set up to administer the fund.

Mrs. Maud Nicholls Is Laid To Rest

Funeral service for the late Mrs. Maud Nicholls of 402 McDonnel St., was held on Wednesday at the Kaye Funeral Home. The Rev. R. Hobson of Park Street Alliance Church officiated and pallbearers were Eugene, William and Harry Donavan, Fred and Jack Christmas and James Johnson. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

CLEARING HOUSE

The clearing house figure for the week ending May 18 was $2,951,483, an official announced today.

Smoke Causes $700 Damage

A smouldering fire that saturated the home of Ronald L. MacGee, 328 Gordon Ave., with oily black smoke Wednesday afternoon, is believed to have caused about $700 damage.

The fire must have smouldered for hours before it was discovered shortly after 5 p.m. by Mrs. Phyllis MacGee when she and her husband returned home from work.

Cause of the fire is still being investigated but it may have been defective wiring.

The blaze was confined to the front room of the four-room dwelling but the smoke and heat penetrated to every part of the house.

"Why even my shirts in the drawer were black," said Mr. MacGee. "The entire interior of the house is covered with an oily smoke film. Everything will have to be washed. Expense? The cleaning bill alone will be about $200."

One Of Worst Cases

"One of the adjustors told me it was the worst case of smoke damage he had seen".

Actual destruction due to fire was not extensive. A chesterfield chair and a small end table were destroyed and a three-foot hole was burnt in the floor.

The MacGees were home at noon and locked up when they left shortly before 1 p.m. It is believed the fire in the front room began almost as soon as they left.

Four Hours Later

When Mrs. MacGee opened the front door four hours later she met the blast of heat and smoke. By the time firemen arrived her husband was fighting the fire with pails of water. A booster line was used to extinguish it.

"There was still a heavy charge of heat and smoke when we got there," said Fire Chief George Smith.

"The whole place would have gone up if there had been a door or windows left open in the house. As it was the fire just smouldered and threw off smoke. There was very little flame."

Today the MacGees are faced with the messy job of cleaning up and redecorating.

Press Freedom

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, May 18 (AP)—A United Nations group urged yesterday that governments respect the rights of the press fully even when they find it necessary to declare a "state of emergency." The action was voted by the U. N. sub-commission on freedom of information and the press 10 to 0. This vote approved a resolution for general assembly consideration.

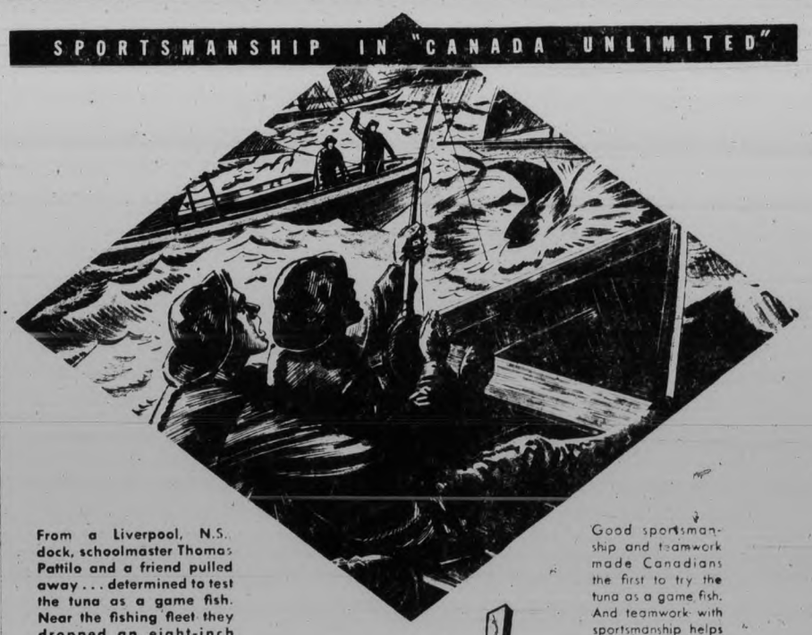
Drowns In Brook

SOUTHBRIDGE, Mass., May 18 (AP)—A 69-year-old man was drowned Wednesday while getting water for flowers on his wife's grave. Police said Antonio Diulio slipped into a brook bordering St. Mary's cemetery. The brook is only eight inches deep.

Duchin Improving

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP) — Eddy Duchin, band leader and pianist, was reported in good condition today at Memorial Hospital for cancer and allied diseases where he has been under treatment for two weeks. Nature of his ailment was not disclosed.

SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"



From a Liverpool, N.S. dock, schoolmaster Thomas Pattilo and a friend pulled away . . . determined to test the tuna as a game fish. Near the fishing fleet they dropped an eight-inch homemade hook and 30 fathoms of codline.

Suddenly a tuna struck . . . their dory shot through the fleet. Angry fishermen watched them swamp a small boat, then slashed their line. But Pattilo was undaunted. Later in 1871 he tried again . . . and landed a gleaming, 600-pound bluefin. Tuna fishing, for sport, had been born.

First! in Canada Unlimited

Good sportsmanship and teamwork made Canadians the first to try the tuna as a game fish. And teamwork with sportsmanship helps you, too. Together they keep your opportunities for work and play in Canada . . . unlimited.

Fenelon Council NamesNewChief

LINDSAY, May 18 —(CP)— Reeve J. W. Mackay said Wednesday that Fenelon Falls village council had accepted the application of W. Lang of Penetanguishene to succeed Dave Gordon who was dismissed as chief constable.

"The matter is closed as far as I'm concerned. Mr. Lang will start as soon as possible at $1,800 per year," said the reeve.

Mr. Gordon, fired the day after he requested a salary increase from $1,500 to $2,000, said that he is going to ask the attorney-general's department to investigate.

"My dismissal without any charges against me will test the police act," he added.

Councillor J. A. Lyons at the council meeting moved a motion to rescind the by-law dismissing Chief Gordon but no one would second the motion.

Councillor C. Moffat said Gordon had been given a number of reasons for the dismissal.

Gas and Stomach Disorders Made Him Tired, Rundown

Couldn't Sleep Well, Got Dizzy Spells, "Very Poor Appetite, Had No Energy," Says This Man. Tells How Syntona Helped Him.

When the stomach is out of order and food fails to digest properly many common symptoms may often follow. Appetite is frequently lost and you may feel fatigued, nervous and unable to get sound sleep. Constipation, backache, sick throbbing headache, and dizzy feelings are just a few of the symptoms which may add to your suffering.

MR. OLIVER GUILFOYLE

Syntona Herbal Compound has proved highly beneficial for men and women suffering this way because it acts on kidneys, liver and bowels, while at the same time relieving the sick, upset condition of the digestive system. "It is a medicine which every person should know about," said Mr. Oliver Guilfoyle, Granton, Ontario, in a recent report.

"I don't know what I would have done without Syntona. I was suffering terribly with gas cramps, and constipation. I got awful dizzy feelings, couldn't get my proper sleep, and had no desire to eat. Syntona was the only thing that would settle my stomach and help make me feel better, so I decided to take it regularly for awhile and almost each day I could see that I was improving. Now, it has cleared up all the gas cramps and other distress in my stomach. Constipation is relieved, my appetite has returned, sleep is sound and restful, and I am feeling like myself once again.

"I have no hesitation in recommending Syntona to anyone suffering as I did."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Peterborough at Elliott's Drug Store.—(Advt.)

LOSER WINS KISS—There were no hard feelings when George Hees, 39, Progressive Conservative, defeated Ruth Radford, Liberal, in the Toronto Broadview by-election on Tuesday. While his wife cheered him on, the new MP grabbed Miss Radford and soundly kissed her. The pretty receptionist, second in a four-candidate race, had dropped into Tory headquarters to congratulate the former Argonaut football star on his victory.

Gladiolus Growers Plan Test Garden

Peterborough is one of four places in Ontario this year to have a test garden for gladiolus. To date 20 entries have been accepted for the test garden and an additional 15 are expected to round out the garden which will be at Wallace's Point under the supervision of George Clarke, a Canadian gladiolus judge.

Each garden entrant will be given five seeding bulbs which will be planted in the test garden. In August when the flowers are in full bloom judges from Toronto, assisted by Dr. J. H. Leslie and Fred Storey, will award prizes.

Apart from the test garden the junior committee of the society has decided to give each junior member 12 exhibition bulbs to induce the members to take an active part in flower culture. They are also encouraging the juniors by donating valuable prizes at the August flower show when more than 100 are expected to exhibit their flowers.

The junior committee is composed of: Harold Goldthorpe, Fred Storey, Mrs. George Duncan, Mrs. M. Fowler, Richard Hocking, Bud Lloyd, Miss Rosanne Connelly. Any junior wishing gladiolus may telephone Bud Lloyd at 2-3935.

Bethany News

Miss Grace Driver, who has been employed at the Canadian General Electric Company, Peterborough, is home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Driver, for three weeks' vacation, prior to her marriage to Mr. Douglas E. Bruce of Toronto, which will take place in Bethany United Church, June 3. During the past week Toronto friends have entertained for Miss Driver. Mrs. Elsie Brown had a miscellaneous shower at her home which 20 people attended. There were 30 guests at the home of Mrs. Irvine Bruce, who presented Miss Driver with a pressure cooker and two hampers of canned goods and fruit.

Sunday guests with Mrs. F. Davis and Mrs. H. Bristow were Mrs. Rhoda Johnson of Peterborough, Mrs. Isobel Davis, Glen Davis and Garry Davis of Eldorado, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bristow and son Garry of Yelverton.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Merrick, Kingston, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stacey over the week-end.

Monday night's ball game, Bethany junior school team vs. Cavan boys, resulted in a win for the Bethany boys with a score of 19-16.

Mrs. Walter Price is visiting relatives in Oshawa.

Mr. and Mrs. James Turnbull, Peterborough, were Sunday visitors with Mrs. H. H. Ryley and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Ryley.

Mrs. Cecil Hughes and daughter Wendy, Toronto, have been visiting with Miss Laura Fallis.

Miss Hannah Staples is in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

Abandon Plan To Blow Up Part Of Rail Line, Dikes Face New Threat

New Tons of Water Battering Barricades For Next Five Days; More Homes Menaced If Dikes Topple

WINNIPEG, May 19.—(CP).—The army gave up its plan to blast out part of the Canadian National Railways' branch line to Letellier, Man., to relieve pressure on a strained Fort Garry dike. A crew of 27 CNR employees worked with pick and shovel through the night. By 6:30 a.m. CDT, a 300-foot-long hole had been cut through the roadbed and confined flood water was running eastward into the swollen Red River.

The threatened dike, along McGillivray Boulevard in south Fort Garry, was tottering, but standing.

The water along McGillivray Dike was higher than in the nearby river. It was confined between two raised railway lines. Water from southern Manitoba's 600-square mile river-formed lake was pushed into the top half of a square.

Permanent Damage

Decision to use dynamite as first planned was reached after CNR officials expressed doubt such a blast could be set off without cutting so deeply into the ground that a permanent "soft spot" would be left in the roadbed.

Difference in the water level on east and west sides of the railway was 16 inches, army engineers said. They said the extra water allowed to join the Red would have no effect on the river level in Winnipeg proper. The Winnipeg reading was 30.3 feet early today.

The north-south Letellier line, now cut, has been out of service since May 11 because of flooding in the Red River. CNR main line service in and out of Winnipeg is in no way affected.

No Guarantee

Reporters at the flood-headquarters morning press conference were told perhaps 200 homes would be flooded if the McGillivray dike broke.

An army spokesman said there was belief two railway embankments to the north would keep the water out of residential Riverview and Crescentwood even if the dike collapsed — but there could be no guarantee of that.

Treated Well By Chinese 2 U.S. Fliers Say

PEARL HARBOR, May 19. — (AP).—Two United States airmen indicated Thursday they had admitted a Red charge of spying in order to escape from 18 months of captivity in Communist North China.

Marine Sgt. Elmer C. Bender, 27, Cincinnati, and Navy Chief Electrician's Mate William S. Smith, 32, Long Beach, Calif., said they were treated better "then we could possibly have expected."

But they wouldn't say yes or no at a press conference when asked if they had signed confessions that they were American spies. The Communists in announcing their release May 3 said they confessed.

"As far as statements we made while we were up there," said Bender, "we were cut off entirely and the best way to get out was through our own efforts."

The two were captured Oct. 19, 1948, when their light plane was forced down by engine trouble near the North China port of Tsingtao. The city then was a U.S. navy anchorage and they were on a training flight.

They were not treated badly. "We ate as well as the Chinese did," Smith observed. He added that their captors "went out of their way to give us as much as they could of all that they had."

Bender said the Chinese people he saw "are getting a better deal under the Communists than they were under the Nationalist government."

Throughout their captivity they said they remained on friendly relations with their captors.

Car Drops 45 Ft. 5 Escape Death

HAMILTON, May 19.—(CP).—Five Hamilton men were pulled bruised and bleeding from the wreckage of an automobile Thursday after the car had ripped through a guard rail on westside McKittrick bridge, turned over in mid-air and dropped to the ground 45 feet below.

Although the car was crushed and battered out of shape, only two of the injured youths were in serious condition. They were Bernard Granby and John McCruddin.

Others injured: John Buscombe, James Banche and Robert Skene, 63. They suffered only minor bruises.

Predict Next 100 Days Critical For Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa, May 19 (AP) —Gen. Chiang Ching-kuo, elder son of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, said today Formosa faces a critical 100 days.

His statement came as the Nationalist government officially announced its troops still held Quemoy Island off the mainland port of Amoy.

Young Chiang, chief of the defence ministry's political section, said there were indications the Chinese Communists might have skipped the recently abandoned Chushan Islands and struck Formosa direct.

This, he explained, was one of the reasons for the Nationalist withdrawal which Chiang claimed would not only bolster the defence of Formosa but would pave the way for a Nationalist invasion of the Red mainland.

Belgium Pays Canada In Full For Aid

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP)—First country to make repayment in full, Belgium has handed the Canadian government a cheque for $7,000,000 to cover military aid provided by Canada at the end of the Second World War.

Payment was made in United States funds.

Belgium's payment, announced by the Belgian embassy today, follows the visit several months ago to European countries by James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to Mr. Abbott, in an attempt to settle the military-aid payments with various countries in which Canadian troops were located.

End Points Rationing

LONDON, May 19 (Reuters)—Food Minister Maurice Webb today announced the end of Britain's points rationing—the system by which many scarce canned-food products were controlled. But the rationing of staple foods such as tea, sugar, bacon and meat remains. And the tea ration is to be cut in July from 2½ to two ounces a week.

Find Your Smokestack

MOBILE, Ala., May 19.—(AP).—Where's the safest place to hide, if you are caught in an atomic bomb attack? It might be inside a smokestack, says a United States Atomic Energy Commission consultant, who studied effects of the Hiroshima and Nagasaki explosions. Col. Elbert DeCoursey said he based the conclusion on the fact that few smokestacks were knocked down in the two Japanese cities.

Foreign Trade Cuts Westclox Work Week

A decline in foreign exports has forced the Western Clock Company to discharge 15 employees and ask 150 others to accept a short-time week, John H. Vernor, general manager, announced today.

Mr. Vernor explained that the company depends upon foreign trade for one-quarter of its business. Although various countries want the company's products, he added, they have not the Canadian funds to pay for them.

Some countries such as England, Australia and New Zealand have prohibited the importation of clocks altogether, said Mr. Vernor. South Africa allows only a few to be imported.

Canada, on the other hand, he said, allows the importation of clocks freely. Even Germany, he added, exports clocks to Canada. Due to long working hours and low salaries their clocks sell cheaper on the Canadian market than Canadian clocks can.

Reduce Production

The result of the falling export trade is that the production of clocks and watches by the company, to meet the sales, has had to be reduced. The company, already has a large stock in its shipping room, Mr. Vernor commented.

The reduction in production resulted in the discharge of 15 employees during the early part of this week. An additional 150 workers, involved in the making of the clocks and watches are obliged to work a short-time week, three or four days a week.

This is the first time since the 1930 depression said Mr. Vernor, that the company has been forced to use the short week. At that time the short week lasted for two years. He added that the company hoped that the reduction in working hours would only be temporary, until the middle of the summer.

The peculiarity of the present situation, said Mr. Vernor, is that the low priced clocks and watches are not selling as well as the more expensive variety.

Three Allies Will Appoint Commissioners To Austria

LONDON, May 19 (Reuters)—Britain, the United States, and France announced today that they would shortly appoint civilian high commissioners to replace their military commanders in Austria.

They promised that if agreement with Russia on an Austrian treaty were further delayed they would themselves do all possible to "lighten the burden of occupation."

In a joint statement the three powers declared their readiness "at any time to settle without delay" the issues which have blocked four-power agreement on the treaty for over three years.

If "Soviet unwillingness" continued to prevent conclusion of the treaty, they said, the occupation would have to be maintained but they would themselves do all possible within the framework of existing four power agreements to strengthen the authority of the Austrian government.

The deputies of the "Big Four" foreign ministers have held hundreds of sessions to try to reach a solution. Western diplomats have recently charged the Soviet government with deliberately stalling the discussions.

Diplomatic observers here said the three-power declaration represented a policy of making the best of a bad job.

By it the three Western occupation powers again put on record their willingness to restore freedom and independence to Austria and their wish to settle the treaty question with the Soviet government.

But the decision to go ahead with plans for Western high commissions in Austria is seen here as evidence that the Western powers do not expect a settlement to be reached at present.

145 Escape Flames During Night

2 Women Trapped On Top Floor, Both Reach Safety

HULL, Que., May 19.—(CP).—Four nuns are believed to have been burned to death Thursday night in a fire that gutted the centre section of the Hull Normal School for girls.

Police said today that they had recovered the unidentified body of a woman from the still smouldering ruins of the school. They said the body was believed to be one of four sisters of the Grey Nuns of the Cross Order unaccounted for since the $250,000 blaze.

Missing and believed dead are:

Sister Marie de la Visitation, 36, the former Mance Route of Three Rivers, Que. Sister Marie du Sacrament, 44, the former Marie St. Pierre of Hull. Sister Jean de la Croix, 44, the former Laurence Levesque of Hull. Sister Marguerite de la Charite, 35, the former Marguerite Lafontaine of Shawinigan Falls, Que.

Jump From Top Floor

Two other nuns escaped from the top floor of the school at the height of the blaze. One jumped into a firemen's net and the second was carried unconscious down a ladder by Hull firemen.

All the 85 girl students and 58 other nuns—most of them asleep when the fire was discovered shortly after 10 p.m. Thursday night—escaped unharmed.

First word of possible fatalities in the blaze came today when firemen under direction of Hull Fire Chief Adelar Audette began searching through the wreckage for still smouldering clusters of charred timbers and found the unidentified body of a woman in the upper part of the central block of the three-storey, three-section building.

Check List

Police and school officials immediately started a complete check of the school staff and pupils, and discovered that four nuns were missing.

Firemen said they believed all four may have been trapped in the blazing structure and that three other bodies may be found in the ruins buried beneath the floors that crashed down into the lower storey and basement before the flames were brought under control.

Rescued from the blaze were Sister Marie Annette, 32 and Sister Arcadius, 71. Sister Annette suffered a broken spine when she struck a tree while jumping into a firemen's net. Hospital authorities said today that her condition is serious.

Seen For Miles

Combined resources of the Ottawa and Full fire departments fought the angry blaze which could be seen for miles around.

The school is in three sections, and by closing all fire doors between them, the two end structures were saved while the middle building became a roaring torch. Flames shot out of the top floor windows and the roof was a roaring mass of flames.

The two injured nuns were trapped on the third floor when they stayed behind to make sure all the girls had left. As the flames closed in on them from every direction, they rushed to a

Stopped Train For Joke Comedian Fined $100

FORT ERIE, May 19 —(CP)—The engineer of a freight train spotted an automobile on the tracks at a level crossing near here April 25.

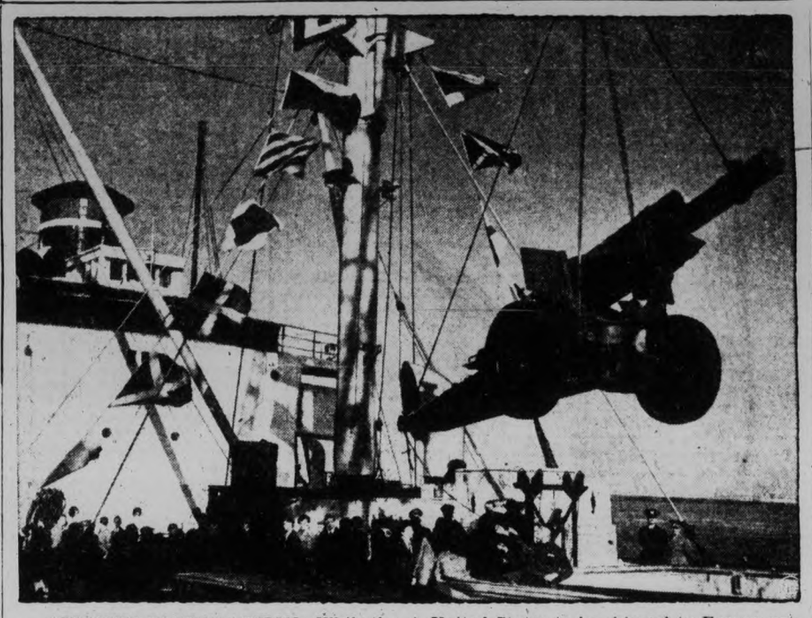
He jammed on the brakes—just in time. Earl Simms, 20, got out of the car and laughed.

He was still laughing Thursday —in court.

"Why would any man do such a thing?" asked Magistrate John Hopkins.

Said Simms: "I bet my pals a round of drinks I could stop the train—and I won."

Simms, charged with obstruction, was fined $100, surrendered his driver's licence and left the courtroom—smiling.



ATLANTIC PACT IN ACTION—While the "Big Three" foreign ministers of the top Atlantic Pact countries met in London to discuss ways to co-ordinate and strengthen their allegiance, the first gun from the United States to be shipped to Europe under the arms-aid program was hoisted over the side at Zeebrugge, Belgium. The shipment is part of a billion dollars' worth of military aid pledged by the U.S. to the defense of Western Europe.

Break Deadlock On Aid Plan For South Asia

SYDNEY, Australia, May 19—(Reuters)—Seven Commonwealth countries today broke a threatened deadlock and agreed on a compromise plan to give immediate technical aid totalling £8,000,000 ($24,800,000) to Communist-menaced countries of southeast Asia.

But they postponed for three months decision on further proposals for short-term credits to build up emergency stocks of food and drugs.

Delegates of the seven countries will confer again in London in August.

Authoritative sources giving details of the compromise, said the delay was certain to disappoint Australia, Pakistan and Ceylon. But a Pakistan delegation official commented: "it is a compromise and it is better to have something than nothing."

Takes Time

Fisheries Minister Robert Mayhew, leader of the Canadian delegation, commented:

"It would have been unfortunate if Australia had insisted on agreement to the whole scheme at this stage."

He said that Canada, while anxious to help within reasonable limits, had other commitments which prevented her from going to the full extent Australia desired.

He thought it far better that larger matters should be given fuller consideration by experts before being presented to the conference for adoption.

"It is a matter for careful planning," Mayhew said. "We must not undertake to do more than we can carry out."

Electronic Fence To Kill Lamprey

WASHINGTON, May 19—(AP) —A death-dealing electronic fence may be installed this summer across streams emptying into the Great Lakes.

Its purpose would be to kill off the Sea Lamprey, a parasite which in the last 15 years has almost ruined commercial and game fishing in Lakes Huron and Michigan. Lampreys are eel-like creatures with sucker mouths rimmed with sharp teeth.

The United States Fish and Wildlife Service said today it is negotiating with three organizations for construction of such an electric device.

The first installations would be at river mouths on Lakes Huron and Michigan.

Paul Thompson, assistant chief of fishery biology for the service, told a reporter the service hopes to have them in operation by October, in order to kill the young lamprey on their fall migration downstream into the lakes.

Inclusion of Canada-US Strengthens Economic Ties

OTTAWA, May 19.—(CP).—Expansion of the European economic concept to include views of Canada and the United States is seen by officials as a means of erecting an economic bridge between North America and Europe that may be strong enough to last for 50 years. This, say officials, is the real ambition of the big powers—the U.S., the United Kingdom and France—as well as Canada and other North Atlantic treaty nations. It would provide the only positive and powerful defence against the infiltration of Communism and Russian aggression into Western civilization.

However, they said the ultimate may not be entirely achieved through the invitation of Canada and the U.S. to sit in as partners in the organization for European Economic Co-operation.

"It opens the way for us to begin long-term economic collaboration, but only time can tell what its practical effects will be," one official said. "It may be the beginning of a strong 50-year bridge or it may be nothing. A lot will depend on the spirit and attitude of those who sit at the conference table."

Willing To Co-operate

Canada's willingness to accept an informal working relationship with the 16 European members of OEEC was voiced officially in the Commons by Prime Minister St. Laurent and in London by External Affairs Minister Pearson. Mr. Pearson is in London for talks with the foreign ministers of the Big Three, the US, the UK and France, and with other members of the North Atlantic Treaty Council.

The officials attached importance to these other economic and political developments on the international front:

1. Decision of the deputies of the North Atlantic Council to go ahead with plans for long-term economic collaboration among the 12 treaty countries. The importance of this expansion of thinking from the fields of pure mili-

Beat Opposition On Gas Policy

LONDON, May 19.—(CP). — The Government today defeated another Opposition challenge in the House of Commons, this time on its gasoline-rationing policy. The Government's majority on the vote was 46—187 to 141.

The voting was on a Conservative member's motion urging more gasoline for motorists. As the motion was not an official Opposition action, there was no question of the Government's resigning if defeated.

Since the new Parliament opened March 6, Labor with an elected majority of six has beaten down motions 10 times and private members' motions twice. The Conservatives have defeated the Government only once—on a surprise vote over adjournment, a minor technical point which did not involve the Government's life.

The Government recently upped the basic gasoline ration from 90 miles a month for each motorist to 180, and made substantial increases in the tourist allotment.

Conservative John Arbuthnot said that if Britain were to import 600,000 tons more gasoline it would be possible to abolish rationing entirely.

Foulkes At Parley

LONDON, May 19. (CP)—Lt.-Gen. C. Foulkes, chief of the general staff of the Canadian Army, arrived at London today to attend forthcoming conference of commonwealth chiefs-of-staff at Camberley, Surrey. He had been directing operations in flood-swept Winnipeg where he described conditions as "very, very serious."

Attlee Invites Pearson Discuss Flood Area Aid

LONDON, May 19.—(CP). — Prime Minister Attlee today invited L. B. Pearson to Downing Street to talk about possible British help in relieving the Manitoba flood distress.

The Prime Minister conveyed to the Canadian External Affairs minister Britain's wish to do anything she can to help in the present situation.

Pearson said the offer of assistance will be passed on to Ottawa. L. Dana Wilgress, Canadian High Commissioner to the United Kingdom, accompanied Pearson.

It was understood the government has received many letters from individual Britons asking how they can help. Similar letters also have been received by British newspapers and at Canadian House.

It was reported that the mayor of Maidenhead, Berkshire, has already started a relief fund to be sent to Canada.

In the House of Commons today there was cheering when a telegram was read from the Speaker of the Canadian House of Commons, W. Ross Macdonald.

The telegram said:

"Your telegram of sympathy with the Canadian people and the citizen of Winnipeg reached me shortly after the opening of our session this afternoon and was read by me immediately to a silent and attentive House which broke into prolonged cheering at its conclusion.

"I am sending you, for your record, a copy of today's Hansard."

The Canadian telegram was in reply to one sent this week by Speaker of the British House, Col. Douglas Crifton Brown.

Pearson Says New Pact To Aid Peace

Collective Forces Plan Puts U.N. Theory Into Practice Now

LONDON, May 19.—(CP).—L. B. Pearson, Canada's external affairs minister, said today he regards the concept of "balanced collective forces" as one of the key phrases in the final communique of the Atlantic Pact foreign ministers.

What it really means, he said, is that the Western countries have agreed to do what they had hoped to do under the United Nations charter—create an international force capable of ensuring peace.

Under the theory of "balanced collective forces," each signatory country would be asked to contribute specific units to joint defence instead of planning exclusively for their own requirements.

Thus, Pearson said, Canada might be "advised"—governments could not be directed—to concentrate, say, on building troopships instead of aircraft carriers.

The Canadian minister made these comments at a press conference in Canada House.

Prolonged Discussion

The Atlantic Pact foreign ministers ended a four-day meeting Thursday night. A final communique said they agreed to "concentrate on the creation of balanced collective forces in the progressive build-up of the defence of the North Atlantic area, taking at the same time fully into consideration the requirements for national forces which arise out of commitments external to the North Atlantic area."

It was this section, Pearson said, which caused some of the most prolonged discussion at the meeting. It meant, in effect, that the Western powers had agreed on formation of an international security force similar to that envisaged under article 43 of the U.N. charter.

Recommendations on how to balance collective forces are expected to come from the permanent board of deputies, which the foreign ministers decided to set up in London. Pearson said Canada will be represented, but he didn't know who the representative would be.

110 Drivers Baby's Audience

TORONTO, May 19 (CP) — There's a young lady out at Western Hospital who had a 110-man audience when she wailed her first wail early today.

It is broadcast to every driver in the cab fleet which employs 26-year-old Harry Smith, a bachelor who isn't quite back to normal yet.

Smith picked up Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Elliott and got them to the hospital in record time. Elliott went inside to get a doctor.

"So there was a woman alone in the back seat," said Smith. "Next thing I knew a baby was crying."

Before long—"it seemed like years"—the doctor came to the rescue. Meanwhile, 110 startled drivers listened.

Elliott gravely informed Smith it was their second child.

"The first," he said, "was nothing like this."

Harry Smith said he knows just what Lawrence Elliott means.

Oshawa Bus Drivers Take Strike Vote

OSHAWA, May 19 (CP)—Oshawa's bus drivers and maintenance men took a strike vote today.

By 6 p.m. it will probably be known whether the 84 workers will strike to enforce demands for a 40-hour work week, in place of the present 48-hour week, and a general wage increase of eight cents an hour. The workers are members of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railways and Motor Coach Employees.

House Buried In Complexity Of Tax Changes

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP)—The Commons got buried Thursday in the complexities of a 48-clause bill to amend Canada's Income Tax Act and almost forgot to come up for air.

Though Finance Minister Abbott said the measure merely implemented minor revisions and improvements in the tax structure and involved no important principle, members spent more than four hours wading through the dry and technical clauses.

When it was over, the lengthy discussion had produced these points:

1. Charitable foundations after June 1 will have to spend 90 per cent of their current income on "genuinely charitable purposes" to obtain tax exemption.

2. Western opposition members feel strongly that oil exploration and development companies should get a general relaxation of taxation and on some points Mr. Abbott promised to make enquiries.

3. Opposition members urged that Canada's tax regulations should be in language that the man on the street will understand.

Gets Second Reading

Late at night the House got around to considering amendments to the War Veterans' Allowance Act under which Imperial veterans and their widows who have resided in Canada for 20 years will become eligible for payments. The bill was given second reading.

Opposition members appealed for a boost in veterans' allowances. But Veterans' Minister Gregg said he was not in a position to recommend any such action.

At the House opening Justice Minister Garson said arrested Doukhobor terrorists in British Columbia will be imprisoned in an empty naval barracks at Comox, B. C.

Prime Minister St. Laurent announced that Canada will be glad to accept an informal working agreement with the Organization for European Economic Co-operation.

In the Senate two western gas pipe-line bills, blocked for several months by a filibuster in the Commons, were given second reading without debate.

Railways Study Plan Save Millions In Fraser Slides

By JAMES DEVLIN

VANCOUVER, May 19.—(CP).—A plan to save the railways millions of dollars in British Columbia during years of floods and heavy snows now is under consideration. The Fraser Canyon is the trouble spot for Canadian National Railways, the tracks winding along the turbulent Fraser River. On the opposite side is the mainline of Canadian Pacific Railway.

For years, the bad-weather season has meant isolation of coastal districts from the Prairies because of snow or flood-swept lines. Last winter was the worst of the century.

President Donald Gordon of the CNR, despite his few months in office, has studied the situation. He summed it up:

"The trouble is the whole darned mountain comes down on top of us every high water."

He said millions of dollars have been spent for maintenance, but he wants to see a system where "we do not have to pay out the money year after year."

Possible Solution

His experts have presented the figures and reports on a possible solution.

The job would take from $150,000,000 to $175,000,000 and would take from 20 to 25 years to complete. It would mean the reconstruction of 42 miles of mainline through the toughest part of the canyon.

Mr. Gordon, here on an inspection trip, hastens to say it will not be started this year or next, but it is of high importance for future.

The plan, it is understood, now under consideration of railway experts, called for a series of long tunnels over which snow and flood waters and rock slides would roar into the Fraser.

CPR engineers, too, have had their troubles and for some time have considered a major diversion that would eliminate heavy grades in the high Rockies. The cost, it has been estimated, would be from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000.

Preliminary surveys have been made, but it, too, is a job for the future. The CPR has heavier grades with heavy uphill pulls. The CNR follows the Fraser water grade at the bottom of the mountain.

2 WMS Groups Hold Joint Meet

HAVELOCK, May 19.—(ENS).—The Evening Auxiliary of the WMS entertained the Evening Auxiliary of Norwood United Church WMS in Havelock United Church parsonage Wednesday.

Mrs. Gerald Buchanan gave the address of welcome, which was replied to by Miss Pauline Weir, president of the Norwood auxiliary.

The program, in celebration of the 25th anniversary of the United Church of Canada, published in the Missionary Monthly, was followed, the opening worship service being conducted by Mrs. E. D. Chiles, president of the local auxiliary, assisted by Mrs. James Wilde, who read the scripture lesson.

The parts of the program, "Growing With the Years," in the society as a whole, in the auxiliary, and a litany of dedication to "Advance," was led by Mrs. Flett of Norwood, assisted by Mesdames A. Weir, A. R. Atkinson, R. Mercer, J. Stewart, G. La Brash and Miss Jacombe. Each auxiliary reviewed its work since being organized.

Norwood Started 1926

The review of the Norwood auxiliary was given by Miss Weir and showed that it had been formed in April, 1926, with a membership of 20, and had been under the leadership of Miss Weir's mother, the late Mrs. John Weir, until the fall of 1927.

Six presidents had held office and the society was reorganized in 1930, with Mrs. R. Pakenham as president. The allocation had increased to $180 despite the fluctuation in membership. Eight members had served as leaders in Mission Band work.

The Norwood auxiliary had three groups within its membership, which Miss Weir said they had found to be very helpful.

Havelock Younger

Mrs. Chiles gave the review for the Havelock auxiliary, which is a much younger organization, having been started in February, 1944, under the presidency of Miss Edna Rogers (Mrs. D. J. Holdcroft). At the meeting were five charter members: Mesdames R. Green, A. Holland, G. McGowan, G. Buchanan and Miss I. Morrison.

Other presidents were: Mesdames W. M. Patterson, A. Holland, D. McColl, G. Buchanan and J. Watson. The allocation was $75 and other activities included bales for mission work and donations to save-the-children fund and the protection of the children of Europe fund.

Miss Yuta Pikelis entertained at the piano. Mrs. S. Southward sang and a bird contest, conducted by Mrs. J. Watson, was won by Mrs. R. Pakenham of Norwood.

Lunch was served by the Havelock auxiliary.

Closer To Cow And Cut Taxes

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP)—Senator Salter Hayden (L-Ontario) Thursday in the Senate suggested that one way to get tax reductions is to get close to the cow.

Sponsoring a bill to amend the Excise Tax Act, Senator Hayden told the Upper Chamber an amendment provides for elimination of the eight-per-cent sales tax on ice cream.

"Is there any reason why ice cream should be exempted?" asked Senator W. D. Euler (L-Ontario), who had failed in a previous move to get the Chamber to approve a resolution calling for elimination of the sales tax on margarine.

"Well I guess the government considers that the closer you get to the cow, the better your chances of an exemption," replied Senator Hayden, amid laughter from both sides of the House.

The bill was given third and final reading and now awaits Royal assent before the amendments become operative.

Abandon Plan

Some 2,500 or 3,000 homes might suffer water damage if the rail embankments failed.

Object of the breach made overnight, he said, was to maintain a balance between the water in "McGillivray Lake," west of the tracks, and in the nearby Red and Seine Rivers. If too much water was let out of the lake, it might raise the level of the Red and its tributary Seine. St. Boniface and Norwood, down stream across from Winnipeg proper, might be flooded "through the back door."

The seven-mile-long Norwood dike protecting St. Boniface and Norwood on the Red River side was apparently solid.

Early today the dikes held. But there were indications the assault might last five days. The long-range forecast was for stormy weather until May 24 in North Dakota and Minnesota where the river rises. There would be fringe effects through the whole river valley to Lake Winnipeg, the weather office indicated.

Every drop of rain would weaken the inner defences of greater Winnipeg, its central 49 square miles already one-sixth under water.

McGillivray dike was the urgent trouble spot but all Greater Winnipeg's 20 miles of dikes were threatened.

At Lyndale Drive a formidable, curving reef of sandbags and earth protected St. Boniface and its Norwood suburb from inundation. The army said the pile—wide and strong enough to hold up huge bulldozers and tractors would stand. But the incessant swirling of the river current could undermine its outer base and topple it into the Red. Some undermining was already feared.

Most of Greater Winnipeg's electricity supply was in real danger only a mile or so downstream. Main sub-stations stood in small diked islands, almost surrounded by the muddy river. Their inundation would paralyze an already-crippled city, stopping all street cars and trolley buses, shutting down bakeries which use electric ovens, halting or at best interfering with all normal communication systems including telephone and telegraph.

Basements of most downtown offices and stores would soon be full of water. It has been kept in check so far by constant operation of pumps, most of them by electricity.

The experts were as baffled as the layman in their efforts to predict the Red's future course.

Since Sunday, when it began to level off, it has dropped an inch, gained it back, and finally—last night—went up another inch to 30.3 feet. That was the highest point in its 1950 run-off; 12.3 feet above the flood-risk level here; and only about two feet below disaster point.

At 52.5 feet, general evacuation of the twin cities would be virtually certain. Water would spread across all of St. Boniface, on the Red's east bank, and swirl through Winnipeg's business district which so far has escaped except for basement flooding.

Brig. Ronald Morton, the army flood commander, has said that heavy rain over a long period is Winnipeg's greatest enemy now.

All RCAF transport planes are on 12-hour stand-by orders to help in possible evacuation. Hundreds of railway cars are nearby to move out in a matter of hours more than two-thirds of the metropolis' 350,000 normal population. The other third has left already under Brig. Morton's urging.

Because the situation is so critical, he has repeatedly urged more to quit the city.

Industrial Stocks Climb On Exchange

TORONTO, May 19.—(CP).—Industrial stocks advanced steadily into new high ground as the session progressed at the Toronto stock exchange today. Papers paced the upward turn as a wide list of market leaders attracted steady demand. Volume for the first three hours was 1,965,000 shares.

Abitibi Paper highlighted papers on a gain of 1½ at a new righ at 33 in brisk dealings. Consolidated and Minnesota and Ontario also sold at new highs. Steels, textiles, banks and constructions were higher while a few refining oils eased. Today's gains pulled the list out of a narrow price path of previous sessions this week and into new high price territory.

Individual mining stocks traded heavily for some strong advances. Newlund Mines, a feature of recent gold markets, bounded to $2.54, up 27 cents. Otherwise leading junior gold producers dipped from early firmness.

Base Metals opened higher but also weakened as the session progressed. North Denison, a penny prospect, jumped into the limelight for an advance of 20 cents at 33 cents.

Western oils were balanced.

Police Fly To Lake To Pick Up Man's Body

MONTREAL, May 19.—(CP).—Provincial police were expected to fly to an isolated lake 200 miles north of here today to pick up the body of a man sighted from the air by a group of flying anglers.

Deputy Director Hilaire Beauregard said a group of fishermen flying out of St. Jovite had reported sighting the body on the beach of a lake-side property 25 miles from Parent.

He said he had no further details.

Leafs Part With Welaj Get Two Players

TORONTO, May 19 (CP) — Toronto's baseball Leafs of the International League today parted with veteran outfielder Johnny Welaj in a trade for an infielder and another outfielder.

Infielder Bobby Rhawn comes from Montreal Royals of the International League. Andy Sturski moves over on a conditional basis from Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League. Both Royals and Stars are farm teams of Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League.

Welaj, who batted over .300 in two previous years here, goes to Montreal Royals, along with an undisclosed amount of money. He has had a slow start this season and is hitting only .183.

The move was intended to strengthen the Leafs, who have won only twice in their last 11 starts.

Pallbearers were Jack Gillespie Peterborough, Tom Gordon, Buckhorn, Herb. Ayott, Young's Point, Stan Brunskill, Ross Dillon and Edward Whittle, all of Toronto.

Funeral service was conducted by Canon F. J. Fife of Young's Point Anglican Church, and burial was in Lakefield Cemetery.

Canada Packers Plant Robbed At Napanee

NAPANEE, May 19—(CP)—Prying open safes in two Napanee business establishments with bars stolen from a Canadian National Railways toolhouse, safe-crackers Thursday night escaped with approximately $550 in cash, police said today.

Offices entered were that of the Canada Packers where approximately $450 was taken and at the Napanee Iron Works where about $100 was stolen.

Restrict Movements

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 19, (AP)—American and British authorities sharply restricted the movements of Soviet military missions in western Germany today. The restrictions were imposed in retaliation for the withdrawal of free travel passes from the American and British missions at Potsdam in the Soviet zone.

First Monastery Built For Ukrainians

GRIMSBY, Ont. — (CP) — A Ukrainian orthodox monastery, first of its kind in Canada, is being constructed a mile west of here.

The historic John Hewitt homestead is undergoing renovation and alteration to form the monastery, a museum and, later, an old people's home and orphanage.

Three rooms in the front of the spacious home have been set aside as a public museum. Art treasures from the Ukraine, some of them smuggled out under the noses of the Nazis and Russians, are on view here where they can show Canada an art form which has earned a name for itself among the best in the world.

Overseeing the decoration work is Prof. J. Kubarsky, famed as one of Europe's leading portrait painters. Formerly chief decorator of the Kiev opera house for 12 years, he barely escaped ahead of the Russians. After spending time in displaced persons' camps in Europe he managed to reach Canada.

With him he brought a number of his own paintings and has been busy here painting murals on the dining room and chapel walls.

Biblical Murals

In the chapel the murals are Biblical scenes. In the dining room they are familiar landmarks around Kiev, such as the monument to St. Vladimir and the Lawra Theatre. Some he draws from memory, some from photos and drawings.

Among the relics is a painting depicting the bringing of Christ to Old Simon, done on wood nearly 400 years ago. Another painting, of St. Nicholas, in whose honor the monastery will be named, has both the robes and headdress fashioned from bronze, intricately worked into an elaborate costume. It is 200 years old.

Books covering the various services of the church, one 200 years old and one 300, are treasured relics, along with china and tapestries.

Also in the museum are elaborate ritual robes made in DP camps. A silver chalice and discus and star, used in celebrating mass, also were fashioned in the camps.

In the chapel, the ikonostas — the partition fronting the altar— contains religious paintings prepared by artists in DP camps.

A skilled woodworker, John Iwanec, who spent two years in concentration camps, has fashioned frames and cases for the treasures. Other displaced persons help on the six acres of fruit and farmland.

May 21 is the dedication date. Archbishop Mstyslaw Skrypnyk of Winnipeg, head of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church in Canada, who has already visited the site, will officiate at the ceremony. More than 2,000 persons are expected to be present.

Declare Rail Strike Quite Unjustified

CHICAGO, May 19 (AP). — The threatened strike Tuesday of AFL switchmen against 10 railroads, the Western Association of Railways said today, "is wholly unjustified."

"This strike threat," the association said in a statement, "is a reckless drive for prestige—an attempt by one small union to outsmart and outdo a big rival union."

Only government intervention could avert the scheduled walkout—set for 6 a.m. local time against the 10 Mid-western and Western lines.

Child In Creek Alarm Is False

Considerable excitement was stirred up in the south end of the city Thursday afternoon when Shirley Orr, 7, 557 Howden Ave., was reported floundering in the creek south of Grove school.

Shirley's five-year-old sister, Beverley, came home crying from school and told her mother that Shirley was "in the creek and I can't get her out."

Mrs. May Orr left immediately to investigate and an alarm was raised. The Fire Department sent an inhalator squad to the foot of Erskine Ave. where the accident was said to have happened.

When Shirley arrived home it was realized that the alarm was false. She usually accompanies her young sister home but Thursday afternoon she decided to play beside the creek.

Apparently the younger girl became frightened and was under the impression Shirley was in trouble.

"Well this ought to be a lesson to them," said Mrs. Orr. "The creek is very deep this year and children could easily drown there. Maybe this will scare them away from it now."

OBITUARY

JOSEPH BROCK

Joseph Brock, 76, died on Thursday at the residence of his niece, Mrs. Earl Wright of 108 Morrow St., following a lingering illness. He was born in Peterborough, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Brock and before coming to the city six months ago, lived in Belmont township. Mr. Brock was not married.

Surviving is one sister, Mrs. Lillian Bush of Toronto. Mr. Brock was a member of the United Church.

Funeral service will be held on Saturday at the Comstock Funeral Home at 2:30 p.m. The Rev. F. W. Craik of St. James United Church will officiate and burial will be at Maple Grove Cemetery, Havelock.

400,000 People Have To Walk

ATLANTA, May 19 (CP) — The strike of 1,300 trolley and bus operators that has tied up transportation for 400,000 commuters in this urban area today went into the second day.

The operators, members of the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees (AFL), walked off the job a few minutes after midnight Thursday in a dispute.

Both the Georgia Power Company and the union settled down for a long fight, thus leaving the commuters to get to work as best they can.

The union asked for, and the company turned down, a wage raise of eight cents an hour above the present rate of $1.35.

Immediately after the strike began, the operators took a sort of busman's holiday by piling into their cars, clearly labelled, and setting out to haul as many people to town as they could, for free.

Police cancelled all vacations to prevent the city's traffic arteries from hardening with bumper-to-bumper traffic.

Soon Have Something Prevent Air Sickness

TORONTO, May 19 (CP) — Prevention of sea-sickness and air-sickness by use of medication now about 60 per cent effective will be raised to better than 90 per cent before long.

This was the opinion expressed by Dr. G. R. Wendt of the psychology department of the University of Rochester, N. Y., addressing a meeting of the Canadian Psychological Association here Thursday night.

Dr. Wendt said that drugs developed to prevent motion sickness are all about 60 per cent effective. "Within a reasonable time we will be able to prevent between 90 and 95 per cent of motion sickness," he said.

To some degree all people are susceptible to motion sickness, and there is very little evidence that psychological factors have anything to do with it, he said.

Rule Axis Sally Must Serve Term

WASHINGTON, May 19. — (AP).The United States circuit court of appeals ruled today that Mildred E. (Axis Sally) Gillars must serve 10 to 30 years in prison for broadcasting Nazi propaganda during the Second World War.

The white-haired 49-year-old former actress was convicted more than a year ago and has been in jail.

In addition to the sentence of from 10 to 30 years, she also was fined $10,000. She would be eligible for parole after serving 10 years in prison.

Today's development marked another scene in one of the post-war period's longest treason dramas. Miss Gillars first was arrested nearly five years ago when American troops entered Berlin.

Before the downfall of the Nazis, her smooth-voiced radio shows became known to millions of Allied servicemen. She was the supposedly glamorous radio siren who taught them the haunting strains of "Lili Marlene," which became the world war marching-fighting song of the American infantry.

Police Round Up Gang Of Boys For Break-ins

COBOURG, May 19.—(ENS)—Eight juveniles whose ages range from 14 to 16 years, will appear in juvenile court shortly to answer a number of breaking and entering charges. The rund-up of the boys followed a police investigation of break-ins which went back as far as last December.

For some months police had an idea who was responsible but they were unable to get what they now consider to be proof until last month when some of the gang broke into the collegiate and stole sandwiches and cakes during a school dance. Investigation of this broadened until police were able to clear up some more serious robberies.

The first robbery took place in December when two boys broke into Cane and Thomas' store and stole $170. Then in March of this year, two boys broke into the collegiate institute, ransacking the office but getting no money. In the latter part of March the collegiate was broken into again and ten dollars of silver was stolen from the office.

On April 3 four boys broke into the Cobourg Lumber Co. and stole $16. Three nights later they broke into the collegiate again and got a small amount of silver. On April 15 the recreation centre hockey room was broken into and $51 stolen from players' clothing. Three nights later four boys broke into the recreational centre again and this time some hockey equipment was stolen.

The break which the police were waiting for came when two boys broke into the domestic science room at the collegiate and stole the sandwiches and cakes. Police questioned a suspect and one thing led to another until the whole gang was rounded up.

Chief W. J. Carey and Constable H. Pearse headed the investigation, assisted by Constables E. Butler, C. Cunningham and Homer Seale.

Carnival Worker Fined For Blow

Convicted of assaulting the manager of the Grand Hotel early this morning, Frank Kurin, 36, Montreal, a worker with the carnival in town, was fined $15 and $5.50 costs in police court today.

Roy W. Crocker, manager of the hotel, told the court Kurin hit him when he went up to his room to ask him to have some guests leave. He said he had phoned him previously and told him there were house rules that no guest was to stay after midnight.

"I went to his door and knocked," Mr. Crocker said. "The door opened and a fist shot at my face, knocked my glasses off, and knocked me down the stairs.

"He followed me down, tore an electric light fixture off the wall and threw it at me. He kicked me on several occasions on the shins and legs and abdomen."

In cross questioning, defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair, KC, said to Mr. Crocker, "Kurin wouldn't know who you were, would he?"

"No," Mr. Crocker replied.

"You might have been somebody from another room and he might have hit you by accident," Mr. Fair suggested.

"It's possible," Mr. Crocker agreed.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, still considered it an assault and found Kurin guilty.

Baptist Presents Gospel Through Films

HAVELOCK, May 19.—(ENS).—In the Baptist Mission on Wednesday Blake Hunt of London, Ontario, who specializes in children's work, using a record player, projector, piano accordion and gospel magic object lessons to present the gospel to children, presented a program.

Mr. Hunt showed two religious films.

Frank Sisson, who pastored the Baptist work in Havelock during the summer of 1949, was present and led in prayer. Mr. Sisson graduated from the Toronto Bible College last April, and is visiting friends in Havelock and Norwood for a few days before returning to his pastorate in Milton, Ontario.

Housing Relief

STOCKHOLM — (CP) — The government of Queensland, Australia has ordered 700 units of prefabricated houses from a Swedish firm. Under a ruling of the Australian government, prefabricated houses and building materials may now be imported duty free.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. 35c at any druggist.

Reciprocal Arms—And Buying

One lesson of the war was that Canada and the United States should standardize their arms and military practices. The reasons for it are now obvious even to the lay mind. Canada cannot hope to manufacture every component of her own arms. She never has; in all wars to the present she has relied heavily on British factories and patterns. To continue that reliance would be folly. The lines of transport to and from Britain are too long and slow to risk this country's existence on them in days of planes carrying weapons with atomic warheads. Further, Britain is not now in the formidable position of the three preceding centuries. The U.S.A. has emerged as the most powerful nation on earth. In any future war Canada would automatically be dependent on her support; as the U.S.A. would on Canada's co-operation. The northern gate of this continent, which is Canada's domain, is the opening in the continental armour. Americans and Canadians would be fighting side by side, using and supplying each other's weapons and tactics. Standardization was agreed on last year by high councils of the two nations.

* * *

In practice this standardization means not only complementary training and tactics, but common equipment. This would be based largely on American patterns. Two steps were necessary. American designs and patents had to be made available to Canadian factories; and Canada had to buy much of her armament in the United States. Some designs (for instance, war planes) have been provided Canada. The second necessity, of Canada's buying in the U.S.A., produced a third problem. Canada did not have the dollars to splurge on American guns and equipment; nor did Canada expect all the buying to be one-way. Canadian factories can make armaments, military vehicles and the like. However, the U.S.A. has a law which forbids her to buy her arms outside the country.

* * *

The problem has now been resolved; reciprocal agreements of purchase have been made. The U.S. defence secretary has announced, much to Ottawa's and national defence headquarters' satisfaction—and indeed, at Canada's importunity—that between fifteen and twenty-five million dollars' worth of military equipment will be bought annually and reciprocally. The U.S.A., through a loophole in its constitutional laws—will buy Canadian arms to an extent commensurate with Canada's purchases of American arms. It will be, properly, a two-way business, which Canada can afford. Incidentally, the agreement should bring additional business for Canadian factories, Peterborough's own C.G.E. plant among them, we would expect.

What Has Befallen Highway 36?

The highway between Burleigh Falls and Bobcaygeon was once this district's pride and joy. It was a smooth-surfaced road running through splendid lake and bush country. The road is still a lateral artery, but how it has fallen! Where formerly there was a smooth asphalt surface is now gravel topping; where once car wheels sped light as air they now wrench and bounce from pot-hole to obtruding small stones. Even the new road to Buckhorn, not yet settled enough for paving and which drivers expect to be rough, is smoother than Number 36. The Bobcaygeon road is still called a highway, for the highway number is up, and at about every twentieth hole is a warning sign "Bump."

We hope that the Department of Highways in its zeal for building new northern roads and extending the dual lakeshore highway, will not neglect Number 36. It is an investment which should not be allowed to deteriorate, particularly now that the new road to Buckhorn will link it directly to Peterborough.

Lepers In Society

Leprosy is out of date. That does not mean that it does not exist—though in western countries there are very few cases. Canada, for instance, has only a handful of lepers in its two leper colonies. Leprosy is out of date because it is conquerable, and in most cases, curable. The old connotation of the word leper—an outcast of society—should be anachronistic.

One authority estimates that there are fifteen million lepers in the world today, most of them in India and China. Leprosy continues in those countries because the Far East has always been the region where the disease has been most endemic, and because the living conditions and medical services are poor. In the tropics a man can still be found languishing in a deep pit like an animal, his face covered with sores, his arm withered at his side. He stirs occasionally to collect scraps of food lowered to him at the end of a rope. In a few months he will die; the hole will be filled over him and the villagers will breathe more easily. In more advanced countries this is not to be found.

It is 92 years since Dr. Hamsen discovered that leprosy was caused by germ similar to that of tuberculosis. Medical specialists now state that it is less dangerous to be in contact with a leper than to be among people suffering from active tuberculosis. And modern medicine is curing leprosy. A sulpha drug, called sulphone, arrests and cures newer cases of leprosy after twelve months' treatment. Disfigured faces return to normal, ragged ulcers heal and patients with early blindness see again.

This medical work is being carried out in leper-ridden countries largely by private welfare organizations like the British Mission to Lepers which operates in twenty countries. Through its homes and hospitals it cares for 6,900 lepers and 775 healthy children. Through home aid, it helps another 7,000 lepers. This organization, using the latest treatments, has in recent times attended to 14,138 inmates for at least three months, and been able to arrest 1,672 cases, and discharge 937. In the old days almost all lepers had to leave their families for ever. Now they can expect to return to their families, and free of disease.

With a continuance of the work of the private organizations, the extension of the services of the World Health Organization and the improvement of government services to the ill in the afflicted countries, leprosy—now shorn of its age-old fears and religious tabus—may disappear from the East as it has from the West.

Is Ottawa Flagging On Flooding?

In the excitement of the flood crisis in Manitoba there has been shouting all over the place. What's Ottawa doing, what large-scale, long-time relief and revival is Ottawa planning; is anything but platitudes coming out of Ottawa? Are the floods not a national disaster? Why, then, does Ottawa not come forth with heart-reassuring plans?

It is not the federal Government's task to panic into some grandiose, ill-considered plan of reclamation. The first task is first aid, and that is a job for people on the spot, for us others by voluntary help, and for Governments to do what they can immediately. Ottawa has directed the service people to help, and the soldiers and airmen have done, and continue to do, excellent work. Moral support has come from the governor-general and various cabinet ministers visiting the stricken areas, and from the prime minister's statement that the Government will give full assistance. But it is silly now for people to expect, or the Government to promise, definite sums, new canals, higher walls or vast conservation measures. The damage has first to be assessed and then plans laid not only to help rehabilitate the people in their homes and on their farms, but to devise ways of preventing a recurrence of floods of such proportions.

Ottawa's task is not one of a few weeks. It is to plan for five or fifty years. Already a fact-finding committee has been appointed. Nothing more should be expected from the federal Government now than has been said and done. Ottawa has recognized that the flood is a national disaster and, as the national Government, it has stated that it will accept the responsibilities rising from such a national situation. Now is not the time to say that Ottawa will help finance a drainage canal all around greater Winnipeg. It is highly probable that such a project would be almost useless. It may be that the real job of flood prevention has to be done in North Dakota. The facts have to be found out before large action is taken. Ottawa's job is to wait and see.

We met a man yesterday who gets hay fever every spring during the fortnight of leaf-budding and blossoms. Which just goes to show that spring fever is sneezed at.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

ALPHA: I have been having an argument. Is Mr. St. Laurent the twelfth or thirteenth Prime Minister of Canada?

ANSWER: He is the twelfth man to hold that position. Here is the complete list: Sir John A. MacDonald (twice, 1867-73, '78--'91); Hon. Alexander Mackenzie ('73-'78); Sir John J. Abbot ('91-'92); Sir John S. D. Thompson ('92-'94); Sir Mackenzie Bowell ('94-'96); Sir Charles Tupper ('96); Sir Wilfrid Laurier (1896-1911); Sir Robert Borden (1911-'20); Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen (1920-'21 and for three months in 1926); Rt. Hon. Wm. Lyon Mackenzie King (three times—1921-'26, '26-'30, '35-'48); Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett (Viscount Bennett), (1930-'35); Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, 1948—.

Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., though long a public figure and cabinet minister, had the shortest tenure of office: two months. The longest in office was Mr. Mackenzie King—more than 21 years.

DEAR ALPHA: I like your notes on language and usage which appear in your column now and then. Give us more of them . . . I'd like to hear you on the words 'Belly' and 'Stomach'.

ANSWER: You are, I presume, wanting me to take a dig at stomach as a euphemism for belly. It is true, of course, that when people refer to their 'stomach' they usually mean their belly. A pain in the stomach is usually a pain in the belly. But to say so is not now polite usage. Words change in meaning and mode, and 'stomach' now has two meanings—the real stomach, and the belly—i.e. the lower part of the trunk below the diaphram. It is still polite to refer to an animal's belly, but some people wince event at that.

The coarseness of meaning given the word now is evident when you consider that the only really common use of the word applied to the human anatomy is in the phrase 'pot-belly'.

Here is a story to illustrate changes in the meanings and use of words. George the First went to tour the newly-finished St. Paul's Cathedral, with its great architect Sir Christopher Wren. Wren was almost overcome with the royal praise when King George said to him: "It is awful; it is amusing; it is artificial". Meaning: it inspires awe; it gives great pleasure; it is a masterpiece of artistry and skill. The story is sound, even if George I never said it. And he didn't, for King George 1st of England could speak no English. He never bothered to learn his language, and stuck stubbornly to his native German.

SIR: What is the oldest church in Peterborough?

ANSWER: the oldest as an institution and an edifice is St. John's church. The Rev. Samuel Armour came as a Church of England missionary and teacher to Peterborough in 1826, and held services and ran his school in a log building. In 1831 tenders were advertised for the present St. John's Church, which was built in 1834-35.

Roman Catholic services were held in a log building put up by the government, after the Irish immigrants arrived. The block bounded by George, Chambers, Brock and Hunter streets was set aside for the use of the Roman Catholic church and a small frame building built on it in the early '30's. This was burnt down about 1836 and the land disposed of. The site of the present Cathedral was granted in 1834, and St. Peter's built in 1837-38.

St. Andrew's was the first Presbyterian church. Land was granted it in 1835, and the first church built in 1836.

The first missionary to Peterborough (Scott's Plains) was a Baptist. The first Baptist church was built in 1845.

ALPHA: I see that the English girl Ruth, now wife of exiled chief Seretse Khama of the Bamangwato tribe of South Africa has given birth to a daughter. What will that daughter be; mulatto or quadroon?

ANSWER: If Chief Seretse has not been tainted with white blood (and I presume he is pure black, since he is chief of the tribe and likely to be thoroughbred) and if his wife is pure white, the child will be half-and-half: that is, mulatto. Which does not mean that the child will be necessarily white, or black, or khaki-coloured. It may inherit predominantly white racial traits, or predominantly black. A quadroon is the offspring of a mulatto and white person. If this child should marry a white man her children would be quadroons.

SIR: My wife and I went fishing last Sunday. I have a problem. We aren't really fishermen and we don't know one fish from another. But we caught two very nice fish, both of them over a foot long. Both tasted well. After our fish dinner a friend dropped in and we showed him the two heads. He said, that's a pickerel. But he lifted his eyebrows at the other and said, that's a lunge. It seems that we shouldn't have been fishing for lunge, and that we shouldn't have taken one that was as big as a foot and a half long. Why don't the authorities tell us these things, and also have coloured pictures of the fish so that people like us out for a day's fun can know when we are breaking the law?

ANSWER: That is aquestion you should address to the Examiner's outdoor expert, Mr. Nickels. Like you, I know nothing about fish or fishing. But I differ from you: I don't fish. There is an old maxim that ignorance of the law is no excuse for breaking it. If you had addressed your letter to the Fish and Game warden you would probably have been brought up in Police Court and given a stiffish fine. Anyway, I believe it is technically against the law to fish on Sundays, as it is technically illegal to play golf on Sundays.

The next time you catch a good-sized fish, send it along to me before you dine off it. I will examine and suitably dispose of it.

If you really want to know what the law is, write to the Department of Lands and Forests for the booklet giving the Game and Fisheries Act. There you will learn that you can't keep a pickerel under 13 inches in length, nor a maskinonge smaller than 30 inches. And the lunge season is not yet open. You can see the fish in colour in a pamphlet "The Fisherman's Ontario", to be had from the Department of Travel and Publicity, Parliament Buildings, Toronto 2.

FOR THE RECORD: Peterborough's municipal expenditures this year will amount to almost half the total expenditures of all the provinces in Canada when the first census was taken (1871). In that year Canada had five provinces: Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Manitoba, whose ordinary expenditures totalled $4,935,008. This year Peterborough's expenditures are calculated to amount to $2,093,347.

"FREE" ELECTION—IF RUSSIA HAD HER WAY

Second Thoughts In Britain

(NEW YORK TIMES)

ARE intellectual spokesmen for the British Labour party beginning to view nationalization experiments with skeptical eyes and even to wonder whether progress has not been too fast and too far? An affirmative answer is suggested by the current issue of The Political Quarterly, whose entire contents—nine articles—discuss the Labour Government's administration of the coal industry, the gas and electricity supply, the railroads, road haulage and passenger services, docks and inland waterways, the import and disposal of raw cotton, air carriers, the Bank of England, and the raising of ground nuts. One of the contributors, Sir Arthur Salter, says that his general political outlook is now nearer to the Right than to the Left on current issues of controversy. But the other contributors are on the Left. Hence the significance of their doubts and criticisms.

Several writers complain that there is no clear division of responsibility between ministers and the governing boards of the public corporations, that the correct balance between government interference and corporate autonomy has not been achieved, and that there is far too much centralization. "The difficult problem of ministerial responsibility and parliamentary control in relation to public corporations has not been solved," says Ernest Davies in an article which (it is carefully noted) was written before he became a member of the Attlee Government.

Consultative committees and councils set up in connection with nationalized industries have proliferated in a confusing fashion. But the consumer has little confidence in bodies which are supposed to advise administering authorities of the reactions of the consuming public and then to explain to the public the reasons why the authorities have taken certain actions. "The country is becoming littered with various committees of one sort or another and the standard seems to be declining." Prof. Arthur Lewis complains that the public corporations have not thought out their price policies, and Professors Sargant Florence and Gilbert Walker call for measures that will check "current and concrete threats to efficiency."

* * *

THESE doubts and fears come from writers who welcomed a large measure of socialization. Sir Arthur Salter addresses himself to the fundamental question of whether nationalization should ever be joyously embarked upon—the attitude of the Labour Government—or whether it should be tried only as a last resort. In private industry, he points out, small and even large units endure painful but salutary bankruptcies. In a nationalized industry there is no such safety valve, so that "the effects of sagging efficiency, higher costs and poor service may impose increasing burdens on the general economy of the day till it comes to disaster as a whole."

Finally, Sir Arthur points out that one cannot excuse certain deficiencies in the administration of nationalized industries by maintaining that they are simply suffering from growing pains. On the contrary, the Labour Government's experiments have enjoyed advantages which cannot long continue. The national monopolies now constitute a great experimental laboratory, but the contributors to The Political Quarterly symposium do not assert their confidence that the laboratory workers are making great discoveries.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

What I tell you in darkness, that speak ye in light: and what ye hear in the ear, that preach ye upon the housetops. And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell. (Matt. 10: 27, 28.)

* * *

And it came to pass, when Jesus had made an end of commanding his twelve disciples, he departed thence to teach and to preach in their cities. (Matt. 11: 1.)

* * *

Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ: according as he hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love. (Eph. 1: 3, 4.)

* * *

And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins; wherein in time past ye walked according to the course of this world, according to the prince of the power of the air, the spirit now worketh in the children of disobedience.

But God, who is rich in mercy, for his great love wherewith he loved us, even when we were dead in sins, hath quickened us together with Christ, (by grace ye are saved;) and hath raised us up together, and made us sit together in heavenly places in Christ Jesus. (Eph. 2: 1, 2, 4-6.)

Men Wear "Falsies"

(Philadelphia Bulletin)

Women are getting mad about men's criticisms of their intimate garb and are starting to fight back.

Ginger Rogers, the movie actress, is leading the attack. She points out that the men wear "falsies," too. "Some of them wear quite sizable ones," she says, "just a little north, east and west of the feminine version."

She refers, of course, to men's shoulder pads and tells what a shock it is to find out that when a brawny shouldered fellow takes off his coat he's only a skinny little pip-squeak.

Maybe that's the reason it's considered improper for a man to take off his coat in polite society.

Distribution Of B.C. Apples

Distribution of the 50,000 cases of Canadian apples, a gift from the British Columbia Tree Fruits Corporation for British school-children, is now almost complete. Areas to which apples have been allocated include Manchester, Liverpool, Glasgow, Cardiff, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Birmingham, Middlesex and London, and Belfast. The plan is to give children about 1-lb. a head.

Situation Improving For Getting U.S. Visa

OTTAWA, May 19.— (CP). — The situation with regard to Canadians' permanent entry into the United States "has improved and is improving," A. D. P. Heeny, Undersecretary for External Affairs, told a Commons committee Thursday night.

He was replying to Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel) who said Canadians often encounter long delays running into months i their applications for visas to enter the US. He believed a lot of the trouble was due to sheer number of applications.

Mr. Heeney said he wouldn't say the situation is yet perfect "but I'm confident the American officials are interested as we are to prevent delay."

Libel Action Nets $1 Everybody Happy

TORONTO, May 19 (CP) — A libel action brought against the Toronto Star Ltd., by William Edgar Watson, 70, Toronto manufacturer and horseman, was settled out of court Thursday.

Mr. Watson was awarded damages of $1. The Star agreed to pay trial costs. T. N. Phelan, Star counsel, apologized publicly to Mr. Watson.

The action arose from publication in June, 1948, of a picture of Mr. Watson above a caption which identified him as Dr. George C. Watson, a Toronto obstetrician. Dr. Watson was called at the time as a witness at the inquest into the abortion death of Mrs. Jane Gordon.

Kiwanians Help Flood Victims

$1,000 was voted by the Kiwanis Club Thursday to swell the mayor's fund for the relief of the Manitoba flood victims.

In a letter to the Peterborough Kiwanians from the Kiwanis Club of Winnipeg, Limited, composed of five clubs, A. E. Parker, secretary, wrote that the federal, provincial governments and the Red Cross were doing everything in their power to shelter and feed the flood victims.

"But once the emergency is over, these same people who have dispossessed of their homes will require assistance to buy furniture, clothing, food and other necessities in order to help them face the future with any hope of success."

Mr. Parker assured the club that the Manitoba Relief Fund will not in any way duplicate the services rendered by the government and other social agencies. The work of the Manitoba Relief Fund will commence once the other agencies cease to aid the flood victims.

"It always takes a heap of living to make a house a home, but in this case it will take a heap of giving," said Mr. Parker.

Canadian Market Fickle Briton J. R. Shires Charges

HUDDERSFIELD, England, May 19—(CP)— The Canadian market for British cloth is "fickle," president John R. Shires told the Huddersfield Chamber of Commerce.

Shires replied to criticisms of the quality of British cloth exports made in the Toronto-published Financial Post.

"There is only one market in the world more fickle than Canada," Shires told the Chamber. He didn't say which one.

If a new idea struck the Canadian textile trade, Shires said, old colors and patterns were not wanted and cancellations and rejections were resorted to by some unscrupulous firms.

Referring to complaints about delivery dates, Shires said Yorkshire manufacturers had enough orders to last for between six and nine months.

Won't Get Preference

"Has Canada to have such extraordinary preference over the rest of the world that we should make their orders in half that time?" he asked. "Other markets of the world demand a share of our excellent worsteds and woollens."

Shire said the average percentage of returns was nothing like 15 per cent, the figure quoted in Canadian dispatches.

"Many rejections were totally unfair," Shires said.

A different view was voiced by Maurice Barber, who said he had seen a number of pieces of imperfect cloth.

"Quite a lot of bad pieces have been sent out," Barber told the Chamber.

Shirgs commented that worsted yarn was far below pre-war standard, but agreed that Canadian buyers could not be expected to be sympathetic on that account.

Mutuals and UEW Win To Open Men's Softball Loop

Mutuals and UEW opened the Men's City Softball League season at the Bowl last evening with victories before a slim crowd. Dark, chill weather held down the attendance, but the fans there saw a neat opening fray with a slower second struggle. Mutuals turned back East City, 10-9, while Orphans took the short end of a 15-8 count in the nightcap. Aldermen Doug Miller and Pat Anglesey, along with Parks Superintendent Armar Butcher took part in the opening ceremony.

In the first tilt, Mutuals' early lead was almost wiped out by a late drive by the Ashburnham nine in a tight tussle, marked by a few miscues. Hunter had a little edge hurling on Woods. Curry, Wyatt and Sullivan—the latter hitting his with three on—banged out homers for East City, Jaquith getting a three-bagger and Curry a double. Hunter hit a homer and triple for the victors, as Foster and Leether leaned into doubles. Wade and Pryde had neat outfield catches, and Leether went well at first, an unaccustomed spot for him.

Many Walks

There were two dozen walks evenly divided, in the second fray. Ritchie and Hinton both having wild streaks. They had 14 wild pitches between them as both fanned five, and UEW got two more hits. The Orphans were a little loose also in the field, but they closed the gap some with a five-run drive in the eighth. UEW got most of their runs in bunches. White and Thompson hit homers, D. Griffin and Conlin clouting triples, and Vic Griffin having two doubles as Thomson got one.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

While P-R-O spells pro and means a professional, those letters also stand for a press relations officer. And again we appeal to sports' bodies to appoint one on their executive so that proper publicity may be given organized athletics. The major sports here, too, should do this, as well as the minors—though most of the major events are covered. The minors aren't to any great extent, as it would require far too big a press staff to personally cover everything. So, as the busy summer season arrives, let's have co-operation in this respect. We'll do our part, if you leagues and clubs do yours.

* * * * * *

An item from Orillia: "Among the nearest OLA senior teams to Orillia is Brampton, and the Excelsiors appear to be a standout contender for the honors won last year by Hamilton. They imported two newcomers, Fred Severson of New Westminster and Lou Landis of Vancouver, and have a brilliant crop of homebrews. Another club not so far away (70 miles), Peterborough, has imported Jim Kinna and Russ Buchanan from Vancouver. Both were members of the all-star junior team that represented the west in 1949 Minto Cup finals. Owen Sound have signed Jack Foote, with Peterborough last year, while Jack Ashbee and Ben Harris of Weston are working out with Brampton."

* * * * * *

Huntsville And Petes

Huntsville senior "B" champs last year, play the Petes an exhibition at 8.45 tonight in Miller Bowl, and it should attract a big lacrosse crowd. Fans wanting to get to know the Petes early this season should scissors out this para of names and numbers: Jim Kinna (1), Ron Horton (2), Joe Nolan (3), Bob Thorpe (4), Em Creighton (6), Bob Breakspear (7), Russ Buchanan (8), Arn Dugan (9), Don Ashbee (10), Jerry Fitzgerald (11), Wendell Lewis (13), Dootch Vitarelli (14), Jack Breakspear (15), Mick Magee (19), Pup Curtin with an "O" on his sweater, and Ralph Speck with no number. Maybe some more, too, but that's all we could get.

* * * * * *

Don't forget the senior baseball game tomorrow aft at three in Riverside Park. Opener of the Viaduct Major League with Dovers of Toronto tangling with the 1950 Petes. Fans can't complain this semester of no new faces, as it's a brand new loop, and the Petes shortly will have some new players. But they've a pretty fair pack—won senior "B" honors last year—to open the senior "A" race, chaps like Edger, Dadson, Plunkett, Whitehill, Menzies, Stewart, Garvey, Brown, Dalton, Estlick, Lowrey and Wilson. Should be a fine opening ball game. The Prime Minister's party touring the city has been invited to drop in during the tilt at Riverside.

As They Lifted The Lid

The well-known lid was pried off the men's softball season at the Bowl last e'en, Armar Butcher and Ald. Doug Miller and Pat Anglesey being the official pryers. What escaped from the pot was a mixture of good and bad ball for several hundred chilly customers. Mutuals edged East City 10-9 in a nice opener, Red Sullivan's four-ply homer in the eighth making it close. Both clubs look good and have plenty of power at the plate. UEW took the nightcap 15-8 o'er Orphans, also showing strength with the willow. The two hurlers had wild streaks to slow play down. Orphans were put together in a hurry, but they have some good ballsters and the team will be bolstered, too. It promises to be an interesting loop.

* * * * * *

New softball rule providing for a white line the last half toward first from the plate, and three feet outside the base line, caused some confusion at first. When a play is being made on the batter going to first, he must stay within those lines or he's called out. But just when a play is being made there. However, when such an out is made, can other runners advance or must they return to their bases as in an interference play? That doesn't appear to be covered, so Bert Bailey is writing the OASA for clarification on it. The men's circuit is a great one for arguing rules.

Queen Mary Victors Over Queen Alex 25-13

Queen Mary intermediates of the Public School Softball League trimmed Queen Alex 25-13 yesterday in a regular fixture on the north-end diamond. Rain halted proceedings at the end of the sixth. Lincoln turned in some fine catching for the winners, with Putnam and Reynolds also good. Whitton and Anderson looked good for the losers. A 12-run splash by Queen Mary in the fourth put the tilt on ice. Teams:

Queen Mary: Putnam, Lincoln, Jones, Brown, Dubay, Beck, Dobbin, Reynolds, Wiley, Friar, McIlwain.

Queen Alex: Mason, Druce, Johnston, Whitton, E. Anderson, F. Anderson, Reid, Olmstead, Baker, Conway, Kilborn, Woodward.

Umpire, Mr. Cunningham.

Say Red Wings Ready To Go

By The Associated Press

The Rochester Red Wings are expected to start moving up the ladder in the International League any day now that their destructive trio of Russ Derry, Steve Bilko and Ed Mierkowicz are back.

All three drove home a total of 235 runs last year, belted 91 homers and earned promotion to the parent St. Louis Cardinals.

Derry, who led the International League in homers with 42, was the first to return, with Mierkowicz and Bilko following a little after the season began.

Derry already has socked six homers while Bilko has one and Mierkowicz none.

The Wings currently are in fifth place, only four games behind the pace-setting Montreal Royals. Pitching has carried the Red Wings thus far, and the deadly trio is expected to make things easier for their mound mates in the future.

All four scheduled games were postponed Thursday because of rain. Games washed out were Toronto at Montreal, Buffalo at Rochester, Jersey City at Springfield and Baltimore at Syracuse.

Certain Mr. Trouble Walk Off With Race

BALTIMORE, May 19 (AP) — The names of five, and possibly seven, horses will be dropped into the entry box today for the 74th Preakness Stakes, but trainer Syl Veitch says all of the contenders excepting Mr. Trouble will be just wasting their time.

"I think we'll win the race, and Middleground will be second," the congenial trainer of C. V. Whitney's famous racing stable said.

That was a pretty good statement, seeing as how Mr. Trouble was third to Middleground in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago.

What about Hill Prince, the No. 2 horse in the Derby?

"Well, he'll have to be third," Veitch added graciously.

The $50,000-added, mile and three-sixteenths classic comes off tomorrow at Pimlico.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Hope that Canadians on the squad wouldn't be prejudiced against Americans was expressed Thursday night by Frank Clair of Buffalo University, new coach of the Toronto Argos of the Eastern Big Four Rugby League.

Clair, who takes over as the Argo coach on July 17, told a gathering after an informal meeting that there would be no favoritism. "We can go a long way and I'm confident I can give Argos the best team they've had and one of the best teams the Big Four has ever seen."

Clair leaves in a few days for Indiana on a scouting trip. "That's my territory," he said. "I think I can find a few in Indiana."

Manager Ted Morris said it had been his experience that Canadian players were as good as the Americans. "The backbone of our winning teams was boys from junior teams and colleges like yourself," he said.

At Lansing, Mich., a bill designed to strengthen the hand of game wardens in enforcing fishing and hunting laws was passed in the State House of Representatives Thursday. The Michigan Senate has only to approve a few amendments before it is finally passed.

The bill authorizes conservation officers to carry guns and search boats, automobiles and even deep-freeze lockers for contraband fish and game.

A previous bill for the same purpose was declared unconstitutional, on the grounds that it gave wardens too much power to search private property without a warrant.

More than 500,000 people attended the regular schedule and playoff games of the Western Canada Senior Hockey League last season.

In a release of final statistics of the WCSHL's 1949-50 season, president D. P. McDonald reported Thursday at Calgary that Edmonton Flyers played to 174,637 fans in 25 home games to top paid attendance records of the four clubs.

ATHLETIC STRAGGLERS—Mrs. Betty Hamilton, LEFT, of Montreal, Canadian women's fencing champion, and Joan Morgan, swimmer from Victoria, were the last of Canada's team to the British Empire Games to return home. Here they are shown aboard the Queen Elizabeth as they arrived in New York May 15. They spent four months touring Australasia, Ceylon, the Middle East, Britain and the continent competing in various tournaments and visiting friends.

Harris' Boys Come To Life Bounce Chicago Sox 7-3

By RALPH RODEN,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Bucky Harris, the Yankee cast-off who never has finished last, has his Washington Senators stirring up a rumpus in the American League pennant race.

Harris, back at the Washington helm for the third time, has guided the Nats to nine victories in their last 12 starts and within a game and a half of the league-leading Yanks.

During spring training the experts didn't rate the Senators to improve their position a great real, but Bucky said: "Give me some pitchers to go with (Ray) Scarborough and we will surprise a lot of people."

Well, Bucky is getting the help he wanted, with emphasis on Sid Hudson. The 32-year-old right-hander turned in his fourth 1950 victory Thursday as Washington downed Chicago White Sox 7-3.

Outslug Tigers

Meanwhile, Boston Red Sox knocked Detroit out of a first-place tie with the Yanks by outslugging the Tigers 13-12. The Yanks and St. Louis Browns were idle.

The Red Sox piled up an 11-1 lead thanks to a seven-run barrage in the fourth inning, but the Tigers came back with six in their half of the fourth.

Cleveland Indians shaded Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3, winning out in the ninth when Lou Brissie walked Bob Kennedy with the bases loaded to break a 3-3 tie.

In the National League, Brooklyn overcame an eight-run deficit in the last two innings to down St. Louis Cardinals 9-8 and move to within half a game of the league's pace-setting Philadelphia Phils.

Had Big Lead

The Cards piled up a 8-0 lead in the first six innings but the Dodgers came to life in the eighth with a four-run rally that was featured by Carl Furillo's three-run homer to drive Howie Pollet from the box.

Jim Russell and Jackie Robinson doubled to start the ninth. Furillo popped out but Gil Hodges beat out a hit and Duke Snider walked to load the bases. Glaviano then made his three miscues and the game went down the drain.

New York Giants trounced the Chicago Cubs 10-4 in a game called after six innings because of rain. Rookie Monte Irvin drove in five runs with a grand-slam homer and single. Al Walker homered with the bases loaded to account for all of Chicago's runs.

HARNESS RACING RETURNS

Harness racing will return to Guelph after a lapse of 25 years.

Officials announced Thursday that they were granted 11 racing days by the Canadian Trotting Association. The first meet is scheduled for June 24, when a new half-mile track will be officially opened.

No Dramatics On This Job

WINNIPEG, May 19—(CP)—The engineer leans forward intently . . . the needle in the delicately-poised instrument case rises ever so greatly . . . the Red has risen another one-tenth of a foot.

In contrast to this popular misconception, here's what really happens at the point where the official Red river level is read.

Operator Charlie Nelnick, just a bit annoyed at being disturbed at his lunch, pulled a shrilling telephone toward him and said under his breath:

"Another damn fool wants to know what the level of the river is."

He gave the latest reading — gleaned from a calibrated black-and-white stick sunk deep in the mud of James St. in downtown Winnipeg, 100 yards from the normal river bed.

There's nothing scientific about the operation of the James St. pumping station. The man who keeps his finger on the pulse of this sprawling, feverish patient pries himself loose from his chair and toddles out to the stick every hour on the hour. Instead of a scientists's white smock, he wears overalls and a flop-brimbed hat.

Walter Loses To Keith Nelson

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., May 19 (CP)—Len Walters of Vancouver invading featherweight ranks after becoming Canada's top bantamweight at Port Arthur last year, Thursday night dropped a three-round decision to Keith Nelson of Cardston, Alta., as the 1950 Dominion boxing championship got under way.

A disappointing crowd of 1,600 fans was in Lethbridge Arena as the Cardston battler finished strong to leave Walters groggy at the final bell. Officials of the meet had expected a crowd of 3,500 to witness the 12 bouts scheduled for opening night. The finals conclude Saturday night.

Two provincial bantamweight titlists tangled in an early crowd-pleaser, Francis Fitzgerald of Montreal getting the nod over Buddy McDonald of Edmonton in three rounds. The Montrealer outboxed his opponent in the last two heats.

Seymour Loop Starts Season

CAMPBELLFORD, May 19—(ENS)— Representatives from Burnbrae, Hoards, English Line and Petherick's met at the Seymour Parsonage recently to discuss the formation of a softball league.

The delegates decided to form a Seymour East Softball League with four teams. Each team will be allowed 20 players, with 12 dressed for any one game. The following were elected as officers.

President, Rev. J. A. Whitehorne; secretary-treasurer, Alex Hume; assistant sec'y-treas., Geralt Heagle.

Teams may be composed of either all boys or boys and girls mixed. No player will be allowed to play more than two games in any other league, otherwise he will be barred from the Seymour East League.

Games will begin at 7.00 pm. each Wednesday night, with the opening game on Wednesday May 31, with Hoards at Burnbrae, and Pethericks at English Line.

Havelock Soldier Sent To Winnipeg Fights Floods Instead Of Getting Married

HAVELOCK, May 19—(ENS)—Pte. Ross Southward has had to postpone his wedding, planned for tomorrow, because of his hurried transfer to Winnipeg to help fight the floods.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Southward, Havelock, Pte. Southward was to have married Miss Eileen Patton of Saskatchewan, employed at Camp Shilo, Manitoba, where he has been stationed. Southward is in the Army Service Corps.

Pte. Southward is an old hand at helping during floods. He helped in the last Vancouver floods, but there was nothing so important as his wedding pending at that time.

FLOODS STOP WEDDING—Pte. Ross Southward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Southward, has had to postpone his wedding in definitely, because he has been sent to Winnipeg to help fight the floods. He was to have married Miss Eillen Patton of Saskatchewan, tomorrow. New date cannot be arranged until the soldier returns from the flooded area.

Widow Dies In Blast

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP) — A 60-year-old widow was killed early today in a wall-crumpling gas stove explosion which wrecked her Manhattan apartment. The dead woman was identified as Mrs. Seward Heidelback, a tenant of a nine-storey building. The explosion crumpled walls in four other apartments on the same floor and shattered apartment and store windows on the opposite side of the street.

Old Passion Play Staged First Time In 16 Years

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany, May 19 —(AP)—The centuries-old Passion Play was staged Thursday for the first time in 16 years, with a schoolgirl playing the Virgin Mary and an innkeeper cast as Christ. A capacity audience of 5,200 watched as a cast of 1,500 villagers put on the dazzling spectacle with all its 300-year-old pageantry.

The attention of the audience was focussed chiefly upon Anton Preisinger, brown-bearded villager innkeeper, in the role of Christ, and Annemie, 16-year-old woodcarving student, portraying the Virgin Mary.

Christ, clad in a pale yellow robe with a crimson cloak thrown over his right shoulder, appeared in the first scene driving the money changers from the temple.

The voices of the cast rang clearly from the open stage into the huge covered theatre. No microphones or other mechanical aids were used.

Reads Prologue

The play, which lasts from 8:30 a.m. until 6 p.m., opened with a prologue read by Alois Lang, who played Christ in the last Oberammergau play.

Now grey-haired, Lang wore a golden robe. He was accompanied by a grey-robed choir of 50 men and women lined up across the 60-yard wide stage.

As they filed from the stage the curtain fell back reavealing a street scene in Jerusalem.

Hundreds of inhabitants strolled into view. They wore a colorful array of red, blue, green and yellow costumes.

Among them were the children of the town, bare-footed despite the early morning chill.

Both the men and boys in the cast had gone without haircuts for a year to obtain a Biblical appearance with hair falling to their shoulders.

As Christ stepped into the milling scene his first words were: "What do I see here? Is this the house of God? Or is it the market place?"

Heated Controversy

Preisinger, 37, father of five children, was chosen for the role of Christ last year after a heated village controvery. Many opposed his selection on the grounds he was a former Nazi. However, a German denazification court in 1947 judged him a "follower," the mildest type of Nazi category.

The play has been performed every 10 years since 1634 with the exception of interruptions during the First and Second World Wars. It is the result of an ancient pledge of the villagers after the Black Plague killed 84 persons in a few days in 1633. The villagers vowed to play Christ's Passion every 10 years if the plague stopped. It did and the Passion Play was inaugurated the next year.

Urges Birth Control

PITTSBURGH, May 19 (AP) — Birth control would help bring peace to the world, the leader of the Planned Parenthood movement said Thursday. Speaking to the Pittsburgh Planned Parenthood Clinic, Mrs. Margaret Sanger declared: "Everytime a nation cries for babies it means war . . . to prevent birth does no more to interfere with life than remaining single or living in celibacy."

State Of Siege

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 19 (AP) —One person was killed and eight were hurt Thursday night as police dispersed some 300 demonstrators in strike-crippled La Paz. The violence broke out when police intercepted the demonstrators, said by government officials to be Communist-led, as they marched on the presidential palace. La Paz is under a state of siege with police and soldiers patrolling the streets.

100F Convention Slated For City

A delegation from Peterborough attended the semi-annual convention of the northern division of the Cyzieus Sanctorum at Windsor last week-end and invited the division to hold the next convention in Peterborough in September. This invitation was accepted.

The convention was addressed by S. H. Boulton, PGM, New York State, Sovereign Grand Lodge representative, at a banquet Saturday evening.

A memorial service was held Sunday morning before breakfast. Those attending from Peterborough were G. Edwards, H. Youngs, A. Peeling, Reg. Gurey, Frank Colwell, J. Poulton, E. Fowler, G. Wyatt, W. Nattress, D. Ford, P. Armstrong, L. Symmonds, C. Miller, K. Hoard, R. Hunter, E. Miller, F. Barrie, G. Fairiers, H. Anderson, A. Price, P. Bullied, J. Batten and E. Norman.

FIVE-DAY WEEK

The Chinese week consists of five days, which are named after iron, wood, water, feathers and earth.

US Workers Fare Better UK Told

LONDON, May 19 (AP) — A British industrial study group has found that American workers fare better and "undoubtedly get more out of life" than British workers.

The group, including workers and management representatives, has just completed a tour of the United States for the Anglo-American Productivity Council to study the American way of handling materials and the latest mechanical devices in industry.

"The wages of American workers are not only higher than here but are also higher in relation to the cost of living," a formal report of the group said today.

It said British industry has much to learn from American methods of handling materials.

"A steady, uninterrupted flow of materials to and from each workman will, on the average, raise productivity by at least 15 per cent," the report said.

Rural Group Meets At Mrs. Elson's Home

CAVAN, May 19 — (ENS) — The North Rural Group of the WA of St. Andrew's United Church, Millbrook, met at the home of Mrs. W. Elson on Wednesday. There were 19 members present.

The convener, Mrs. Elson, took the chair for the program and business discussion.

Mrs. Austin Sutton and Mrs. T. Douglas read the scripture lesson and Mrs. H. Eakins gave the topic reading. Mrs. A. Fallis led in prayer and the Rev. T. G. Husser played the accompaniments for the hymns.

The group has decided to cater to the teachers' banquet to be held in the waiting room, Millbrook, on May 26.

Mrs. Henry Fallis, Mrs. W. Armstrong, Mrs. T. Douglas and Mrs. H. C. Argue were chosen as conveners for the tables.

The committee in charge served lunch.

Border Country of Scotland Noted for Historic Ruins

By JEAN E. STENTON

MELROSE, Scotland, May — Although successive invading armies for centuries have ravaged the Border areas of Scotland, they contain some of the most interesting ruins and and historical memorials in all Britain.

Jean Stenton

In contrast to the Trossachs, the Border country with its rolling hills like Alberta, is soft in appearance and has a peaceful, sheltering air. Some of the finest views in the country can be seen from the glorious tops of its high hills.

One of the loveliest spots in all Scotland, to me, is Dryburgh Abbey (pronounced Dryborough). Although its greatest claim to fame is that it is the burial place of Sir Walter Scott, it is doubly interesting because the Abbey was founded in about 1150.

The ruins, which have been partly restored, give the visitor an idea of its original great beauty and its setting among delightful grounds, fine old trees and wild flowers, make it a haven. There is a small attractive hotel at the edge of the Abbey grounds which would be a marvellous spot for a vacation. I hope to spend a few days there the next time I am in the "Scott country."

Lovely Ruins

The Abbey, through the course of time, became very rich and powerful. Its proximity to the Border, brought it to the attention of the invaders and it was burned and plundered four times in as many centuries. Only the western end of the nave, parts of the transepts, the choir (early Gothic), the Chapter House (Norman) the walls of the Cloister and the remains of a few domestic buildings, can be seen. The western doorway is of note and the south transept has some interesting window tracery.

But the ruins grace a magnificent setting. Their soft grey stone with graceful arches and pointed ceilings stand out complemented by the beautiful green lawns and trees surrounding it. The bright sunlight made it sparkle and the peace of the place seeps through you.

Famous Graves

It is a wonderful resting place for Sir Walter Scott. His grave and those of his wife and family, including George Lockhart, son-in-law and biographer, are masterpieces of simplicity. They are are at one end of the Abbey overlooking the ruins. Nearby, is the poppy-strewn tomb of Earl Haig, famous British commander of the First World War.

On the way back from this Abbey, you pass Bemersyde, the residence of the Haig family. It contains an ancient Border tower attached to the mansion which was presented to the Earl by his admirers after the war. After leaving Bemersyde, you pass along the high road on the left bank of the Tweed, which is noted as Sir Walter Scott's View. It is an exquisite sight—the great hills in every direction with their green grazing land, the silver Tweed river and the lovely homes. It is no wonder that amidst such grandeur, Scott was inspired to do such great writing.

Melrose Biggest

The biggest Abbey in the Border country, and certainly one of the most interesting, is Melrose Abbey, which has been faithfully described in Scott's "Lay of The Last Minstrel." Its columns and Gothic arches in their dull pinkish stone, situated in the centre of the town of Melrose, are arresting.

The building has been rebuilt and destroyed constantly in Border raids from the 12th to the 17th centuries. It is one of the finest ecclesiastical ruins in Britain and as early as the 7th century, a body of Culdees from Iona established a monastery at Old Melrose, six miles east. David I, in 1136, founded the predecessor of the present ruins.

Always a target of war, the Abbey was burnt in 1384 by Richard II. It was twice plundered in 1545 and shortly after suffered at the hands of the Lords of the Congregation. Later Cromwell bent his guns on it.

Of the once-extensive Abbey buildings, little is left but the ruins of the church and the Commendator's house. Recently uncovered foundations indicate the former beauty and spaciousness of the place. The church was originally a cruciform Gothic building and contains fine window tracery and a clustered column that even today points to the skill of the master-mason.

Great History

The eastern part of the nave has a comparatively modern ceiling (1618) but several of the chapels, the south transept and chancel retain their original rooms. The heart of Robert the Bruce is said to be buried opposite the east window under a small stone and many of the Douglases rest around him. The abbey was presented to the nation by the Duke of Buccleuch some years ago.

some years ago.

A typical Border town is Galashiels where there is a war memorial described as second only to that in Edinburgh. The statue in front is of Border soldiers and there are lights always burning at the memorial. At 8 p.m. the clock plays the first line of "The Border Song." Like all towns in this section, Galashiels is small with only 14,000 people and its main industry is cloth and tartan manufacture.

From there you pass "the meeting of the waters" . . . the meeting of the Tweed and Attrick rivers. Scott laid a stone here in 1831 and it is also mentioned in "The Lay of The Last Minstrel."

Visit Scott's Home

The entire Border country in this 60-mile trip, abounds with the touch of Scott which is climaxed with a visit to his home at Abbotsford. He built this mansion on the Tweed with its lovely woods and all but a few rooms, open as a museum to the public, are occupied by his family.

The house is a living museum to Scottish history. The walls are studded with sculptured stones from all parts of the country. The door of the old Tolbooth in Edinburgh (familiarly known as "The Heart of The Midlothian") is built into the west wall of the house. Above the library window is the lintel of the door of the old common building of Edinburgh University and at the southern side of the house is a fountain which flowed with wine at the Restoration (1660) when it stood beside the Cross of Edinburgh.

The mansion is entered by a porch copied from the gateway of Linlithgow Palace. The Hall is panelled with rich oak carvings he wangled from the ancient Kirk of Dunfermline and it contains some fine old armor and ancient weapons of great interest such as Rob Roy's gun with his initials, Montrose's sword and Grahame of Claverhouse's pistol.

Scott had a wonderful library of 20,000 volumes, many of them rare books and it also contains an ebony writing desk given by George IV.

For beauty, historical and literary interest, the Border country is one of the grandest spots in Scotland.

New Gold Area Town Calls For Housing Of 50,000

JOHANNESBURG — (CP) — Preliminary work on two new gold mines in the Orange Free State has begun. The mines are situated about 18 miles north of Welkom and preparations for the sinking of two vertical shafts are being made.

A new town to provide housing and other amenities for employees of the mines will be established in the adjoining farm district.

The district will be divided into two mining areas to be known as the east area and the west area. The first shaft will be sunk in the west area and sinking operations will begin soon. Sinking operations in east area will begin in a few weeks.

The shaft in the west area will eventually be sunk to a depth of 5,700 feet.

The immediate construction program provides for the building of a shaft office, a hostel to accommodate 1,800 African employees, workshops and a temporay mine store.

The companies which will develop these mining areas have not yet been formed. It will be some time before mining leases are granted. In the meantime, the preliminary work is being financed by the Anglo-American Corporation, under whose administrative and technical control the mines will be.

To be Called Allanridge

The site of the new town, which will be named Allanridge, lies in the northern part of the mining area. Town planning on modern lines is being carried out. The township will be built initially to provide for a population of 50,000 half of whom will be Europeans.

Plans have been drawn up to provide not only houses, but shops, offices, a cinema, schools and sporting and recreational facilities.

Meanwhile, according to a mining survey by the Transvaal Chamber of Mines, there are now 1,580 European mine-workers and 10,420 Africans employed in the Free State goldfield.

By June, more than 1,000 houses will be ready for Europeans, hostels will be ready to accommodate single Europeans and there will be living quarters for between 10,000 and 20,000 Africans.

The first supplies of purified water from the Vaal River will reach the goldfields in June, when 4,000,000 gallons a day will be available.

Think $30,000 Fun Costly

OTTAWA, May 19.—(CP).— A $30,000 expenditure for entertainment of workers at Canada's atomic plant in Chalk River, was questioned Thursday at a meeting of the Senate's Finance committee.

Senator Thomas Reid (L-British Columbia), whose bag-pipe playing is a nightly feature on Parliament's [illegible] said he wanted to know why the Federal government should have to pay out such money "just to entertain a bunch of men."

D. B. Mansur, president of the Crown-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, said there was "quite an argument" going on as to just what the Federal government should provide in the way of entertainment.

During the war when houses were built to accommodate a large number of war workers, the government also established community centres. To a large extent these community centres now had been turned over to the municipalities. He could not give the committee details of the type of entertainment provided by the $30,000 expenditure at Chalk River.

April Fire Loss In City $455

Fire losses for April in Peterborough amounted to $455.44 in buildings and $104.48 in contents Fire Chief George Smith reported.

In all the fire department responded to 75 alarms, 66 of them by telephone, one from an alarm box, three by someone coming to the fire hall and two by automatic alarms attached to building sprinkler systems.

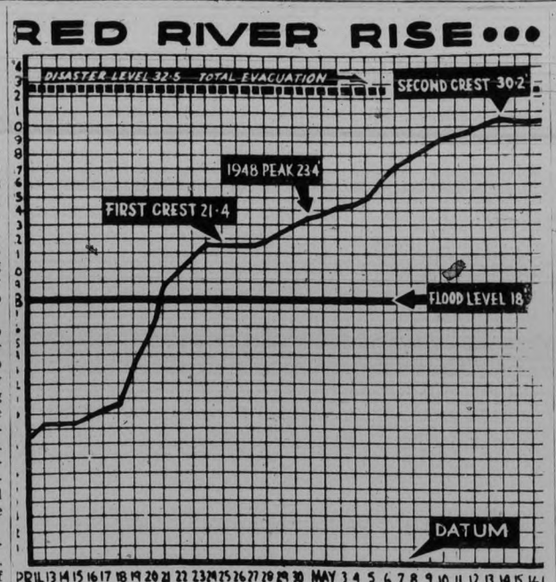
The fire department was also called upon to use an inhalator three times during April. Two men, William Wight and Lansley Hartley, were treated after being overcome by carbon monoxide gas while pumping out a basement at 507 Stewart St., April 10.

The third occasion was in connection with the death of two-year-old Dennis Lintlop who died following an operation to have his tonsils removed.

The total number of inspections for the month were 594, Chief Smith carrying out 21 of them himself.

Level Park Grounds

KEENE, May 19 (ENS) —The park is being put into shape for summer baseball and other outdoor sports. The biggest job is levelling the ground, which is at present being carried out.



RED RIVER RISES—Here is a profile of the destructive rise of the Red River in Greater Winnipeg. A rapid rise brought the river to its first flood stage in four days. The level then dropped 1-10 of a foot before rain in the Red River valley sent it soaring. If the river had reached the 32.5-foot disaster level, general evacuation would have been necessary. Experts predict the river drop will follow roughly the pattern of the rise.

Fakes Cheques Gets 10 Years

BELLEVILLE, May 19 (CP)— A man convicted of 70 charges of passing bogus cheques was sentenced Thursday to 10 years.

Kenneth Johnston, 48, of Picton, got that term on one count and concurrent 10-year sentences for the remainder.

Frank Greely, also of Picton, who was Johnston's accomplice in the long series of offences, pleaded guilty to some 20 charges of forgery and was given six months definite and six months indefinite.

Johnston previously served three years for forgery. Greeley had no record.

They were arrested in March at Stayner. In their possession were a cheque-writing machine and an amateur printing set. Cheques found in their possession and others they had passed were written on the machine, police said.

Broker Loses Jail Appeal

TORONTO, May 19.—(CP).— Ontario Appeal Court Thursday dismissed a Toronto broker's appeal against a six-month jail term and $20,000 fine for fraudulent mining stock deals.

The court ruled that the penalty imposed on Hugh H. Sutherland in Sarnia last October was a proper one.

William B. Hanford, Sutherland's associate in the deals pleaded guilty and was given two years less a day. He was a Crown witness at Sutherland's trial. Sutherland appealed for new trial on grounds that the trial judge did not properly direct the jury.

Testimony was that Sutherland and Hanford bought property from Labonor gold mines and designated the new stock Grantland gold. They informed buyers that the market for Grantland had opened favorably.

When the Ontario Securities Commission, which had not given permission to sell Grantland, launched an investigation, Sutherland moved to Calgary, where he used two aliases, officials said.

Otonabee Ratepayers Asked To Raise $106,986 in Taxes

The total tax roll for Otonabee township in 1950 is $106,986.07—an increase over last year of $26,432.96.

All the rates are up.

County rate increased five mills bringing it to 21.10 mills.

General township rate increased 2.4 mills, totalling 12.7 mills.

General school rate up one mill totalling 6.5 mills.

Peterborough High School rate increased 4.1 mills, totalling 7.4 mills.

Norwood High Scool rate up 2.8 mills, totalling 4.6 mills.

(A mill raises slightly more than $2,000.)

The breakdown of the County levy of 21.10 mills is as follows: general 10.9 mills, road 7.95, bridges .55, hospital 1.05, and Chemong Causeway debentures .65 mills.

For the township of Otonabee: general 4 mills, road and bridge 7.5 and snow plowing 1.2 mills. Total 12.7 mills.

Total general rates for public school supporters, will be 40.3 mills and for separate school supporters, 30.8 mills.

The total levy for the two high school areas is up from $10,087.57 to $13,602.04. However in 1949 there was a reserve fund of $4,373.93 that reduced the total levy by that amount.

This year there is no reserve fund and that is one reason for the big boost in high school rates.

Levies for Keene street lights will be extra.

Plaintiff Seeks Bridge Control

TORONTO, May 19.—(CP).— The Ontario Court of Appeals Thursday reserved judgment in a case which, if decided in favor of the plaintiff, would give him virtual control of one end of the Rainbow bridge which links Ontario with the United States at Niagara Falls.

D. G. Bawtinheimer, a Niagara Falls, Ont., business man, former owner of much of the land now occupied by the approach to the Rainbow bridge, contends his land was illegally expropriated by the Ontario government.

His counsel argued that the land was expropriated for a highway and that a bridge approach is not a highway.

Counsel for the Niagara Parks Commission and the Attorney General for Ontario contended that the bridge approach or plaza, on which is located, among other things, the Clover-Leaf, customs offices at one end of the bridge, is a highway.

Mr. Bawtinheimer has asked for a declaration that he owns the land, and an injunction which would prevent the Parks Commission from using it. In addition he seeks a mandatory order removing buildings, one end of the bridge and other obstructions from the land, and $124,000 damages.

Chief Justice McRuer of the High Court of Ontario dismissed the original action in a decision handed down last fall.

Acquitted In Murder

ROCHESTER, N.Y., May 19.—(AP).—Leo J. Mleczo, 32-year-old railroad switchman, was acquitted Thursday night of a charge of first-degree murder in the assault slaying four years ago of Mrs. Lydia C. Warner, 47. A State Supreme Court jury returned the verdict after deliberating nearly two days. Mleczko was tried twice before on the charge. The high spot of the State's case against Mleizko was the tesimony of the Dunkirk police chief, John J. Warren, who testified that Mrs. Warner identified Mleczko before she died as her assailant.

Give Your Chicks a Flying Start . . . Then Keep Them Coming!
There's your recipe for poultry profits this year . . . especially this year. So many yearlings have been sold, so few chicks started, that it's a foregone conclusion that egg prices will be high next Fall. But that won't do you any good unless you have big well-grown pullets laying big eggs while the prices are high.
The way to get big well-grown pullets laying plenty of big eggs when big eggs mean real money is to start good chicks . . . start them "flying" . . . and keep them coming. And here are the feeds to do the job! Come on in and talk it over.

North Emily Forum Broadcast Monday, May 22 at 8 p.m. — 57 Artificially Bred Holstein Heifers Average $355 — Two Jerseys Added to Maple Breeding Unit—Hay Crop Hurt By Winter Effects—District Hereford Sale Friday, May 26, at Exhibition Park.

Farm Radio Forum announces a CBL broadcast Monday, May 22, from 8 to 8.30 p.m., that should be of special interest in this district.

It will tell the story of North Emily forum. Those taking part in the broadcast will be members of that forum. The commentator is Don Fairborn of the "Neighborly News" program that is heard over CBL Sunday mornings.

HEREFORD SALE FRIDAY

Hereford cattle breeders of eastern Ontario are offering 30 head at their second annual sale at the Exhibition Park Friday, May 26, beginning at 1 pm. They are consigning nine bulls and 21 females.

The herds that will be represented in this auction are owned by: Harold Elmhirst, Keene; Lloyd Ashmore, Lindsay; John Stuart, Jr., Old Orchard Farm, Peterborough; Lt.-Col. F. Everett Birdsall, Asphodel; R. E. Thurston, Bobcaygeon; J. K. Mervin, Peterborough; Elmer A. Linton, Little Britain; Allan R. Linton, Cobourg; Winton J. White, Balsam; H. J. Hawkey, Indian River; Charles Fisher and Son, Bailieboro; W. M. Thurston, Dunsford.

W. S. O'Neill of Denfield will be in charge of the sale which is actually an extension of the dispersal of the Stuart Herefords. District breeders at that time decided to make it an annual event, and although Mr. Stuart disposed of the bulk of his great herd he is represented among the consignors.

ARTIFICIAL HEIFERS AVERAGE $355

Something new in the line of livestock auction sales took place at Woodstock, Ont., on May 16, when the Oxford Holstein Breeders' Association held an auction sale of daughters of the bulls maintained at the association headquarters in Woodstock. All 57 animals sold were of the test tube variety being artificially conceived.

The general average for 57 head was $355 for a total of $20,245. Five bulls average $366; 5 milking females $440; 30 bred heifers $403; 10 open yearlings $263 and 7 heifer calves $212.

Highest price of the day was $700 paid by Shore Holsteins, Glanworth, Ont., to J. A. McClellan, Harley, Ont., for Macview Sovereign Betty a bred heifer. She is a daughter of the famous Century sire Montvic Rag Apple Sovereign from a dam with a lifetime record of 136,186 pounds milk, she in turn being from a dam with 160,617 pounds milk. Both records were made on 2X and are a most unusual combination.

Top bull was also by Sovereign. He was consigned by F. W. Kennedy & Son, Oxford Centre, and bought by E. G. Ponsford, St. Thomas at $525.

Big buyer of the day was Lloyd Marsden, Rockwood, Ont. who secured seven head at $2,770 an average of $394. Sellers were Morley Lannin, Dublin; Douglas R. Wilson, Ingersoll; H. Earl Day, St. Mary's; Fred Fawcett, Brantford; Harold W. Pearce, Tillsonburg; S. G. Glaves, Woodstock and Alex Reach & Son, Woodstock, Ontario.

Jack Town, Woodstock, a former Holstein breeder who is again establishing a herd, bought six head for $2,560 an average of $426. These included bred heifers as follows: $450 from Fred Griffin, Burgessville; $425 from A. T. Walker & Son, Burgessville; $410 and $400 from A. H. Gilmour, Burgessville, and $400 from B. G. Palmer, Norwick. Mr. Town also paid $475 to J. Russell Currie, Ingersoll for a three-year-old.

HAY CROP OUTLOOK POOR

Extensive winter killing of alfalfa and clovers and persistence of cold backward weather resulting in late seeding of spring grains, is reported by the statistics branch, Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Hay is the largest and most important crop in the province, accounting for approximately 3,750,000 acres or 40 per cent of the entire acreage seeded to field crops. Next largest is oats with 2,100,000 acres and mixed grains 1,200,000 acres and fall wheat approximately 800,000 acres.

Owing to drought last year's hay crop was quite light. Outlook for the 1950 hay crop is poor. Winter killing has ranged from 20 to 30 per cent in most cases to as high as 50 to 70 per cent in some areas.

Hay and grasses suffered less than alfalfa but growth to date has been very slow due to weather conditions.

Fall rye came through the winter with only a small amount of winter killing in most sections. Fall wheat, however, faired less well with the average amount of winter kill for the province placed at ten per cent of acreage seeded last fall.

Heaviest damage to fall wheat is reported from Haldimand, Welland and Halton and counties in Eastern Ontario. Due to cool dry frosty weather, present outlook is for yields slightly below normal.

A very large acreage was seeded to fall wheat in Ontario last fall and the area for harvest is expected to be somewhere between 800,000 and 850,000 acres, second largest since 1901

JERSEYS AT MAPLE

Maple Cattlebreeders' Association purchased two outstanding bulls a few days ago. One of these Avonlea Zana's Records Basil was bought at the dispersal sale of Norman Dedels, Breslau, Ont., for $1,200. This bull was Mr. Dedels' senior herd sire that he had purchased from Featherstone Bros. at Trafalgar. "Records Basil" is a son of Featherstone's senior herd sire, Brampton Jersey Basil, a bull classified "Very Good," and whose daughters are doing exceptionally well. The first one to finish as a three-year-old has produced 10,428 lbs of milk and 643 lbs. of fat. Others are completing their records and daughters of this bull have sold at public auction in the USA as high as $1,600. Several of them have sold at private sale for $1,000.00 each.

The dam of Avonlea Zana's Records Basil is the famous cow, Avonlea Records Suzanna, classified "Excellent," and as a three-year-old produced 713 lbs of fat from 11,280 lbs. of milk, qualifying for silver and gold medal certificates. She is by the renowned sire, Brampton World's Records, and from Canada's long distance milk producing champion, Fairy Raleigh Zana, whose 12 records total 146,810 lbs. of milk and 7,980 lbs. of fat.

The second herd sire recently purchased by G. W. Keffer and his committee at Maple is Avonlea Records Basil, a two-year-old bull sired by the same sire and from a half-sister, namely Avonlea Records Fern. Fern has three records for two of which he has been awarded a silver medal certificate. As a senior three-year-old Fern produced in 305 days, 10,081 lbs. of milk, 553 lbs. of fat.

HARVEST HAY EARLY

It pays to cut hay early, for as the plants mature, fibrous, indigestible materials develop and the proportion of protein decreases. The proof of this is seen in the superior performance and growth of animals on early season pasture.

Authorities have proved that the total digestible material decreases by three per cent as red clover plants mature from full head to full bloom, and, even more serious, digestible protein decreases 35 per cent. With timothy, the condition is even worse, and total digestible material decreases by 5.8 per cent and digestible protein by 42 per cent as the plants mature from full head to just past full bloom.

Weather records gathered over 36 years at the Dominion Experimental Farm at Nappan, NS, show that the average temperature in July is a degree warmer than in August and that July has 6 per cent more sunshine and 16 per cent less rainfall than August. This is contrary to common belief that as the summer advances, the weather becomes more favorable for making hay. What does happen, say E. T. Goring, agronomist at the Farm, is that as the season advances and the plants mature, they become woody and dry and are easier to cure in less favorable weather. But they have lost a large part of their feeding value.

This is a serious loss that no farmer can afford, Mr. Goring points out. It can be avoided by cutting the hay crop early, when the plants are at their best, when the digestible nutrients are at their peak, and the proportion of protein is high. Made into hay or silage at this time, a nutritious high-protein home-grown feed is obtained.

HOLSTEINS AVERAGE $344

An average of $344 for a total of $19,735 was realized on the sale of 57 head of pure-bred Holsteins at the Eighth Glanworth Consignment Sale held May 10, at Glanworth. Top price was $500 paid by C. J. Craven, Dresden, to George W. Dennis & Sons, of St. Thomas for a bred heifer, Lorna Rag Apple Netherland. Highest figure for a milking female was $455 also paid by C. J. Craven. Big buyer of the day was a former Hereford breeder, R. H. Evison, Strathroy, who received 10 head for a total of $3,485.

✦ ✦ ✦

FEEDING THE LAYING HEN

Finely ground rations for the laying hen showed an increase in production and a saving of feed as compared with results from coarse feed at the experimental farm at Nappan, N.S., as reported by the Canadian Department of Agriculture.

"In the coarsely ground feed, the grains were little more than cracked, but were fairly well ground in the medium and finely ground mixtures. The coarse feed had more than twice as many coarse particles as the finely ground. A screen of 12 meshes to the inch retained 48 per cent of the coarse, 17 per cent of the medium and 7 per cent of the fine feed."

The birds ate more of the coarsely ground feed, but did not give any increase in egg production.

"Based on a flock of 100 Barred Plymouth Rocks, the actual feed consumption was 30.22 pounds a day for the hens fed the coarsely ground grain; 20.37 pounds a day for the medium; and 28.22 pounds for the finely ground ration. Thus, the birds fed the medium and finely ground ration ate between 40 to 60 pounds of feed less a month for each 100 birds.

Along with this saving, the study showed an increase in egg production on the medium and fine, as compared with the coarse. For each 100 pounds of feed consumed, the groups on the finely ground ration laid 210 eggs; the groups on the mediu ground, 196 196; eggs and those fed the coarse, 189 eggs.

There was a saving of feed and an increase in egg production for the birds fed the more finely ground rations. With this ration there was a saving of two pounds of feed a day per 100 birds over the coarsely ground, and an advantage of 21 eggs per 100 pounds of feed consumed."

✦ ✦ ✦

ROTATING POULTRY RANGE

The practice at the Federal Experimental Farm at Harrow, Ont., rotates th large paddocks with poultry one year, a hoed crop the second, then oats and alfalfa the third year.

The alfalfa provides range for the poultry during the fourth year. Smaller runs are used every other year with fresh seeding in the intervening season. Early last summer 280 young pullets were put out on plots which had been in two and three year rotations over a period of 20 years. Four months later the same number of pullets were moved to winter quarters and there had been no sickness or deaths during the ranging period.

Naturally there can never be complete assurance that young birds will not go through a growing season without setback from intestinal parasites. But moving shelters to rested ground from year to year, and if the area is large enough, once or twice during the season, is a proved and worth-while precaution.

RECOMMEND SEEDING

K. E. Fallis of the crops bran Ontario Department of Agriculture, recommends for weak stan of clover showing some promise, nitrogen fertilizer to increase tonnage and protein content for summer pasture and hay. "Apply ammonium nitrate as early in the spring as possible at the rate of 100 lbs. an acre, on meadows and pastures.

Seed into poor stands which must be left, ten pounds of sweet clover, ten lbs. perennial or annual rye-grass as early as possible and add fertilizer for growth.

Seed annual pasture crops as follows: Sudan grass, 20 lbs. an acre; May 25 or later; oats and Sudan grass: oats two bus. and Sudan grass 20 lbs., late May; oats and sweet clover, oats two bushels and sweet clover 20 lbs., early.

Annual hay crops: oats and peas —two pounds of oats and one bus. long-strawed peas an acre. Harvest when oats are well filled, peas half filled.

Oats and spring vetch—two bus. oats, 40 lbs. spring vetch an acre, seeded in May. Harvest when vetch is in bloom.

Millet: 20 to 30 lbs. an acre; seed early in June. Harvest in heading stage."

Mr. Fallis says nitrogen fertilizer promotes rapid growth and increases protein content in forage. Early seeding is important in all annual hay and pasture crops except Sudan grass. Roxton oats are a suitable variety for hay and pasture. Annual legumes such as Huban, peas, or vetches are useful in seasons where clovers have been severely damaged. He also advises that additional corn silage is an important supplement to a light hay crop.

Cattle Prices Gain $1 On All Grades

TORONTO, May 19 — (CP)—Cattle prices gained $1 on all grades this week at the Ontario Stockyards, the Dominion Marketing Service reported today. Hogs also made strong gains by climbing $1-$1.25 a hundredweight. Calves, sheep and lambs remained firm.

Cattle receipts totalled 7,377 head, 1,608 more than last week, and 1,117 above the same week a year ago. Domestic and export demand was keen and the supply was well cleared.

Good to choice weighty steers were mostly $27-$28 with a few top lots at $29. Good to choice light steers sold at $26-$27.50, with common downward to $21. Good heifers were mostly $25-$25.50. Good to choice fed yearlings were $26-$27.50, with mediums downward to $23. Medium to good cows sold at $19.50-$21.50 with tops at $22. Canners and cutters were mostly $15.50-$17. Good heavy bulls sold at $21-$22 with some up to $22.50. A few lots of good feeding steers brought $24-$25 a hundredweight.

Calves totalled 1,997 head. Prices were firm at $28-$29 for choice vealers with a good export demand. Common to medium vealers were mostly $18-$26 with lights as low as $15 a hundreiweight.

Hog receipts were 2,803 head. Grade A hogs sold $1-$1.25 a hundredweight higher at $29. Dressed sows were $20.50.

Sheep and lambs totalled 257 head. A few weighty feed-lot lambs sold at $28 and a small number of spring lambs, weighing around 80 pounds, sold at $33. Good light sheep were $13-$15 with culls downward to $8.

Don't Refuse Passports Often

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP)—Canada's External Affairs Minister can and does refuse and revoke passports for a number of reasons but Communist affiliation isn't one of them, the Commons External Affairs committee was officially informed Thursday night. The statement was made in a new discussion of the Tim Buck case.

To it was added another that in a strict legal sense the Minister can refuse anyone a passport for any reason but the general principle accepted was that the citizen of a country was entitled to a passport from its government.

The statements were made by A. D. P. Heeney (PC-Peel) called on the External Affairs Department to consider refusing passports to Canadian Communists because "they hold a higher loyalty."

The question arose over a renewal of Thomas Goode (L-Burnaby-Richmond) of his queries about the visit of Buck, Labor-Progressive party leader, to Hungary to attend a Communist military demonstration.

Gary Cooper In Movies For Twenty-Five Years; Likes It

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 19 (AP)—This may come as a shock to you, but it was just 25 years ago that Gary Cooper sauntered onto the screen.

Fresh out of Grinnel College, the loping Montanan migrated to Hollywood in 1925. But not to crash the movies.

"I was interested in the advertising business," he recalled. "But to pick up some spare money I did some extra work, riding and stunting in some pictures. I had run into some Montana cowboy friends of mine who were doing the same thing.

"Well, I got into a Tom Mix picture at Fox and learned he was getting $15,000 a week. That started me thinking. I had hoped to achieve $10,000 a year in the advertising business, but it looked pretty small after that.

Silent Expression

"So you see I didn't get in the movies from any inward desire to express myself."

There is never any pretense about Cooper, especially concerning acting. Said he: "I didn't know anything about acting. I guess I just picked up things here and there from the directors and actors I worked with." A stickler for realism, he just likes to act naturally.

Cooper has never been noted as a chatterbox; in fact, he is considered the leading "yep" and "nope" man in town. He disclosed that this faculty came about because often he didn't quite understand what the interviewer was saying or wanted to hear. So he played safe and answered "yep" or "nope."

Sometimes he does become outspoken. Then, he complained, he has sometimes been misquoted. "So I figured," he drawled, "that I might as well not talk too much."

Business Men Plan To Aid Disaster Victims

The Peterborough Business Men's Association on Thursday night elected 24 directors for the year 1950-51.

Election of officers will be at the first executive meeting.

Following is the new executive as recommended by Ed. Riley, chairman of the nominating committee Joseph Jebson, Don Lewis, Eric Howard, V. Watt, Dit Clapper, F. S. Gibbons, Isadore Black, Zimmel Levine, Norm Hamley, Harry Silver, Cecil Wasson, Jack Henry, Edward Spurway, D. E. Foster, Pete LaBranche, Harry Yudin, Mort Knox, Ken Billings, Harry Green, Murray Irwin, J. W. Davidson, Richard Miller, Jim Archibald and George Hutchinson.

President James B. Clark, reported that the Retail Merchants Association had asked the Peterborough Business Men's Association to contribute some excess stock to the fire victims at Rimouski and the flood victims in southern Manitoba.

Will Need Clothing

Working through the local branch of the Red Cross the Association had learned that such utility articles as flashlights were needed at present at Winnipeg, but in a few weeks clothing will be needed.

"This is a little job I know we can do," said President Clark. "I'm sure every store has some clothing that can be contributed. Don't just let it sit on your shelves."

The Association adopted a resolution "to do everything in its power to help out in the present emergency."

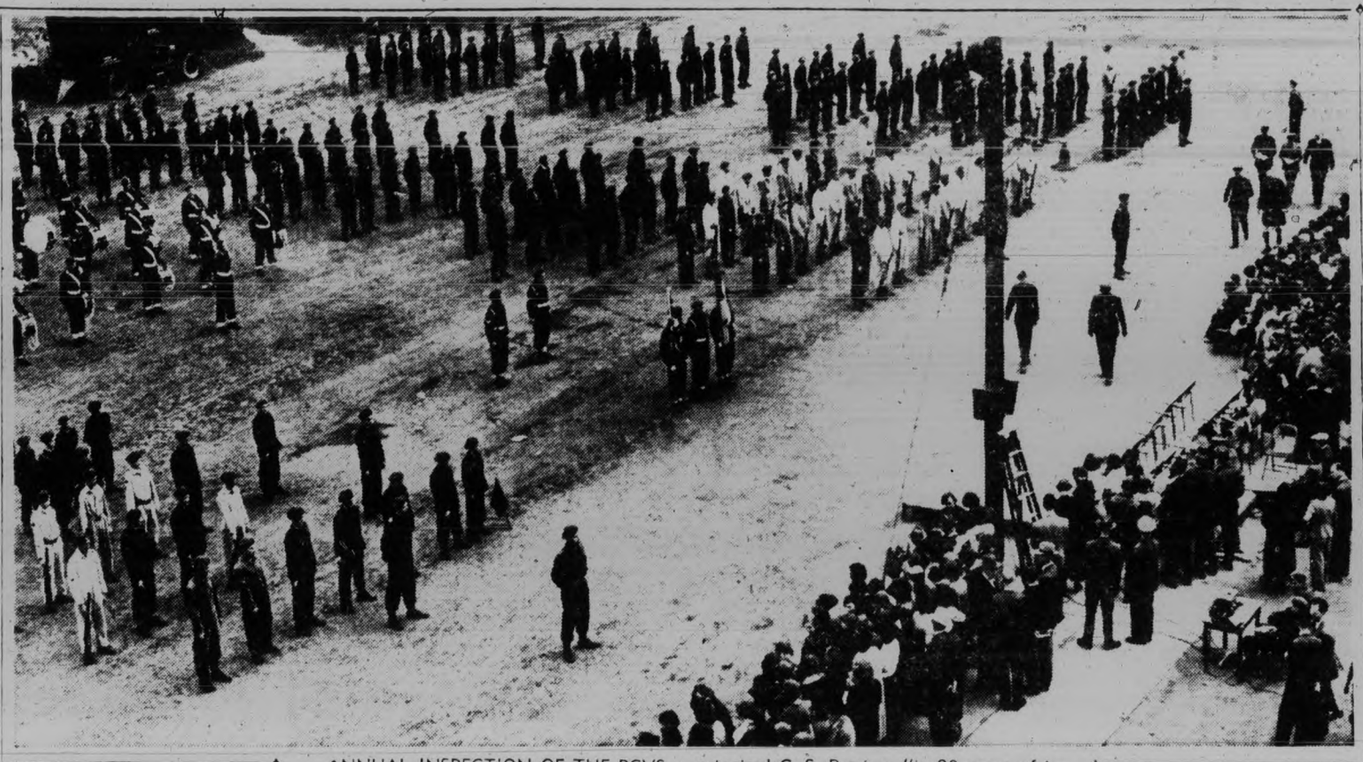
Two things the Association felt were definitely constructive projects during the past year were the "Most Courteous Clerk" contest run in co-operation with the Sales and Ad Club. Also the tourist booklet, undertaken in conjunction with the Chamber of Commerce.

July 1 Holiday

Indications are that the members of the Association would prefer staying open on Saturday, July 1, and close on Monday. The reason for this, Dennis Fitzgerald explained, was that United States tourists coming from, say, Ohio for the July 4 week-end would arrive here Saturday morning and find the stores closed.

As Joseph Jebson later amplified it, this would probably make them "cross."

The matter must still be threshed out by the new executive and the views of industry in Peterborough must also be heard from. A show of hands Thursday night indicated the majority were in favor of closing Monday and remaining open Saturday.



ANNUAL INSPECTION OF THE PCVS CADET CORPS was held on Thursday afternoon at the parade ground of Confederation Park. "It is up to its usual high standard of perfection," said Inspecting Officer Brig. Geoffrey Walsh, CBE, DSO, Commander of Eastern Ontario military area. "We are blessed with fine weather, too," said school principal C. S. Browne, "in 20 years of inspection days, it has only rained once." Precision drills, a mock battle, 3.7 anti-aircraft gun drill and physical jerks lasted for two hours. The above photo shows part of the corps as the Inspecting Officer goes to the reviewing stand for the march-past. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Ministerial Association Wants New Civic Hospital Dedicated With Prayer

Less than 48 hours before the official opening of the new Civic Hospital, John Hornal, superintendent of the hospital, read two letters to the Board of Governors asking that the hospital be dedicated in a religious ceremony. The program, already prepared and in the hands of the prime minister, who will open the hospital, does not provide for a prayer. John R. Marshall, chairman of the board, summed up the reasons why no religious ceremony was included in the program by saying, "If ours was a Protestant hospital we could have a Protestant service, but I do not think we should impose any particular sect of religion as against another."

"For that reason we have tried in the last two services—the turning of the sod and laying of the cornerstone — to recognize all faiths in the city. There is nothing that causes a greater cleavage than the matter of religion.

"When we invite the heads of these faiths to the ceremony, to represent their congregations, we are giving as complete a recognition as it is possible to give."

The three groups to be represented are the Roman Catholic Church, the Protestant churches and the Jewish faith.

The first letter was from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church session, addressed to the Mayor, and forwarded by him to the Board of Governors and the second, from the Ministerial Association.

Prayer A Problem

During discussion which lasted nearly an hour, it was apparent that the majority of the governors felt a prayer should be offered but the problem as to how it could be done without giving preference to any one denomination appeared to be insoluble.

By a vote of 6-5, some members abstaining, it was decided that the three clergymen be invited to give a prayer. This was an amendment proposed by Dr. G. Raymore Scott. A motion proposed by Dr. G. S. Cameron was also passed, arranging for a committee to be formed to explain in writing to the Ministerial Association, why no religious ceremony had been included in the opening.

Dr. Cameron traced the history of the management of the hospital to point out why this controversial issue had been constantly arising.

Nicholls Was Protestant

Nicholls Hospital had been a Protestant hospital, the management of which was entirely made up of the Protestant churches. The Protestants were asked to relinquish their rights and as a result it became the Civic Hospital.

The hospital was relinquished without protest — they signed away everything and it was secularized and supported by everyone in the community regardless of sect or creed. That was all accepted by the people.

The bill had a very harmonious passage through the Ontario legislature and then the present board was set up.

Vernon Selkirk thought the Lord's Prayer could be said. J. L. Welsh wanted all three clergymen to be asked to offer a prayer; Norman Wilson thought the board should not fear criticism but should take a stand. Mr. Marshall said whatever the board did, it would be subject to criticism.

Melville Johnston thought that God was not being recognized, but only the different groups.

Several members of the board said they had been approached about the matter.

Religious Ceremony

The letter from the Ministerial Association, signed on behalf of the association by the Revs. D. Bruce Gordon, Walter J. Gilling, Ivan Morgan and C. G. Boyd stated:

"We the members of the Ministerial Association of Peterborough, beg leave to bring before the Board of Peterborough Civic Hospital, the request that an institution devoted to the healing of the sick, should be duly dedicated with religious ceremony. To this end we urge and with the feelings of our respective congregations in mind, we implore the Board to give favorable consideration to this request."

After referring to the absence of religious ceremony at the sod turning and laying of the cornerstone—the Board said the religious groups were represented on both occasions—the Session of St. Andrew's wrote:

"At the opening and dedication of the hospital God should be fittingly recognized by prayer and reading of scripture and observance should be conducted according to the faith of the majority of the citizens of the city of Peterborough."

It was pointed out that if a satisfactory arrangement could not be made after the three clergymen attending the opening are invited to offer a prayer, the matter would be left in the hands of the chairman. Mr. Welsh added that if it did rest finally with the chairman, the Board as a whole would accept responsibility for the program which will be performed at the opening. It could not be considered only as the responsibility of the chairman.

Toronto Boatmen Plan Cruiser Trip To City

The Toronto Power Squadron is planning a cruise from Toronto to to Peterborough in August, James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, announced today.

Plans are in a preliminary stage but, at present, he squadron has ten craft signed to take the trip. An additional 10 craft are expected to join the cruise before it leaves Toronto. They plan to arrive in Peterborough around the first week-end in August for a two or three-day stay before returning to Toronto.

Mr. Fraser said today that plans are being made to entertain the tourists during their stay in the city.

Last year the squadron went to Kingston, up the Rideau Canal to Ottawa and the Ottawa River.

The craft will travel from Toronto through Lake Ontario and up the Trent system to Peterborough.

SUPER REHABILITATION

By 1949, Britain's total industrial output was 30 per cent above the prewar level.

Motorist Dies At Wheel Of Car Going Fishing

While driving to a favorite fishing spot, 69-year-old Robert Norman Bell of Toronto collapsed Thursday night and died almost instantly.

His brother, Garnet S. Bell, also of Toronto, managed to grasp the steering wheel of the car before it ran into the ditch, five miles north of Apsley on Highway 28.

The two brothers had intended having a long week-end of fishing at a northern lake.

Although a resident of Toronto for the past 20 years Mr. Bell was born in Peterborough and educated at Peterborough Collegiate. He was a retired banker.

Mr. Bell was taken to the Red Cross Hospital at Apsley but was dead on arrival. Dr. H. E. Gastle of Lakefield was called as was the Coroner, Dr. Herbert Young.

The body was taken to Hendren's Funeral Home, Lakefield, and then to Toronto.

He leaves his wife the former Nessie Alexander; a son Murray of Toronto, and a daughter, Mrs. McAvin of Vancouver. His parents were the late Robert William Bell and Ellen Sumner of Peterborough.

Funeral arrangements will be made in Toronto.

Bells On Rugby Team

Both Norman and Garnet Bell played on the Peterborough rugby team that won the Canadian intermediate championship in 1899.

The only member of that football squad now living in Peterborough is Mr. Arthur J. McClellan, King St.

"They were both good players," Mr. McClellan recalled today to the Examiner. "Norman was the quarter-back, and Garnet played on the half-back line. They were stocky, rugged youngsters. Their father was Dr. Robert W. Bell, whose office as I remember it, a little dimly, was on George St., north of Murray St., on the property the city has bought for the site of the new city hall.

"Around that time, I think they both went to college."

Mr. McClellan played flying wing on the 1899 championship team, of which the star was Hal Burnham, tall and sturdy, and one of the greatest centre and kicking halves Peterborough ever produced.

The Bell family were members of St. Andrew's (Presbyterian) Church.

Older citizens may remember Dr. Bell as the Colonel and Commanding Officer of the 57th Regiment at the turn of the century.

Outboard Motor Stolen From Car

A Toronto man, G. R. Fletcher, reported to police today his car had been broken open and an outboard motor stolen from it while it was parked on the market square.

Mr. Fletcher said he parked the car there Wednesday night and didn't go near it until this morning. The no-draft window in the right door had been jimmied open and the motor taken from the back seat.

There was no clue to indicate whether the motor had been stolen Wednesday or Thursday night. Constable William A. Scott did the preliminary investigation.

Summer Theatre To Help Hospital

Peterborough Summer Theatre has pledged all profits during the coming season in this city to Civic Hospital.

In a letter from Michael Sadlier, read to the Board of Governors Thursday by John Hornal, hospital superintendent, the Board was told that all profits in excess of $295 per night, which was the estimated cost of performing every evening, would be given to the hospital.

Mr. Sadlier personally guaranteed the hospital $100.

Mr. Hornal said the sale of soft drinks at the theatre had been placed in charge of the IODE and it had been suggested that the profits be turned over to furnishings for the hospital.

Thieves Take $2 From Bottles

More than $2 was stolen during the night from two milk bottles left outside for the milkman at 524 Charlotte St., the home of Mrs. A. E. Sargent, it was reported to police this morning.

Chief Constable John Thompson said there had been an epidemic of milk bottle robberies with a considerable amount of money being taken.

"People should not leave large amounts of money in milk bottles" Chief Thompson warned. He suggested they make other arrangements for paying their milkmen.

He said he couldn't post a policeman at every house where people put out money in their milk bottles.

Poles ½ Block Long

Half a dozen of the biggest wooden poles to be seen this side of BC's tallest forests arrived in the city just as Peterborough's work-a-day world was getting back from its lunch today. They were aboard a special tractor-trailer from St. Lambert, a suburb of Montreal. Prone on the truck they were half a block long. They threaded their way up George Street from Number 7, took the turn around Sherbrooke and Water, on up Water to Hunter. When the truck navigated that turn the whole crossing was blocker, as the street was a few minutes later when the truck turned into Riverside Park. These are the poles for the baseball lights, presumably.

Exhibition of Battle Drill Highlights Cadet Inspection

Obliging weather held rain away from the annual PCVS cadet inspection on Thursday afternoon until just before the route march, which was called off because of rain. Inspecting officer, Brigadier Geoffrey Walsh, CBE, DSO, Eastern Ontario area commander, remarked that the cadets' showing was "up to the same high standard of last year."

Most colorful part of the afternoon's program was a display of battle drill with troops from the various batteries attacking a tiny defending force at the south end of the campus.

Bren guns, Stens, and rifles, firing blanks, were used in the attack. The defending force was partially concealed in a blind made of cedar boughs and wooden boxes.

Trophy Winners

The IODE trophy for the best battery was presented by Mrs. C. M. Scott, regent of the 57th Regiment Chapter, to Cadet Major Dave Ingram, B Battery.

The 57th Regiment trophy for the best troop was presented to the only completely un-uniformed troop in the inspection — 9 Troop, C Battery. Cadet Major Jim Grant received the award from Mrs. Max Clarke, wife of the commander of the 50th Regiment.

The J. A. Dewart trophy for the best shot in the battalion, was presented to Cadet Major R. Duncan, second-in-command of the battalion.

Best part of the drill was the "advance in review order", in which the cadets moved with a good deal of precision. During this, dressing was particularly good.

Physical Exercise

Following the battle drill, cadets had switched to shorts, running shoes and sweatshirts for a massed physical demonstration.

Displays of lashings, knots, map work, and dismantling of Bren guns followed the PT show. Simultaneously, 3.7 anti-aircraft gun drill was held.

In the inspecting officer's remarks, Brig. Walsh said: "You seem to shine at steadiness—as you did last year.

"Although your dress is not as good as last year, the blame for that must fall not on you, but on myself, and headquarters because we could not get sufficient uniforms for you.

"I thought the band, the field craft, battle and gun drill were exceptionally good; I might say better than last year."

Accompanying Brig Walsh were Captain Ernest Thirgood, MM, cadet training officer for the eastern Ontario area, and Lt.-Col. Max Clarke, officer commanding the 50th Heavy AA Regiment, RCA.

Suggest July 1 Boating Display

The centennial committee has instructed its secretary, City Clerk Outram, to enquire from Outboard Marine and Manufacturing Company whether they would provide a motor boating demonstration, and other aquatic sports, at Little Lake, the evening of July 1, preceding the display of fireworks for the conclusion of Dominion Day.

Mr. Outram is also obtaining information from the Canadian Legion about the progress of their plans for Warriors Day.

The committee has conferred with William Sims regarding entertainment to be given in connection with the centennial program during the summer months, possibly at Nicholls Oval. It was arranged that Mr. Sims would write a letter outlining in detail his proposals and cost of such entertainment.

Lumber Firm Gives $100 Aid Flood Victims

Another $209 for the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund has been received at the Examiner bringing the total up to $1,688.

Peterborough Lumber Co. donated $100 and the Junior Welfare League sent the sizeable donation of $50.

Newspapers across Canada have been asked to accept contributions from residents in their areas and forward the money along to Winnipeg. The Examiner is pleased to perform this service and also send along cheques for the "Rimouski Fire Fund."

There are no administrative charges.

Cheques should be made out to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund and the address is the same, care of The Examiner, Peterborough.

Hospital Receives Legacy From E. Wood

Civic Hospital has received $3,125 as part payment of a legacy left to the hospital upon the death of Mrs. E. R. Wood, who died in February.

John Hornal, superintendent of the hospital, told the Board on Thursday that this had been sent by the trust company managing the E. R. Wood estate and that further sums would be received.

Mr. Hornal also said that of the total revenue of $366,778.19 received from patients during the past year, 17½ per cent had been paid by Blue Cross.

Promptness Pays

BRANDON, Man. — (CP) — City hall officials have a pretty effective way of encouraging taxpayers to making their payments early. A two per cent discount was allowed firms paying their taxes before May 1, and most of them took advantage of the inducement.

Main Street Topics

DRUNK FINED

Raph Bryson, 58, George St., pleaded guilty to a charge of drunkeness and was fined $10 costs in police court today.

EQUIPMENT ARRIVES

The first of the equipment for the floodlights for Riverside Park arrived Thursday. The poles, 100 feet in length, were trucked to Peterborough from Quebec. Some of the reflectors and conduits are at the Utilities.

ORDAINED IN DETROIT

Rev. James Molloy who was recently ordained to the priesthood in Detroit is a grandson of Mrs. Johanna Costello Dwyer formerly of Peterborough. He was born in Detroit in 1920, a son of Mrs. James Molloy, whose maiden name was Frances Dwyer. The grandmother of Father Molloy once taught school in this area. Miss Eva Gordon, Lock St., attended the ordination.

GIVE TO HOSPITAL

Donations to the new Civic Hospital acknowledged Thursday by the Board of Governors were: $2,000 from the Thursday Club of the Women's Auxiliary to the hospital; $500, from Judge S. L. Smoke; $600 from Lt. Col. Agnes Neill Chapter IODE; $500 from the Junior Welfare League and $25 from the Know Each Other Club, Lakehurst.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

Mrs. Richard Whalon, chairman of the Recreation Commission's Boys and Girls Committee, and Alex Sinclair, the recreation director, are attending the three-day Ontario Recreation Association conference in Toronto. The sessions are being held at the Victoria College, University of Toronto.

VISIT CITY

Thirty-seven women of the Sandhill Women's Institute in Peel County are planning a bus trip to Peterborough, Monday, June 19, James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said today. Besides picnicking in one of the parks the women plan a sight-seeing tour. Mr. Fraser has arranged a visit to the Quaker Oats Company and the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company.

UNCERTAIN WEATHER

Weather for the formal opening of Peterborough Civic Hospital Saturday afternoon by the Prime Minister of Canada, Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, is uncertain in the probabilities reported this afternoon by Canadian Press. The prospect appears to be a continuation of today's cool temperature and occasional light rain. There is also a promise of sunshine in the morning. Apparently the outlook is for another doubtful day in the routine of this "backward" spring.

Gift Presented To Past President

MARMORA, May 19 — (ENS) —The Catholic Women's League made a presentation of a silver sugar and cream and tray to Mrs. C. Cook, the past president, at the May meeting on Tuesday in Sacred Heart school. An address was read by Mrs. J. Black and Mrs. C. Brady, the new president, made the presentation.

It was decided to give a donation of $5 to the Marmora Agricultural Society.

The president appointed the following conveners: Organist, Mrs. E. Shannon; program, Mrs. J. Black social service, Mrs. C. Crawford and Mrs. K. Donaldson; education and scholarships, Mrs. Don Shannon; sewing, Miss Mary Hughes; lunch, Mrs. W. A. Shannon; sisters of service, Mrs. Rose Johnston; press and publicity, Mrs. J. A. Shannon.

The Rev. J. A. O'Neill spoke of the Crusade of the Rosary to be held in Belleville on Monday and discussed plans for transportation for the children.

Miss Mary Hughes reported for the sewing club and handed out patches to the members.

The president then discussed the urgent need of clothing, blankets, etc., for the flood victims in Winnipeg and the members were asked to donate towards this cause.

Mrs. J. Black took charge of the following program: Piano solo by Mrs. E. Shannon; three poems pertaining to the Rosary, read by Mrs. Black; Mrs. Hugh Brady sang, with Mrs. Black at the piano; Mrs. Carl Heath read a poem.

Refreshments were served by the ladies of Group One.

Die In Skirmish

RANGOON, Burma, May 19—(AP).—A former Japanese soldier and 20 Burmese Communists were killed during a skirmish with government troops at Wami in the Pegu foothills, a semi-official report said today. The soldier apparently had escaped into the interior when Japan surrendered in 1945.

MANITOBA-BORN BARON —Francis Douglas, a native of Wakopa, Man., was raised to the British peerage last February. He chose the title Baron Douglas of Barloch of Maxfield in the County of Sussex. He was Labor member of the British House of Commons from 1940 to 1946 and governor of Malta from 1946 to 1949. Barloch is a small Dumbartonshire estate which belonged to the Douglas family. Maxfield is the Douglas country house.

Deserve Punishment

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP) — Bernard M. Baruch, veteran adviser to United States presidents, said Thursday night any country starting a war should be subject to punishment by atomic bombs or anything else. He said he still stands by the United Nations majority-approved plan for atomic control, based on a program he presented for the United States June 17, 1946.

Pearson Lauds Atlantic Council

LONDON, May 19 (CP)—L. B. Pearson said Thursday the structure of the Atlantic community has been strengthened by the work of the North Atlantic Treaty Council.

Canada's External Affairs Minister told the Council's closing session that the Atlantic community now is "strong in the power which freedom gives, and in freedom which power makes possible."

"We have done a good week's work," Pearson said. Steps had been taken to prevent war by strengthening the members' determination to resist aggression collectively and their ability to resist it successfully.

He added, however, that the resolution passed by the Council would be of little avail unless member governments and peoples translate them into action.

"I am satisfied that this will be done and that its doing will make a good contribution to peace and human progress."

The members had come together to advance peace and human welfare in a manner more lasting than could be brought about through a military alliance alone.

Will Modernize NorthernRailway

TORONTO, May 19 — (CP) — Start on the modernization of the Ontario Northland Railway was announced by the Ontario government Thursday when Premier Frost said that the government had entered into a $1,930,000 program which will provide for the Dieselization of the road.

Contracts have been let by the government for four Diesel 1,600 horsepower units at a cost of $1,000,000 in addition to a 1,000 horsepower unit at a cost of $130,000. Construction and equipment of a Diesel repair shop at North Bay was also authorized at a cost of $800,000.

"The government's plans call for the ultimate Dieselization of the railway," said Premier Frost in announcing the program. He thought that the project would take six years to complete.

The engines will be built by the General Motors plant in London, Ont., and the Montreal Locomotive plant in Montreal.

The Premier emphasized that most of the material used by the Montreal plant was fabricated in Ontario and only assembled in Montreal.

100 Men Stage Strike In Mine

MANCHESTER, England, May 19 (AP)—About 100 miners are staging a stay-down strike in the Moston colliery near here to protest the impending shutdown of the mine.

They have stayed underground since Wednesday. Five hundred sandwiches and supplies of tea were sent down from the company canteen early today.

The 29-year-old mine manager, E. Tootle, and the colliery agent, W. V. Burton, announced later, however, that no more food will be permitted to go underground.

The Northwest Coal Board announced recently that the Moston pit would be closed soon because it no longer was economical to operate. The announcement promised work would be found for as many miners as possible at the nearby Bradford colliery.

Goes Too Far

WINDSOR, May 19.—(CP) — (CP).—A sensational finish to 19-year-old Gerry Mathieu's trapeze act went too far Thursday. Before 3,500 screaming children at the Windsor policemen's carnival in the arena, the young Chicago high rope artist dropped 35 feet to a wooden floor. She was released from hospital after examination.

Princess Opens Road That's Illegal

DARTMOUTH, Eng., May 19.—(CP).—A road recently opened by Princess Elizabeth was illegally constructed by the Dartmouth Council, Transport Minister Barnes told the council.

The council spent £1,000 on the road named College Way. Shortly after the Princess had officiated at the opening ceremony, the council received a letter from the minister saying the council had broken the defense regulations.

The ministry had not given its permission for the road and the council had not asked for it. The minister did not say what could be done about it now.

SCHOOLBOY SAVES MAN FROM BURNING TO DEATH IN CAR

Jack Yarrow, 14, of Trenton, Ont., pulls man to safety after smashing window of blazing auto

1. Jack Yarrow had never acted so quickly. Leaping from his bicycle, he ran to the car. The back seat was a mass of smoke and flames — and in the midst of it was a man — trapped and almost unconscious! The victim had fallen asleep while smoking... and his clothes, saturated with tar from his work, had caught fire.

2. For some reason, young Jack could not get the 200-pound man through the door. Desperately he tried to rouse him to action — to get him to cooperate. Finally the boy was forced to smash the window with his foot . . . and, after several anxious moments, managed to drag the heavy victim out and onto the ground.

3. Jack quickly began to beat out the flames with his jacket. At the same time he called for help . . . and soon men arrived with an extinguisher to complete the job. The man was severely burned but still alive — thanks to the heroic efforts of Jack Yarrow, a deserving winner of THE DOW AWARD.

THE Dow AWARD

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. The Dow Award Committee, a group of editors of leading Canadian daily newspapers, selects Award winners from recommendations made by a nationally known news organization.

Unpreparedness For Leisure Can Be Menace

The unpreparedness of modern communities to spend wisely the leisure time provided by the comparatively new 40-hour week was described as "a liability and even a menace" by Alex Sinclair city recreation director, Thursday when he addressed the Kiwanis Club. Mr. Sinclair's subject was "The Place of Recreation in Modern Life."

Mr. Sinclair said life is drab, discouraging, tied to material things and devoid of much joy or satisfaction for many people, yet everyone desires to be happy. Happiness, he defined, is a fundamental by-product which can best be achieved in a balance of life and recreation holds a place in that life because it affords opportunities for the attainment of basic human needs.

The increase in multiple family dwellings has created changes in the home life of the community. The backyard, the playground for small children, has been eliminated. The reduction in the size of families has made it necessary for the children to seek the companionship and the experience of co-operative and social activities outside the home. These have created a need for the playground, club and recreation centre.

"While there is a need for recreation when everyone is gainfully employed, it is during the period of unemployment that the need for adult recreation is greatest. People need music, athletics, art and social recreation more then than under normal conditions."

Mr. Sinclair said that people who have reached the age of retirement need recreation suitable to their age. He suggested that hobbies and crafts would give them an interest in life to take the place of former employment.

Where formerly the worker was fatigued at the end of a day's work he was now just bored with the monotony of his task by the invention of many labor saving devices.

Antidote for Boredom

"Recreation with its free play and unregimented activities, creates an antidote for the boredom of mechanical activities."

Playgrounds, said Mr. Sinclair, are a development which resulted from crowded, congested neighborhoods in which children had little or no place to play in safety. The rural atmosphere and activities, he said, are disappearing with the growth of cities. With that growth and frequent changes of residents the neighborliness disappears and living becomes more artificial, he explained.

"Man requires open spaces, facilities and leadership to compensate for the natural resources that the city life now denies him. He needs to know his neighbor, to have his companionship and to be able to mingle with others of like interests. These are found largely through organized recreation."

Recent changes in the school curriculm, he said, to provide for the introduction of art, music, drama and sports, have a far-reaching effect on the recreation movement. The result is that pupils are becoming more interested in recreational activities and that with some skill and desire, are demanding opportunities for continued participation.

Chose Vice or Virtue

Recreation activity, he explained, like many other forms of individual or social action, may be moral or immoral. It represents equal opportunities for all the vices or virtues of life.

"Recreation under normal conditions and under wise leadership tends to be a moral force. It develops individual qualities and the growth of social attitudes and affords repeated opportunities for displaying sportsmanship. It encourages a respect for rules, fair play and courage."

Mr. Sinclair said that as recreation builds character it is a factor in the prevention of crime and juvenile delinquency.

"The young person who has a keen interest in a recreation activity has not time or desire for mischief. They find an outlet for the normal desires for recognition, success and achievement and have no need to seek gratification by unsocial means."

Recreation tends to be a common ground that welds together a community, he said. Differences are forgotten in the joys of participation.

"Any force which helps build such an understanding is greatly needed in all communities today."

Mr. Sinclair was introduced by Al Clark and thanked by James Craig.

RANGOON, Burma, May 19 — (AP)—The Burmese army today claimed recapture of the city of Prome, key Communist headquarters some 140 miles northwest of Rangoon. Details of the capture were not made puolic.

Ask More Contributions

TORONTO, May 19 (CP) Business corporations in Ontario were asked Thursday to contribute $5,000,000 of the $10,000,000 sought by the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. This $5,000,000 target set by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and the Toronto Board of Trade, is exclusive of contributions collected from the general public.

WORMS TURN UP IN CANS—Newest aid to fishermen is canned live angle worms, put up in special "breather" tin cans by R. Forrest Davis, a high school biology teacher at Boulder, Colo. Here, little Sallie Ann McAllister was all set to sample the wiggly worms when an aggressive robin beat her to it. The canned bait is sold through sport goods stores under slogan, "Fish fight for worms that squirm."

Cavan Women Spend Entire Day Quilting

CAVAN, May 19—(ENS)—The Pot Luck Quilting Club of the seventh and eighth lines, Cavan, met at the home of Mrs. Harry Dawson on Tuesday. There were 18 members present and a pot luck dinner was served at noon.

The proceeds amounted to $4.05. It was decided to send $30 to the Red Cross Society for the Winnipeg Flood Victims Fund.

The afternoon was spent making patches for quilts. Mrs. Wilbur Larmer invited the club to hold the June meeting at her home on the fourth line, Cavan.

WI Welcomes New Members

WESTWOOD, May 19 (ENS)—The May meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Tuesday in the Town Hall, Mrs. Post, the president, presiding. A Mother's Day program was enjoyed, the motto for the day given by Mrs. R. Wilson was "God could not be everywhere, so He made Mothers." A paper on Mother's Day prepared by Mrs. W. Renwick, was read by Mrs. A. Wood in her absence. Mrs. Post welcomed several visitors and new members to the meeting and especially Mrs. Mood of England, a former member, who renewed her membership. Mrs. S. Graham agreed to have her name sent in as nominee for district delegate to the district annual to be held on June 15 at Havelock.

Plans were made to attend the Warkworth Institute meeting next Tuesday. It was decided to hold a bingo on June 9 at which time the draw will be made for the appliqued quilt. It was voted to send $25 to the flood relief at Winnipeg. Mrs. T. Cardwell told some current events, and Mrs. Graham and Mrs. Post were winners of the monthly contest.

An exhibit of home-made candy resulted in prizes being awarded to Mrs. E. W. Sargent and Mrs. T. J. Cardwell. Hostesses for a lunch were Mrs. H. S. Neilson, Mrs. L. Hutchinson, and Mrs. A. Wood.

Nab Three Bandits

DETROIT, May 19 (CP)—Three men, allegedly members of a bandit gang which is terrorizing the Mediterranean island of Sicily under the leadership of the well-known Guiliano, are under arrest in Detroit, it was learned Thursday. Immigration department officials in Washington identified one of the men as Gaetano Bedalamenti, 29, who has been ordered deported to Sicily for illegal entry to the United States as a stowaway.

DORGE CAMILLE and his bride Deloraine of St. Boniface, Man., who were married Tuesday, just about a month before they planned the big event. When the couple heard they might be separated on evacuation of St. Boniface, they decided they couldn't risk that. The wedding ceremony took place in St. Boniface Basilica not over a block away from the flooding Red River. Here the newlyweds are shown standing on a dike holding the Red River, which had speeded wedding plans.

Cadet Corps Inspection Held At Millbrook School

MILLBROOK, May 19 (ENS)—The cadet corps No. 403, Millbrook Continuation School, held its annual inspection Thursday.

Captain E. Thirgood was inspection officer and the program included the general salute, inspection, past in column, advance in review order, and physical drill. C-Lt. A. Brackenridge was in charge of the signals display; C-Lt. R. Thompson, the maps; C-Lt. C. Smith, the rifle display; C-C 2 M. S. Paul Sanders, the Bren display and C-Cpl. O. Challice, first aid display.

C-Capt. R. B. Handley was the commanding officer and C-Lt. A. Brackenridge was 21C. The corps lieutenants were Robert Thompson, Charles Smith and George Smith.

The instructors were Capt. P. E. Hamilton, CC 2, H. V. Kent, CI and Mr. J. A. Thompson.

Margaret Dawson was in charge of the girls' cadets and the lieutenants were Marilyn Palmer and Margaret Aiken.

Capt. E. Thirgood presented the following awards: best dressed girl cadet, Frances Handley; best dressed boy cadet, David Stinson; smartest girl cadet on parade, Doris Hutchison; smartest boy cadet on parade, Dennis Challice.

Those receiving $10 as successful candidates in signalling were Bennett Handley, Arnold Brackenridge and Robert Thompson.

Smart Appearance

Capt. Thirgood complimented the cadets on their smart appearance, their enthusiasm and their steadiness in the ranks. He thought, however, that the corps needed a little more practice in arms drill. In PT he thought the girls' rhythm was a little better than the boys. He said the displays were well organized and that the boys knew their work.

He remarked on the fine appearance and good performance of the band. He stated that learning to take orders fitted one to know also how to give them and developed leadership.

The cadets were addressed briefly also by instructors P. Hamilton and H. V. Kent, and by Louis H. Winslow of the school board, before marching down town for a treat supplied by the school board.

At the head of the band were Marie-Claire Husser and Nancy Richards as drum majorettes and C-Lt. George Smith, band leader.

The cadets will parade to St Thomas Anglican Church for 11 a.m. service Sunday.

Shipyards Face Bad Situation

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP)—Shipyards in Canada face a serious situation, R. J. R. Nelson of Halifax said Thursday in his presidential address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Shipbuilding and Ship Repairing Association.

Mr. Nelson, later re-elected president for his third term, told the builders the "serious problem" was that of obtaining orders for new construction and for repairs to provide work for the 7,000 men which the Canadian Maritime Commission had prescribed as a nucleus in the industry for national defence purposes.

Besides the problem of maintaining the over-all employment figure, Mr. Nelson said, there was also that of ensuring jobs in the four strategic shipbuilding areas of the Dominion—the Pacific coast, the Great Lakes, the St. Lawrence river area and the Atlantic coast.

In addition to president Nelson, who is general manager of Halifax Shipyards, Ltd., officers elected include H. W. Walton of Collingwood, a vice-president; and Gordon McDougall, Port Arthur, a director.

Princeton Alumni Meets In Montreal

MONTREAL, May 19 (CP) — The Princeton Alumni Association of Canada met Thursday night in annual reunion under the presidency of R. K. McConnell of Toronto and heard Arthur A. Schmon of Thorold say that 12 more Canadians have applied for entrance to Princeton next year.

The Canadian fund to assist such students now amounts to four scholarships in addition to others offered directly by the university.

Of the nine Canadians attending the university last year, five were from Quebec, three from Ontario and one from British Columbia.

Will Be Deported

NEW YORK, May 19 (AP)—Lmmigration officials announced Thursday that an alleged Lieutenant of the Sicilian bandit chief Giuliano, had been seized here and ordered deported. The man was identified as Giuseppe Giachino Missale, 42. Edward J. Shaughnessy, district director of the immigration service, said Missale was wanted by the Italian government on charges of murder, attempted kidnapping and extortion.

TEN good reasons why the MARSHALL MATTRESS is 1950's best buy

1 The "Marshall Regal" has more and finer springs, providing a surface which remains firm for support, yet contours exactly to your body requirements.
2 Each spring is carefully, individually pocketed ... nested one against the other for lasting resiliency.
3 Imported Belgium Damask Ticking lends a gleaming note of luxury to your bedroom ensemble.
4 Fluffy white felt is generously used ... just like sleeping on air.
5 The sides of the "Marshall Regal" retain their shape. They stand up to hard wear because each side spring is individually handsewn to ensure a rigid border.
6 Only new, carefully chosen materials are used in the Marshall mattresses.
7 Scientific, side-ventilation ensures constant airy freshness.
8 Durable, double-secured, side-handles make the "Marshall Regal" easy to turn, easy to reverse.
9 Marshall made the first Spring Mattress in the world and constant rest-research has ensured continued Marshall leadership.
10 "Marshall Regal" mattresses are hand-tailored by 15 master craftsmen in one department alone ... with over 400 years of cumulative experience.

Scientist Wants More Publicity On Work Of NRC

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP)—The government's top scientist confessed Thursday that he finds it disturbing and surprising to see what Canadian journalists write about science — and what they don't write.

The actual fact, Dr. C. J. Mackenzie said in a talk with a Commons committee, is that there are very few well-informed scientific journalists in Canada because they are a luxury few newspapers can afford.

The president of the National Research Council said it was disturbing to see the small amount of publicity given really important things and the large amount given to some spectacular incident that is seized upon and blown up.

While five reporters listened, Dr. Mackenzie told the committee in the NRC that he has a very high regard for the talent of journalists in the capital but he is constantly being surprised at what they consider news in science.

The system evolved was to have a senior official designated as a public relations officer to try through releases to draw attention to what the NRC is doing. The idea was to try to interest reporters in coming around to do their own stories, but few came.

A central problem was that Canada had few informed scientific journalists and it was useless to try to train a scientist to be a journalist because they simply didn't think that way.

In the United States, there was a growing number of scientific writers, some of them so good at explaining technical matters clearly and lucidly to the public that the NRC filed their magazine stories for reference purposes.

This situation hadn's yet developed in Canada, Dr. Mackenzie said, but he thought it was only a matter of time before it did.

Provincial Laboratory May Go Into Hospital

The City Board of Health asked the Civic Hospital Board of Governors Thursday if the Provincial laboratory could be accommodated in the hospital. The laboratory is at present situated in the city building.

Cols J. A. Dewart, chairman of the Board of Health and Dr. R. A. Kelly MOH, were received by the hospital governors as a deputation. They explained that plans had been made for the laboratory to be situated in the new City Building but these were not entirely adequate. It was felt the laboratory could be operated more economically and conveniently if it was at the hospital.

The Hospital Board appointed a committee to include Dr. G. S. Cameron, Dr. G. Raymore Scott, J. L. Welsh and Ian F. McRae to consider the matter.

John R. Marshall, chairman of the Hospital Board, said the proposition had considerable merit. There were some difficulties but they may not be insurmountable.

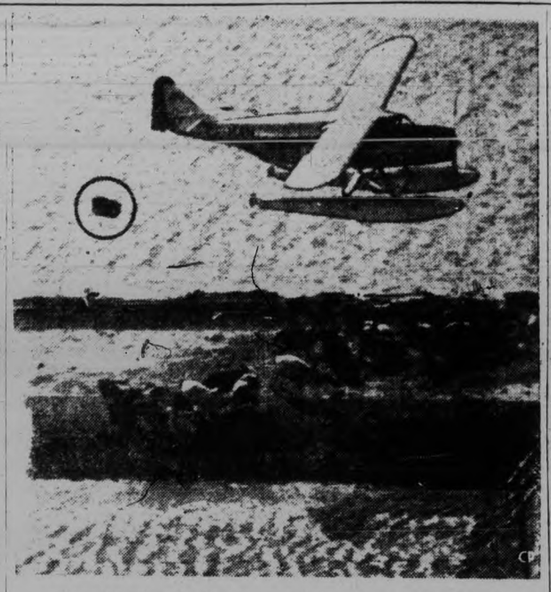
Performed 20,000 Operations

LONDON—(CP)—Gerald Mullally, senior surgeon at Westminster Hospital, has retired after performing 20,000 operations in 30 years.

Thousands of young doctors remember him as a medical examiner at Oxford and Cambridge.

"They were pretty terrified of me," he recalled.

Mullally, 63, is leaving for Ireland. His ambition is to do some fishing.



BOMBS AWAY—Bombing with hay from a Manitoba government plane is keeping alive herds of livestock isolated on mounds of high ground between the Manitoba-United States boundary town of Emerson and Winnipeg. In this air photo, about six horses and 18 cows are shown stranded on a road just below Morris. The bale of hay, circled, landed on the mark, burst open and was eaten quickly by the animals.

Two Americans Deny Charging French Dancer Incited Row In Paris

(Editor's Note: Thomas Fisher, a New York and Chicago lawyer who is mentioned below, says an improper impression was given by an Associated Press Paris story May 12, as to the reception given an American ballet troupe by French audiences and critics. The Associated Press requested that he or Miss Page make a statement for publication.)

PARIS, May 19 (AP) — Ruth Page, United States ballerina, declared Thursday that neither she nor Thomas Fisher, a lawyer friend of her ballet company, ever had charged Serge Lifar, Paris dancer, with inciting a disturbance that interfered with the first performances of her ballet troupe here.

The statement, signed by Miss Page, was given to the Associated Press by Fisher, who protested that he had been wrongly quoted in a story from Paris May 12. In this story he was quoted as saying Lifar was the instigator of a noisy claque that at times almost drowned out the applause. The claque allegedly was organized to retaliate against the American company for a noisy reception given Lifar by Americans in New York in 1948.

The Associated Press reporter who covered the story said he had not misquoted Fisher. Fisher insisted he had been misquoted, and in fact had not intended to be quoted at all.

No Such Statement

The statement by Miss Page said in part:

"Statements appearing in the American press to the effect that either Mr. Fisher or I have personally charged Serge Lifar with active participation in the cabal of the Paris opera ballet to make a disturbance at the first two performances of 'Les Ballets Americains' in Paris are entirely without foundation."

Her statement quoted from some of the Paris critics and cited letters from "leading French artists" to show that her troupe had brought "an entirely new and surprising, but not unwelcome, conception of dance art to the French public."

Evict Family of 15

TORONTO, May 19 (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bernard and their 13 children were evicted Thursday from their home in nearby Long Branch, during a half-hour downpour. Mrs. Bernard is expecting her 14th child this week. Bernard was arrested by police for resisting two deputy sheriffs who carried out the eviction order. Mrs. Bernard said the family was evicted "for non-payment of rent."

Commons Adopts Amendment On Tax-Free Charitable Groups

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP)—The Commons Thursday adopted an amendment to the income tax act which provides that charitable foundations must spend 90 per cent of their current income on "genuinely charitable purposes" to keep that income tax-free.

The change was part of a 48-clause bill clarifying the new income tax act adopted in 1948.

Finance Minister Abbott said the amendment, which becomes effective June 1, does not apply to "really bona-fide genuine" charitable foundations. It was aimed at plugging a "loophole" by which money could be accumulated in a foundation, not actually paid over to charities and later, when the foundation was wound up, the money transferred back to the owners or preprietors.

"Without going into detail," he said, "one particular case was drawn to our attention which made me feel that an amendment to the act was called for."

Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) asked whether the case was in the province of Ontario.

Mr. Abbott said it had been in Quebec province.

Must Disperse Income

He agreed with Mr. Fleming that the underlying purpose of the amendment "is to compel charitable foundations so-called to disperse the income that they receive" if they want to claim exemption from income taxes.

"Back of that," said Mr. Fleming, "must be the view that it is unhealthy to permit charitable foundations to be set up and to claim immunity from taxing statutes, and simply to accumulate funds or accumulate control of corporations or businesses.

"I may say, sir, with that intent I am in full accord. . ."

Mr. Abbott said it was possible that "some of these charitable foundations which have been created prior to this time may in fact control certain businesses through stock ownership."

"This does not interfere with that at all. There is no retroactivity effect to this legislation. They may have accumulated their income right up to this time and not paid a bit of it out, but in future in order to continue to qualify they must pay out 90 per cent of their current income.

Not Interfering

"We are not interfering with any practices that may have been followed in the past, but in future it will not be possible for any craritable foundation to acquire control by purchase of shares of a business."

Mr. Abbott said he did not want it understood "for a moment that I think there has been any widespread abuse of the possibilities. . ." He merely felt that certain safeguards were needed.

Donations to these foundations could only be made out of income "to the extent of 10 per cent or five per cent limits" while gifts to them would be exempt from gift tax.

Allow New York Paper Take Flood Pictures

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP)—The New York Daily News has been given permission to take "all the photographs it wants" of the Manitoba flood area, Cmdr. C. P. Edwards, Deputy Minister for Air, said Thursday.

Cmdr. Edwards said that the American newspaper, whose plane was impounded in Winnipeg earlier this week, had asked for and received permission to take aerial photographs of the floods.

The plane, flown to Winnipeg by Daily News photographer Charles Hoff and pilot William Warner, was seized by order of the Federal government for failing to have a permit to take photographs. They had gone to Winnipeg to photograph the Manitoba flood area for their newspapers.

Fines Too Easy

STRAFFORD, May 19 (CP) — "I feel fines for bootlggers are more or less a licence for that person to keep on selling," said Magistrate A. F. Cook Thursday as he sentenced James Richardson of St. Marys to one month in jail for keeping liquor for sale.

Country Needs Good Warm Rain To Start Growth

Ontario needs a "good warm rain". That is the consensus of farmers, starting from Peterborough in any direction.

County reports to the provincial Department of Agriculture indicate that spring seeding is largely completed. Even the tardy communities had 60 per cent of the job done at the end of last week. Since then weather conditions have been favorable. Top soil is dry and needs moisture.

Winter has left many stricken fields of alfalfa. That lament is general across the province. Bruce county says: "The destruction of clovers through heaving is worse than predicted, probably 30 to 40 per cent".

Perth county says: "We have never experienced so much winter injury to both newly seeded and established fields".

This from Wentworth: "Last year's seeding, in many cases, has been plowed up and the clover in the old meadows has also been destroyed. There is every indication at present that this will be the shortest hay crop in many years".

And Russell on the eastern frontier: "Warm rain is needed as there is very little grass and the meadows, clovers and alfalfa heaved badly".

Cool weather has held up pasture growth. Many farmers have been keeping their good dairys herds in the barn, except in instances of scarcity of stored feed.

Many a farmer has recently decided to turn the stock out on to the lean grass rather than continue buying feed at price levels which have obtained during the winter.

Northumberland comment is: "Many herds have lost flesh in the last few weeks with feed supplies dwindling and grass growth very poor. Many have completed seeding of cereals. Fall crops have seldom looked better. Meadows are in very doubtful condition with many farmers patching up with oats, sweet clover, perennial rye or other hay helps. There is more enquiry for help than at any other time in recent years."

Girl Lives On Ship But Prefers Horses

LONDON (CP)—One little girl in Britain is as familiar with the ports and estuaries around the coast as most children are with the streets in their home town. She is 12-year-old Daphne England, whose father, Captain Richard England, is master of the Nellie Bywater — last of the wooden coastwise schooners.

Since she was seven weeks old, Daphne has known no home other than the Nellie Bywater, and she is a useful member of the crew. "I steer in fine weather," she says, "and I paint, scrape and scrub the decks."

When the schooner puts into port, Daphne goes to the local school, a new one nearly every week, but manages to keep up with the other girls.

Her classmates envy her roving life but Daphne's dream has been of horses, ever since the day a year ago she sat on a horse's back for the first time.

"I was rather frightened," she says, "but I knew at once that when I grew up I would want to live near horses."

WALKS AFTER "MIRACLE"—Sister Beatrice, ABOVE, 39-year-old crippled Catholic nun at Parell, India, a suburb of Bombay, was reported miraculously cured after seeing the statue of the Catholic saint, Our Lady of Fatima, next to which she is standing. On seeing the statue, Sister Beatrice was said to writhe in her wheel chair and then stand up and walk. Roman Catholic authorities view the reported faith-cure with caution.

Judge Dismisses Collision Action

A county court action by Stewart Ferguson, Barryfield Township, brought against William Vilneff, Belmont, over a motor accident on Highway 7 last August was dismissed with costs by Judge S. L. Smoke.

The collision occurred about three miles east of Havelock on the afternoon of August 30. Vilneff, driving an old model car with a trailer attached, began to turn into a laneway near a refreshment stand. Before the turn was completed he was struck by the plaintiff's car which had overtaken him.

Contradictory evidence was heard as to the position of the defendant's car and trailer when the collision occurred. And also whether the point of impact was on the north or south half of the highway.

On South Side

Vilneff said he was on the south side of the highway and almost stopped when he was struck. He admitted he had not seen Ferguson's car approaching from the rear and had made no signal.

Provincial Constable E. G. Patterson (now a member of the city police) testified that when he investigated both cars had been moved to allow traffic over the highway. He placed the point of impact by a scattering of broken glass and dirt in the centre of the highway.

Skidmarks presumably Ferguson's, leading up to it were all on the south side, Constable Patterson said.

Off The Highway

Ferguson and his wife Eleanor said that when they approached Vilneff his right rear wheel was off the travelled portion of the highway, and he was going at a very slow speed. Gradually he began to turn in toward the centre of the road.

Both claimed they had no indication that Vilneff was going to turn into the laneway on the north side of the highway until it was too late to avoid a collision. Damage to their car included the bumper, right front and rear fenders and the trunk.

Judge Smoke ruled that Ferguson was travelling at "an excessive rate of speed," and added: "He should have anticipated that there might be a movement back upon the highway by the defendant."

On South Side

Evidence pointed to the fact that Vilneff was on the south side of the highway, said Judge Smoke, although his front left wheel may have been slightly over the centre line.

He assessed damages at $150.60 and then dismissed the case with costs.

A. A. McNab of Renfrew was solicitor for Ferguson, while V. J. McElderry, KC, represented Vilneff.

Lights Match Patient Burned

HALIFAX, May 19 (CP) — A patient in the Victoria General Hospital died Thursday night, less than three hours after he was seriously burned in an oxygen tent fire started when he lit a match.

Dr. C. M. Bethune, hospital superintendent, said the patient, Martin Driscoll, admitted before his death that he had tried to light a cigaret.

Dr. Albert Billard of Glace Bay N. S., an interne, suffered arm burns when he tried to haul the patient from under the canopy.

The hospital superintendent said the patient had been warned against lighting matches after he was confined to the tent following an operation.

Consecrated Bishop

ROME, May 19 (Reuters) — Francz Jachym, 40-year-old Austrian priest who walked out of a consecration ceremony in Vienna last month because he did not "feel himself fitted" for the Bishopric, today was consecrated Bishop following intervention by the Pope. Msgr. Jachym, whose rejection of the appointment was overruled by the Pope, also was appointed coadjutor to the Archbishop of Vienna, an office which normally holds the right of succession.

CCF Man Suggests Ousting Middleman

MILLBROOK, May 19 (ENS)—William Dennison, MPP for St. David'5s, advocated standardization of farm machinery, at a meeting of the Durham CCF Club Wednesday at the home of Spence Cheshire, four miles from Millbrook. Members from Bowmanville, Port Hope, Millbrook and Fraserville and guests from Petetborough were present.

Mr. Dennison wanted standardization of machinery so that machine parts would match and thus cut down the cost of repairs. He thought that if the hydro office were to sell washers, refrigerators and other electrical appliances direct to the consumer without usinb a middle man, more equipment would be within the reach of those farmers who could not afford them at present.

Nine out of ten pulp companies in northern Ontario were American owned. The northern woods were being denuded with no effort of replacement. As a result of a monopoly of some American lumber companies, some Canadian mills were idle. He said pulp wood cutting should be put on a crop basis so that resources of wood would be replenished.

A lot had been said about loss of British markets and yet Britain spent $418,000,000 more in Canada than Canada did in Great Britain last year. A trade balance like that could not continue. He wanted greater preference for British goods.

Of the Alberta oil pipe line, Mr. Dennison said it had been promised that the line would benefit Fort William and Port Arthur. Instead, it was going to bypass these places to be carried to Superior, Wisconsin, which meant industries would be built up there in preference to the Canadian centres.

Mr. Dennison was introduced by L. Nicholls, the president. Refreshments were served.

Sending $25 To Local Council Of Winnipeg

A donation of $25 will be sent from Peterborough Local Council of Women to the Local Council of Winnipeg for use in flood victims' relief. This act was unanimously approved at the regular meeting Thursday afternoon in the YWCA.

Vice-president Mrs. A. A. McIntyre was presiding in absence of the president and vice-presidents Mrs. H. E. Dunford and Mrs. M. Moncrieff were receiving at the door.

Two dollars is to be given the United Nations Study Group organized by Mr. Leo Copp, as per request, and Mrs. Gordon Rutherford is to be official representative of the Council at meetings.

It was announced that 50 pamphlets giving the history of important women in National Council have been ordered and will be for sale shortly.

A report of a recent executive meeting advised of the directions being given the president regarding voting on resolutions to be presented at the National Council meeting at London, Ontario, May 29 to June 3. Mrs. A. W. Wilson, Mrs. F. Merrett, Mrs. E. B. McWilliams, Mrs. Wm. Addyman, Mrs. F. W. Lundy and Mrs. H. E. Dunford signified their intention of attending this meeting.

Kawartha Golfers Open Season With 9-hole Play

Opening field day for the ladies' section at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, on Thursday, commenced with a luncheon served in the club house.

Mrs. H. R. Scott, chairman of the ladies' section, opened a short business meeting with a special welcome to the new members. Mrs. H. Woodcox, captain, outlined the activities planned for the 1950 season.

The nine and 18-hole players joined in playing nine holes during the afternoon.

Competition winners of the 18 hole section were Mrs. H. Woodcox, first low gross; Mrs. V. A. Selkirk, second low gross; Mrs. D. Miller, low net; Mrs. J. D. Anderson for putting and Mrs. J. Watts on sealed holes.

Nine hole players in the winning circle were Mrs. D. Lamont, low gross; Mrs. L. Copp, low net, Mrs. H. Hamley, sealed holes, and in putts, Mrs. Steve Csumrik was first and Mrs. J. Weir second.

Afternoon tea was enjoyed after the games. The table was attractively laid with spring flowers and ivory candles in silver holders on the lace cloth. Mrs. Ian McRae was in charge of the coffee urn and Mrs. F. M. Sommerville filled the tea cups.

Tea arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Ken McCannan and her assistants included Mrs. A. R. Jones, Mrs. Jack Raine, Mrs. Jack Cranfield, Mrs. D. Chamberlain and Mrs. D. Lamont.

The Business & Girls' section planned for field day competitions commencing at six o'clock but these were cancelled on account of rain. Draws were made for the prizes by captain Miss Doris Skinner, and winners were Misses Doris Ackford, Florence Scott, Jean Cranfield and Mrs. Iris Sorensen.

Mrs. H. R. Scott presided at the teatable while the girl were served by Miss Marion Riley, social convener, and assistants Misses Audrey Oliver, Dorothy Riley and Ruth MacMillan.

High Standard Demanded In Living Raised Cost

Mrs. Dorothy Bacheller MacKinnon of Belleville, representing the consumer section of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa spoke here Thursday at the Local Council of Women's meeting on the general subject of food.

She explained that the purpose of her department is to form a liason between the producer and consumer, giving information to each from each, and she asked that compliments and complaints alike be forwarded.

Speaking of prices, she pointed out many things that have contributed to their reaching the level today. "Gone are the days of a cold storage room down cellar, of big pantries and back kitchens, and naturally with them has gone the buying of semi-perishable foods in large quantities. They must be stored elsewhere, out of the home, and we have to pay for this. Smaller and more fancy packages are being made and the price of the wrapping becomes higher in proportion to the price of the food inside it."

She stressed buying of Canadian foods and to take advantage of the excellent system of grading and standardizing food products. Urging the use of sufficient milk to get the bone-building calcium, and along with it the mineral phosphorus and proteins of the most nearly perfect food, she reminded not to leave milk bottles sitting in the sun which rots the riboflavin from the product very quickly.

"Be sure to buy eggs in a store which keeps them under refrigeration" she advised, for eggs not kept cool shortly lose a great deal of their food value. Another point was the buying of beets with the tops on thus getting twice as much for the money by use of the greens. "Cheese has a great deal of nourishment packed into little space," she said, and advised use of it in quantity for its large protein content.

Ice cream is made according to definite standards as there is an amount of nourishment as well as enjoyment from the money spent on a brick or a cone, she pointed out.

New experimental kitchens being set up by the department in Ottawa will provide greater service for the public in that one will be devoted to "quantity preparations" and the findings passed on to restaurants and hotels. The first series of tests planned for the kitchens is on cooking of beef in order to find out whether or not the same methods of cooking identical cuts of different quality beef should be recommended. It is thought perhaps attention is given to the cut of beef while it should be to the quality.

Heroic Refugees Calmly Face Greatest Calamity

WINNIPEG, May 19—(CP)—Amid the hurly-burly of Manitoba's greatest disaster, women quietly work to lessen the suffering of hundreds of dazed, homeless and hungry refugees.

For some members of the Red Cross flood relief centre's volunteer staff the floods have been a personal tragedy. Their own homes have been inundated or their families and relatives forced to move.

Their job is assessing and filling the needs of the evacuees—many of whom have nothing—no home, no money, no friends to go to.

Their agreed opinion, after helping thousands finds food and shelter, is that the refugees are the heroes of the floods.

"The amazing thing," says Irene McMillan, ordinarily a public relations secretary, "is their complete lack of resentment.

"They come to the centre calmly, and without any sense of panic. They have withstood a great calamity and refuse to let it break their spirits, even though many of them have lost everything they possess."

Miss Arleigh J. Rumford, a veteran of Red Cross work, has worked 16-hour shifts since May 9. Her home is in a danger area, but she has little time to worry about personal problems.

"It's hard to understand how people can withstand the shock of losing everything," she said. "There is no weeping or complaining. I don't know whether they are shocked and unable to realize the dimension of the tragedy, or just determined that they won't be defeated."

IODE Serves Tea Following Cadet Inspection

Fifty-seventh Regiment Chapter of the IODE provided a pleasant hour of relaxation Thursday at a tea for the staff, instructors and cadet officers following the PCVS Cadet Corps inspection. Their special guests were the Area Commander, Brigadier Geoffrey Walsh, CBE, DSO, and Cadet Training Officer, Captain Ernest Thirgood, MM, from Kingston, and the officer commanding the local regiment, Lieut. Col. M. E. Clarke.

Regent Mrs. C. M. Scott and Mrs. M. E. Clarke were assisted in receiving by Mrs. C. S. Browne and Mrs. H. A. Craig and Mrs. Douglas Miller, representing the City Council.

Mrs. D. J. Eldred, Mrs. T. H. Skinner, Mrs. Walter Hughes and Mrs. E. Graham were hostesses in the Officers' Mess at the Armouries.

Red roses were effectively arranged in a silver rose bowl for the tea table centre by Mrs. Ruby Brooks, and the bouquet was flanked by white tapers. Filling the cups were Mrs. W. G. Hall, Mrs. T. W. H. Young, Miss M. Rush and Mrs. George Melton.

General convener Mrs. L. Gilders was assisted in supplying the table by Mrs. F. Frape, Mrs. P. Latchford, Mrs. C. E. Newman and Mrs. W. E. Franks. Those serving the guests were Mrs. Wm. Masters, Mrs. Paul Irwin, Mrs. George Stewart, Mrs. R. Asselstine, Mrs. H. Willis, Mrs. J. Duncan, Mrs. C. Whatley, and Mrs. R. Ford.

New Styles Shown At Cabaret Show

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Levine on Wednesday evening entertained about 200 friends in the Empress Kawartha Room and presented a cabaret fashion show of a new type of women's intimate apparel.

Two models from Montreal were here to assist and charmingly displayed peignoirs and nighties, full slips, half slips and panties. The garments were appealingly trimmed with insertions and borders of net, Val and Alecon lace, satin ribbon and embroidery, all entirely of nylon thread too.

White and palest shades of pink blue and green, were the colors shown, but a further line is promised, to include flamingo—specially for blondes.

"Splendid race, Smiffkins—another 3999 like that and you'll be a world beater!"

HOME AND SCHOOL COUNCIL

The film "Human Growth" was a feature at the annual meeting of Peterborough Home and School Council, held in the YWCA on Wednesday evening. The showing was followed by a discussion of it and the advisability of showing it to Grade 13 students.

Retiring president Mrs. A. W. Nelson welcomed newly elected Association presidents, Mrs. H. J. Parnell, religious education convener, addressed them briefly and led the meeting in prayer.

A letter read by Mrs. E. Chambers was from the Ontario Minister of Education in reply to a resolution that Alcohol Education become integrated in our school curriculum. The Hon. Mr. Dana Porter advised that two representatives will be sent to the Yale University to take the course on Alcohol Education, and will then instruct teachers taking summer school courses.

Mrs. H. Pullyblank presented the secretary's report showing a successful year from the standpoint of achievement. The council represents 2,251 members in 17 affiliated Associations.

The installation of officers was conducted by Mrs. L. M. Richardson, the following taking office: president, Mrs. C. G. Collins; vice-presidents, Mrs. L. S. Raper, and Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy; recording secretary, Mrs. F. Gray; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. Webb; treasurer, Mrs. W. E. Baggs; executive members, Mesdames C. Coones, P. Dallin, J. Goodson, S. Malsch and W. N. Thompson.

Mrs. Nelson was presented with the Sapphire Service pin of the Ontario Federation, the presentation made by Mrs. R. Parnall, a former Council president, who recalled some of the past achievements and the growth of the Peterborough Council.

Mrs. L. M. Richardson, was presented with a gift from the Council Executive in token of the many years of faithful service.

Congratulations were extended to Mrs. E. Chambers on her election to the position of vice-president of the Ontario Federation and to Mrs. A. W. Nelson who was elected vice-chairman of the Ontario Federation.

The convention of the Canadian Federation of Home and School will take place in Toronto on June 1st and 2nd.

It was announced that at the instigation of the Ontario Federation, which has for many years maintained that education for family living should be a part of the education of every child, a course has been provided at the Ryerson Institute of Technology in Home Enonomics. This will be a two year course in Home Economics, followed by a year of teacher training in elementary and intermediate schools. This course is open to girls with four years high school education. It is hoped that girls will avail themselves of this opportunity and that by 1953 there will be more teachers qualified to teach a course in Family Living.

Mrs. C. G. Collins, taking over the duties of Council president reminded that Home and School does not work for any personal gain but for the good of the children and the community.

Mrs. P. Dallin was pianist for the evening and refreshments were served by members of Queen Mary Home and School Association.

Curved Bow Best for Bach Violin Music

By WILLIAM BOSS.

EDINBURGH (CP)—A European concert artist who maintains that for 200 years Bach hasn't been getting a square deal says the composer will receive one at Edinburgh this summer.

He's Danish violinist Emil Telmanyi, a Bach specialist, scheduled to play in the Freemasons' Hall Aug. 22 during the forthcoming Fourth Edinburgh International Festival of Music and Drama.

Telmanyi says that with their current equipment, violinists are incapable of producing the music Bach wrote. Their bows aren't right.

Today's bow, he says, is designed for playing one note at a time, vibrating only one—at the most two—of the violin's strings.

But Bach intended the music of his solo violin sonatas and partitas to be played by musicians sounding as many as all four strings at once.

They could do it, Telmanyi asserts, indicating contemporary prints and portraits in proof. They show the old-type bow as "curved" and from its period it has been referred to familiarly as "baroque."

Virtuosity and taste in the intervening years led to development of the present bow 100 years ago, about the time Bach's works were brought to light again. "Unplayable," they were arranged for contemporary instruments by Ferdinand David.

Says Telmanyi: "Instead of elucidating the texture of the melodic polyphony, sustaining the harmonies (chords) the modern bow necessitated broken or vehement shortly-struck chords which tore the melodic progress to pieces."

"Thus the listener could not understand what was going on and was constantly shocked by brutal interruptions or confused by the arpeggiated chords. But the world had more or less to accept the distorted musical reproduction because the right type of bow no longer existed."

Use "Convex" Bow

Collaboration with Danish violin-maker Arne Hjorth has produced a bow Telmanyi describes as "convex" on the baroque style, but combining the best tightening features of the present one.

"This bow is called the 'Bach Bow' because the solo conatas and partitas of Bach caused its creation."

Concert-goers now will be able to hear these compositions as Bach intended, he says, and the appeal of the master, the 200th anniversary of whose death is being observed this year, will be wider.

DOROTHY DIX

Why Rush to Get Married? Young Girl Best Off Single

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you do when you feel that your engagement is drifting, when your fiancee says that he is doing all he can and that he is just as anxious to be married as you are and that things will break soon, and we must just be patient? I am 24. He is 27. I love him and I know we will be very happy together, but I want to be married and have a family before I am 50. And there is some one whom I have reason to believe is interested in me and would be glad to marry me right now if the coast was clear. What about it?

RUTH.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Well, Ruth, a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush, according to the old proverb, and if all you want in marriage is a man, a house and a baby, you had better grab off the man who can give you them right away.

Especially as you seem to have no preference in husbands. Any port in a storm. Anything in trousers who will accompany you to the altar.

Hard to Understand

Certainly the greatest mystery on earth is the insane mania women have for getting married.

"Hey boss there's a guy here says he requires a statistical return in triplicate of the number of cups of tea served between the hours of 12 a.m. and 1.30 p.m. on every other Tuesday since 1939."
London Express Service

You can understand a woman who is desperately in love with some particular man, wanting to marry him so that she can always be near him. But why should a young girl be in a hurry to marry before she has even given Prince Charming a chance to ride by?

Half of the discontented, disgruntled wives in the world are women who married men they did not love just to be a-marrying. That is why they have not any patience to put up with their husbands' peculiarities. It takes love to gild the matrimonial fetters and they haven't got it, and that is why the ball and chain chafes them.

There are the poor, struggling, overworked wives who brought their misery down on their own heads because they were in such a rush to get married they would not wait until their men had got in a position in which they could support a family. And there are the dissatisfied, disillusioned women who get married in their teens, before they knew what they were going to be themselves or what they would want in their husbands. Could not wait to get grown up. Had to get married right away to some boy as callow as themselves and of whom they tired almost as soon as they got him home.

Funny, the mania women have for marrying just anybody, isn't it?

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a business woman, brought up in a family where we were taught there was only right and wrong in this world. Some years ago I had an affair with a married man. It is all over now and so far as I am aware no one knows about it, but my own conscience has been my punishment and has crucified me. Lately I have been able to rise above it all and feel that my sins, which were many, have been forgiven me, but now and again my conscience makes me feel that I should tell those concerned, yet by doing so the innocent would be made to suffer. What should I do?

WORRIED

ANSWER: Keep silence. Never let anything induce you to buy your own peace of mind by inflicting needless suffering on anyone else.

Confession is cowardice. It is the easy way out for those who have not the strength to bear their own burden and who relieve themselves by shifting the load onto others. Have the courage to refuse to do this. Pay for your own wrongdoing and do so by accepting silence as part of the price.

For you to confess your sin can do no possible good to any human being. Certainly you cannot imagine that it would make the man's wife happier to know that her husband had been disloyal to her even if he has also repented and returned to the straight and narrow path. Possibly it would break up her home and half-orphan innocent children. Certainly even if she forgave him, it would make a breach between them that could never be bridged over, for no wife ever trusts again the husband who has betrayed her.

For yourself it would make the road to right living infinitely harder. You would slime your name with scandal. You would alienate many friends who now believe in you. You would lose much that you could never get back, and all for nothing. You have done wrong. You have repented. You are making amends for the past and the only sane thing for you to do is to bury that past under tons of silence and forget it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX — I think I love my girl because she has a depth of character immeasurable. She inspires me with self-confidence. She is appreciative of my pet ideas. She likes to listen to me and enjoys my obnoxious pipe. She fills me with ambition to do great deeds. It is glorious to be with her and torture to be parted. But she does not thrill me unreasonably. Am I justified in saying I love her?

✧ ✧ ✧

A. M. A.

ANSWER—If you have found a girl who listens while you talk, who yes-yesses your pet ideas and stands for a pipe, you have certainly been lucky, and should love her and thank your stars for having got a girl beyond price.

Versatile Cook Can Use Eggs At All Mealtimes

By KAY REX

OTTAWA (CP).—If you have plenty of eggs on hand there's no need to worry about what to have for breakfast or lunch—or even for dinner at night.

This all-purpose food can be served in a variety of ways.

As a luncheon-dish try Egg and Potato Casserole.

Ingredients: four tablespoons butter; four tablespoons flour; two cups milk; salt, pepper and paprika; four cups cooked potatoes (cubed); six hard-cooked eggs (sliced).

Melt butter and blend in flour. Add milk gradually and stir until sauce thickens. Season to taste. Put alternate layers of potatoes, eggs and sauce in buttered baking dish. Sprinkle top with buttered cracker crumbs or grated cheese. Bake in a hot oven about 15 minutes. Serves six to eight.

A La King

Eggs a la King—Ingredients: three tablespoons butter (or margarine), two tablespoons minced onion; one-half cup mushrooms (sliced); one tablespoon chopped green pepper; 1½ cups milk; two tablespoons chopped pimento; six hard-cooked eggs; one egg yolk; three tablespoon flour; salt and pepper.

Cook onion in butter five minutes. Add mushrooms and green pepper and cook until mushrooms are delicately browned. Blend in flour. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Cook 10 minutes. Add pimento and hard-cooked eggs cut in quarters. Pour some of sauce over beaten egg yolk and stir into sauce. Cook one minute. Serve on toast. One-half cup green peas may be used in place of green pepper and pimento.

Fluffy Omelet

Fluffy Omelet — Ingredients: eight eggs; eight tablespoons water or milk; one-quarter teaspoon pepper; one teaspoon salt; two tablespoons butter.

Separate yolks from whites of eggs. Beat whites until stiff, but not dry. Add water, salt and pepper to egg yolks. Beat well. Fold yolks into whites. Melt butter in frying-pan. Pour mixture into pan. Cook mixture slowly until it is browned underneath, well-puffed and beginning to shrink from sides of pan. Finish cooking omelet in oven until top is dried and brown. Crease omelet through centre with spatula, fold it over, and turn it on a hot platter.

Variations: Spread omelet with jelly or jam before folding; cover with grated cheese before folding; cover omelet with 1½ or two cups creamed chicken or ham before folding; spread omelet with fried or creamed mushrooms.

ONCE OVER with new SPIC-SPAN WOODWORK— PAINTED WALLS— LINOLEUM (ALL WASHABLE SURFACES) SHINE LIKE NEW!

REALLY NEW! IMPROVED!
NOW MILD FOR HANDS as a beauty soap
50% FASTER CLEANING than any soap
STILL SAFER FOR PAINT

NO HARD RUBBING...NO RINSING...NO WIPING DRY...
JUST ONCE OVER AND DIRT'S GONE! JOB'S DONE!

This marvelous new way to clean actually keeps the house so bright and fresh it looks newly decorated — with at least 50% less time and work than the old ways require!

HERE'S THE FASTEST, EASIEST cleaning you've ever known!

Just think! NEW SPIC and SPAN—the amazing once over cleaner—50% faster and 50% easier to use than any soap. Once over—and dirt's gone! Painted walls, woodwork, and linoleum shine like new—with no hard rubbing, no rinsing, no wiping dry!

Yes, with NEW SPIC and SPAN, the drudgery of cleaning with soap is over. Because NEW SPIC and SPAN has a magical dirt-dissolving ingredient that no soap or old-style cleaner has!

Just wring out a cloth so it's damp—not wet. Then, once over—and dirt's gone!

NEW SPIC and SPAN is now mild on hands as a beauty soap. And safer for paint, too!

So quit trying to clean with old-fashioned cleaners and soap, that get only part of the dirt. NEW SPIC and SPAN gets all the dirt.

TODAY—AND EVERY DAY—USE
NEW SPIC & SPAN
Canada's Amazing ONCE OVER Cleaner!

Offer Tourists More Than Fish

"It's time the Kawartha district began to cater to the recreational tourist rathe, than the 100 per cent fisherman."

So James Fraser, manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, told the annual meeting of the Peterborougl. Business Men's Association Thursday night.

Muskoka—long ago fished out according to Mr. Fraser—makes a successful appeal to the United States tourist because it offers so many additional opportunities for the typical family to relax and enjoy themselves.

For too long the Kawarthas have traded on their stock of game fish, he said, and it is now time to offer a wider appeal. Outdoor games, better sanitary conveniences and opportunities for the 50-week-a-year housewife to escape from a hot kitchen stove—all are inducements.

Next to the pulp and paper industry the tourist industry is the largest producer of United States dollars in Canada. It brings in $270,000,000 in United States funds.

If this district wishes to reap the full benefit of this source of revenue it must become "tourist conscious not just tourist tolerant."

Competition for United States tourists is now world wide, he said. As a matter of fact competition has reached a new all-time high. There is Holy Year in Italy, the lure of the British Isles and the continent, Mexico and South America.

Each state in the union is now bargaining for the tourist trade. There is a popular appeal to United States residents to spend vacations in the United States.

And how does the Kawartha district stack up against these?

Muskoka Comparison

Muskoka was singled out for comparison and here are a few statistics, Muskoka and Kawarthas listed respectively: resorts 527 and 472; accommodation 17,189 and 11,430; outside toilets, 144 or 27 per cent, and 247 or 52 per cent; housekeeping cottages, 87 or 16 per cent, and 129 or 27 per cent; dining rooms, 249 or 47 per cent, 150 or 31 per cent; over 100 accommodation, 43 and 6.

"Muskoka is based on recreation, not fishing while the Kawarthas is based on fishing with very little recreation."

He advised the businessmen that it was "short-sighted to claim that the saturation point for tourists had been reached in the Kawarthas. There are hundreds of lakes as yet untouched.

Tourist Dollar

The resort operator does not get the lion's share of the tourist dollar, Mr. Fraser said. The breakdown is as follows: 25 cents to the retail and department store, 22 cents to the restaurant and food store, 17 cents to the resort operator, 12 cents to service stations and garages, nine cents for movies, entertainment and recreation, seven cents for train, steamship, motor coach and plane fares, five cents for refreshments and roadside purchases, and three cents for novelties, souvenirs and a host of other minor items.

"Seventy per cent of the tourist dollar goes back to the retailer," he said.

Mr. Fraser was introduced by Dennis Fitzgerald and thanked by Don Lewis. President James Clark was in the chair.

Ezekiel Kellar Funeral

Funeral service for the late Ezekiel Kellar, 87, of 196 River Road, N., was held on Thursday at the Kaye Funeral Home. Mr. O. G. Shantz of McDonnel Street Gospel Hall officiated and pallbearers were Clarence, Jack, Frank and Rollie Kellar, William Downer and William Payne. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

ENGLAND'S LONGEST

The River Thames, 210 miles long, is navigable by oceangoing steamers as far as London.

OBITUARIES

NORMAN HARPER

Norman Harper, 70, of 663 George St., N., died on Thursday at his residence following a lengthy illness. He was born in Manvers township, son of the late Samuel Harper and Margaret Jones and lived almost a lifetime in the city.

He leaves his wife, the former Sadie Dunlop, and three daughters, Mrs. R. G. Carr (Vernabell) and Mrs. L. G. Kernan, both of Port Hope and Mrs. C. J. Carroll (Kathleen) of Toronto. There are two sisters, Mrs. Laura Sullivan of Peterborough and Mrs. Alice McBrien of Oshawa and a brother Fredrick Harper of Little Britain. An uncle, Fredrick Jones, lives in Fenelon Falls. There are seven grandchildren and one great gradchild. Mrs. Harper was a member of George Street United Church.

Funeral service will be held on Monday at the family residence at 2.30 p.m. The Rev. Dr. James Semple will officiate and burial will be at Union Cemetery, Port Hope.

JOSEPH VOLLANS

Joseph Vollans, 68, of 468 Bolivar St., died on Thursday at his residence following a short illness. He was born in Manchester, England, son of the late George Vollans and Fannie Sixton, and came from England to Peterborough 37 years ago.

He leaves his wife, the former Martha Hopkinson, and two daughters, Mrs. H. C. Edgar (Evelyn) of Detroit and Mrs. R. A. Woodall of Larder Lake. A son, Harold Vollans, lives in this city and a sister, Mrs. Walter Winrow, in Manchester. There are seven grandchildren.

Mr. Vollans was employed with the De Laval Company in the soldering department for the past 33 years. He was a member of St. John's Anglican Church and a veteran of the 93rd Battalion in the First World War.

Funeral service will be held at the family residence on Monday at 1.30 p.m. The Rev. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson will officiate and burial will be at the Little Lake Cemetery.

Police Schedule Heavy Saturday

City police are going to be busier than a one-armed paperhanger trying to keep ahead of Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent as he sweeps through the city on his tight schedule Saturday.

Chief Constable John Thompson has drawn up a four-page plan placing his constables at key points throughout the city. The constables will have to direct extra heavy Saturday traffic as well as hold back crowds at the two hospitals and other places where the Prime Minister's party will leave their cars.

The official day will begin at 9:45 a.m. and end a weary 13 hours later at about 10:30 after the civic reception. Enquiries about the Prime Minister's visit have been received from as far away as Oshawa. The result expected will be that Peterborough will be jammed packed from early in the morning until late at night.

"In one way, I'll be glad when it's all over," Chief Thompson commented.

Police Rush To Scene Murder False Alarm

TORONTO, May 19.—(CP)—Mysterious goings-on near Lake Ontario Tuesday night brought out police in full force to investigate suspected murder. It was a false alarm.

Workers reported seeing an automobile without lights parked near the water. A truck approached. It plunged into the water as shadowy figures leaped clear. They drove away in the car.

Fourteen policemen and lifesavers, with tow-trucks and a floating derrick were sent to the scene. Six hours later they recovered the submerged truck. No one was inside. A check showed the truck was stolen.

Packers Union Seeks $2,000 For Flood Fund

The United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL) hope to raise $2,000 in the three UPWA plants in Peterborough to help flood victims in southern Manitoba.

Believed the first union to start such an emergency organization, the UPWA is shooting at a national objective of $50,000.

Officers of the three Peterborough locals—Local 293 (Quaker Oats); Local 210 (Canada Packers), and Local 434 (A. Wander Co.)—hope to receive voluntary $2 donations from the 700 union members and about 300 salaried workers, including office staffs.

Money raised in this way will go primarily to packinghouse employees—whether union members or not—in the flooded areas. In the Winnipeg district there are some 2,100 union members and the salaried workers would bring the figure up to about 3,000.

"Already 300 to 500 have received serious damage or total loss," Lloyd Fell, regional representative, reported to the three UPWA locals Thursday night.

Mr. Fell made the trip from national headquarters in Toronto Thursday night specially for the appeal.

All the companies had agreed in principle to the soliciting of funds from both union members and salaried workers, he said. Both Canada Packers and A. Wander Co. have agreed to check-off basis for deducting the donations. Canada Packers has already offered to make a contribution and the A. Wander Co. will probably do the same.

Union officials are meeting with management today at the Quaker Oats Co. to see if similar arrangements can be made there.

This fund is not intended to supplant existing ones in the city nor take the place of the Red Cross, Mr. Fell explained. Rather it is supplementary to these.

One UPWA officer summed it up this way: "Well, there's one good thing that's come out of the disaster. It's given labor-management relations a shot in the arm."

St. Laurent Commends Peterborough For Plans On Entering 2nd Century

ON THEIR FIRST VISIT TO PETERBOROUGH, Prime Minister and Madame St. Laurent were welcomed to the city today by Mayor Max Swanston and a group of civic officials. Following a tour of city factories, and several short addresses to school children, the Prime Minister will open Peterborough's $3,500,000 Civic Hospital. Besides being the first visit of Mr. St. Laurent, this is the first non-political visit made by a prime minister to Peterborough.

City Wrecked 29 Killed In Explosion

4 Munition Barges Blow Up Injuring 600 People

SOUTH AMBOY, N.J., May 20—(AP)—A thunderous explosion ripped through a string of ammuntion-laden barges Friday night, killing a possible 29 persons and battering this waterfront city into a tangle of wreckage. Three hundred persons, some in critical condition, were taken to hospitals. An estimated 300 others were treated by first aid squads and doctors who roamed the stricken area.

There were four known dead and 25 missing.

Officials reported the damage would run into the millions of dollars. The Pennsylvania railroad said its dock area, where the blast occurred, had suffered $5,000,000 damage.

A state of emergency was declared in this city of 10,000 population. State police ringed the outskirts to bar the curious.

600 Tons Explode

The explosion sent 600 tons of munitions into the sky over lower New York harbor. Rumors of an atomic attack spread through the community as the blast sent a spout of black smoke towering over the town.

Troops, with bayonets drawn, patrolled the area throughout the night. Officers said there was no looting.

Extra guards were posted outside two banks which had been blown open by the blast.

After the initial explosion, there was nothing more than a city-wide shower of glass and a sprinkling of fires concentrated in the wharf area. An estimated 3,000 to South Amboy's 4,000 homes were damaged.

By morning only two of the dead had been identified. They were Frank Cinelli, about 23, of Jersey City, and Syverd Hagen of Brooklyn.

"I thought it was an atomic explosion," Mayor John Leonard said. "It was the first thought that hit me."

Charles Bersin, a coal barge worker who was an eyewitness to the blast, said he had the same feeling: "I thought Stalin was over here."

An army of rescue workers, recruited from the New York metropolitan area, toiled through the night.

Shells and anti-personnel mines from the exploded barges were bombarded on to the area. Authorities warned that some of them might still be alive.

Searchlights played over the area as rescue workers moved through a light drizzle to the accompaniment of the wailing sirens of scores of ambulances.

DENISON, Tex., May 20.—(AP).—James Reynolds and Clyde Singleton of Denison Friday rented horses for an afternoon ride. On a narrow path the horses met, refused to step aside and collided head-on. The impact killed both horses and left the riders dazed and bewildered.

River Drops Half Inch At Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, May 20 (CP) — The devastating Red dropped one-half inch in Greater Winnipeg today. Bright sunshine raised Winnipeggers' hopes the 1950 flood crest was about done.

The drop alone was not enough to be significant. The wobbly crest has strained between the twin cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface, Man., since last Sunday.

The danger was still present. The army gingerly jugged two rivers and a flood-born lake to prevent further damage to the metropolitan area.

Favorable Signs

But there were these favorable signs in the 75-mile-long flood zone:

1. At 8 a.m. EDT the river level at James Avenue pumping station was 30.2 feet. Since 5 p.m. Friday it had held steady at 30.25. The 1950 peak Thursday night and Friday was 30.3.

2. The weather bureau forecast a rainless day through the Red River valley, with some clouds but much bright, drying sunshine.

3. The water level at Emerson, where the Red enters Manitoba from North Dakota, dropped 1½ inches in 24 hours; and a few miles farther north, at Letellier, it dropped four inches in a day and a half.

4. All Greater Winnipeg's dikes apparently were holding.

Bad Factors

The main unfavorable factors were:

1. Dikes weakened by continuous pressure of the Red still had to hold for many days. There was no chance of a sharp drop in the river's Winnipeg level. A 600-square-mile, river-born lake in Southern Manitoba will take several weeks to drain.

2. The long-term weather forecast was not favorable. A storm was brewing in the Dakotas, and there was fear of rainfall during the next few days.

3. All Southern Manitoba is waterlogged. The ground would not absorb heavy precipitation. Army engineers have said a couple of day's heavy rain would send the river level soaring—perhaps even to the 32.5 feet at which general evacuation of the Greater Winnipeg area would be necessary.

The army's lake-and-river juggling task was to relieve flood pressure caused by one huge body of water without upsetting a precarious balance between two others and the dikes resisting them.

Give Fresh Evidence Of Vigorous Spirit Shown From 1850

Health Of Nation Much Too Important For Individual Quibbling All Goverments Must Co-operate To Full

By HARRY THEOBALD

The Prime Minister of Canada was the guest today of the citizens of Peterborough for the major event of this year's extended celebration of the 100th anniversary of the incorporation of their municipality.

The Right Honorable Louis S. St. Laurent arrived from Ottawa on the early morning train to bring during the day congratulations of the nation to the leading industrial city of eastern Ontario, between Toronto and Montreal, as it begins the second century of its corporate history. He was accompanied by Mrs. St. Laurent, and brought with him from the east the sparkle of May sunshine for the special occasion of his opening of Peterborough's splendid new Civic Hospital this afternoon.

Peterborough was beginning the second century of its history and development with fresh evidence of vigor and enterprise as demonstrated by the large investment of its citizens in hospital accommodation for themselves and their families and the people of a wide area of Central Ontario, Mr. St. Laurent commented to the Examiner before setting out on the long day's program which had been laid out for his visit.

In recent delving into the background of this community, he had noted the diversity of industries which appeared to make Peterborough sufficient to its own needs. In that same sense and action of responsibility, it had now provided hospital facilities which should meet the needs of population of the city and district for many years.

ENCOURAGED TO SEE GROUNDWORK

"It is very encouraging to see that the proper groundwork is being prepared for a wider distribution of modern health services to our Canadian people," said Mr. St. Laurent. "In that respect Peterborough has assumed that responsibility in full measure, and I have always felt that it was one of the most important essentials.

Any form of health insurance that I know anything about provides contractual rights to hospitalization when the insured individual's condition requires it. No such rights can be prudently provided for society unless there has been adequate preparation to satisfy them."

The new plans of health insurance assume the adequacy of hospital beds which the Prime Minister mentioned.

"Up to the present time, my impression is that our hospital facilities have been and are being used to full extent. That was one of the main reasons for the government's policy of health grants that was announced two years ago by Mr. Mackenzie King.

We realize that the primary responsibility rests on the provincial and local government, but it is a matter of such vital (I hope no one will accuse me of punning) importance to all our Canadian people, that it has been felt that all levels of government should co-operate as closely as possible.

I should also like to mention another advantage which Peterborough will gain from its improved hospital position. Its increased space and facilities will stimulate the training of a larger number of nurses and hospital attendants. We have to leave it to the universities to provide the necessary doctors; but doctors must have assistants and other trained personnel to give patients effective help and to make the fullest use of the continuing developments of medical science."

The Prime Minister said that this reflection of responsibility for the welfare of the people of the city and district merited the congratulations of the rest of the country, and for that reason particularly he was glad to accept the invitation to assume the formality of declaring Peterborough's new Civic Horpital open.

CITY COUNCIL'S WELCOMING PARTY

At that stage the city council's welcoming party arrived at the Pullman on the Co-Op siding of the C.P.R. yard. They were Mayor Max J. Swanston and Mrs. Swanston; Ald. Adam Sands, chairman of the reception committee; and City Clerk E. A. Outram.

The city is presenting at the civic dinner this evening at the Empress Hotel a beautiful grey-blue, embossed rug to the Prime Minister and Mrs. S. Laurent as a remembrance of their visit to Peterborough. Its color was chosen by Mrs. St. Laurent from samples submitted to her by Brinton Carpet Company.

It is a personal gift, and its selection by Mrs. St. Laurent was made with special thought of a certain in her own home to which some day she will return.

Following the dinner at the Empress, the council has also arranged for a public reception at the hotel to which citizens generally are invited to meet the Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent. They are leaving Peterborough on the night train for Ottawa.

The reception committee's program for the day began with the morning's tour by automobile first to King Edward Park where school children were assembled to greet the Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent, followed by a visit to the plant of Canadian General Electric Company.

Its office buildings and main entrance on Park St. were beflagged and decorated with a large "Welcome" lettering. The itinerary included a call at Victoria Park where uptown school children were waiting, thence to the Quaker Oats mills and the Western Clock Company, and a greeting to children at King George School in Ashburnham.

A reception for Mrs. St. Laurent was held this afternoon at the home of Alderman Hugh F. Waddell and Mrs. Waddell, Monaghan Road, following the ceremonial opening of Civic Hospital. An interlude was provided at the Peterborough Club for the Prime Minister, and the main event of this evening is the civic dinner at the Empress.

Quebec Gov't To Rebuild Rimouski Area

QUEBEC, May 20. (CP)—The Quebec Government intends to rebuild promptly the government-owned constructions destroyed in the disastrous Rimouski fire on May 6.

Premier Duplessis said at his press conference Friday that he had instructed the Department of Public Works to proceed promptly with reconstruction of the courthouse, the county jail and the bridge which linked the parish of Nazareth with the devastated west side of Rimouski.

A temporary bridge allowed normal traffic to resume Friday along the St. Lawrence River highway.

During his talk with newspaper men, the premier gave out a list of important donations to the provincial subscription on behalf of the homeless in the towns of Rimouski and Cabano and made several other brief announcements.

He also released text of a letter sent to him on behalf of the Quebec Roman Catholic bishops thanking him for legislation allowing the bishops to constitute themselves into a corporation for the purpose of church administration.

The premier announced that the social welfare court would begin to function in Montreal, Quebec and Sherbrooke in August. The new court will replace all previous juvenile delinquency court procedure.

Man, 4 Children Suffer Burns In $250,000 Fire

SUDBURY, May 20.—(CP).—A man and his four children were taken to hospital today with burns suffered in a $250,000 fire which gutted four stores and the upstairs apartments on Sudbury's Durham street. Every available firefighter in the city was called to fight the blaze which raced through Martin's men's wear, Dominion store, Levin's ladies' wear and Fairmount shoe store.

In hospital in critical condition is John Lahaie, 48, who lived in the burned apartment block. He and his four children, ranging from 5 to 17, were helped from the building by police and firefighters.

Mother Away

Hospital authorities described the conditions of the children as favorable. They have varying degrees of burns. Their mother was away from home at the time of the fire, which started between 4 a.m. and 5 a.m.

The spectacular blaze sent flames and smoke shooting through the roof of the burning buildings. The roof caved in.

An explosion of unkown origin caused part of the brick wall facing Durham Street to sag dangerously, but it did not fall.

As far as was known at 8 a.m. there were no casualties beyond the family of five now in hospital.

"We couldn't have done much to save this place with 100 men," Fire Chief William Andrews said while the fire burned. Flames were shooting through the roof by the time the firemen reached the scene.

Part of the same burned block, containing one of the same stores, Martin's Men's Wear, was destroyed by fire 16 years ago. Three years later the New American Hotel, which stood on the site next door, now occupied by the Hotel Coulson, was razed.

Princess Weds Jap Commoner

TOKYO, May 20. — (AP).—Princess Taka, attractive second daughter of Emperor Hirohito, today became plain Mrs. Toshimichi Takatsukasa, wife of a $20-a-month museum attendant.

The wedding took place at the home of Prince Takamatsu, Hirohito's brother. The austere Shinto ceremony was formal and private—only about 30 members of the two families attended.

It was the first time, as far as is known, that a Japanese emperor saw one of his children married.

Thousands of Japanese lined the route from the imperial palace to the wedding house.

The bridegroom's father, Nobusuke, is chief priest of Meiji Jingu, Tokyo's leading Shinto shrine.

The newlyweds will live in rented quarters in the home of former Admiral Saburo Hyakutake.

There will be no honeymoon. Takatsukasa will report back on his job Monday.

P.S.: The newly-weds won't have it too tough. The government appropriated the equivalent of $13,500 for wedding expenses, and gave the princess $100,000 to "maintain her dignity."

House Approves Atlantic Move, Step To Peace

OTTAWA, May 20.— (CP). — Twin developments directly affecting Canada in the international sphere captured top attention in Parliament Friday and were unanimously hailed as major advances toward the goal of world peace.

Defence Minister Claxton told the Commons:

1—The meeting of the 12-member Atlantic Pact Council in London has decided to appoint a deputy council, to which Canada will name a representative, and to urge members to concentrate on creation of balanced collective forces in a progressive build-up of the defence of the North Atlantic area.

2—The United States has agreed to buy between $15,000,000 and $25,000,000 worth of Canadian military equipment annually which the minister said would "contribute to the defence potential of both countries" and to over-all defence arrangements.

Labor Government Leaders Will Hold Secret Session

DORKING, Surrey, England, May 20. (Reuters)—Britain's top government and Labor Party leaders gathered here today to spend the weekend secretly thrashing out the program with which they aim to regain real power as well as office at the next general election.

It is widely expected that the Labor Government will spring the next election between next month and November.

The government has a majority of nine in the present parliament.

The conference is likely to become historic as it marks the first time the three wings of the Labor party—political, trade union and co-operative—have staged such a joint get-together of leaders to shape policy.

It is likely also to involve sharp clashes between the left and right wings of the movement on the best psychological approach to the electorate.

More than 50 key figures of the Socialist movement, headed by Prime Minister Attlee, were expected to attend the talks.

The "second five year plan," on which they just scraped back into office last February, is still regarded by many party supporters as lacking in the imaginative qualities necessary for a resounding Labor victory "next time."

Duke Of Edinburgh Earns First Command

LONDON, May 20. (AP)—Princess Elizabeth's husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, has earned his first command in the Royal Navy.

The Admiralty announced today the Duke will take command of the anti-aircraft frigate Magpie in August.

Court circles also predicted that about the same time he would be promoted in rank from lieutenant to lieutenant-commander.

Prince Philip, 29 next month, now is a lieutenant aboard the destroyer Chequers, based at Malta.

Panic Grips Shattered City

Showered By Glass and Bricks, Wounded People Cry "This Is War"

SOUTH AMBOY, NJ, May 20. (AP) — Shoppers crowded the downtown area Friday night.

Families sat down to dinner.

Dock workers headed for home.

Rain fell from dismal grey clouds. It was 7:24 p.m., EDT.

A minute later this town of 10,000 was "blown to hell."

Panic gripped broadway — the main street. Men, women and children were showered with slivers of glass and chunks of wood and brick from buildings.

Some stood in their tracks clutching bloodied arms and legs unbelievingly — their fear-whitened faces etched against the fiery red glow from the waterfront where four ammunition barges had disappeared into space in a thundering roar.

Men gathered their families around them and rushed into the streets — some still holding dinner napkins. Motorists fled their cars where they stopped.

Feared Attack

Crisis of "atom bomb" and "this is war" filled the night air.

Dock workers — those lucky enough to be alive — gazed at the spot where the four barges they were loading once floated.

A railroad policeman, Luke Lyons, was about 100 feet away when the barges let go.

Badly injured, he said: "After the explosion I looked out and couldn't see anything."

Debris filled the air, adding a whistling crescendo to the dull boom of the blast.

Bodies and parts of bodies—one headless — floated in the grimy, wreckage-filled water. Cries of "Help me" filled the gloomy dock section — the blast had cut off power and electricity.

Everything Damaged

Hardly a building in this explosion-belt city escaped without at least some damage.

"People were cut by flying glass and they stood as if hypnotized as blood poured from their wounds," said Mrs. Andrew Kudrick, wife of a photographer, who was working in a dress shop on Broadway.

Shoppers forgot packages and ran. Children whimpered and asked for explanations.

Glass—expensive stained and ordinary window — filled the streets and gutters. Walls caved in. Roofs hung crazily from theier mobrings. Cars stood damaged, some with motors still running.

Live fuses and detonators were scattered all over. Mud from the river bottom dripped off what was left of buildings in the unceasing rain.

Men in a motor boat, hastily pressed into service, snatched a man, his wife and their child off another burning barge.

Priests were on the docks administering to the injured. One dock workers received the last rites of his church—and died.

Mrs. Ray Waters of Perth Amboy, 10 miles to the north, said she heard a low rumble and "finally it erupted into a terrific blast."

"I thought my time had come."

Elaine Hess Wins Poster Contest

HASTINGS, May 20.—(ENS).—Posters for a Home and School social evening were judged at the May meeting as follows:

First, Elaine Hess; second, Margaret Baker, and third, Marilyn Thomas.

The following is the slate of officers for 1950-51: President, Mrs. J. G. Thompson; first vice-president, Mrs. C. Baker; secretary, Mrs. Stiner treasurer, W. A. Thomas.

The Association made plans for the social evening and also for an evening of bridge and euchre to be held in the town hall.

Margaret Baker and Bette Ryder sang a duet, Miss A. O'Leary, public health nurse, spoke on behalf of the mobile chest clinic to be held on June 1 in the town hall.

The question box was passed and a radio for school was discussed.

BROTHERS COLIN AND STANLEY SMITH, who recently sailed to England, denied reports that they have given up their plans for a Utopian colony in Nova Scotia. They have returned to Europe and Britain to organize some 400 people who have requested a part in the co-operative village. Both are expert boat builders, they built the 20-foot sailboat in which they sailed to England last summer to attract attention to their plans for Nova Espero (New Hope) in Yarmouth County, NS. They will spend some time in Europe lecturing and choosing new recruits for the colony.

Dynamic New French Bolicy Challenges UK Leadership

LONDON, May 20. — (AP). — A new "dynamic" French foreign policy—launched with the Schuman plan and running strongly through the Big Three and Atlantic Council talks here — is challenging Britain's political leadership in Western Europe. France's new line is shaped to rally West Europe—with or without Britain—into a powerful "third force" of countries turning away from the cold war and concentrating more on the economic, social and financial rebuilding of Europe.

An informed source termed the policy "emphatically not anti-American" — stressing that the French reorientation in viewpoint in no sense means that Europe should be less ready to fight in defence of Western democracy.

Main Points

Its main lines are these:

1. The United States' tendency to view global problems primarily on the assumption that a new war is virtually inevitable should be jettisoned.

2. Rebuilding of Europe on the assumption that peace is possible should be pushed forward as a first consideration.

3. The countries of West Europe should stop talking about surrendering parts of their sovereignty for closer unity and take firm steps toward the goal of a unified closely-knit west.

Informed sources in London said those lines were pushed strongly in the Big Three and the Atlantic Pact talks just concluded.

The Schuman plan is a keystone of the new policy because it dramatizes the necessity for surrender of sovereignty by anyone who wants to join.

Install Officers For Belmont WI

HAVELOCK, May 20.—(ENS).—Mrs. H. L. Scott conducted the installation of officers ceremony at the Belmont Women's Institute Thursday in the township hall as follows:

President, Mrs. Charles Ellis; first vice-president, Mrs. W. Ketchen; second vice-president, Mrs. G. Gawley; directors, Mesdames Alex Keene, Horace King, Edward Barker; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Clarence King; press reporter; Mrs. Arnold Dafoe; pianists, Mesdames William Anderson and Donald Anderson; district director, Mrs. William Harris; auditors, Mesdames H. Scott and W. Aunger; sick and visiting committee, Mesdames R. Vansickle and W. Youmans.

Mrs. Charles Ellis and Mrs. Horace King were in charge of a short Mother's Day program, which included a solo by Mrs. W. Goadsby and a reading by Mrs. Clarence King. The prize for the oldest grandmother present went to Mrs. Robert Anderson, of Belmont township.

It was decided not to cater for the dinner for the district annual meeting to be held here in June.

The quilt which the society will enter in the quilt contest at the district annual meeting was finished during the afternoon.

Tea hour hostesses were Mesdames R. Wrightly, E. McLaughli, Anson Seabrook and D. Anderson.

Townships Get First Aid Grants

Otonabee, Smith North Monaghan, and Douro Townships have received since February grants payable under the Fire Departments Act of 1949 to aid municipal fire departments. Smith Township received $128.14, while North Monaghan's grant was $58.33, Otonabee $12.50, and Douro's $37.75.

The Hon. Dana Porter, Attorney-General, announced today that up to March 31 this year the total grants amounted to $1,374,680.82. This amount was divided into $4,343,091.40 to 420 municipalities for a percentage share of their 1948 fire department costs, plus special grants towards the purchase of new fire pumpers to 38 municipalities amounting to $31,589.42.

Other Central Ontario centres receiving grants were: Brighton $1,512.72. Bobcaygeon $64.69, Havelock $15.50, Madoc $461.13.

Railway Strike Called June 1

WASHINGTON, May 20 (AP) A switchmen's strike scheduled for next Tuesday on 10 midwestern railroads in the United States was postponed Friday until June 1.

The national (railway) mediation board obtained the postponement and will try to settle the dispute before the next strike deadline.

Francis A. O'Neill Jr., chairman of the board, said the union is asking a reduction of the work week from 48 to 40 hours without loss of pay; also time and a half for Saturday work and double time for Sundays.

O'Neill announced that mediation would start next Tuesday in Washington.

Find Second Body In Ruins Of School

HULL, Que., May 20 (CP). — The charred remains of a second victim of the $250,000 fire that destroyed Hull Normal School's main section was found Friday night by weary firemen probing among the blackened ruins.

Firemen believe the victim may be one of four sisters of the Grey Nuns of the Cross, missing after 60 nuns and 97 teen-age school children had been evacuated from the blazing building.

The body was removed to a Hull funeral home, to rest with another body found 12 hours earlier in the devastated school. An inquest called earlier Friday night to view these remains was adjourned pending completion of an investigation into the fire.

Oshawa Bus Drivers Have Voted To Strike

OSHAWA, May 20 (CP)—Bus drivers and freight-handlers voted Friday to strike against the Oshawa Railway Company to enforce wage and hour demands. Some 85 men, members of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach employees Union, are involved.

The company, a subsidiary of the Canadian National Railways, rejected their bid for a 40-hour week, in place of the present 48-hour week, and a general wage boost of eight cents an hour.

City Wrecked

Three States Rocked

The big blast came at 7.25 p.m. EDT with a long, low rumble that rocked the earth in three States—up into New York City some 30 miles away to the north and across the State line into Pennsylvania 50 miles to the west.

Witnesses said it was a perfect picture of what an atom bomb explosion must be like. A mushroom of smoke shot up over the water front and there were a series of sputtering explosions pouring white flames on the fringe of the blast area.

The blast tore windows from every building in the mile-square town and showered the 10,000 residents under a spray of glass splinters that appeared to account for most of the injuries.

The big munitions cargo in freight cars had come here by rail and was being transferred to four barges. It was to be taken out into Raritan Bay to be loaded on to an Isbrandtsen Line ship bound for the Fast East.

Bear Brunt

The loading crews at work on the munitions barges appeared to bear the brunt of the casualties. The Pennsylvania railroad announced that 20 to 25 men were working on the dock and "all are presumed missing."

Authorities said they had no idea what set off the blast. The Middlesex County proscutor's office said it was starting an immediate investigation.

One of the four barges involved in the blast sunk quickly into the harbor. The three others burned for four hours and five minutes.

The job of loading the barges with the munitions cargo was almost completed when the explosion occurred. Dock workers said the job had started at 10 a.m. and there was only about 20 minutes more work to be done at the time of the blast.

Heading For India

In New York City, Hans J. Isbrandtsen, president of the line whose ship was standing off South Amboy, said one of his vessels was awaiting a cargo of munitions before starting for India.

Isbrandtsen declined to say whether it was a private or government shipment his vessel was awaiting.

This was the second munitions blast in the South Amboy area. On Oct. 4, 1918, a series of TNT explosions rocked nearby Morgan, destroying a munitions plant 2½ miles from the site of last night's disaster. Sixty-three were killed in that Morgan explosion.

Just 10 days ago, the coast guard had ordered extra precautions on the loading of explosives at South Amboy because the docks there are "too close to thickly-populated sections."

Mr. Claxton, speaking for External Affairs Minister Pearson, who returns from the Council meetings in London late this month to give a "full report," said the Council decisions were "a long step forward" in building up a stable and prosperous North Atlantic community.

Momentous Decision

George Drew, Progressive Conservative Leader, hailed the London announcement as "the most momentous decision since 1945" which offered more hope for peace than "we have had since the war."

He reiterated the necessity of a similar pact for the Pacific area where he said Communism was making its greatest effort.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF Leader, said a new era of co-operation and integration was dawning in the West. He pledged the support of his Party in "anything we can do to advance this great idea of co-operation, first among the Atlantic community and then among the members, we hope, of the great world community.

Held Five Days

STOCKHOLM, May 20 (Reuters) — Captain Erick Svensson, of the Swedish Motorship Amora, said yesterday that armed Russian guards held his ship five days in the Latvian port of Libau until he agreed to pay the local shipping agents in dollars. He stated on his return to Malmoe, southern Sweden: "They also made me pay a fine of 108 rubles (about $25) because I went into Libau without a pilot."

Appointed Chairman

TORONTO, May 20.—(CP). — Col. T. M. Medland of Toronto Friday was appointed chairman of the Ontario Canteen Fund and the Soldiers' Aid Commission, amalgamated recently by the provincial Government. Other members include Col. G. R. Johnson, Brockville; and Maj. G. Harold Tolley, Sault Ste. Marie. Col. Medland, executive director of the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario, is a native of Brooklin.

Wind Tunnel Aids Air Tests

OTTAWA, May 20 (CP)—The National Research Council is building a wind tunnel capable of simulating speeds up to 3,000 miles an hour. It is the key supersonic tests of aircraft parts and probably eventually of guided missiles which, scientists say, may some day fly that fast.

The tremendous rush of air in the tunnel won't actually be going 3,000 miles an hour past stationary parts fastened inside, a scientist said. But the test can be so geared that the end effect is the same as though those parts actually were being flown at that speed in the great unexplored realm beyond the speed of sound.

The unfinished tunnel is being billed as a feature attraction for three days in which a guarded, fence-enclosed wonderland known as the NRC's division of mechanical engineering will be thrown open to invited guests and to the public, May 31, June 1 and 2.

Even the Russians have been invited and have agreed, officials said yesterday, to send representatives from the embassy to see not only the tunnel but such other unclassified or non-secret attractions.

Protests Change In Navy Song

OTTAWA, May 20 (CP) — Julian Ferguson (PC-Simcoe North) protested in the Commons Friday against the substitution of O, Canada for Rule Britannia as the formal salute by Navy bands to Canada's naval chieftains.

He called for a halt to "the insidious propaganda that is constantly being put out by government civil servants to take tradition from Canadians." Later, he asked Defence Minister Claxton whether the change had been made "with his full sanction."

Mr. Claxton said it was, and added:

"I think the substitution of O, Canada for Rule Britannia will be a change greatly to be desired by all Canadians."

Mr. Ferguson registering his test on a question of privilege, said the strains of Rule Britannia are very dear to a large number of Canadians.

"So is O, Canada," interjected Jean Lesage (L-Montmagny-L'Islet).

16 Russian Ships Idling In Channel

LONDON, May 20.—(CP). — Sixteen Russian fishing trawlers and tugs and a mother ship anchored in the English channel today off Falmouth, Cornwall, but nobody seemed to know what they were fishing for.

Flotillas of the small Soviet vessels, variously estimated to number between 30 and 40 ships, have been moving through the English channel from the North sea during the last 48 hours.

The First Sea Lord, Admiral Lord Fraser, said Friday: "I think it is an ordinary passage to the Black sea" from the Baltic sea.

British and other Brussels Pact powers begin combined exercises in the Bay of Biscay next week. The Russian vessels might pass through that area on their way to the Black sea.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion Public Weather Office in Toronto at 9.30 a.m. EDT.:

Only a few isolated patches of cloud mar the almost unbroken stretch of clear sky over Ontario today, giving promise of a pleasant week-end.

A band of cloud that stretches from Fort William to Chicago is all that remains of the disturbance that gave nearly half an inch of rain in the Red river valley Friday. It will move across the forecast regions tonight and early tomorrow leaving Sunday mainly sunny with temperatures little changed from Saturday.

Forecasts:

Niagara, Lake Ontario, Eastern Georgian Bay, Haliburton, Kirkland Lake regions: Toronto, Hamilton, Sudbury cities: Sunny today. Cloudy Sunday clearing by mid-morning. Little change in temperature. Winds northeast 15 becoming light tonight and Sunday. Low tonight and high Sunday at Trenton, Toronto, St. Catharines and Hamilton 50, 70; Muskoka and Killaloe 45, 70; Earlton and Sudbury 45, 65.

Summary for Sunday Clearing. Continuing warm.

Would Have Ottawa Handle All Pensions

TORONTO, May 20 (CP) — Welfare Minister Goodfellow of Ontario proposed Friday that old-age pension administration be made the responsibility solely of the Federal Government. Addressing the annual meeting of the Ontario Association of the Children's Aid Society, he recommended that the Dominion institute a pension free of the means test and that provincial governments withdraw from the pension field.

Mrs. R. B. Splane, Cornwall, told the 400 delegates that "the position and work of the CAS is endangered today by its being forced to undertake work which should be carried out by public welfare organizations. We are expected to spread our efforts too thin over too large an area."

Storm Scatters Fleet

TOKYO, May 20 —(AP)— A sudden storm early today scattered a fleet of 42 fishing boats off southwest Kyushu Island. Twenty-two boats and 141 men were reported missing.

Senate Wants Special Inquiry

WASHINGTON, May 20 —(AP).—Senator Lister Hill (Dem. Ala.) Friday introduced in the Senate a resolution calling for a sweeping Senate investigation of the employment of homosexuals by the United States Government.

Hill submitted the resolution on behalf of the Senate appropriation committee's District of Columbia sub-committee. The sub-committee earlier in a closed door session had unanimously endorsed the inquiry, suggested by Hill and Senator Kenneth Wherry (Rep. Neb.), who had been authorized months ago to look into the matter.

It was not certain which Senate committee would conduct the investigation if one is approved. But Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep. Mich.), a member of the sub-committee, told the Senate "the evidence was so shocking that action should be taken immediately."

Wherry handed the sub-committee a report quoting Washington police estimates that 3,750 homosexuals now are employed by the Government in the United States capital.

Seek Common Front

LONDON, May 20—(AP)— A Church of Scotland commission on Communism said Friday it hoped soon to communicate with other churches and christian bodies to form a common Christian front against Communism. In a report the commission said only christian faith—and not an atom war—can stop Communism from spreading.

Arrest 60 In Party

CAIRO, Egypt, May 20—(AP)—Sixty members of the Afghan Democratic party, accused of having planned the overthrow of the Afghanistan government, have been arrested, an Arab news agency dispatch said yesterday. The dispatch, datelined Quetta, India, near the Afghan-Indian border, said those arrested include Afghan army officers.

May Try Yuzwa Summer Not Fall

LINDSAY, May 20: — A new trial before the regular Fall Assizes may be sought for William Yuzwa, charged with murder in connection with the slaying of Jack Loucks here last November, says Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan. No decision was reached by the jury empanelled for the last trial, held in February, and the case was at that time put over until the Fall Assizes.

Rumors to the effect that the trial might be held sometime this summer rather than in the fall, have been circulating the town. The Crown Attorney states that he had an intimation some time ago from B. J. Spencer Pitt, counsel for the accused, that an application might be made to Chief Justice Robertson for the special trial.

Yuzwa was one of four men originally charged with the murder of Loucks. Charges against the other three, the Zahodnik brothers, were dismissed at the first of the trials in December.

THE MODERATOR of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, Rev. Dr. C. E. Cowan of St Andrew's Church, Hamilton, will be in Petreborough and district on Sunday. In the morning he will preach in St. Paul's Church and in the evening he will conduct the anniversary service at St. Andrew's Church, Norwood.

Health Insurance Plan Opposed

OTTAWA, May 20 — (CP). — Arguments against government compulsory health insurance were heard at the final general session of the Ontario Medical Association's convention Friday.

Dr. J. E. C. Anderson of Saskatoon, president of the Canadian Medical Association, said government health insurance would bring "demands for service beyond reasonable need."

He also warned of increased taxation and sacrifice by the patient "of many of his present freedoms and privacies."

Instead of ensuring a better medical service, "we believe it would lead to a deterioration in medical services," Dr. Anderson said.

Health insurance, in his opinion, would not solve the problem of providing medical facilities for rural areas. He urged that this problem should be approached by partial subsidy in some areas, with air ambulance services and improved rural living conditions.

Awarded $200

MONTREAL, May 20, (CP) — Mr. Justice Arthur I. Smith in a judgment Friday held that Senator T. D. Bouchard was libelled by a front-page editorial in the French-language daily newspaper Le Devoir but the libel was unintentional. On the Liberal Senator's claim for $10,000, His Lordship awarded $200 from Gerard Fillion, editor who wrote the signed editorial.

14 Die In Riots

LA PAZ, Bolivia, May 20 (AP) —Fourteen persons were reported killed and 75 wounded Friday in disorders arising from a general strike in La Paz. It was feared the casualties would go still higher because many victims in the factory district apparently were not hospitalized. One person was killed and eight others injured in clashes Thursday night.

Tenor Suffers Setback In Canadian Court

VANCOUVER, May 20 (CP) — William F. Kenney, tenor of the famed Ink Spots quartet, suffered a legal setback Friday when a Vancouver judge said he had "hoodwinked" process servers in Chicago to avoid a divorce and damage action.

Supreme Court Justice J. O. Wilson ordered Kenney to accept service of papers naming him co-respondent and defendant in the action.

The 35-year-old singer, who carried the melody in the Ink Spots' appearance here in March, 1949, is accused by Roy Buchanan of Vancouver of carrying off Buchanan's wife. Kenney and Audrey Kathleen Buchanan are named as co-defendants in Buchanan's divorce and damage action.

She and Kenney were married Feb. 8 in Hoboken, N.J., after she obtained an American divorce from Buchanan.

Europeans Not Worried About Danger of New War

By JEAN E. STENTON

MONTREAL. — There is a decided change in interests and outlook between Canadians and Europeans and so noticeable is that difference that you feel somewhere crossing the ocean, you also crossed an invisible line marking the difference in tempo.

Jean Stenton

On my return flight and in Canada, the two most popular questions I have been asked are: "Do the people over there think there is going to be a war soon?" and "Is the food very bad?" While the main interests in France and Great Britain seemed to be reconstruction, food and the dollar shortage.

As far as could be seen, on the surface, war is very far from the thoughts of the average man in both France and Britain. The possibility was never discussed anywhere I happened to be and most of the news in the papers related to domestic issues. In Britain, the cost of food was mentioned quite often and I was frequently asked to give an "honest" opinion whether Canada considered the United Kingdom nothing but a scrounger because of help she had to take from the Marshall Aid Plan.

No Complaints

As to food, I can only cite my own experiences and quote a few of the people living there. As far as I was concerned, I had nothing to complain about. I ate the whole time at hotels or big restaurants and the food was attractively served.

In France, you could have any kind of food if you were willing to pay for it. Nothing is rationed and the cooking was always delicious. They are much better off in variety and supplies than England and Scotland.

The one big thing I noticed in the United Kingdom was the limited menus. There were usually only two choices of meat, vegetables and dessert. One vegetable was always boiled cabbage, and the butter ration was small or non-existant.

In London, it was difficult to get bacon and eggs. One morning I had both; the next morning I could only have an egg and the third morning, bacon was the offering on the menu. There was a little more food and a greater variety in Edinburgh.

I quite disgraced myself with the head waiter at the Edinburgh hotel. I was under the impression that coffee and not tea was rationed. You always had tea in the morning and the middle of the afternoon, so my first luncheon in Scotland, I asked for tea. The waiter looked at me as if I had asked for the crown jewels. When his frigid glance failed to quell me, he finally said:

"Well, I don't know . . . I'll enquire." I got it, but it was only the next day that I learned it was still on ration.

Cost of Living High

As for prices, my own experience tells little. I found hotels cheaper than luxury hotels in Canada and France, and at that time, there was a ceiling price on all British hotel meals. But Canadians living in England that I talked with considered the cost of living very high. As in this country, accommodation is both a problem and a great expense if you move to another dwelling. Some foods are high and clothes a headache.

I noticed in both Scotland and England, that some of the bigger stores had very attractive wares. But when an Australian friend of mine who is living in England, went in to buy a pair of nylon stockings displayed, she was told "Sorry, this is for export only." That, I have learned, is the case with nearly every article that is attractive and of good quality. There was never a sign in any window to tell you that and it seemed very unfair to the people living there.

One Canadian I talked with told me about buying a suit. He saw some excellent material in a shop, priced it, and ordered a suit. It cost him $40. But when he got it, the suit was made of slightly different material (the utility quality) and he was able to wear it only once. He told me that was typical of many of the things purchased . . . or else they were for export. Window shopping there can be very deceiving.

Things Much Better

All the English and Scots I talked to said of food: "It's much better than it was a year ago. The ration is off some things and the supply is better," But when you hear what the ration is, to a Canadian it still seems grim.

A British girl who married a Canadian during the war and had been home visiting her people for two months said she couldn't get back to Canada fast enough. She stayed with her parents in a small town and she said she had been hungry ever since she arrived. Even with her visitor's ration, the meat servings were small and her mother found it difficult to stretch out the menus. The things they did have didn't seem to satisfy her hunger and she had lost between 10 and 15 pounds in seven weeks.

Others there told me they had little difficulty managing with the butter ration and vegetables were plentiful. Some had trouble with soap, others didn't. It seemed to depend on the individual. But in any case, there was little grumbling. Everyone was very cheerful about it. The big kick was the sudden jump in the price of fish around budget time and the fear eggs might be rationed again.

One of the strange things while I was away, was that I met only one other Canadian and that was a girl in Paris. In Scotland, Australians were a dime a dozen, and there were quite a few Americans, but I appeared to be upholding the honor of the Canadians.

Canada Still Best

I have often heard travellers say that there is a special feeling about returning to your own country. But I never understood it until I came home this time. I was not homesick nor anxious to return so soon, and it was an interesting flight back. But when the wheels touched down in Canada, I had one of the biggest thrills of my trip.

It seems impossible that you can cover such a distance in such a short space of time. We left London airport at 3 o'clock and flew to Prestwick (1½ hours) where we spent an hour with customs and immigration. From there, we had a 4½-hour flight to Iceland crossing over Scotland and the Outer Hebrides. We had a 7-hour flight from Iceland to Gander, Newfoundland, at 10,000 feet where we landed in the dark along a flare-lit runway. But in spite of the cold, patches of snow and being snatched from a comfortable doze at 2 a.m. to go through customs and immigration (again), there was a thrill I shall never forget in seeing and setting foot on Canadian soil again. Other places are wonderful, but to me Canada is still MY country and TOPS.

Pick 50 Cadets To Make Visit

OTTAWA, May 20 (CP)—Air Cadet League headquarters announced Friday that 50 Canadian cadets will be selected again this year to visit the United Kingdom and the United States on exchange visits.

The exchange visits, inaugurated last year, are regarded as the top reward for which any air cadet can qualify. Twenty-five cadets will fly to the U.K. later this summer for a three week visit, while a similar number will make a two week's air tour of the U.S. Return visits will be paid by British and American youths.

In addition to the special activities, officials expect that close to 4,000 cadets will attend summer camps a Summerside, P.E.I., Aylmer, Ont., and Gimli, Man.

Play your fish with motor in neutral

Yes, with Evinrude's new FLEETWIN there's no fuss or confusion when you get a strike—just flick the lever and your motor idles in neutral. Once your fish is safely landed, another flick of the lever and you're in motion again. It's Duo-Clutch on this new Evinrude alternate firing FLEETWIN that makes such control possible.

Just right for trolling, it also packs plenty of what it takes to speed you to distant fishing spots and bring you home again in time for dinner.

The FLEETWIN develops 7.5 h.p. and weighs only 49 pounds. You'll find that an Evinrude FLEETWIN with Duo-Clutch can double your fishing enjoyment.

SANTAYANA

SATURDAY, MAY 20, 1950

Bienvenue

Today Peterborough welcomes, with his consort, the distinguished gentleman who is the twelfth to hold the office of Prime Minister of Canada, the first to come to us as such on a civic, non-political visit: the Right Honourable Louis Stephen St. Laurent, P.C., M.P., K.C., LL.D., and Madame St. Laurent. Their visit is the first event in the year's series of observances of the centenary of Peterborough as a corporation.

* * *

Mr. St. Laurent is a great Canadian. Nine years ago, at the age of 59, a lifetime's work and achievement seemed to lie behind him. As early as 1930 his eminence in law and the affairs of this country had been recognized by Queen's University when it bestowed on him the honorary degree of doctor of laws. Relaxation and ease should have lain ahead. But in 1941 Mr. St. Laurent was called to Ottawa as Minister of Justice. Five years later he accepted the post of Minister for External Affairs, and led this country through portentous international post-war problems with incisive brilliance and imagination. In the autumn of 1948 Mr. St. Laurent was called to the highest service which his country could ask of him, the prime ministership. In the elections following he was given the widest mandate ever handed to a national leader.

* * *

As the King's First Minister for Canada, as a statesman, and as a gentleman in the finest traditions of his and our people, we at the Anglo-Irish Canadian core of Canada salute Mr. St. Laurent with warm respect and full enthusiasm. To Mrs. St. Laurent go out our hearts as generously as she herself has come to share our centennial occasion. Mr. and Mrs. St. Laurent give us all, in their family life and high sense of values, the finest of Canadian examples. On a holiday in New Brunswick last summer the St. Laurent party totalled twenty-seven—sons, daughters, in-laws and grandchildren. What a wonderful family! Today we in Peterborough hope to be accepted en famille in small measure by the prime minister and his gracious, kindly wife.

Germany No Longer An Enemy

Five years after the ending of the war in Europe, Germany, the chief antagonist, is no longer legally regarded as an enemy nation. Western Germany will be permitted a foreign ministry and full-scale diplomatic missions in four months' time. She will also receive ownership of her sequestred coal and steel plants in the Ruhr, will have permission to take up private capital abroad, and will be freed from the Allied veto on internal legislation except where a vital Allied interest is involved. That is the practical meaning of the foreign ministers' statement after the London conference that "German sovereignty is to be restored to the maximum extent compatible with the occupation regime." The revision of the Occupation Statute will be made in September.

These are, in Chancellor Adenauer's words, "great and rapid concessions." Gone now are the notions current in 1945 that Germany would have to be under Allied lock and guard for fifty years. The Western nations have realized that Europe cannot recover socially or economically if Germany is fettered. They have also looked East, and the threat of Russian imperialism has hastened the reception of West Germany into the comity of West Europe and into concord with the Atlantic Treaty nations.

Occupation troops will remain in West Germany, but their purpose is significantly changed. Occupation is, according to the foreign ministers' declaration "imposed on the Germans and on the Allies by the consequences of the division of Germany and of the international position"—that is, by the Russian threat. Occupation troops will be retained "in accordance with the common interests of Germany and Europe." Thus the purpose of occupation is now protection, not control.

Because of this declaration, and the six-point announcement of the foreign ministers' council of the twelve Atlantic treaty nations whose sessions ended Friday evening, a new policy for Germany and Europe has emerged which is likely to set an enduring pattern.

Civic Dinners, Civil and Uncivil

It is traditional even in barbaric countries to extend the hand of friendship to visitors with a bowl of soup and a meaty bone. That is called entertaining *hand*somely. More refined societies, such as Peterborough, hand out for hands-all-round a dinner where the soup has an exotic name and the bone is of cooked pheasant (or, usual Canadian style, chicken or even a ham bone). It is a good custom, for a feast makes for festivity; a fete is a feast, in truth. There are other refinements like chairs to sit on and places of honour at table (where, because of the lack of space there is room for contention). The ladies deck themselves as they have since Eve was young, in the newest and best finery of the tribe or nation. The gentlemen smoke the pipe of peace or a good twenty-five-cent cigar. In most civilized countries, guests are wined as well as dined. Here in Ontario, wine has still an aroma of impiety, and even the toasts at our civic banquets are drunk in water.

This evening the city of Peterborough appropriately is giving a dinner to the Prime Minister and Mrs. St. Laurent. It is to be a much different affair from the first civic dinner Peterborough held a hundred years ago. The town was incorporated in 1850. In the next year the corner-stone of the town hall was laid, and on the evening of that event "all and singular" were invited to the market to accept the hospitality of the town. For the feasting an ox was to be roasted whole. It was, but while revolving on its spit, the beast was carried away by some hungry churls or bellied wits (perhaps they were not included among the all and singular invited). But all and singular took pot-luck at the "Commercial Hotel" after this too-handy pilfering, and a good time was had. Be it remarked that at the time all hotels provided spirits and there were more taverns in the town than churches.

First Years Of $150,000,000

Two years ago this month Prime Minister King announced in the House of Commons a five-year, 150 million dollar program of assistance to hospitals and public health. An administrative organization was set up—for the plan was to disburse the monies through provincial channels—and the first cheque was issued in September, 1948, to Ontario, an instalment on this province's health survey grant. The five-year plan is very wide in scope, but the financial interest has centred on aid to hospitals. Peterborough's new Civic Hospital, and the new wing of St. Joseph's have both benefited.

In 1948-49 the Ottawa grants for hospital construction amounted to $2,223,356, of which Ontario hospitals received $281,892. In 1949-50 grants for hospital construction totalled $6,804,467, Ontario's share being $2,057,853. The plan for the year 1950-51 calls for $13,343,800 in grants for hospital buildings, of which Ontario hospitals will receive $4,351,904. These federal grants are matched, according to Ottawa-provincial agreement, by the receiving provinces.

The total sums granted annually for all purposes under the national health program have been as follows (Ontario's share is shown in brackets): 1948-49—$7,754,563 ($1,475,245); 1949-50—$15,597,626 ($3,979,857); 1950-51—$34,482,926 ($10,690,219).

The foregoing figures indicate the financial side of the vast plan, whose results will show for years to come in the hospital accommodation available, and in the better health of this country. In addition, some important first practical results have been achieved. Registries of crippled children have been established or expanded. Physiotherapy apparatus for children's hospitals has been purchased. Training centres have been set up for cerebral palsied children. Travelling diagnostic clinics have been established. More than 1,300 persons have been given assistance in obtaining special training in some phase of public health (radiology, psychiatry, nursing and the like). Thirty-one new mental health clinics have been formed. ACTH and cortisone for clinical research have been purchased.

Midway through its first course of five years, the national health program is showing impressive results. On his official visit today, Prime Minister St. Laurent, opening our new hospital, can join with the people of Peterborough in feeling that a new era in public health for this district has begun, as it has, through the Federal Government scheme, across Canada.

The Marchbanks Correspondence

To Raymond Cataplasm, M.D., F.R.C.P.

Dear Dr. Cataplasm:

I see that an eminent member of your profession has declared that in his opinion sleep was the original and natural state of all living things. The lower organisms still exist, says he, in a somnolent condition: great numbers of higher creatures pass months every year in hiberhation—which is a kind of sleep: the most sleepless of all is the king of them all—Man, proud Man. He suggests that we might be better off if we slept more. But it seems to me that it might be argued to the contrary that we should be even more civilized if we slept less.

I write to you from a transcontinental train, upon which I am hastening toward our great Canadian West. As I bump and clatter across the broad and lumpy bosom of our motherland I find it impossible to sleep at all. Other people sleep, but not Marchbanks, the supercivilized. My eyelids feel as though someone had been striking matches on them, and when I push them down over the peeled grapes swimming in stewed rhubarb which are my eyes, hot balls of pain bounce around in my head.

But am I more civilized than in the days when I slept for the usual eight hours? I am certainly more fearful, jumpy and cross-grained, and these are the badges of civilization today. When I return, I want you to give me some medicine to uncivilize me. A barbiturate to make me barbarous, shall we say?

Your unbearably civilized patient,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Miss Minerva Hawser

Dear Miss Hawser:

It was kind of you to press that second-hand, three-volume set of Gibbon's Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire upon me for reading on the train. I quite agree with you that a long journey provides an opportunity to tackle some solid reading. For years I have never gone on a journey occupying more than an hour without at least three books. But although my spirit is willing, my flesh is painfully uncooperative.

On a ship I am always unwell. I read, mind you, without a stop, but my attention is not so close as I could wish. For half an hour I am getting ready to be sick, and that is in the back of my mind, as well as in the back of my throat, while I read. Then, for two contorted minutes, I am sick. I have never found it possible to read while thus engaged. For the remainder of the hour I am recovering, and I read solidly during this time, as well.

But I do not always retain what I read on ships, which is not to be wondered at, for I do not retain anything else, either. My mind is full of peculiar, disjointed, lonely bits of information which are all that I have left of the great, heavy books which I have read on ships.

Trains affect me in the same way, but to a lesser degree, and I have to confine myself to a light literary diet. I have put your Gibbon, therefore, on the seat beside me, and now and then I pat it, but I am reading The Case of the Nine Naked Corpses, which is all I can take at the moment. The detective has just discovered Corpse Five—a blonde,—and I must place myself at his side.

Yours with thanks,
SAMUEL MARCHBANKS.

To Chandos Fribble, Esq.

Dear Fribble:

Have just passed through Winnipeg, and as the train stopped for an hour I dismounted to have a look at the city which is, at present, flooded by the Red River. There was a good deal of water about, but none that I saw was more than a few inches deep. Of course, I did not attempt to see anything of the real flood. I understand that it is very bad, and if I had seen it myself it might not have been so bad as I have been led to believe, which would have been disappointing. Life has taught me never to see any disaster which I can read about: the newspapers know what a disaster should be, and do the thing up right; Nature is abominably careless, and many of her disasters are poorly managed and inadequate to the needs of really progressive people.

The facade of the city hall of Winnipeg is enriched by a large sign which says:

BEAUITFY WINNIPEG
BE NIFTY IN FIFTY

The water even seems to have got into the city's spelling, and floated its vowels around.

Yours from the flood area,
S. MARCHBANKS.

To Haubergeon Hydra, Esq.

Dear Mr. Hydra:

As a citizen and taxpayer of this country I write to you, as Deputy Guarantor of Tourist Attractions, to complain about our prairies: they are not as flat as I was led to believe. People have assured me for years that the prairie is as flat as a billiard table. This, sir, is a lie put out to attract tourists. It is not nearly so flat as that.

Every year, I suppose, thousands of people like myself approach the prairies for the first time, happily anticipative of seeing a large tract of land which is as flat as a billiard table, only to find that they have been cheated. They have been told, also, that they can travel for miles without seeing a human habitation; on the contrary, the prairies are defaced by farm-houses and I have seen as many as five of these from a single train window.

There is much talk of conservation these days, but very little action. Let us not lose our prairies. Tear down the farm-houses at once: nobody wants them: the farmers are all in California spending their wheat subsidy. And then put a fleet of steam rollers on the prairies and get those unsightly humps out of them. Keep at it until they are, as advertised, flat as a billiard table.

Your indignant taxpayer,

To Amyas Pilgarlic, Esq.

Dear Pil:

Yesterday I was in Banff and its mountainous environs. Have you ever thought how romantically some mountains are named? The Three Sisters, for instance. If I had been asked to name it I should have called it The Three Jagged Snags, or, in a more poetic vein, The Hag's Lower Denture. But no: The Three Sisters it is. There are cases, of course, where the names are well chosen. Several mountains are named after millionaires and bankers, and they have just the right unapproachable frosty look. One is named after a missionary. it has a look of suspicious disapproval like the banker-mountains, but on a more spiritual plane, if I make myself clear. I like mountains, but I refuse to be patronized by them.

What really astonishes me here in the West is the superstitious awe which is extended toward the East. Whenever Westerners are behaving in a natural and jolly manner, somebody is likely to say, "of course, we know you don't carry on like this in the East". It is rather a new thing for me to be in a place where Ontario is regarded as a gentle, old-world, tradition-encrusted civilization, but I suppose I shall get used to it. Indeed I am doing so right here in Banff. I am older than the rocks among which I sit, and my eyelids are a little weary. I am beginning to take pride in certain gracious old Ontario traditions, such as wearing a necktie in the morning and depending on braces instead of a belt. I have not, as some Easterners do, bought myself a white cowboy hat. Something—a life-long mistrust of cows, perhaps, and a conviction that their milk is the most overrated drink known to man—prevents me. Tomorrow I press on dauntlessly to Vancouver.

Yours,
SAM.

To Waghorn Wittol, Esq.

Dear Wittol:

When I was at Banff yesterday my guide showed me, with utmost pride, a big heap of sticks, mud and dirt which was, he said, a beaver lodge.

In fact, it was undistinguishable from the big heap of sticks, mud and dirt behind the garage at Marchbanks Towers. I have been trying to get a man to come and haul this away, but I shall not do so now. If anyone asks me what it is I shall say airily, "Oh, a beaver lodge". The word rubbish will not be uttered in its presence. How travel broadens one's outlook.

My regards to Mrs. Wittol, if you can find her.

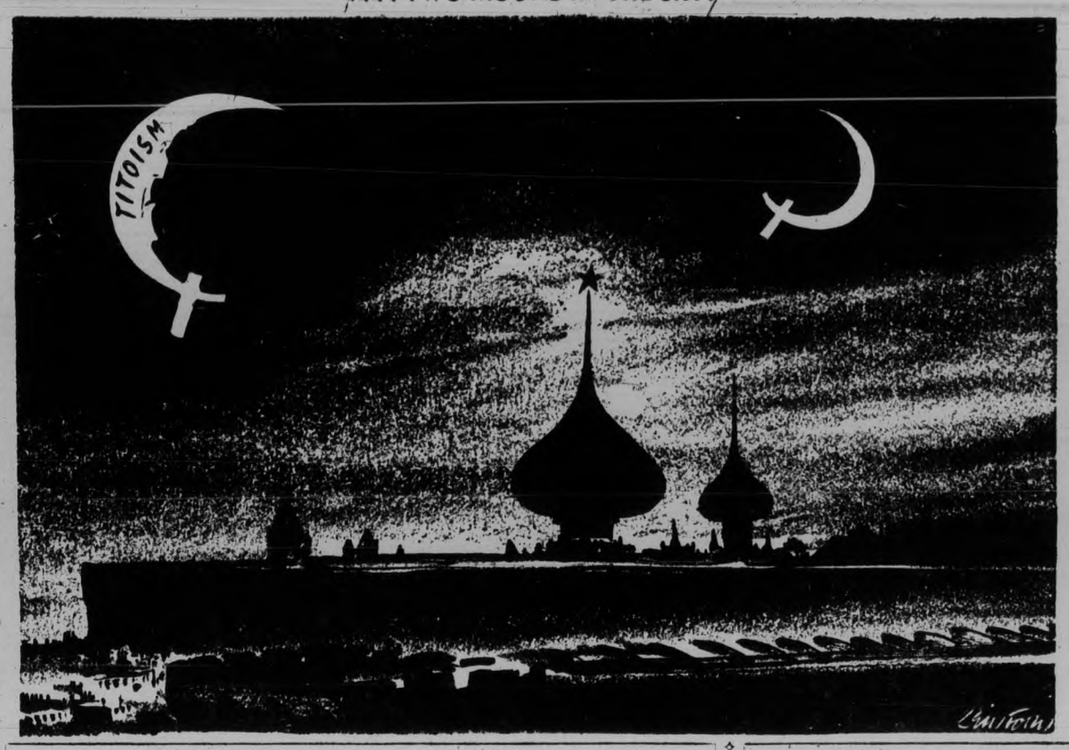
"....TWO MOONS IN THE SKY!"



Letters To The Editor

FEDERAL BUILDING ANNOUNCEMENT

Sir: In last night's issue of your paper I noticed an item which stated that Mr. Dit Clapper had received word from Ottawa that this community is to receive its new Federal Building.

As I understand it Mr. Clapper does not have any official capacity nor does he represent any elected governmental body either Federal, Provincial or Municipal. His official capacity may then be listed as a private citizen the same as all other members of this community.

If then Mr. Clapper is on the same basis as all the other citizens why was he selected to tell us of our new Federal Building? I do not know of any other private citizen who was notified.

We have in this community, a member of the House of Commons and a Mayor. Neither of these gentlemen made the announcement and thus could not have been informed.

By what right has the Federal Government got to go over the heads of our elected representatives and pick out "one" private citizen and let him make the announcement.

If the government does not wish to recognize our Member of Parliament or our Mayor, then I feel a letter should have been sent to all the citizens of the community and not just single out one man. If this is not acceptable then no one should have been notified and the announcement should be made through the local press.

Trusting that you will find space in your paper for my remarks, I am,

Sincerely,
PRIVATE CITIZEN.

SHEEP PROTESTS COUNCIL ACTION

Sir: A few lines from a "Sheep" about to be "shorn".

I call myself a "Sheep" because I was simple enough to believe, after reading the newspaper announcement of January 17, inserted by the City Clerk, regarding the proposed paving of Lock St. from Lansdowne to King George Sts., that "any owner may within twenty-one days after the first publication of this notice, file with the Board his objection to the said work being undertaken", that it was an invitation to have our City Fathers know the true feelings of the property owners, as to our approval or disapproval of the said paving programme; and, should sufficient property owners disapprove—then they—our City Fathers—being elected by the people for the people, and paid by the people, would, of course, consider the people,—and our wishes would be taken into consideration, before plunging us into further indebtedness.

But, no! Our City Fathers treated us as children, their children, not having the wisdom to do our own thinking.

Upon receipts of the petition stating our reasons against having the street paved, signed by 98 per cent. of the property owners, they immediately decided to oppose it. Not to "consider" it because of the added taxes, which are already too great, (and which since our annexation from North Monaghan to Peterborough have already risen nearly 300%) and without thorough investigation of the leaky old brick sewer laid about fifty years ago, and regardless of our ability or desire to pay more taxes, our beloved City Fathers are going ahead with the paving of Lock St. as designated.

Are we to come to the conclusion that such newspaper announcements are just a formality, and any protests we taxpayers make at any time to such an announcement, a waste of time?

It would seem so! This brings us around to the fact that we live in a democracy. Is this a democratic way of doing ousiness, I ask you!

I mentioned in the beginning of my letter why I describe myself as a "Sheep", by now, Mr. 'Editor, you will know why I feel I'm about to be "Shorn".

Yours sincerely,
'A SHEEP'

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord, according as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue: whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.

And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue, and to virtue knowledge; For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. (II Pet. 1: 2-5, 8.)

If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God.

Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth.

When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory. (Col. 3: 1, 2, 4.)

A BRITISH OPINION

London Express Service

It is hard for those who have never lived in Winnipeg to realize the devastation caused by the current Red River flood but many daily news pictures are telling the story only too well. I am personally interested, having once lived with my family and worked in the Norwood district of the city of St. Boniface, the most badly inundated part of Greater Winnipeg.

Wondering what it would look like if the Otonabee River went on the tear and rose 30 feet above normal, I talked to City Engineer A. E. Chalmers. We studied a contour map of Peterborough for a few minutes and, believe me, as he ran his pencil along the benches of the city that would be affected by a 30-foot rise of water, if this should ever happen, we would be in a very, very bad position.

Disregarding the Otonabee above the city for a moment and the control dams on the Trent, which would be drowned out anyway, Little Lake in the heart of our city would become Big Lake. Very big. It would spread from Douro St., at Armour Rd., in Ashburnham in a line dipping west and south-west along Simcoe, Bethune, Park, Monaghan to Chamberlain and Western Ave. That would be the shoreline of Big Lake with a wide river mouth that was formerly the Factory Creek running diagonally across the city cutting the east-west traffic arteries.

Of course all homes, both new and old, in the South End would have nothing but roofs and chimneys showing and high vacant areas such as Armour Hill and Jackson Park spring into miniature tent cities for evacuees.

From looking at the county map it would be impossible to imagine what shapes such a flood would make of our Kawarthas to the north, and Rice Lake to the south and Hastings, Campbellford and Trenton. This is a small-sized scale of the Red River situation applied to the locale we know best, our own home town.

• • • •

It is disappointing to learn that the Campbellford Fish and Game Protective Association have decided to hold a fish derby there this coming summer. Such mass game fishing pressure is anti-conservationism at its worst, or does the CFGPA heed these things?

4,500,000 Muskie Eggs

Lands and Forests boys are working day and night just now caring for more than 4½ million muskie eggs at Deer Lake hatchery. To feed the fry that will be hatched, 3½ million sucker eggs have been received from the Parry Sound district. As if this were not a large enough work in itself, other experts from Deer Lake and Codrington are planting speckled trout yearlings, 30,000 in Northumberland and Durham, 8,500 in Peterborough, 4,300 in Victoria and 4,800 in Haliburton Counties. Haliburton is to receive many more than this, chiefly from Parry Sound.

Conservation officers occasionally turn their field glasses from looking for lunge poachers to returning wildlife. CO Deyell reports seeing a pair of whistling swans near Wallace's Point on the Otonabee, the same two that we reported earlier in the week off Bewdley. CO Harris saw two Pileated woodpeckers down Gore's Landing way; one of these rare birds worked on a dead elm behind my house last spring, knocking out chips the size of your hand with every peck. It stood about a foot high and stayed in the neighborhood with its mate for several days.

Sports Show Shapers-Up

Peterborough Fish and Game boys must be extremely busy on their first Sportsmen's Show preparations. Haven't heard much advance publicity lately except that John Inglis Company will run their bait casting demonstration and Jack Sutter will demonstrate the use of spinning equipment. Madge Mitchele will show all she knows about archery and being Dominion ladies champion, it's considerable. The Kawartha Kennel Club will show ten different breeds of sporting dogs and city kids who bring pets to the mut dog show, will each receive a suitable prize.

Walleyed-Wonderment (alias Pickerel-Pikers)

Walleye opening day last Saturday week-end gave fishermen varied luck, a lot of it good, according to the spots they picked. The best seemed to be Campbellford, Hastings, Lakefield power house, Young's Point and Bobcaygeon. A few tried the Chemong Causeway and report their luck improving each evening since. This week-end should be much better all over. A fellow can hear fish stories on every street corner but for my money the most lurid tales are bandied over the snack counter at Ye Bent Spoon. Prop. Cy can dish coffee with one hand and demonstrate spinning reel technique with his glass rod with the other. Fish grow to terrific proportions. Current authentic stories I heard there are as follows:

• • • •

TALES AT YE BENT SPOON: Of walleyes, Harvey Bamforth, 8-6, at Burleigh; Johnny Hill, 7-8, at Nassau; Art Lasenby, 7-3, at Young's Point, small Bobby Richey at Lakefield and Gordon Ray at Chemong, each a five-pounder and balance of limits in smaller fish. . . Ray McWilliams was bringing in a small walleye off Viamede when a large lunge hooked on; he landed both. Stew Williamson says, and had to put both back, the one undersize and the other illegal. . . Up at Proulx Lake, Algonquin, Bob Rooke, Clayton Selkirk, Donald Payne, Norman Courtney, Josh Brown and Don Southcott, put in three cold fishing days; they brought home 60 pounds, their limit, of speckles, averaging 1½ pounds per fish. . . . Three irate American fishermen stormed into the Chamber of Commerce on Friday raging agin lack of pickerel drift fishing in Peterborough County; they were directed politely to Paudash Lake, Art Tomsett's White Pine Lodge, where this rule doesn't hold. Three more tourists lost to our immediate area because this law is allowed to lie fallow in Dominion statutes and no action being taken to have it rescinded. . . It keeps some city folks guessing in whose garbage pail they must dispose head and innards remains of illegal muskie meals; its all-fire asking for trouble if they use their own containers and embarrassing if they use their neighbour's; for peace of mind all around, they should obey the law. . . CHEX-er Johnny Vail, former Game Warden and Provincial Copper from Cochrane way, Northern Ontario, is all hopped up about instructing Peterborough children on the great outdoors; I hope to enlarge on his theories at length, soon.

O sweet content!
Art thou rich, yet is thy mind perplexed?

O sweet content! O sweet, O sweet content!
Work apace, apace, apace, apace;
Honest labour bears a lovely face;
Then hey nonny nonny, hey nonny nonny!

O sweet content!
Swimm'st thou in wealth, yet sink'st in thine own tears?
O punishment!
Then he that patiently want's burden bears
No burden bears, but is a king, a king!

Progress of Peterborough: XX

Peterborough Gets Its Name; First Houses, Taverns, Shops Appear; Governor Dines

By HOWARD PAMMETT, M.A.

When the Birdsall survey was finished, Robinson was authorized to sell the 400 half-acre town lots for $30 each, and the 180 nine-acre parklots at $1 per acre. Birdsall the surveyor received the patents for 18 townlots and eight parklots on April 3, 1826. A few of the Cork emigrants who were still living in the huts on "the squatters' ground" promptly bought lots and went into business: James Boate built a log tavern facing Charlotte St. on the southeast corner of George St., and John Sullivan another tavern across on the southwest corner. William Oakley began a bakery south of Charlotte midway between George and Aylmer Sts., and on the north side of the street across from his Cottrel Lane built a frame house and began shoemaking. James Hurley built a house near the corner of King and Aylmer Sts.

The first non-emigrants to build were the following: Timothy O'Connor on the southeast corner of King and Aylmer, and Captain John Armstrong on the site of the Empress Hotel, near his work in the government office; these two, with the ones mentioned above, were the first houses in the new town after Adam Scott's and the ones built by Robinson. James Bailey from north Ireland built another tavern on the southwest corner of George and Hunter Sts. Opposite him on the southeast corner Thomas Harper erected a fanning-mill with living-quarters behind; this lot, which later became one of the most valuable in Peterborough, was earlier offered as a gift by Robinson to Robert Reid, who refused it because it was wet and swampy. The first store at Scott's Plains was started in November 1825 by William Stewart on the southwest corner of Charlotte and Water Sts., beside Armstrong's house but facing Water St. Stewart charged the goods he sold to "the man with the Iron-grey beard", "the girl with a mole on her cheek", "the woman with the red cloak", "the boy with a limp", etc.; his haphazard accounting combined with a trusting nature resulted in booming credit sales and no cash business, so that early in 1826 he was forced to sell out to James Gray Bethune of Cobourg.

Stewart's Description

Thomas Stewart in a letter of Dec. 12, 1825, gave a somewhat exaggerated picture: " . . . Two miles below this is the head of Otonabee navigation; there on the west side of the river are extensive plains, which were reserved for a townplot. Up to this place Mr. Robinson brought the new settlers, where they pitched their tents until their lands were appointed to them. Now almost all are gone from the camp, those left behind being a few tradesmen who have their houses built and are busy clearing land . . . poor people it would delight you to see how happy they are. Of course there are a few black sheep, but though they have been now four months encamped in this neighborhood with nothing to do, yet there has not been one complaint against them. . . . On these plains where they encamped a few months ago there was only one poor house and a miserable mill. Now we have a flourishing village containing stores of all kinds of provisions and merchandise, two sawmills, smiths' shops, bakehouses, doctors' shops, and dwelling-houses. There are shoemakers, masons and carpenters. Every day I go down there is something new to be seen or done. We have laid out lots for the church, schoolhouse, jail, etc. on many of which building will begin next spring. We are to open our new town in a day or two with a grand dinner."

John B. Robinson wrote Peter on Feb. 2, 1826 announcing that the Governor and a party of notables would visit the settlement shortly, so that the "grand dinner" was postponed and plans made for the occasion. This great event took place on Saturday, Feb. 11. From Cobourg the party came by sleigh to Sully and crossed Rice Lake on the ice, thence north on the Rubidge road to Rubidge's house on lot 13, concession 11, Otonabee, four miles from the lake and eight from Scott's Plains, where they had their noon meal and rested.

With Governor Maitland were his son, John B. Robinson (who was Attorney-General of Upper Canada), Col. T. Talbot, Hon. Z. Burnham, Major Hillier (the Governor's secretary), and James Bethune of Cobourg. With Rubidge to welcome them at his home were Peter Robinson, Birdsall, Col. Burke, Dr. Connin, and most of the settlers for many miles around. T. Stewart, A. McDonnell and Dr. Reade stayed at Scott's Plains to supervise the preparations there.

Banquet For Governor

It was nearly dark when the visiting party in five sleighs approached the Scotch village, where a double line of Irish emigrants a quarter-mile long welcomed them with loud cheers. Sixty men unharnessed the horses and pulled the sleighs with basswood ropes through a beflagged evergreen arch, across the river ice, and along Water St. to the front door of Government House, where a large Union Jack floated from a new pole amid buildings gay with flags and evergreen boughs.

A banquet was served within the hour to the Governor's party and the district gentry, a gathering of notables such as the village was not to see again for a long time: Sir Peregrine Maitland and his son (who was his aide-de-camp), Major Hillier, Hon. John and Peter Robinson, Hon. Z. Burnham, Col. Talbot, James Bethune, Dr. and Mrs. Reade, R. Birdsall and wife, Dr. Connin, T. Stewart and wife, R. Reid and wife, Lt. A. McDonnell, Capt. J. Armstrong and wife, Col. Burke, S. Strickland, Sidney Bellingham, and a few others.

Mrs. Stewart in her book gave a long account of this highlight in Peterborogh's first social season: " . . The other ladies had been introduced to Sir Peregrin before. However, they were ushered to his presence, their names told by Mr. Robinson, each made a curtsey and retired at little. When my turn came he came forward and spoke to me for some time . . " There is no mention of any "common" settlers of 1825 or previous years being invited to join this select company.

Officially Named

The Governor at this banquet officially named the village "Peterborough," and a toast was drunk by those present to its growth and success. Mrs. Stewart claimed that she suggested the name "Peterborough" when the subject arose, but actually it had been commonly used for some months. The name was popular for several reasons: it honoured the founder of the settlement, Peter Robinson; it pleased the Irish settlers since it honored St. Peter; and to the English settlers because it brought memories of Peterborough, England, which was about the same distance from the capital, London.

The Governor in appreciation of the work of those who helped settle the Irish emigrants gave one townlot and one parklot to each of them: R. Birdsall, Dr. Reade, C. Rubidge, J. Smith, G. Burke, and A. McDonell; a letter of March 22 from Major Millier to the Surveyor-General ordered him to place the names of these men on "such park and townlots at Peterborough as may be pointed out by Hon. Peter Robinson . . ." The clergymen were also given lots, although it is not certain that they were at the banquet: Rev. Joseph Thompson (Anglican) of Cavan received townlot 3 west of George and north of Simcoe Street; Father James Crowley was given townlot 1 west of George and north of Charlotte Street, plus a parklot in North Monaghan, as well as six lots of 100 acres each in scattered parts of Ops township.

After the banquet, the ladies retired to spend the night at Dr Reade's residence, and a reception was held for the settlers in the same large middle room in

A child is a small letter, yet the best copy of Adam before he tasted of Eve or the apple.
Bishop of Salisbury, 1628

Government House. The Governor sat at the end of the room farthest from the door in a brilliant uniform, flanked by the other gentry in regimentals, naval uniforms and militia uniforms, forming a dazzling display for the humble settlers who had been patiently waiting to present their petitions to the Governor.

Petitions Made

The first delegation from Smith Township presented an urgent request for erection of a government gristmill at Peterborough. Walton Wilson, whom they had selected to speak, began "We hae a mill and we hae nae mill. . ." and stood tongue-tied until, turning to Jacob Brumwell, he entreated "Speak it you, sir!" Brumwell in blunt language described their difficulties, blurting out at last "Save in your presence, sir, I have to get up at night to chew corn for the children to eat!" The petition for an efficient mill was applauded by all present, and the governor graciously assured them that the government would build a mill at Peterborough without delay.

The Irish emigrants presented a loyal address prepared and read by Patrick Baragy of Emily township, who had been a teacher in Ireland and had resumed the profession shortly before. "We, the Irish emigrants recently brought out by Colonel Robinson to this country, feel grateful to our gracious good King, and to H M worthy, good and humane government, for all they have done, and we hope may yet intend to do for us. We also are well pleased, and entertain the best wishes for our worthy chief, Mr. Robinson, for all he has done for us . . . We are totally at a loss to express the thanks and gratitude we owe Dr. Reade, for his active skillful and unremitting care &c. over us . . . And should an enemy ever have the presumption to ever invade this portion of H.M. Dominions, you Excellency will find that we, when called upon to face and expell the common foe, will follow to a man our brave commanders; and if we have no better weapons in our hands, mow them down with our Irish shillelaghs. Please your Excellency, we labor under a heavy grievance, which we confidently hope your Excellency will redress, and then we will be completely happy, viz. the want of clergymen to administer to us the comforts of our Holy Religion, and good schoolmasters to instruct our children. . ."

Government Acts

It is noteworthy that within a couple of years the Government had complied with all these requests: priests were provided, a school was built and in operation, and fine grist and sawmills erected at Peterborough by Government contract, as we shall note later. The Family Compact group who ruled the province paternally under Governor Maitland were anxious to get a solid block of votes to support their battle in the Legislative Assembly against the radicals and reformers. Another reason was that the Robinsons and the local influential gentry such as Stewart, Burnham and Bethune were interested in seeing the Newcastle District prosper, thus justifying the expenditure of over £40,000 by the British Government to bring Irish peasant, to Upper Canada in 1825, and perhaps encourage more such expeditions. A contributory reason was the hope of numerous land speculators closely allied to the Family Compact that the prosperity of the District would enable them to sell their large blocks of uncultivated lands at boom prices.

Visit To Ennismore

After a night spent at Government House, the Governor's party were guided by Peter Robinson and Alexander McDonell out the Communications Road in sleighs, across Lake Chemong on the ice, and into Ennismore Township. They stopped for refreshments at the cabin of Owen McCarthy, on the south half of lot 7, concession 4, "an industrious man with a well-conducted family". As the Governor wanted to inspect an Irish settler's home, Robinson selected McCarthy's as one of the most presentable close to the road. Jeremiah McCarthy, who was nine years old at the time of this visit, was later Reeve of Ennismore. Settlers tramped in from all parts of Emily, Ops and Ennismore, many of them poorly clad, over the snow-trails through the forests, to petition the Governor again for clergy and teachers. After this stop, the Governor's party attended a Sunday afternoon church service by Rev. Joseph Thompson, the Anglican clergyman in Cavan, and then proceeded back to the Lake Ontario Front and on by road to York.

Soon afterwards, Maitland, J. B. Robinson, and Colonel Talbot all wrote letters to the Colonial Office in London praising the Irish settlements around Peterborough. Talbot, who previously had criticized the transportation of pauper Irish to Canada, wrote: "I was happy to find them doing well. These people were sent out last summer about 2,000 souls, and did not get on their lands till late in November. All of them that I saw had snug log huts and had chopped each between three and four acres, and I have every reason to think that they will realize a comfortable independence in the course of this year and be of no more cost to Government; and it was satisfactory to hear them expressing their gratitude for what was done for them . . ."

What Kind Of An Expert Is Your Executor?

The person you have chosen as your Executor to look after and distribute the money and property you have worked so hard to accumulate and conserve during your lifetime; is he (or she) . . .

. . . An investment expert
. . . A real estate expert
. . . a tax expert
. . . an expert accountant.

Wouldn't it be a fortunate circumstance for your heirs if your Executor could be all of them at one and the same time? You can have all these kinds of experts if you name The Grey & Bruce Trust & Savings Company to look after your Estate and assure the benefit of the Group Judgment of several men, each of whom, are experts in their fields.

Petes Beat Huntsville 19-3 To Open Lacrosse Season

Sharpening up their passing plays as they went along, the Petes blasted out a 19-3 exhibition victory over Huntsville last night in Miller Bowl to open the senior lacrosse season. Down 1-0 after a poor showing in the first quarter, the Creighton crew got clicking in the second to lead 7-2 at the half, and they had a 7-0 margin in the third to make it 14-2 going into a 5-1 fourth heat.

Cold weather kept down the crowd to about half what was expected. Play was fairly fast—Huntsville being senior "B" champs last year—and clean till near the finish. Dugan and Payne tangled in a fist fight near the close and Referee Hamilton of Huntsville got a poke from Dugan for tripping the latter. Both players drew majors. The Petes got four of the six penalties in the tussle.

Looked Good

Minus Dootch Vitarelli and Ron Horton, the homesters looked rather impressive after an indifferent showing in the first frame. It was a typical early-season go in cold weather, with passes missing and shots wild. But the locals began to bore in later to completely dominate play and show much promise as they prepare for Hamilton Tigers—senior "A" champs—to open the schedule here next Friday. All of the newcomers to the Petes went good, and the club showed a balanced mixture of speed and weight.

Jerry Fitzgerald and Don Ashbee paced the attack with five scoring points each. Russ Buchanan had three goals and an assist, while Bob Thorpe also counted three. Mick Magee and Jim Kinna were in on three apiece, as was Arn Dugan. Wendell Lewis had a goal and an assist, while single points went to Bob Breakspear, Pup Curtin, Em Creighton and Joe Nolan. Ralph Speck stood out in goal. Burrell, Payne, Biondi and Bennett were in on one apiece for the losers, the latter's point being an assist.

Huntsville: Goal, Fagan; defence, Ward and Payne; centre, Watt; wings, Burrell and Kropik; rover, Bennett; alternates, Balkwell, Middleton, Biondi, Antoni, Brumski, Avery and McDonald.

Petes: Goal, Speck; defence, Fitzgerald and Nolan; centre, E. Creighton; wings, Dugan and Ashbee; rover, J. Breakspear; alternates, Curtin, Kinna, R. Breakspear, Lewis, Buchanan, Magee, Hill, Batley and Thorpe.

Referees, Hewitt and Hamilton.

Gnup Sues Rugby Club For $21,000 Debt

HAMILTON, May. 20 (CP) — Frank Gnup, former playing coach of Hamilton Wildcats of theInternational Rugby Football Union announced Friday night that he has issued a writ suing the Hamilton Football Club for $21,000.

He said the amount is made up from $3,000 owing him from last season and from a contract which was signed Jan. 2, 1948, for five years at $6,000 a year.

The writ names ex-president Charles Lawson and 13 other directors of the now-disbanded Wildcats. Wildcats and Hamilton Tigers of the Ontario Rugby Football Union have since amalgamated into the IRFU as the Tiger-Cats.

Gnup lost the coaching job when the teams amalgamated.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

All is in readiness at Kawartha Golf Club for the official opening this aft, if the weather will co-operate a little bit. Plans to start off the season have been completed by President Alex MacGregor and Jack Cranfield, chairman of the handicap committee, with the various other officials doing their part. Course is in good condition, pro shop enlarged, and the divot-diggers can hop right to it. Lex Robson is beginning his 11th season as club pro, being a popular and able instructor. Memmbership is increasing steadily, too, at Kawartha—as at the Peterborough Club. Opening day dance in the eve, and annual guest day next Saturday.

* * * * * *

Toronto Dovers tackle the Petes at three this aft over at Riverside Park to start the Viaduct Baseball League schedule in this city. Weather permitting, of course. It'll be right interesting to see what sort of competition the Petes are up against in this new senior circuit, and it'll be nice again to witness the foibles of the diamond sport unfold as bat smacks ball and spiked feet fly around the runways. The men o' Murphy meander up to Toronto tomorrow to play Dovers, with proceeds going to the flood relief fund. Then the Ace Bowlers of Toronto come here on the May 24 holiday next Wednesday.

* * * * * *

Leafs Falling Early

As the old Toronto wail goes up: "What's wrong with the Leafs?"—the ball Leafs, that is—Milt Dunnell of the Star explains that the team isn't totally dependent upon the Phillies for material. It can go after any player at all. He asks, if such is the case, then who is to blame if the Leafs find they have a team that's a sterling candidate for the cellar. It's a shame to see a town that size in a top pro league coming up with losers year after year as the crowds drop off. They have Sunday ball there now and could fill the park often, but fans won't support a steady loser too long.

* * * * * *

Milt continues: "After seeing what we got from the Phils, the populace has been split into three camps: (a) Those who favor hiding Doc Tracy away from the St. Louis Browns; (b) those who urge that we try to get the Leafs into the Viaduct League; and (c) those who suggest: Let's go fishing. Doc Tracy needs no formal introduction. He's founder and director of the American School of Modern Hypnotism. The Browns had a theory that one hypnotist on the club might be worth half a dozen hurlers and hitters. It hasn't worked for them, but that's no proof it won't work in Toronto." Maybe so, Milt, but you can't hypnotize a homer or even a double play.

* * * * * *

They'll Do All Right

Cold weather held down the crowd at Miller Bowl last e'en as the lacrosse season got off to a chilly start in an exhibition tilt. Still, 'twas a fairish gallery for an exhibition in such weather. Those on deck saw the 1950 Petes pour 19 goals by the Huntsville netter, whilst but three got by Ralph Speck in the home cage. A poor first frame, and then the Creighton crew began to click and roll in there to show why a senior "A" squad is better than the senior "B" champions. Petes were without Ron Horton and Dootch Vitarelli, who are expected to be in harness for the opening OLA scrap with Hamilton Tigers here next Friday. Yet, they looked impressive to us, having speed, experience and some big players this year.

* * * * * *

Chaps like Curtin, Kinna, Nolan and Fitzgerald are plenty husky, and others of the local lineup aren't too small, either. Among those prominent on the attack were Fitzgerald, Ashbee, Buchanan, Kinna, Thorpe, Dugan, Magee and Lewis. Yes when they get in real good shape and working a bit together, the Petes will be far from a pushover in the speedy senior "A" company this semester. They have lots of fight and some promising youngsters to go with the older chaps, few of the oldsters being in the real veteran class. Speck looks like he might have a big year in goal. Be sure and see 'em go against Hamilton. That'll be a real scrap.

Will Lend 46 Million To Red-Menaced Asia

SYDNEY, Australia, May 20. — (CP).—Representatives of seven Commonwealth countries, meeting to decide on a plan of aid to south and southeast Asia countries, have agreed to lend the Communist - menaced countries £15,000,000 ($46,500,000), in addition to the £8,000,000 grant for technical assistance announced Friday in the final communique.

Sydney newspapers reported the Commonwealth countries agreed to set aside a £15,000,000 credits fund for use in the next 12 or 18 months—subject only to approval by the Commonwealth delegates when they next meet in London in September.

The conference, which ended Friday night, was attended by representatives of Canada, Australia, Ceylon, India, New Zealand, Pakistan and Britain.

Epperly Gains Royals 5-4 Victory

By The Associated Press

Al Epperly, one of the players acquired by Montreal Royals in the Boston Braves' purchase of Sam Jethroe and Bob Andis from the parent Brooklyn Dodgers, is more than earning his keep.

Epperly, who has been in the majors with Chicago Cubs and the Braves, has turned in three victories for the Royals against one defeat.

The veteran righthander gained credit for Montreal's 5-4 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs Friday night, the only game played in the circuit.

Epperly relieved Turk Lown in the sixth inning during a two-run rally that gave the Leafs a 4-3 lead. He blanked the Leafs with no hits until he bowed out for a successful pinch-hitter in the top of the eighth.

Aided By Error

The Royals shoved two runs home in this frame with the aid of an error by Ralph Lapointe to win the game.

With the bases loaded and one out, Al Gionfriddo grounded to Bobby Rhawn. Rhawn tossed the potential double-play ball to Lapointe, but the shortstop made a bad throw to first and the tying and winning runs scored.

The three other scheduled games, Rochester at Buffalo, Syracuse at Jersey City and Springfield at Baltimore, were rained out.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

An international contest for speedboat racing's coveted gold cup was assured Friday when Achille Castoldi of Milan, Italy, entered his Sant' Ambrogio in the July 22 classic on the Detroit River.

Castoldi's challenge was received by the gold cup committee, which announced the Italian sportsman would race under the colors of the Yachtsmen's Association of America.

Horace Dodge won the 1949 gold cup with his My Sweetie.

Gold cup officials said Castoldi's boat is the same one that he brought to Detroit for the 1948 gold cup race but ran into trouble in tests and never got into the actual cup competition. A new German-built Alfa-Romeo engine will power the Sant' Ambrogio in this year's race, they said.

Toronto's hockey Leafs are eager to take on Montreal Canadiens in a baseball game in Montreal.

Conn Smythe, manager of the Leafs, said Friday he is trying to line up a team for a game in Montreal May 28. He expects to know today whether he can find the players.

Canadiens announced Friday that they have reorganized their softball club and will play during July and August for charity. They can use Montreal Royals' baseball park May 28 on the stipulation the game be baseball, not softball.

The United States government Friday filed a $58,938 income tax liens against Joe Louis, former heavyweight boxing champion.

Internal revenue collector John T. Jarecki said at Chicago the lien filed with the county recorder represented $53,083 in unpaid income tax for 1947 and $5,855 interest and penalty.

At London jockey Gordon Richards' decision to ride Napoleon Bonaparte, a 100-1 outsider in the Epsom Derby, tonight caused bookmakers to clash the odds against that horse by 80 points at a call-over on the race.

The odds on Richards' mount tumbled to 20 to 1.

Richards, rider of more than 4,000 winners, has never won the 1½ mile classic scheduled for Epsom Downs May 27.

Michigan State's two mile relay team battered the world record in the Los Angeles Coliseum relays Friday night, setting a time of 7 minutes, 31.8 seconds in defeating the University of Southern California four-man team in a close finish.

The old mark was set in 1941 by a University of California team at 7:34.5.

Tiberio Mitri, Italy's undefeated European middleweight champion, showed plenty of class in his American debut Friday night as he pounded out a decisive 10-round decision over Dick Wagner of Toppernish, Wash., in New York's Madison Square Garden. Mitri weighed 161, Wagner 170.

Yesterday's Stars

By The Associated Press

Pitching—Tommy Byrne, Yankees—Pitched New York to a three-hit 2-0 shutout over Chicago, striking out six and walking four.

Hitting—Ray Boone, Indians—Singled home two runs and scored a third in Cleveland's 4-1 triumph over Boston.

NOW THE MONTREAL ROYALS have a "brother act" with Lou and Johnny Welaj in the fold. That's Lou on the left. He returns after a term at St. Paul in the American Association and Johnny, right, the outfielder, was acquired from Toronto in the deal for Bobby Rhawn.

Indians Lash Boston 4-1 Decide To Let Zoldak Stay

By The Associated Press.

Sad Sam Zoldak is grinning from ear to ear today and general manager Hank Greenburg and the rest of the Cleveland Indians' family is equally elated.

Zoldak was ordered to report to San Diego Wednesday, but 12 hours later Greenburg changed his mind and told Sammy to unpack his bags and stay.

Friday night, before 34,892 fans in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium Sad Sam made Greenburg look like a Solomon as he turned in a brilliant relief job to gain credit for a 4-1 victory over the pennant-favored Boston Red Sox.

In the second inning with the Indians ahead by virtue of Bob Kennedy's first-inning homer, starter Mike Garcia of the Indians was struck on the right wrist by a line drive off the bat of Bobby Doerr. Garcia threw Doerr out to end the inning but was forced to retire.

Zoldak, with little time to warm up, took over at the start of third and yielded only one run and six hits the rest of the way.

Break Deadlock

The Indians broke a 1-1 deadlock in the fourth, scoring twice off starter Mel Parnell on Ray Boone's two-run single. Zoldak singled home Ray Boone in the seventh to complete the scoring.

Tommy Byrne pitched New York Yankees to a 2-0 victory over Bobby Cain and the White Sox in a night game at Chicago while the Tigers trounced the Philadelphia Athletics 14-8, in the only day game in the majors.

Both Byrne and Cain surrendered only three hits. The Yanks, however, bunched two of their blows along with a walk to score both their runs in the third inning.

The triumph was the Yanks' 10th in their last twelve starts and the setback Chicago's 11th in its last 12 outings.

The Tigers spotted the A's a 5-2 lead and then pounded Hank Wyse, Carl Schweib and Harry Byrd for 10 runs in the fifth inning to win going away.

Fred Hutchinson, who was charged with the Tigers' 13-12 loss to Boston Thursday, relieved starter Virgil Trucks in the third and went the rest of the way to gain his third victory.

Four scheduled National League night games were postponed because of rain.

Make Your Own Climate With Planned Planting

Planned Planting of trees and shrubs may control climate on a good-sized lot by as much as 10 to 15 degrees, according to the American Association of Nurserymen. By Proper landscaping and planting, the comfort and livability of a home and its surroundings can be increased greatly, making it cooler in summer and warmer in winter with consequent savings in fuel bills.

Climatic conditions are not neat belts around the earth but vary a great deal even within a small space. Studies show that the climate on a lot can be moderated to a very considerable extent by proper planting engineering.

10 Way to Better Climate

Ten ways in which climate can be controlled to some extent by planting include:

1. By use of hedges of trees and shrubs as a windbreak. To heat an ordinary house, it requires twice as much fuel at a temperature of 32 degrees, and a wind of 12 miles per hour, than it does for the same temperature and a wind of 3 miles per hour the Association points out. In fact, the fuel requirement is a little larger for the combination of 32 degrees and a 12 mile wind than it is for zero temperature and a 3 mile wind.

2. By use of one or more trees close to the house to keep the roof cool, especially during hot summer afternoons. If the foliage of the tree shades the roof and the west wall, their temperature may be held down as much as 20 to 40 degrees. This helps to eliminate the well-known "attic furnace". Under extreme conditions in the hot sun, roof-top temperatures of 170 degrees have been recorded. By use of trees that shed their leaves, the house will get the fuel benefits of the sun in the winter when it needs it most.

3. Even on a lot that slopes only slightly, protection from very early frosts can be obtained by hedges or other means to guide the coldest air wa from vegetable or flower gardens. Early frosts travel close to ground from the highest to the lowest point and settle at the lowest level. Sometimes this cold strata of air is no more than 3" above the ground.

4. By building an outdoor living room around or near a tree close to the house to afford shade and to cool the ground during the day. This also helps to keep the ground temperature warmer on cool nights.

Here is a typical case on a relatively cool afternoon in August: temperature at a height of 6' in the shade 77 degrees, a concrete walk in the sun 95 degrees, a roof 110 degrees. Short grass in the sun had a temperature of 88 degrees.

5. Use of vines on trellises over windows helps to keep the hot sun out of the house during the heat of the day in summer and yet allows it to shine inside in the winter.

6. Use of walks and terraces with materials such as concrete laid in small squares, flagstone or brick, with grass growing between them will keep them cooler in summer and prevent overheating of the air directly above. Grass temperatures in the sun are cooler than a solid walk.

7. Hedges will keep much of the heat of paved roads, streets and sidewalks off the lot, filter out dust and absorb noise. On the leeward side of a belt of trees dust counts may be reduced as much as 75 per cent.

8. Strong winds will evaporate the moisture from the soil much faster than still air. Control of the winds by various planting devices will help to control the evaporation, and reduce the amount of water neeessary.

9. By proper planting, the grounds can be planted in such a way that parts of them will be protected from the hot sun in the summer yet receive the full strength of the winter sun, thus affording a measure of outside coolness and warmth when you want them.

10. The sun rises in the northeast in summer and in the southeast in winter. By arrangement of plantings to take advantage of the sun's position at various times of the year you can derive a greater measure of its advantages and at the same time to consider able extent be relieved of its disadvantages.

HOUSE NO. 59-36.—A well-balanced, attractive exterior in this instance is matched by an equally appealing floor plan. This six-room economy home contains 15,300 cubic feet. Since there are two bedrooms and a bathroom on the first floor, the second floor can be left to be finished when required. Right now, the owner tells us, "the small downstairs bedroom serves as the nursery, but eventually will be the dining room." The large kitchen has sufficient room for a breakfast table and chairs. Notice the "L"-shaped arrangement of kitchen equipment, and the large window over the double sink. A real convenience is the clothes chute to the basement in the back hall. For further information, write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

The total area of the Canal Zone is 648 square miles, of which 372 are land.

WI Places Swing In School Yard

BAILIEBORO, May 20 (ENS) Bailieboro Women's Institute held its May meeting at the home of Mrs. Merton Thompson. After the Institute Ode and Lord's Prayer, the president Mrs. Kidd, asked that the roll call at the next meeting be answered with a "household hint."

Business consisted of a report from the committee that six swings would be installed in the Bailieboro school grounds.

The May collection of approximately ten dollars was ordered given to the Winnipeg Relief Fund. Also a bale would be packed of quilts, clothing, etc.

Cards were given to canvassers for the TB Clinic to be held at Bailieboro on June 9th. Ladies were appointed to look after transportation for members to the regular meetings.

Mrs. Ray Eagleson was appointed district director and it was announced that the District Annual would be held at Cavan on June 13.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Nicholls who gave a very inspiring talk on "Easy Methods of Sewing."

The next meeting will be held on June 20 at the home of Mrs. Stuart Thompson when Mrs. Thompson, Miss Jean Russell, Mrs. E. Wood and Mrs. W. Smith will form the lunch committee.

At the close of the meeting lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. M. Thompson, Mrs. Alex Watt, Mrs. S. Thompson and Mrs. George Fletcher.

PCVS Band Honors Director

A musical brief case, especially for holding sheets of music, was presented Friday to Albert Croasdale, bandmaster of the PCVS concert band. The presentation was made by Jack Veeman on behalf of the band which presented its final concert of the year at the students' senior assembly.

Mr. Croasdale has been conducting the band since it was formed three years ago. He also directs and instructs the PCVS trumpet band.

The 32-piece band played the hymn Fight the Good Fight as its first selection followed by the waltz Missouri. They concluded their performance with Amparito Roca.

The student body was delighted when the band played popular musical selections. Throughout the year it has been practising only marches, waltzes and semi-classical numbers. During heir concert they played the Dark Town Strutters' Ball, O Sole Mio (There's No Tomorrow) and the Tiger Rag.

U. S. DEATH TOLL

The total number of deaths in the United States in 1948 was estimated to be 1,449,000.

Outdoor Dance Hall Planned At Airport

Something new in summer dancing, and entertainment will soon open to the public in a modern outdoor club situated at the airport on the Chemong road.

Frank Hamon, local musician with Ted Elliott and Ned Brown, are sponsoring the new enertainment hall which will utilize the administration building. The hall is expected to be open by June 15.

The owners plan to install a new type of all-weather, outdoor dance floor. The floor will be surrounded by shrubs and flowers with a flower fountain in the centre.

As an added attraction an outdoor golf driving range will be ready in the near future.

Other places with outdoor dance halls are London, Toronto, Hamilton, Sarnia and Kingston.

AWNINGS

People prefer to live and work in buildings protected against heat-laden Sun-rays

Awnings (good ones, properly installed) make a difference of 26° to 40° in the cooling of houses.

The merit of awnings lies in the fact that they intercept the heat-laden sun-rays before they can pass through the window panes—they get rid of the heat outdoors!

Selwyn Institute Stages Contest

SELWYN, May 20 —(ENS)— Women's Institute held its monthly meeting in Selwyn Hall on Wednesday evening. The president, Mrs. Evans Blewett gave a report on the conference in Guelph, OAC, on May 6. Eight of the members attended.

Plans are being made to attend the District Annual in Havelock on June 15.

Five dollars was donated to the Manitoba Rehabilitation Fund.

Mrs. Geo. Mellmoyl, convener for community activities, had charge of the meeting after the business period. She was assisted by Mrs. E. Cranp, Mrs. M. Moloney, Mrs. E. Blewett, and Mrs. R. McConkey. Mrs. Mellmoyl proposed that all members have a suggestion of something to be done for the betterment of the community.

A whistling contest was enjoyed by all.

The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem. Lunch was served by the hostesses Miss Sheila Wilson, Mrs. G. Fitzgerald, Mrs. G. Mathieson and Mrs. B. Fitzgerald.

Headers And Trusses Assist To Strengthen The House

When studs have to be cut for windows or doors, a header must be installed over the opening to support the ends of the studs that have been cut. In the case of a window, a lower brace is needed and this is called a rough sill.

Whether the header should be single or double depends upon the weight it must carry. For example, a single header would be satisfactory in an interior wall which is parallel to the joists of the floor above as it carries only the weight of the framing. Where a header must carry the weight of the ends of the floor joists that are immediately above the opening (Figure 1) it should be doubled.

A greater strength results if double headers are placed side by side rather than one on top of the other. They should be thoroughly spiked together. Headers are generally of the same size and species of wood as that used in the studs.

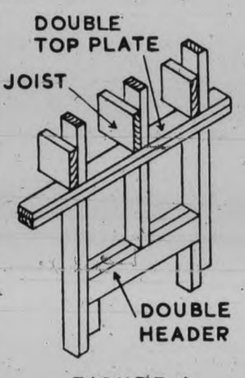

FIGURE 1

When there is a great deal of weight over an opening a triangular arrangement of two-by-four's, called a truss, is installed. This forms a rigid bolster to support the weight. A variety of truss arrangements may be used, but the one shown in Figure 2 is the most widely accepted for average widths. A good fit is necessary and every piece should be securely nailed in place.

Judges Sorting Nickel Entries

OTTAWA, May 20 (CP) — Seven members of a nine-member board of judges Friday began sorting more than 10,000 entries that Canadians have poured into the Royal Canadian Mint in the nickel-designing contest announced last January.

Each of the entrants is seeking the $1,000 first prize the government is offering for the best design for the back of the Canadian five-cent piece. The new nickel will commemorate the 200th anniversary of the isolation and naming of the metal known as nickel.

Designs have been entered from every province in the Dominion, with a particularly heavy entry from Ontario and Quebec.

The suggestions for the new nickel range from the Dionne quintuplets to the Pope, from typical Canadian fish like the salmon to former Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King.

A large number of designs are similar to the present ones, containing such things as maple leafs and beavers.

Welsh Request Acheson Help

LONDON, May 20 (Reuters)— Welsh Nationalists, ignored by the British government in their campaign for self-government for Wales, have turned to State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States for support, it was disclosed Friday.

Seizing as their opportunity a recent statement by Acheson that the US welcomed the growing demand for national freedom among the peoples of Asia, the nationalists put this argument to the secretary of state:

"If it is just for these nations to govern themselves, it is equally just that Wales, one of the oldest nations of Europe, should have the same right."

The London branch of Plaid Cymru (Welsh Nationalist Party) in a letter to Acheson during his Atlantic Council talks here, said:

"Welshmen have made a valuable contribution to the prosperity of many countries, among them the United States, but they are today denied the right to develop and govern their own country."

Hebrew Prophets Simplified Meaning Of True Religion

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, DD.

The Hebrew prophet, Micah, lived in the eighth century before Christ, but from that far-off age, in the book of prophecy that bears his name, has come a simple, exact definition of religion that is among the most often quoted of Biblical precepts.

It is a definition of duty. As such it demands for the full definition of religion the gospel concerning the God, who is the source of life and love, and the true object of man's worship.

The gospel defines the Godward aspect of religion, but the manward aspect is set forth in these simple, adequate words: "He (God) hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" (Micah 6:8.)

Beside it might be put the similarly simple and exact definition by James, the brother of Our Lord: "Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world." (James 1:27.)

James defines religion in particular and specific acts that are symbolic of the entire Christian spirit and attitude. The definition in Micah is in more general and all-inclusive terms.

What is to be noted about these simple definitions of religion is that they stand in contrast to, and in protest against, formal profession and elaborate practice of ritual that lacks the soul of sincerity, and the reality of goodness in words and deeds.

In a similar way, and in the same spirit, Amos hada spoken even more strongly, as he observed the outward observances of religious forms and rites, that lacked the true response of the soul to the God of righteousness and truth. Amos represents the Lord as saying, "I hate, I despise your feast days, and I will not smell in your solemn assemblies," and demanding that judgment run down as water, and righteousness as a mighty stream. (Amos 5:21-24.)

I am not a pessimist concerning the church and religious life today. I know too well the many devout souls, the sincerity of whose daily lives matches the sincerity of their devotion. I would that many who do not know the meaning or practice of worship might be brought into the house of God and the observance of religion.

Nevertheless, I think I see in many quarters a present emphasis upon the outward forms of worship that lacks emphasis upon inward grace and truth. I think we need to consider well the plain words of Micah and Amos.

your mind and pray that you may show some of that charm to those you meet in business and especially in your home life.

This is life eternal that they may know Thee, the only true God and Jesus Christ whom Thou hast sent.

Grace, Familiar Term But Little Understood

By REV. E. R. JAMES

The Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ.—2 Cor. 13:14.

A familiar phrase yet how little understood. Grace is a word that would appeal to Greek and Roman for it revealed personality. "The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ" implies the wonder and glory of the character of Jesus Christ revealing in Himself the character of the Father.

St. Paul by birth is a Jew, born in Tarsus and also a Roman citizen by birth, which he valued greatly. His father in Tarsus was a well to do man, able to send his brilliant son to sit at the feet of Gamaliel, famous head of a school in Jerusalem, where his ideas of Jehovah were intensified as being the one living God. As a Jew he became a Pharisee, one of the strictest, priding himself on his careful observance of the Mosaic Law. In those days there arose a sect within the Jewish religion called Nazarenes—the Christian Church within the Jewish faith. One day he listened intently to the trial of Stephen, the first martyr, who was condemned to be stoned at which he was present. Every Jew was trained to utter this creed with his dying breath. To his horror Stephen cried; "Lord Jesus, receive my spirit"; a prayer to a man and not to Jehovah, the living God. This made Paul a bitter persecutor. He was proud of the privilege of arresting the members in Damascus. But at the gate of this city he had a vision: "Who art thou? Lord. I am Jesus whom thou persecutest." This convinced him of his mistake and error and after baptism became the great missionary to the Gentiles.

It is important to keep in mind that Paul did not come to the fullest teaching of the truth just because he had the vision. He had to rethink his whole position and he went into the desert of Arabia for three years—Gal. 1; 17; to discover that Jesus is Lord. He had to give him the value of God. Slowly he came to believe that Jesus is the Son of God in the mysterious sense of this word. He realised the grace of our Lord flowing into him and changing his character so that men could see something of the risen Lord in him. That grace gave him strength to face horrible punishments by Roman and Jewish courts.

Then following the others truth—the love of God. God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son to die for the sins of the world. With deep feeling he wrote "When it pleased God to reveal His Son in me."

Christianity is meant to be attractive, which is forgotten by many. This Greek word "Grace" is intended to bring charm and pleasure. Keep the thought of this familiar word uppermost in

WI Re-elects Mrs. Gardner

NORWOOD, May 20 (ENS) — Mrs. Fred Gardner was re-elected president of the Norwood Women's Institute at the annual meeting held on Friday afternoon. Reports of the various committees revealed a most successful year. It was reported that there were 63 members with 24 purchasing institute pins during the year.

Mrs. Alfred Scott and Mrs. Earl Armstrong were appointed to the meeting called for Thursday evening next when a welfare clinic for the village will be discussed. Mrs. Gill, district director reported on the meeting in Peterborough in April and announced the district annual in Havelock on June 15.

Mrs. William Golloher was in the chair when the following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Fred Gardner; first vice-president, Mrs. William Golloher; second vice-president, Mrs. Frank Andrews; secretary-treasurer and Blue Cross leader, Mrs. Earl Armstrong; directors, Mrs. M. D. Macpherson, Mrs. Gordon Parker, Mrs. Alex. Innes and Mrs. Alfred Scott district director, Mrs. Albert Gill; quilt convener, Mrs. George Oitment Sr.; sick committee, Mrs. Albert Gill, Mrs. H. Baxter, and Mrs. Harry Pearce; girls' club leader, Mrs. Frank Andrews.

Conveners of the standing committees will be named at the June meeting. Hostesses who served tea were Mrs. Percy Williamson, Mrs. Thomas Stevenson and Mrs. Lola Kirk.

Little Sharon Joy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Spafford Joy, celebrated her fifth birthday on Wednesday with a few of her friends as a jolly birthday party. Those present were Marie Hie, Linda Lou, June and Marlene Golloher, Ann LaBrash, Ruth Metcalfe, Wilma Redden, Patsy Bongard, Wayne, Gloria, Brian.

Growing Pains

ATIKOKAN, Ont. — (CP) — Some residents think this town has now officially "arrived." The first holdup in Aitkokan's history was attempted recently. A masked man flourishing a gun tried to hold up Frank Kashie, who turned on the gunman and freightened him off.

20-Year-Old Vet Says He Passed Useless Cheques

COBOURG, May 20.—(ENS).—Raymond Morgan, 20-year-old Roslin youth and a veteran of Corregidor, gave himself up to Port Hope police Wednesday night and pleaded guilty Friday in police court to trying to cash a worthless cheque. He said he had passed worthless cheques at Madoc and Pickering.

Impressed by his apparent determination to go straight, the court granted his request that he be allowed to go home in order to take his wife to the hospital for prenatal attention. Magistrate R. B. Baxter assented to Crown Attorney Harry Deyman's offer to take a chance on the youth and he was remanded out of custody to appear in police court Monday morning.

Morgan walked into the office of Russell Honey, Port Hope barrister on Wednesday and confessed that he had passed some worthless cheques and wanted to give himself up and get it over with. Mr. Honey notified Chief C. W. Graham of Port Hope and the matter was turned over to the provincial police.

Morgan was charged with attempting to pass a forged cheque on a Newtonville merchant on May 17. When the merchant said he would have to get in touch with the Oshawa bank on which the cheque was drawn, Morgan left the store. That night he surrendered to Port Hope authorities.

Tore Up Cheque

Provincial Constable Don Nicol said the accused told him he had torn the cheque up and buried it and he took the constable back to where he had left the pieces of the cheque. He also told police he had passed bad cheques at Madoc and Pickering. No escort has arrived to take him back on those charges.

"I suppose all we can do is hold him for investigation and remand him until Monday. I don't understand this boy," said the Crown Attorney.

"There is nobody to drive my wife in to the doctor," pleaded the youth.

"I don't know. I let a man go once who said he would be back. He didn't come back but he did end up in the penitentiary," mused the magistrate.

"I suppose we can take a chance on this boy," said Mr. Deyman. The magistrate remanded him out of custody to Monday.

After he left court the youth told provincial police that he had received the large scar on his face at Corregidor and that he had been three years with the U.S. airborne troops. Police checked this in view of the youth's age and found it correct.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD JOAN sits beside her mother, Mrs. Margaret Hildebrand, who cradles 14-months-old Gladys in her arms. They have been rescued by an RCMP constable, in background. Mrs. Hildebrand looks back with despair as they go across Winnipeg's flood waters from her home. They have lost all their possessions in the flood.

Industry Must Reduce Production Cost

Speaking to members of the CGE Quarter Century Club, CGE president H. M. Turner told his audience there was a need for reduction in production costs. This, he said, was pointed up by increased local and foreign competition.

The club's annual dinner was held at the plant cafeteria, with 230 members attending. Nineteen new members were enrolled.

Price Too High

"Customers are beginning to believe that the price of the goods they buy is too high," Mr Turner said. "They are not particularly concerned with the fact that we are using buildings and machines that cost a lot of money that we are paying high prices for our materials or that we are paying higher wages.

"They have the same reaction to our prices that you have when you go to the corner grocery store and buy a pound of tea—you get green around the gills when you cough up a dollar a pound for it."

Because the price is high Mr Turner went on, the customer looks for maximum quality and service. He will refuse poor workmanship and design, and he expects the goods to be right when he gets them.

Demand Salesmanship

Because of forces such as these, he said, demand for salesmanship has risen. CGE has had to expand its sales staff and warehousing facilities.

Ability of British manufacturers to make good products cheaper made for greater competition on the Canadian market than there has been since before the war. "Everything is not a bed of roses for your company," he said.

New members enrolled at the annual dinner were: Edwin Dibben, Gerald Routly, Ward Weaver, Nelson McFadden, Ian F. McRae, Edward Ryder, Alex McKinlay, Alex Levasseur, William Taylor, Herschel Welbourn, Michael Scott, William Carter, William Fanjoy, Joseph Conway, Arthur Green, Daniel Gooley, Leslie Calladine, John Chambers, Mary Greer.

Club trustees for 1950 are: Jim Price, Bob Starr, Jack Cairns, Horace Naish, Max Metherel, Bob Hanscom, Bert Lockington, and Stan Richardson.

Kiwanis Give $1,000 To Manitoba Fund

A cheque for $1,000 from Peterborough Kiwanis Club for the Manitoba Relief Fund was presented to Mayor M. J. Swanston Friday.

The Kiwanis Club is the second service club in the city to contribute $1,000 for this emergency fund. The first one was Peterborough Rotary Club.

The Kiwanis Club cheque was signed by E. H. Bartlett, secretary, and T. T. Rodger, treasurer.

Attacked By Tall Man In A Long Topcoat

An attack by "a tall man in a long topcoat" was reported to police Friday night by a Mrs. Reimer, the wife of one of the employees of the carnival in town.

Constable Donald S. Mackay reported he, with other policemen, was quieting a minor fight at the gate of the carnival between some of the carnival staff and a crowd of customers, when Reimer ran up to him and reported his pregnant wife was unconscious.

Constable Mackay found the woman lying unconscious in the Reimers' tent in the Monkey Show. She had a painfully bruised right cheek.

The officer helped revive her and she told him a very tall man in a long topcoat came into her tent and hit her. Then she passed out.

No one else apparently saw the man and it is believed the incident happened while the fight was going on outside.

Avoids Hole In Road But Gets Hit By Bus

Eight-year-old John Corner was slightly hurt when he was knocked from his bicycle in a collision with a bus on Clonsilla Ave. Friday.

The bus, driven by John N. Norton, Keene, travelling west, was passing the boy on his bike when young Corner turned out to avoid a hole in the road.

He ran into the side of the bus and was knocked off his bicycle, but escaped with only a skinned hand. The handlebars of his bicycle were bent.

M. C. Gardiner, Toronto, driving behind the bus, was a witness to the accident. Constables Grant J. Gillespie and Louis Rodreque investigated.

Vacation Guide Placed On Sale Today

The Examiner's annual vacation edition goes on sale today.

Feature of the 1950 issue is a color photograph depicting four of the district's lovely girls in a modern power boat.

This year, the Vacation Guide contains 136 pages, devoted to rotogravure, the Haliburton district, the Lower Kawarthas, the Land o' Lakes and other areas.

Of the total, 24 pages are rotogravure, 40 are for the Lower Kawarthas, the Trent System, Crowe Valley, the Otonabee River and Rice Lake, 36 pages are for Haliburton, Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls, and a similar number contain stories and pictures of vacationing in the Land o' Lakes.

Broadhurst Named To Cancer Meeting

John Broadhurst, president of the Peterborough Cancer Society, will attend the annual meeting of the Ontario division of the Canadian Cancer Society in Toronto May 31. The society chose Mr. Broadhurst as its delegate at the monthly meeting Thursday.

The meeting was the first at which the executive for 1950-51 presided. Other officers, besides Mr. Broadhurst, are: Mrs. Maurice Holt, vice-president; R. E. Macdonald, treasurer; Miss E. M. Miller, secretary; directors, Dr. D. W. Clark, Dr. Louis Zacks, Dr. Eldon Ray, Miss Mary Ross, John Duignan, James Fraser, Mrs. H. G. Digwood of Warsaw and Mrs. E. Thomson of Otonabee.

Premier Leslie Frost Unable To Attend

Mayor Swanston received Friday the following telegram from Hon. Leslie M. Frost, Premier of Ontario: "I regret that I cannot be with you on Saturday when Peterborough will give a real Kawartha welcome to Mr. St. Laurent, the Prime Minister of Canada. I hope, however, my wife will be able to be on hand to meet Mrs. St. Laurent. I send my best congratulations to the Civic Hospital."

Obituary

THOMAS J. RICHARDSON

After a lengthy illness Thomas J. Richardson, Clyde St., Hastings died Friday at his home. He was in his 85th year.

Mr. Richardson was a lifetime resident of the Hastings district. He was born in Asphodel in 1866 and lived in the village for the past 45 years.

He was educated in Asphodel and was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Hastings.

Left are his wife, former Mary Janet Scott, and three sons—William Walter at home, Robert Bruce of Clawson, Mich., and Thomas Fred of Peterborough.

There will be a private funeral at the residence Monday at 2 p.m., the Rev. J. M. Ritchie, St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial will be in Trent Valley cemetery.

The first atomic bomb ever used in war was dropped in Hiroshima, Japan, August 6, 1945.

City's Fire Loss In Past Year Below Average

NEW YORK, May 20 —(Special to the Examiner)—Statistics gathered from 545 cities with more than 20,000 population in Canada and the United States shows that Peterborough has a better fire safety record than did most cities. The survey, conducted by the National Fire Protection Association, Boston, has just been made public.

Damage caused by building fires in Peterborough during the year amounted to $42,251, equivalent to $1.20 per capita. This fire loss rate compares favorably with the average reported for all the Canadian cities, $4.20 per person, and with the United States figure of $3.11.

Local loss of property by fire last year represents an improvement over the prior year, when the damage totaled $265,586.

Automobile fires also kept municipal fire departments busy. They constituted nearly a fourth of all fires. In Peterborough they totalled 59 for the year.

How effective the local fire department was is indicated by its success in rapidly controlling the 143 building fires it had to fight and keeping damage to a minimum. The loss per fire was $295, compared with an average for all the Canadian cities of $744. The United States figure was $674.

The Canadian fire departments reported that they were plagued by the large percentage, 11.7, of the calls turned in that proved to be "malicious false alarms," distinguished from honestly made false alarms. In Peterborough 60 of the 669 calls received by the fire department were classified as malicious false alarms.

Hears Hypnosis Aids Childbirth

NEW YORK, May 20.—Dr. J. C. Dawson, Peterborough, is among 3,500 doctors at the International and Fourth American Congress on Obstetrics and Gynecology, who heard hypnosis described here last night as an aid in natural childbirth.

Delegates from 47 states and 37 foreign countries are attending the week long sessions at the Statler Hotel to exchange the latest advances in obstetrics and gynecology.

Following hypnotic "suggestion" that she would feel no pain a woman recently underwent childbirth during which she experienced, without pain, desirable strong rhythmic uterine contractions which are usually quite painful, according to Dr. Manuel Lopez, professor of gynecology at the University of Montevideo.

Medical Staff Donates $1,500

The medical staff of Civic Hospital have donated $1500 towards furnishing the doctors' library and doctors' rest room off the operating room suite. The gift was acknowledged by the Board this week.

The Police Benevolent Association's offer of a picture painted by Gordon Bailey to be hung in the reception room or rotunda, was accepted and K. Dinesen's offer to paint a picture for the new hospital was also accepted.

TOM C. McCALL

Tom C. McCall To Address Chamber Rally

Thomas C. McCall, deputy minister of the Department of Travel and Publicity, will be the guest speaker at the 61st annual meeting of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce Thursday. The chamber will also mark resort operators' night and ladies' night.

In 1946 when the department was organized, Mr. McCall supervised the blue-printing of the department and set up its program. He was a director of the Travel and Publicity Bureau during 1945.

After obtaining his education in the Simcoe public and high schools Mr. McCall served 10 years with the Simcoe Reporter. In 1938 he moved to Toronto as secretary to the minister of Municipal Affairs and Public Welfare. When the war started, Mr. McCall helped organize the Ontario section of the British War Guests program and the farm service force.

For a short time in 1941 Mr. McCall was assistant director of the Travel and Publicity Bureau. In September 1941 he joined the RCAF and became Chief Public Relations Officer stationed at Ottawa. In June 1943 he went over seas where he served as public relations officer of the Canadian Bomber Group in Yorkshire. He retired in 1945 as a squadron leader.

Strikers Seek Belleville Support

A committee of four local 527 United Electrical Workers executives have visited Belleville to whip up support for the striking union members of the Peterborough Lock Co., Peterborough.

They addressed the union members of two plants in UE local 533—a composite local of employees from Belleville Lock Works and the American Optical Co.

Friday they took a collection outside the plant gates.

The committee was headed by President Romeo Leonard, and included Dunc Drummond and Percy Hughes.

In Peterborough the union continues to hold food collection drives in preparation for a long strike. And members of local 527 are soliciting signatures for a petition calling on Labor Minister Charles Daley to mediate in the dispute.

The Peterborough Ministerial Association sent a telegram Friday to the minister making the same request.

St. Laurent Visit First Non-Political Appearance Of A Prime Minister To City

Today's visit of Mr. St. Laurent is the first time a Prime Minister has come to Peterborough on an non-political visit. Since Confederation in 1867, Seven of Mr St. Laurent's predecessors in office have visited the city sometimes when they were out of office, and always in the interest of their own parties. Here is the list:

1872 Sir John A. Macdonald—a political rally in the old drill hall.

1886: Sir John A. with four of his ministers at a rally in the opera house.

1886: Sir Wilfrid Laurier (not P.M.) with Edward Blake, leader of the Liberal Opposition, at the same election time.

1893: Sir Charles Tupper (not yet P.M.) opened the Central Ontario Fair.

1896: Sir Charles Tupper (then P.M.) speaking on behalf of the Conservative candidate, James Kendry.

1904 Laurier speaking on behalf of the candidacy of R. R. Hall, Liberal.

1907: Sir Robert Borden (not then P.M.) electioneering at the Grand Opera House.

1908: Sir Robert Borden (not yet P.M.) again at a political rally at the Opera House.

1911: Sir Robert electioneering against the Reciprocity Treaty. (Sir Robert Borden never came to Peterborough during his years as Prime Minister).

1912: Sir Wilfrid Laurier (fourth and last visit) at a political rally at the Brock St. rink. This was after his term as P.M.

1921: Rt. Hon Arthur Meighen, general elections of that year.

1926 Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King: electioneering on the Byng constitutional issue. Not then P.M.

1930 Mr. King, to attend a Liberal Party picnic.

1930: Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, general election campaign (not yet P.M.)

SPEAKS TO OPTIMISTS

Hugh Stewart of the Hilltop Farm will be the guest speaker at the bimonthly meeting of the Optimist Club Monday in the Empress Hotel.

PULLED OUT OF DITCH

The car of Gordon Burnett, of Oshawa, skidded into the ditch on Highway 28, north of Scott's Corners. Neither the car nor the driver were injured. The journey was then resumed.

CHEQUE PLEASE

Many Peterborough citizens received their city tax bills Friday—day before the Prime Minister arrived to open the new $3,500,000 Civic Hospital. They left no doubt, if anyone had any, about who was footing the bill.

TO ADDRESS ROTARY

J. Alex Edmison, KC, recently appointed assistant to the principal of Queen's University, will discuss Canada As a World Power in an address to the Rotary Club on Monday.

REPEAT OPERETTA

So successful was St. Andrew's United Church choirs' recent presentation of the children's operetta, 'The Blue Belt" that a repeat performance sponsored by the Jeanette Scot Chapter IODE was presented Friday evening at Queen Mary School. Before a capacity audience the operetta was well received.

Safe In Winnipeg

HAVELOCK, May 20 (ENS)—Mrs. Harry Revoy of Havelock, has received a letter from Major A. H. Smith, public relations representative of the Salvation Army at Winnipeg in reply to her enquiry about her brother and his wife Mr. and Mrs. Hector McArthur. Major Smith informed Mrs. Revoy that her relatives are out of the flood area, are well and will communicate with her immediately.

Goodfellow To Speak

CAMPBELLFORD, May 20 —(ENS)—The Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, minister of Public Welfare, and R. Earle Drope will be guests at the annual meeting of the Campbellford Progressive Conservative Association to be held in the Parish Hall on the evening of Friday, May 26.

Reduce Sentences

NUERNBERG, Germany, May 20 — (Reuters) — The supreme United States occupation appeal court here Friday reduced sentences on three Germans charged with damaging a Jewish synagogue at Martktreditz, Bavaria. Sentences of 10 months to Max Cressel and Hans Riess were reduced to four months each, and a four-month sentence to Frau Auguste Riess was suspended.

Disaster Fund Is Nearing The $2,000 Mark

Contributions to the disaster victims that have been made through the Examiner now total $1,838.

Both individuals and organizations are responding to the appeal. Donors may send cheques made out either to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund or the "Rimouski Fire Fund."

In the Winnipeg district the situation is still critical with waterlogged sandbag dikes threatening to break at any moment and cause further misery and suffering.

All over Canada contributions are being made to the flood victims and financial help is also likely from the United States and Great Britain.

The flooding has been called the greatest disaster in modern Canadian history.

All contributions of $2 or more sent in "Care of the Examiner" will be acknowledged in this newspaper.

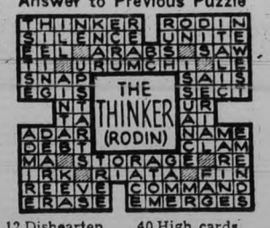
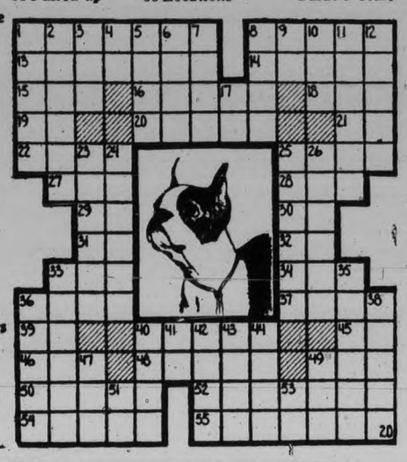
Answer to Previous Puzzle





Favor Strike Action But Don't Set Date

BRANTFORD, May 20 (CP)—Voting late Friday in favor of strike action to enforce their contract demands, members of Local 397, UAW-CIO, of the Brantford Coach and Body Limited, postponed any decision as to a strike date.

The matter was left open because Ontario Labor Minister Charles Daley telephoned to invite union and management to confer in his office Monday morning.

The minister's invitation was accepted. Shortly afterwards the union members voted 248 to 2 (two) in favor of strike action.

Burn 34th House

NELSON, B.C., May 20. (CP)—Provincial police arrested 20 more Sons of Freedom Doukhobors Friday after the group burned a home at Shoreacres, 14 miles west of here. Police said 10 women and 10 men, all nude, burned the home of Anita N. Kootnikoff and stood around the fire chanting hymns. The house was the 34th burned since the most recent Doukhobor outbreak began with the burning of eight homes April 14.

Won't Accept Evidence

TORONTO, May 20. (CP)—Admission of misconduct by defendants is not sufficient grounds for divorce, Mr. Justice F. H. Barlow ruled Friday. He refused to grant two divorce decrees. Dismissing an undefended action he commented: "Both witnesses are accomplices and their evidence must be treated with caution. Arrangements between solicitors as to bringing of the action raises so much doubt as to the truth that I cannot accept the evidence."

Manslaughter Verdict

OTTAWA, May 20. (CP) — Simon Normand, 65-year-old Ottawa laborer, was found guilty of manslaughter Friday in the knife-slaying of Malcolm Donaldson, 22, of Saint John, NB. Normand will be sentenced by Mr. Justice Schroeder at the end of the current assizes here. He betrayed no emotion when the jury returned a manslaughter verdict after deliberating three hours and 25 minutes.

Driver Remanded

TORONTO, May 20. (CP) — James Tackaberry, 19, was remanded to June 2 Friday for another preliminary hearing into a charge of manslaughter, arising from the deaths of two girls in suburban North York. Bail of $5,000 was renewed. Tackaberry is charged with the deaths of Lorraine Watson, 13, and Barbara Jones, five. They were killed by a truck while on their way to church services. The driver of the truck fled.

Co-ordinate Navies

LONDON, May 20. (Reuters)—Britain's First Sea Lord, Admiral Lord Fraser, Friday announced plans aimed at co-ordination of the navies of the Atlantic Pact powers. He said the degree of co-operation and standardization already achieved between the United States and British Naval forces is being extended among the other member countries.

Two Canadians Get Leading Roles In Shaw Hit Revival "Getting Married"

By PAT USSHER.

NEW YORK, May 20 (CP) — Two actresses whose names are well known among Canadian theatregoers are to have leading parts in a forthcoming revival of George Bernard Shaw's play, "Getting Married."

Judith Evelyn, who was educated in Western Canada and did her first acting (as an amateur) in Winnipeg, will play the role of Lesbia in the comedy. Margaret Bannerman, who was born in Toronto, and has been on the stage in Britain, the United States and Canada, has been assigned to appear as Mrs. Bridgenorth.

"Getting Married," sponsored by R. L. Stevens for the benefit of the American National Theatre and Academy, is due to play one week at the Ann Arbor (Mich.) Drama Festival, starting June 12. Then it will go on tour in the US and is scheduled to be shown next September in New York, at the Academy's playhouse in New York.

Playing Lead Role

Miss Evelyn, who calls Winnipeg her home, has been playing the lead role since last summer in Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire" on tour in North America. Miss Bannerman was in the cast of the comedy, "John Loves Mary," during its New York run in 1947.

Other big names in the cast include Sir Cedric Hardwicke, who also will stage the production, Mady Christians, Dennis King, John Buckmaster, and Arthur Treacher.

Yorke Plans

John Yorke, general manager for producter Cheryl Crawford, has another production plan up his sleeve. The Toronto-born theatre man has acquired the "Hurry the Dawn" which is due for fall showing. Leon Michell will direct the play, by Kurt Unkelbach, a press agent for a New York hotel.

"Madwoman" Returning

"The Madwoman of Chaillot," a hit of the 1949-49 season on Broadway, will play a return engagement here next month. The fantasy, by French author Jean Giraudoux, is due for a two-week stand at the City Centre starting June 13. Martita Hunt and other principals of the original production, which ran in Manhattan for a year, will appear in the revival. The play finishes a week's run in Toronto tonight.

Curtain Call

The Theatre Guild at a reception this week presented composer Richard Rodgers with a sterling silver platter. The occasion was the 25th anniversary of the opening of the first "Garrick Gaities," the first Broadway hit for which Rodgers composed the music. Since then he has become a celebrity in the dramatic world—as witness the music of "Oklahoma," "Carousel" and "South Pacific," to name only a few of the top-notch productions for which he has written the music.

An Explanation and Apology

It was our intention to fly the Union Jack and decorate our building on the occasion of the opening of our new Civic Hospital when the City is being honored by the presence of the Prime Minister.

However, it was not seemly to do this when our buildings were placarded with signs of U.E.W. 527 and patrolled by their pickets.

Through the good graces of Mayor Swanston, U.E.W. 527 was contacted with the view of removing the picket for three days — Friday, Saturday and Sunday—with our guarantee that no one would enter the factory.

U.E.W. 527 refused the Mayor's request and declined to remove their pickets, hence the above explanation and apology.

Charleston Turning Clock Back Revival Started In Colleges

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 20 (AP)—Why are middle-aged people cavorting about dance floors in a revival of the loose-kneed dance craze, the Charleston?

And why are their sons and daughters joining in with equal fervor?

For an academic answer to these questions I asked Dr. Floyd Ruch, professor of psychology at the University of Southern California. Dr. Ruch is the author of "Psychology and Life," which is used as a text in 700 colleges.

It might be explained that the Charleston began to stage a comeback at various university campuses two or three years ago. The collegiate influence has spread and now dance schools have the ballroom fad of the '20s in their curricula.

"There are two elements," explained Dr. Ruch. "first of all, there are the people of my generation—those about 45. We yearn for the good old days.

Reminiscing

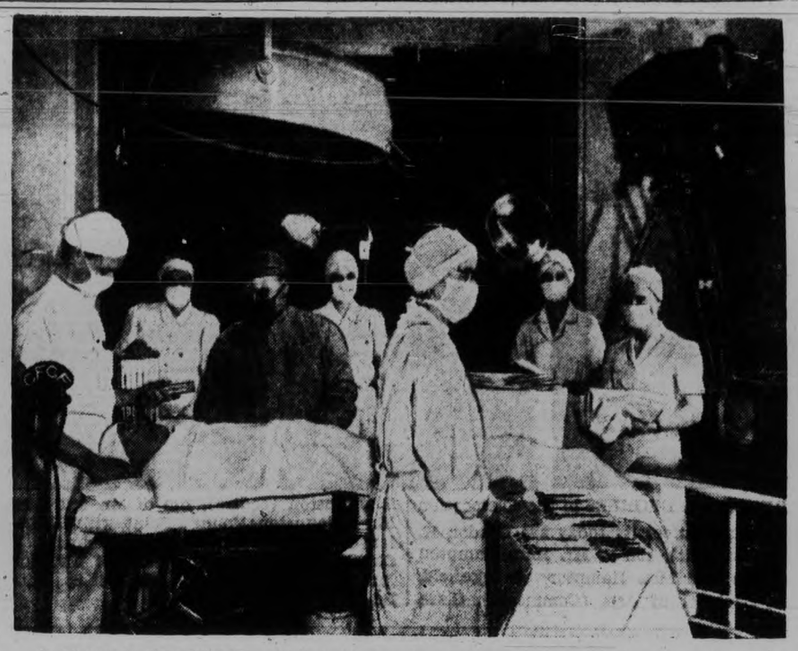
"The best part of our lives seems to have been in the early 1920s when we were in our 20s. That was when we were first achieving our independence and that's when we were doing the Charleston.

"The second element concerns those who are now in their 20s. They have never seen the Charleston and they take it up because it looks fresh and exciting. To them it's just as new as canasta."

Whatever the reasons for the revival, it would be a shock for a modern Rip Van Winkle to return after a 20-year snooze. He would see Gloria Swanson as one of the biggest acting sensations in Hollywood and Mae Murray dancing at a leading night club.

He would see Charles Chaplin's "City Lights," a silent, hailed as the picture of the year. He would see "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," the hit of broadway of many years ago now a musical, and "Birth of a Nation" appearing in three Los Angeles theatres. He would see youngsters going wild over Mah Jong, 'ukuleles, bobbed haircuts and Dixieland music.

Rip would probably scratch his head and say, "I've never been away."



THIS WAS THE SCENE as the staff of the Homeopathic Hospital prepared for the first televised operation ever held in Montreal. Standing behind the patient, third from the left, is Dr. J. J. Griffith, chief surgeon, whose skilled hands removed a tumor from the patient. An audience in an auditorium 500 feet away had a close-up view of the entire procedure via television screens. Background, right, is the television camera through whose "eyes" the audience saw the operation almost as clearly as the surgeon himself.

Decides Council Oversteps Line

TORONTO, May 20 (CP)—The city's Sunday-closing by-law for gasoline stations brushed against a fine legal point Friday. It was a pretty fair explosion.

Magistrate Walter W. McKeown, presented with a test case by an oil company which considers the by-law illegal, decided—because of one clause—that city council had overstepped the line. So he ruled the whole thing ultra vires of council's powers.

The by-law prohibited stations from being operated on Sundays. But, under an arrangement sponsored by the Retail Gas and Automotive Service Association, each operator had done business one Sunday in each calendar month—for the benefit of motorists.

Joy Oil Company questioned the by-law's validity. Its 17 stations remained open last Sunday. All were charged and it was agreed that charges against two should constitute a test case.

Magistrate McKeown referred to a clause in which city council, whose authority is received from the Ontario legislature, delegated to Chief Constable John Chisholm the right to issue—or refuse to issue—permits to certain stations to remain open.

That power, he said, cannot legally be delegated by city council.

Evacuees Return Dangerous Yet Army Warns

By R. J. ANDERSON.

WINNIPEG, May 20 (CP) — The intense little man in the beret spoke softly, but with restrained passion.

"Tell them to stay away. I can't order them. I hope and pray that they remain where they are."

By ones and twos, sometimes in little groups, the flood evacuees are coming back.

One of Brig. Ronald Morton's first acts on taking over as Red River flood commander two weeks ago today was to urge men, women and children whose presence was not essential to quit stricken Winnipeg and St. Boniface, across the Red.

His objective was to "thin out" the population of some 350,000. If disaster struck—when the Red river rose so high that power and other essential services failed — the army could handle evacuation of the remainder more quickly and easily. The army's "IF" plan —general evacuation—would go into operation.

In less than two weeks an estimated 100,000 persons left the danger area. By train and plane, by bus and car, they went as far as Vancouver and Halifax.

Fewer Leaving

The number leaving gets fewer each day. Only 3,278, by army count, left Thursday compared with 4,325 Wednesday and some 5,000 the day before. The high point was May 12 when nearly 15,000 went.

Now they are coming back—no one knows how many—as Winnipeggers feel the danger less. But Brig. Morton, moustache bristling, terms the feeling of security illusory.

At his daily press conference he terms "unfortunate" and "dangerous" any return to the flood area. He urges a speed-up in the outward flow.

To many, it is better to return to a city where danger is hypothetical than to remain in a safe but uncomfortable camp.

Anxious To Have Voting Age Cut

OTTAWA, May 20 (CP) — Hazen Argue (CCF-Assiniboia) asked the Commons Friday night to reduce the voting age in federal elections from 21 to 18.

Liberal, Progressive Conservative and Social Credit speakers expressed their opposition to the proposal.

His enabling bill, still under discussion at the end of the hour set aside for private legislation, dropped to the bottom of the list of public bills.

He sought second reading—approval in principle—of a bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act to that effect.

George Fulford (L-Leeds) said 18-year-olds were at "a very impressionable age." They either were still in school or had just left school and were looking for work.

He had nothing but the highest regard for teachers, but the fact remained that the profession had a few "radicals" and their influence with youngsters was all out of proportion. After leaving school, it took three years for youths to learn realities.

Julian Ferguson (PC-Simcoe North) said that had he voted when he was 18 he might have voted CCF or Liberal. Instead, after learning the facts of life, he voted Progressive Conservative.

Joseph Oliver Dies

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 20. (AP)—Joseph A. Oliver, 72, known as "Daredevil Gus Oliver" when he slid over Niagara Falls hanging by his teeth from a cable, died Friday. Oliver, who travelled with circus shows after he developed his slide act, made the Niagara crossing from the American to the Canadian side May 24, 1921. A native of Boston, he first gained recognition at the age of 18 when he won the world champion punching bag title.

Life Underwriters Hear Wilson Gemmell

The Peterborough Life Underwriters Association held a regular monthly meeting Friday at the Empress Hotel.

Wilson Gemmell, local manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, was guest speaker. In his talk entitled "You," he explained the function of the Life Underwriters in their daily dealings with individual citizens.

Mr. Gemmell was introduced by Jack Gamsby and thanked by Bruce Sargent. President of the association, Roy Irwin, presided over the meeting. Jack Brady was boasted by Gordon Minty and the boaster prize was won by Percy Martin.

James Cooper announced that the public relations dinner will be held May 29 with Gordon F. Higgins, KC, OBE, MP, of St. John's, Newfoundland, guest speaker.

Grenfell Mission Plans Fall Tea

Annual meeting of the Grenfell Labrador Mission was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. B. D. Hall, McDonnel St.

Mrs. Gordon Rutherford was re-elected president, for a fourth term, with the following executive: first vice-president, Mrs. D. T. Diplock; second vice-president, Miss A. Robinson; treasurer, Mrs. F. M. Sommerville; secretary, Mrs. F. C. Anderson. Honorary vice-president is Mrs. G. R. Langley.

Reports indicated the year's work might be considered successful. Tentative arrangements for packing a bale were made and any contributions of clothing or money will be welcomed.

The spring tea was dispensed with in order to stress the fall tea which is to be a celebration of the centennnial.

IODE News

MUNICIPAL CHAPTER

The monthly meeting of the Municipal Chapter, IODE, was held Thursday evening, in the YWCA, Mrs. W. Gordon Hall, regent, presiding. A minute's silence was observed for the late Lieut. Col. Agnes Neill, OBE, RCC LLD, honorary regent of a Chapter in Peterborough named for her.

It was decided to hold a fall meeting of all city chapters in the form of a film evening. Three new IODE films, "The House of Windsor," "Queen Mary's Carpet" and the "People of Canada" are to be ordered and shown at this time.

A telegram from the chairman of the Manitoba Relief Fund requesting all IODE's across Canada to hold a Tag Day on June 3 to provide money for furnishings and personal effects for the flood victims. Mrs. George Barns was appointed convener for the tag day which will be held on June 10 in Peterborough instead of the 3rd.

Mrs. G. Groombridge, post war convener, reported 21 food boxes and a shipment of used clothing had been sent overseas during the month.

Lieut. Col. Agnes Neill Chapter volunteered to supply milk for a needy family in Peterborough during June.

Miss Eleanor Taylor was named pianist and played several selections.

Mrs. R. S. Allin, organizing secretary, welcomed members of the newly-formed Edith Carleton Chapter. This Chapter will receive its charter in the fall.

It was decided not to accept the offer of Mr. Michael Sadlier to have an IODE-operated soft drink booth in the Queen Mary school rotunda during the Summer Theatre season.

Tea was served by members of 57th Regiment Chapter.

What's Right

You realize that you are not going to be able to arrive on time when you have been invited out to dinner.

WRONG: Make your apologies after you arrive.

RIGHT: Telephone your hostess to tell her that you have been detained and ask her not to wait for you, if you are to be more than a few minutes late.

✧ ✧ ✧

You are telephoning to invite a couple to your house for dinner and the husband answers the telephone.

WRONG: Give him the invitation.

RIGHT: Ask to speak to his wife.

CGIT Doings

Mark Street

The annual Mother and Daughter Banquet was held this week and proved successful. Theme chosen was "Flowers" and the tables were decorated with yellow and green streamers, daffodils and tulips. Each group had made their own program, choosing pansies, tulips and daffodils to decorate them. The supper was served by members of the WMS. CGIT president, Marilyn Bentley, presided and welcomed the mothers. Marilyn Logan proposed a toast to the church, which was responded to by the Rev. B. S. Morwood. Ruth Hendren proposed a toast to the mothers, her mother, Mrs. Ralph Hendren, replying. Mrs. Morwood led a lively sing song which was followed by a musical program when Gwen Pomeroy gave a piano solo, Florine Searles sang, Beverly Lillico played a piano selection and Carolee Ferguson gave a vocal solo. Guest speaker, Miss Marion Pogue, chairman of Peterborough Girls' Work Board, was introduced by Wanda Grills. Following the theme chosen for the banquet, Miss Pogue centred her remarks around the quotation from Ruskin, "The path of good women is indeed strewn with flowers, but they rise behind her steps, not before them." Reaffiliation with the Woman's Missionary Society concluded the evening. Superintendent, Mrs. G. Eason, was assisted by Marilyn Bentley, Carol O'Dette, Vesta Chute and Helen Miller. Mrs. E. DeNure, president of the WMS presented World Friendship badges to members of the group and Miss Gladys Langton, Presbyterial Secretary for CGIT, presented a World Friendship certificate to the girls.

St. Paul's

Elizabeth Green read scripture, choosing a portion from the gospelof St. Matthew. There were 11 girls present, the party to be held on May 26 was announced. It was moved by Mary Irwin and seconded by Doreen Fairburn that letters of appreciation be sent to Ross Elliott, Max Clarke and Bill Snowden for their assistance in setting up the tables for the banquet, to the Evening Auxiliary for catering and also a letter of thanks be sent to St. James' group who had entertained them this week. It was decided to postpone their tea and reaffiliation service until the fall. The remainder of the meeting was spent filling out the second report form and evaluating the Mother and Daughter banquet.

Trinity

Joan White, department president, was in the chair at this meeting when several members of Explorer group graduated. Miss Jean Campbell spoke to the girls emphasizing the importance of graduation from Explorers to CGIT, she then presented CGIT purpose cards to Patsy Roberts, Sheila Nichols, Sherry Hope, Iola Freeman, Margaret Horton, Gail Marshall, Catherine Nesbitt, Nancy Farthing, and Margaret Lustic. Joan White welcomed these girls into the fellowship of CGIT. During business Barbara Woodcock reported on the home cooking sale which had been held on the market, and it was decided that the three groups would plan their own program for the closing meeting.

Janet Hughson reported that members of the Junior group filled out the Chevron report before discussing their plans for the next meeting. It was decided to take a picnic supper to Jackson Park, or in case of bad weather, to go bowling. Joan Krogh showed some snaps taken at camp and gave out camp folders.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Old Maids Rarely Prefer Their Married Sisters Lot

Why do people pity old maids? Why do old maids pity themselves? Why are mothers so anxious for their daughters to marry that they would rather they were unhappily married than not married at all? Why does a woman feel that getting a husband is drawing the capital prize in the lottery of life, and that if she doesn't get one she is bound to spend her days in drabness and loneliness?

Dorothy Dix

Nobody feels that way about an old bachelor. Nobody bedews him with tears of sympathy, and least of all is he sorry for himself. Nobody considers that life must be cinders, ashes and dust to him because he isn't married. On the contrary, he is cherished by hostesses, pursued by women and regarded by other men with awe and envy because he has been foxy enough to dodge the burdens of matrimony.

As Well Off As Man

Yet in these days of feminine emancipation, when every avenue of occupation is open to a woman and a woman's earning capacity and her achievements are only limited by her ability, wherein is the lot of the girl bachelor different from the lot of the man bachelor. Why should we esteem single blessedness a curse to women and a graft for men?

No one will deny that an ideal marriage is the nearest approach to a heaven on earth that any mortal can ever know. For a woman to get a husband who is tender and true and loving and who gives her a perfect companionship; to have a beautiful and peaceful home and fine children is for her to be the darling of the gods. If marriage inevitably brought this to a woman—even if she had a sporting chance of getting it—one could not wonder at her desire for matrimony and at her feeling that to be an old maid was the browning blow that fate could deal her.

But this is not the case. It is only in fairy tales that Prince Charming comes riding every maiden's way. Most homes are sweat-shops instead of palaces of dreams and oftener children are causes of tears and anxiety than sources of pride and congratulation.

When the average old maid compares her lot with that of her married sister she does not want to swap jobs with her. She looks in the mirror and sees that she would pass for five years younger than sister. She is better dressed. She works only union hours instead of toiling eighteen hours a day, with no holidays or Sundays off. On Saturday night she has her pay envelope instead of getting nothing for her week's labor.

She is free to come and go as she pleases, instead of having to ask permission to go even to the movies. She does not have to go in fear and trembling of any man's temper or grouches.

She is treated with respect and consideration, and even jollied along by her boss, because if he knocked her work continually and swore at her and was gruff and rude to her she would give notice and quit. And highly competent women assistants, such as she is, are hard to get and are valuable when got, whereas wives are bound to stay on, no matter what sort of treatment they receive.

A girl will tell you that she is going to get married because she is tired of working, and then she will deliberately espouse a poor man and walk out of a mahogany-furnished office into a kitchen where she will have to slave ten times as hard as she ever worked before.

Wives Lonely Too

Thousands of women marry because they are so afraid of loneliness, yet they could count on the fingers of one hand and have a thumb and little finger to spare all the wives they know who get any companionship from their husbands. A stuffed dummy with a newspaper in its hand is about as chatty as the average husband is at his own fireside, unless company comes in.

Taking it by and large, there are more wives than old maids who spend lonely evenings, because the old maid can put on her hat and go out and hunt up congenial society or go to places of amusement, while the wife has to stay put and wait for husband's return or listen to his snores.

Now I am not trying to discourage any girl from getting married who has the cosmic urge to take a mate and who finds one ready to her hand. Without doubt she is carrying on the good work for which Nature put her into the world, and if she generally gets more kicks than ha'pence out of matrimony she has at least the consolation of writing Mrs. before her name and pitying those who are perpetual Misses.

But there are many thousands of women who will never marry, for whom there are no husbands, and I would like to give these a word of cheer and to assure them that they have no reason to be sorry for themselves. Possibly they may have missed the worst misery, and they have no more cause to pine over not having married a paragon of a husband than they have to beat upon their breast and wail because they are not the Queen of England or a movie star.

They don't worry over that. Why should they moan over not drawing the matrimonial prize?

Fashion Flashes

New alliances in the fabric world make for interest in summer costumes. A handsome afternoon costume is made up of a simple black dress in fine Irish linen topped by a matching capelet bolero. When removed, this discloses the dress top, which is a deep yoke with high, rounded neckline and puffed sleeves of fine black lace.

✧ ✧ ✧

Have you noticed how similar half-sizes and dresses for women are of late? Many models are as nice in size 44 as they are in sweet 16, which is all to the good. One such model is of navy or black chiffon fashioned on shirtwaist lines tucked in long, flattering lines with plain bands at the collar and small, pointed lapels; for the button panel; and for the cuffed bands that edge the short sleeves. Button and cuff links of rhinestone-studded jet.

✧ ✧ ✧

Look down and notice how the black patent leather pump is growing in popularity. A pretty model has the front quarter done in all-over fine tucks.

✧ ✧ ✧

Welcome to sailors as one of the favorite spring hats. All-white straw in a rough, shiny weave makes a sailor that is worn level, and tilted slightly forward. Deep crown band of white patent leather, and tight mask veil of coarse black chicken mesh.

✧ ✧ ✧

Look around at the furs worn at important spring evening events reveals a new and clever handling of different furs, other than the usual little ermine or mink pieces. A 28-inch jacket is of Chinese caracul dyed a pale, misty beige, with two full pastel mink skins for each cuff. Collar curves into wide tuxedo front and jacket is fully flared in back. Pockets are concealed in jacket front.

✧ ✧ ✧

At least one very distinguished suit on classic tailored lines appears in every smart gathering. A beauty is in pale grey worsted made with a long, fitted jacket with double-breasted closing. The collar curves into pointed revers that slim to the waist. While pique folds outline collar and revers and the curved pockets.

Hirohito's Daughter to Marry $4.20 a Week Clerk Today

By ROY MACARTNEY

TOKYO, May 20 (Reuters)—Princess Taka, 20-year-old second daughter of Emperor Hirohito, shifted her personal belongings by truck to the new home where she will live when she marries a 26-year-old commoner, Toshimichi Takatsukasa, today. The furniture bore the 16-petal chrysanthemum imperial crest.

At the Imperial palace Princess Taka went through a formal court ceremony of farewell.

Dressed in ceremonial robes, she paid her respects to the spirit of her ancestors. After bidding farewell to the Emperor and Empress she went to take leave of her grandmother.

The wedding will present a curious blend of the medieval and the modern.

Emperor Hirohito and the Empress Nagako are breaking a centuries-old tradition by attending the wedding ceremony at the former home of the Emperor's brother, Prince Takamatsu, in a Tokyo suburb. Hitherto Japanese royal parents have ignored the wedding ceremonies of their children.

The Princess herself is flouting ancient superstition by marrying this year—the year of the tiger. Since the middle ages, Japanese have believed that any women wed in one of these years would bring upon herself bad luck and unhappiness.

Her action has been warmly welcomed by Shigeru Yoshida, the Japanese prime minister, who described it as a blow struck against at least one of the superstitions which inhabits the Japanese.

The cost of the wedding—about $11,000—will be borne by the Emperor out of his yearly allowance of nearly $80,000.

His daughter's dowry will contain one set of kimonos and western style dress for each season.

There will be no honeymoon.

The bridegroom, one of the princes who lost his royal rank under Gen. Douglas McArthur's decree that every Japanese is a commoner unless a member of the Emperor's immediate family, has also steered a course between the traditional and the democratic.

Now earning $4.20 a week as a clerk in a railroad museum, Takatsukasa was introduced to Princess Taka at the imperial palace last October.

The Japanese Government has voted Princess Taka an appropriation of $13,750 to maintain her dignity after she ceases to be a member of the royal family.

Stocks Buck Way Higher For 3rd Week

By FRANK KAPLAN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Stock prices bucked their way higher for a third successive week despite heavy profit-taking sales.

The advance was slow and irregular over the five days as markets moved ahead another notch in their 11-month-old bull market.

Individual issues and groups of issues attracted much of the demand. Investors continued highly selective and showed signs of weakening at times but renewed optimistic signs for 1950 business prospects spurred them to further buying.

Observers have changed their fall tune that business would level off in the last half of the year. They now predict continued strength for the remainder of the year and some say that the present business situation will continue into 1951.

Wall street paced the market advance this week. Better quality stocks were in strong demand and the more speculative industrials were quiet compared with recent weeks of brisk speculation.

The Associated Press 60-stock average closed yesterday at 79.1, a gain of 1.8 from the previous Friday.

Canadian markets reluctantly followed the New York trend. Paper stocks highlighted industrial markets, booming strongly over the last three days.

Centre of Attraction

Low-priced mining stocks continued a centre of attraction. Brokers report booming business in speculative issues as the general public re-enters the market.

In Toronto, industrials edged ahead for a gain of 2.03 on the Exchange's index in advancing further into new price territory. Base metals added .92 on the index.

Junior and senior gold producers were largely ignored as the index slipped .92. Western oils fluctuated in dull dealings for a loss of .18.

Volume for the five days was 15,494,000 shares, compared with 15,546,000 shares the previous week.

INSURANCE STATE

Sixty-one United States insurance companies, with total assets of more than $6,000,000,000 have their home offices in Connecticut.

Group Four Of WMS At Mrs. Brown's Home

HASTINGS, May 20.—(ENS).—Group four of the Women's Association of Trinity United church met at the home of their president, Mrs. George Brown, who presided for the meeting. Mrs. R. J. Bibby read the scripture.

Mrs. George Pickens read the chapter from the study book. A comforter was quilted during the afternoon. The hostess served lunch and Mrs. George Pickens moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Brown.

Bethany Community Showers Grace Driver

The Bethany community honored Miss Grace Driver with a shower on Wednesday, prior to her marriage to Douglas Bruce of Toronto, which will take place in Bethany United Church on June 3.

The Sunday School room was decorated with spring flowers, pink and white streamers and wedding bells. Miss Driver was seated in a gaily decorated chair, while Miss Evelyn Mantle read an address of congratulations and good wishes and Miss Betty Waddell and Miss Olive McGill presented her with many individual gifts and a complete setting for six of crystal.

Miss Olive McGill announced a program in which Miss Betty Waddell accompanied at the piano for community singing; Mrs. Earl Argue gave two comic readings; Miss Joyce Bigelow and Miss Peggy Reynolds sang a duet; Miss Marie Finney played the piano; Mrs. T. Jennings sang with her own guitar accompaniment; Norma and Winnie Jakeman sang a duet; Mrs. R. Carr gave a reading; Miss Marie Finney and Mrs. T. Jennings sang; Dianne Bigelow gave a recitation and Leone Jordan sang.

A mock wedding ceremony was performed by Mrs. Charles Reynolds as the minister, Mrs. Morgan Bigelow was the bride, Miss Evelyn Mantle, the groom, Mrs. T. Jennings, the bridesmaid, Mrs. Mansell Finney, the groomsman. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Reg. Edmunds and Miss Marie Carr was the soloist. Lunch was served.

Miss Driver is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Driver of Bethany and has been employed with the CGE in Peterborough for several years. Mr. Bruce is well-known in the community, having been on the staff of the local Bank of Toronto, before being transferred to Toronto.

Marmora News

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Breen O'Connor in St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough, on May 16.

Mr. Charles Jones of Toronto spent a few days in town during the past week.

Recent guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Bert Anthony and family of Toronto with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Anthony, Sr.; Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Reid and Deanna of Oshawa with Mrs. Reid's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Vanvolkenburg; Mr. Ross Bertram and Miss Gertrude Outwater of Peterborough with Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cole; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bowen of Belleville with Mr. and Mrs. L. Bowen.

Miss Marie Curran of Buffalo is occupying her cottage at Crowe Lake.

Edward Joseph Flynn Funeral In Oshawa

MARMORA, May 20 (ENS) — The funeral of Edward Joseph Flynn was held in Oshawa on Wednesday. Solemn requiem mass in St. Gregory's Church was followed by burial in St. Gregory's cemetery.

The youngest of the 12 children of the late David Flynn and Mary Ann McCallum, Mr. Flynn was born in Marmora township 65 years ago. Prior to his removal to Oshawa eight years ago he spent all his life in his native district. He was a mail carrier for many years.

Mr. Flynn had a pleasant disposition and was a popular singer.

He is survived by his widow, the former Margot Leonard; three daughters, Mrs. C. K. Cameron (Marion), Mrs. L. Harrison (Eileen), and Fay, and one son, Edward, all of Oshawa. Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. J. McCullough (Catharine), Sudbury; Mrs. A. Madden (Elizabeth) Peterborough, and Mrs. H. Warren (Teresa), Marmora and one brother John, Whitby.

Mrs. Arthur Waters Life Member Of WMS

HASTINGS, May 20—(ENS)—The Women's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe with 12 members present. The afternoon was spent quilting for Mrs. Glover.

Arrangements were made for the June meeting at which the group will entertain all the auxiliaries in the section.

Mrs. Arthur Waters was made a life member.

Mrs. J. Sproul Hostess To WMS At Marmora

MARMORA, May 20 (ENS)—St. Andrew's Women's Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. James Sproul on Wednesday. The president, Mrs. H. C. Barlow, conducted the business.

An invitation was received from Eldorado WMS to join them at their meeting on June 8 and provide a musical number. The secretary was instructed to acknowledge the invitation and state that at least one car load of members would attend.

A bale of used clothing is to be packed in June.

Mrs. H. W. Sabine briefly reviewed the final chapter of the Study Book. The closing Litany of the celebration of the 25th anniversary of the church was read with Mrs. G. D. Young as leader and members responding.

Families United

EDMUNDSTON, NB, May 20. —(CP)—Three members of one family married three of another in a unique wedding ceremony in the cathedral of the Immaculate Conception here. They were Marie Stone and Lionel Pelletier, Gloria Stone and Roland Pelletier, and Benoit Stone and Anita Peterborough. Another Stone sister—Rita—was married at the same time to Leo Castonguay.

Hastings News

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Beamish of St. Catharines were recent visitors with the former's brother, Mr. D. Beamish and Mrs. Beamish.

Mrs. Arthur Waters, Clyde Street, fell in her home, breaking a leg. She is a patient at St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterborough.

Mrs. John McMillen, Mrs. W. E. Wilson, Mrs. William Whitred, Mrs. W. S. Fife, and Mrs. C. Dodd were in Port Hope on Tuesday, where they attended the Peterborough Presbyterial WMS semi-annual meeting held at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Virgil Oliver is a patient at Civic Hospital, Peterborough.

Bethany News

Mrs. W. Fitzgerald, Peterborough, is visiting with Miss Annie Sisson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan St. John and sons Allan and Ivan of Toronto were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Edmunds on Tuesday.

How Important Is This Man's "YES"?

D. R. THOMSON

He's the man whose "yes" helped to put an ambitious boy through medical school.

Another occasion, his friendly "yes" started a man in business and today that man's business is a growing, paying proposition.

And then there was the time his "yes" enabled a worried family to get from under a stack of unpaid bills and his friendly advice put that family's budget on a sound, secure basis.

This man whose "yes" has brought peace of mind to thousands of people by helping them get a fresh start is the manager of the Personal Finance Co. office in this city.

His job is to make personal loans, and to keep the transactions on a business-like basis. His years of experience with Personal have taught him to respect the honesty of local people—friends, relatives, or employer are not brought into the picture.

Don't borrow unnecessarily. But if a loan—for a month or a year, or longer—is the sensible thing for you (and you're the judge) the YES MAN will appreciate the chance to say "yes."

You can telephone him . . . or drop in to see him at the Personal Finance Company office. He says "yes" to 4 out of 5.

$25 was voted to flood relief. Mrs. Smith and her group served lunch.

Issue Summary

OTTAWA, May 20. — (CP).—The Labor Department Friday issued a summary of the number of Canadian job seekers at national employment service offices across the country in the two-week period from April 20 to May 4. It includes Kingston 1,201 (1,138); St. Catharines 2,050 (2,367); Sudbury 1,997 (2,280).

200 VARIETIES

Calamus is the name of 200 species of tropical palms native of Asia, Africa, and Australia.

These two sets of tiny twins and their parents are among the thousands of homeless as a result of the Manitoba floods. Shown are Mr. and Mrs. William Casovan of Point Douglas and (left to right) Barbara and Richard, 22 months, and Joan and Jane, seven months. Mrs. Casovan had just put the babies to bed while her husband laboured on the dikes, when the flood burst through and engulfed their little bungalow. For rehabilitation the Casovans, like 85,000 other Manitobans, must look to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund, which has been organized in Winnipeg.

Small Families Not Desirable

LONDON, May 20 (Reuters)—Leading scientists warned today of a substantial drop in average intelligence in Britain if the present "alarming" decrease in fertility rates continued.

In memoranda to the royal commission on population, published by the Government, the scientists said that available data indicated that by 2,000 A.D., 65.5 per cent. of the British population would consist of substandard intelligences. And the proportion of feeble-minded would be almost doubled.

They found statistical evidence that intelligence declines with small families.

Other reports published by the commission said that economic pressures discouraged big families.

Professor Sir Cyril Burt predicted that in 50 years time the feeble-minded would have increased from the present 1.5 per cent. to 4.1, the poor average types from 37.5 to 41.3, and the good average children would have decreased from 35.1 to 27.2.

HUGE DESERT

The Sahara desert, largest in the world, covers about 3,500,000 square miles of North Africa.

Appoint Commission Investigate Offences

OTTAWA, May 20.—CP).—The Labor Department announced Friday the appointment of J. H. Stitt, Ottawa barrister, as an industrial inquiry commission under the Industrial and Disputes Investigation Act to investigate and report upon the number of offences under the Act alleged to have been committed by Press News, Ltd., and its general manager, Charles B. Edwards.

The appointment was made following receipt of an application from the American Newspaper Guild (C.I.O.) for the minister's consent to prosecute Press News Ltd., and Mr. Edwards. The company, which provides news for radio stations, is the subsidiary of The Canadian Press, Canada's national news co-operative.

The Department announced May 13 that the Guild had been certified as bargaining agent for editorial employees of the company.

Pulled Off Shoal

CHARLEVOIX, Mich., May 20.—(AP).—The grounded Canadian freighter Yank Canuck was pulled free of a northern Lake Michigan shoal Friday and proceeded toward Sault Ste. Marie under its own power. Emergency repairs of minor damage to the ship's hull were being made en route.

Falls Off Balcony

OTTAWA, May 20.—(CP). — George Beyer, 22-months-old son of his home in Ottawa's central Ottawa, was killed Friday when he fell 20 feet from the balcony of his home in Ottawas' central district. Investigation showed the child had climbed on to the handle bars of his kiddy-car to lean on the railing of the balcony. He lost his balance and plunged to the pavement below. No inquest is expected.

U.K. Faces Timber Shortage Charge Gov't Miscalculation

By DON GILBERT

LONDON, May 20.—(CP).—Britain may run into a timber shortage because of miscalculations in the Government's bulk-buying program, trade reports suggest. One expert blamed the situation on "fatal strategy" in the Canadian market.

As a dollar-saving measure, Britain turned from British Columbia to Scandinavia for the major part of her needs. But Sweden of late has been asking prices higher than Britain wants to pay. Negotiations have all but stalled.

The Board of Trade, which supervises the Government's timber-buying program, declined comment on suggestions that the matter has been mismanaged.

A pointer that Britain is exploring alternate sources is seen in the departure for Moscow of timber controller Sir Edward Monkhouse. He will negotiate for increased supplies of Soviet timber, but it is considered unlikely any supplies can arrive in time to fill the summer gap.

Trade sources say Sweden's strong bargaining position is due to the fact that even if Britain modifies her dollar policy, British Columbia would not be able to provide important supplies until fall or possibly next spring.

Turn to US Market

This is because British Columbia mills are busy turning out timber for the American market.

But a year ago the situation was different. At that time the business recession had made American orders scarce. British bulk-buyers, the trade reports suggest, calculated that large unsold stocks in British Columbia would tend to curb Swedish price demands.

The Financial Times, which usually is critical of the Labor Government's economic policies, recalled that a year ago a delegation of British Columbia shippers visited London to size up long-term prospects.

"Without a shadow of doubt that was the psychological moment to have come boldly to terms with the British Columbian producers," the Financial Times commented.

"Many believe that the shippers were 'wide open' at that point and that large quantities of timber could then have been bought at attractive prices . . but the opportunity was allowed to slip away, and within a few weeks the situation out west had changed radically."

Another newspaper, the Times, said Sweden's long-term interest in the British market probably would bring her to terms before long, but estimated Britain will get from that source not more than 100,000 standards this year compared with 250,000 agreed on in the Anglo-Canadian trade agreement.

Young Women Give Kitchen Shower

HAVELOCK, May 20 (ENS)—The Young Women's Association of Knox Presbyterian Church held a surprise kitchen shower for Mrs. B. A. Curtis recently. They visited her new apartment with their gifts, which were presented by Mrs. R. Sayers and Mrs. George Kennedy.

The occasion was also Mrs. Robert Melville's birthday, and a large decorated birthday cake topped with candles was provided to celebrate the event.

Bingo was played and the YWA served a lunch.

Hospital Opening Centennial Symbol

"IT IS MY PRIVILEGE TO DECLARE this hospital open," said the Prime Minister of Canada, the Right Honorable Louis Stephen St. Laurent, at the opening ceremony of the new Peterborough Civic Hospital, highlight of his Saturday's official visit. Shown ABOVE with Canada's first lady, Madame St. Laurent, it was the first time in Peterborough's history that a Prime Minister had paid the city a non-political visit, a fitting gesture for the city's centennial year celebrations. —Staff Photo—Nickels.

6 Die, 7 Hurt As Truck Strikes Train

Second Accident Ends In Tragedy For Fishermen's Party

STURGEON FALLS, May 22.—(CP).—Six persons were killed and seven injured early today in a level - crossing smashup involving a trans-continental train and a truck carrying a party of fishermen.

The collision occurred shortly after midnight at a crossing in the heart of the Northern Ontario village of Verner, 11 miles west of here and about 51 miles west of North Bay. All the victims were from River Valley, 15 miles north of here.

Dead are: Mrs. Eddie Cayen, 39, and her son, Herve, 19; Mrs. Edouard Forget, 26, and her son, Robert, 3, and daughter, Denise, 5; and Julien Cormier, 25.

Injured and in hospital here are: Eddie Cayen and his sons, Hector and Roger; Mrs. Julien Cormier and her son, Gerald Guay, 4; Edouard Forget and Donat St. Martin.

Crash Into Train

Police said the truck carrying the fishing party crashed into the Canadian Pacific Railway train between the third and the fourth cars of the sleeper section. One body smashed a window in a pullman berth and awakened a woman passenger.

Members of the train crew said they were unaware of the accident until the train reached Sturgeon Falls. Then, pieces of cloth and parts of bodies were found wedged under the platform between the pullman cars.

First reports were that seven persons had been killed. Police said later that it had been difficult at the outset to establish the number of dead, as bodies and parts of bodies were scattered along the right-of-way by the eastbound train.

Police said the truck's 13 occupants had been fishing on the Turrenne farm near here during the day. They said that, for the homeward trip, the truck's cab was filled with passengers and every bit of space in the truck body was taken up.

A district resident said he saw the fishing party in the truck about four hours before the accident.

"One woman, dressed in white, was singing loudly and everyone seemed to be happy," he said.

Another person said he saw the group at the Turrenne farm and "they all seemed to be in good spirits."

Provincial police said the truck was involved in another accident while on its way to the fishing spot. Officers said the truck backed into an automobile.

The level-crossing collision spun the truck around and ripped out the truck's engine. Wreckage was strewn for more than 100 yards along the track.

Umpire Quick On Draw

GREENWOOD, S.C., May 22. — (AP). — James L. Roundtree, 24 - year - old baseball fan, became enraged Saturday by a decision of base umpire James McGowan, 58. Roundtree drew a pistol, but it failed to fire when he pulled the trigger. Umpire McGowan drew his pistol and shot Roundtree dead. McGowan is being held without charge pending an inquest.

Red River Drops Half Inch For Fourth Time

WINNIPEG, May 22 — (CP)— The flood-swollen Red River started to drop in earnest today. The indication was its fall will be faster in the next few days— unless there is heavy rain.

At 1 p.m. CDT it dropped one-half inch to 30 feet even, its lowest point since May 12 when it was still surging to a century-high record of 30.3 feet.

It was the fourth half-inch fall in 22 hours.

"The river at this stage is dropping at a rate of 1½ to two inches a day," said D. W. Stephens, water-levels adviser to Brig. R. E. A. Morton's flood-control headquarters.

"The rate of fall will increase gradually—barring heavy rain fall.

Lakes Shrinking.

"The three huge lakes formed by the Red in Southern Manitoba and North Dakota are all being drained and shrinking in size. The drop is almost uniform all the Red's whole course.

Mr. Stepens confirmed a Canadian Press figure that 180,000 cubic feet of water a second—10,000,000 tons an hour— of muddy Red River water has been seuzzing between the twin cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface, Man.

And he said 4,000 cubic feet a second of the Winnipeg run-off is drainage from the hundreds of square miles of submerged land south of the city.

Even before Mr. Stephens made these estimates in an interview, it was obvious the Red's wobbly, extended crest had passed beyond the metropolitan area toward Lake Winnipeg, but the release from the river's death grip would come with agonizing slowness.

The army, directing all flood-control operations in the river valley, warned there is a long way to go before all danger ends. As if to back it up, the river knocked out one of the three bridges connecting the twin cities. Only two were left in action: shaky Redwood; and Provencher, reopened by a temporary gravel causeway only a few days ago.

Louise bridge, connecting Winnipeg with the Elmwood portion of East Kildonan on the St. Boniface side of the Red, was closed to all traffic at 3 a.m. today. Constant pressure of tons of murky water burst through the concrete Higgins Avenue underpass and flooded the subway at the western approach.

The army decided to leave the subway flooded. Continued pumping might weaken the walls and dump the CPR track above into the river.

Prime Minister Uses Pair Of Golden Shears To Cut Ribbon At Ceremony

"Must Realize How Fortunate Democracy Is" St. Laurent Tells Listeners In Discussing Problems Of Red Cold War

The sun smiled as Prime Minister St. Laurent cut the ribbon on Saturday to open Peterborough's new Civic Hospital. More than 1,000 people watched quietly, and press cameras flashed as a pair of golden shears, gift of the city to the Prime Minister, snipped the white silk band. Mr. St. Laurent then turned again to his audience and said: "It is my privilege to declare this Peterborough Civic Hospital open to the citizens of Peterborough and the adjoining districts. May it serve you well."

"I think it an auspicious thing for the opening of this fine hospital to coincide with your city's centenary. I do not think we could find a better symbol of Peterborough's centennial year.

"The wish to be of service to each other cannot be better expressed than in this way. Your new hospital will be a symbol of this to you."

Discusses Cold War

The prime minister spoke seriously for several moments of the "cold war." He said that in the midst of the ideological war between the western world and the people behind the Iron Curtain, "we must realize how fortunate we are in our democratic way of life."

"The British institutions that have been passed down to us may not be perfect, but they have been worked out for 300 years by men and women seeking the ideal of the human dignity given us by our Creator," he said.

In his brief speech, the prime minister touched on the memories of pioneer life of the reliance on each other the settlers had in pioneer days, and they would appreciate this hospital as a further example of the need of the people of a community to be dependent on each other.

Young People Hope

Smilingly broadly, he recalled a recent tour of Canada that he and his wife made. "I remember thinking that at that time that out of our most important natural resources was the number of bright-eyed young people in our country.

"I don't want to wish anyone ill, but I do wish that all the young women here will have to

Quake Levels Cuzco City, Say 50 Killed

LIMA, Peru, May 22—(AP).—An emergency air lift today rushed doctors, medical supplies and food to the ancient Andes city of Cuzco, devastated Sunday by an earthquake. At least 50 persons were reported killed and 178 others injured in the once-thriving seat of Inca civilization.

Peru's president, Manuel Odria Amoretti, dispatched rescue crews to the stricken city, 340 miles southeast of Lima. The Peruvian health director called on all available doctors and nurses to go to Cuzco at once.

The quake, which struck at 1:45 p.m EST, sent many of the city's 45,000 residents rushing into the streets while centuries-old stone buildings crashed down. Terrified citizens knelt in prayer before a statue of Christ in Cuzco's main plaza, a radio broadcast from the isolated provincial capital said.

Until the rescue parties search the Cuzco ruins the exact number of casualties will not be known.

Also Hit

A government communique said the big city town of San Sebastian also had been hit by the quake and had suffered heavy damage.

The communique said the casualty toll in Cuzco probably would have been far greater except for the fact that some 15,000 persons were watching a football game in the town stadium when the quake struck. None of the spectators was believed hurt.

Much of Cuzco was reported in ruins.

New Explosions Touched Off

SOUTH AMBOY, N.J., May 22 (AP)—Bandaged citizens still are hearing explosions today in the ruins of the South Amboy waterfront.

Twenty tons of phosphorus shot flames 100 feet into the air Sunday, setting off scores of land mines in the wreckage of the Friday night blast disaster that took 27 lives.

Army demolition officers, combing the area with mine detectors, said blasts would continue for another day or two before the waterfront is safe. They had picked up more than 3,000 mines by late Sunday.

Four barges, laden with munitions en route from Newark, O. to Pakistan, exploded with a roar Friday. The blast left a death toll of 27, wrecked the waterfront of this port 21 miles southwest of New York, injured 350 persons with flying glass in all parts of the town, and caused property damage estimated at $7,500,000.

The phosphorus fire startled residents anew as a fast-spreading blaze zigzagged through about 50 drums, raising a pall of ominous white smoke over the stricken city.

Not Dull Moment In Weekend Spree

BRANTFORD, May 22 (CP)—Sidney Jamieson, Tuscarora township, today pleaded guilty before to three charges arising out of a week-end spree in which he took a car belonging to another Indian, wrecked it and narrowly missed rolling into the Grand River Saturday night.

He was charged with taking the auto without the consent of the owner, Murray Henhawk, being drunk and driving without having an operator's permit.

He will be sentenced May 29 to which date he was remanded out of custody.

Citizenship Responsibilities Stressed By St. Laurent

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's prophecy that the 20th century belonged to Canada found an echo in the address Saturday night of Prime Minister Louis S. St. Laurent. The 67-year-old Canadian premier was making his first visit to Peterborough. And after a heavy day-long itinerary he spoke to about 140 guests gathered for the civic dinner in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel.

Keynote of his address was the responsibilities and privileges of Canadian citizenship.

As Peterborough begins celebrating its centenary it is a particularly appropriate occasion for its citizens to reflect on the past and future of Canada and the problems of citizenship, the Prime Minister asserted.

As did Sir Wilfrid, Canada's only other premier from French Canada, Mr. St. Laurent sees a golden future for this country.

He described Canada today as "this happiest land in all the world" and said "we can look forward with confidence to developing a nation even greater than anything dreamed of by the Canadians of earlier generations."

Two Qualifications

But there were two qualifications:

One was that we must strive to be even better citizens than our ancestors; and the other possible barrier remained a cloud on the horizon: war.

Rail Decision May 25

OTTAWA, May 22. —(CP). The Board of Transport Commissioners will hand down a decision at 9:30 a.m. Thursday on a railway application for a further freight-rate increase of 3.4 per cent. The application was placed before the board April 17.

To Investigate Extortion Charge

NASSAU, Bahamas, May 22 — (AP).—Investigation of charges against a man accused of trying to extort £40,000 $124,000) from Lady Eunice Oakes opens in Magistrate's Court today.

The suspect, Nicholas Musgrove, a native of Turks Island now living in Nassau, faces two charges of attempting blackmail and extortion by threats of violence. Maximum penalty is 25 years imprisonment.

Evidence will be heard today from Capt. Basil Sparrow, secretary to Lady Oakes, who intercepted the letters.

Sparrow received the first letter Monday as Lady Oakes prepared to leave for Niagara Falls, N.Y., and London. He called police who trapped the suspect through a "personal" advertisement in the Nassau Daily Tribune.

Lady Oakes is the widow of Sir Harry Oakes, wealthy Canadian mining magnate, who was fatally beaten and burned in his home here six years ago.

Police denied reports that the case revealed any clues to the murder of Miss Betty Renner, 38-year-old Washington, D.C. lawyer whose body was found in a shallow well near here last month.

Explosions At Fire

MONTREAL, May 22—(CP)—A two-alarm fire marked by frequent explosions today caused an estimated $200,000 damage to the steel manufacturing plant of Lord and Company, Ltd. in northeast Montreal. There were no injuries reported.

30 Red Skippers Eye Manoeuvres

PORTLAND, England, May 22 (AP)—Western union navies self-consciously opened hush-hush sea manoeuvres today—with 30 dead-pan Russian skippers within radar range.

The Russian mothership Tamboy and her 29 trawlers and coasters—officially on a sprat and sardine fishing jaunt from the Baltic to the Black Sea—were off Falmouth Sunday when the Royal Navy cruisers Superb and Cleopatra plus four destroyers left Portland for the manoeuvre areas south of Britain.

Then the Russians upped anchor and moved nine miles westward to Mount's Bay, where they anchored again.

"Just changing anchorage," was the Soviet reply to a hopeful message from shore officials.

Sunday, the British aircraft carrier Theseus—which is not taking part in the manoeuvres—popped up unannounced in Mounts Bay beside the Russians.

The Admiralty said nothing officially was known of her presence there but a spokesman couldn't see "any particular significance" in it.

Arrest 2 Red Soldiers

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 22.—(AP).—Two Russian soldiers, members of the Soviet Military Mission here, were arrested by United States military police today for violating American restrictions on their movements. They were released three hours later. The Soviet mission has been restricted to its office-living quarters in retaliation for a Soviet crack-down on movements of American officers attached to Soviet headquarters in East Germany.

MayHaveBroken Poultry Ring

TORONTO, May 22.—(CP).—Police say they may be close to breaking a chicken-stealing ring blamed for the theft of from $25,000 to $50,000 worth of poultry from Southern Ontario farms during the last year.

They arrested Mrs. Nellie Cooper, 36, and Graham W. Emery, 19, following what investigators say was an attempted theft at the farm of Albert Peters at nearby Cooksville. A second man is sought in connection with the case.

A burglar alarm led to the arrests. The alarm roused Peters and his son, Tom, 19, who rushed out with a shotgun and, a rifle. They fired at two men, one of whom dropped a sackful of chickens he had brought out of the chicken house.

Mrs. Cooper was arrested in a parked truck and Emery was taken into custody later.

Soviet Provokes Germans To Hatred of The West

BERLIN, May 22—(AP)—Russia is seeking to provoke undying enmity between the German people and the western powers.

This is the implied aim behind the Soviet plan for 500,000 young Germans to march on Berlin.

Under Communist orders, the "Free German Youth" (F. J. D.) will occupy the city's Russian sector May 27-30.

A propaganda spectacle not seen in Germany since the Nazi Party rallies at Nuernberg will be staged amid the east side's ruins.

Leaders of the F. D. J. will have a two-fold mission at Whitsun:

To inflame German hatred against the Allies, especially the United States.

To agitate for the unity of Germany on Soviet terms alone.

But is the F. D. J. Whitsun demonstration a putsch—or just a theatrical tantrum?

The Allied generals commanding West Berlin are prepared for either. To defend West Berlin at all costs, 7,500 British, American and French troops will be on "combat alert". The anti-riot front line will be held by West Berlin's entire police force of 9,000 men.

Physically, the Allies hold Berlin more strongly than ever. But psychologically?

As a weapon of psychological warfare, the Soviet-instituted "free German youth" uses its biggest stick. The western powers have nothing to match this "organization," which has mushroomed to 1,000,000 members in East Germany since 1946.

$20,000 Fire Sweeps Employment Offices

SARNIA, May 22 (CP)—Damage that may reach $20,000 was caused by a fire which swept through the National Employment Offices here Sunday night.

Manager L. A. Babcock said his staff was preparing to make unemployment payments today but would be unable to help job seekers for three days at least.

The building also houses Galbraith Motors, Sexsmith Motors and an apartment block.

3 Fishermen Feared Drowned

KINGSTON, May 22 —(CP) — Searchers are dragging Rideau Lake, 20 miles north of here, for the bodies of two men believed drowned on a fishing trip.

The body of a third man, Dr. John Lewis of Youngstown, Ohio, was recovered from the lake Sunday.

The trio, Lewis; John R. Drew, Smiths Falls, Ont.; and William Lake, Portland, Ont.—left on a fishing trip by motor launch Friday. When they failed to return, a search was undertaken.

Lewis' body, the clothing badly scorched, was found late Sunday. Police said it appeared there was an explosion in the launch, but no wreckage was found.

Believe DP Fugitive Has Escaped Dragnet

NORTH BAY, May 22 (CP) — Police said today it looks as though elusive Alex Kwanuira, 30-year-old DP fugitive has escaped the dragnet thrown around this area since Friday night.

Reports, described by Provincial Police as "rumors," today had the Monteith Industrial Farm escapee, in Emsdale district, 15 miles north of Huntsville.

A manhunt was staged in North Bay from Friday night and all day Saturday. Police said then that they were "pretty sure" they had him cornered in a swamp near CNR tracks south of the city.

Grove Boys Sing "Patience" Delighting Show

Gilbert and Sullivan's "Patience" was given a remarkable performance Saturday evening by the boys of The Grove School, Lakefield. Parents and friends filled the school hall where it was played following the annual cadet inspection.

With only one exception the boys took all the leading parts, and right down to the twenty lovesick maidens, fetching in garden hats and rouge, bore the burden of the choruses, quintets and duets. The star of the show was Christopher Mainguy who took the part of Reginald Bunthorne, the disillusioned poet. His speaking voice and enunciation were excellent, his acting pleasant, his singing attractive. The milkmaid Patience, who thought she ought to fall in love, was demurely played by young Andrew Hutchison.

The audience took great delight in the dress and sweet singing of the chorus of maidens, and in the gorgeous dragoon guards with their precise moustaches and gaits.

Good Humour

The duet "So go to him and say to him" by Mrs. W. Rashleigh (The Lady Jane) and Bunthorne (Christopher Mainguy) was one of the high spots in the performance. The entire show had an air of spontaneity and good humour which gave the Gilbertian satire a freshness. Even the most difficult choruses and part-singing were done with a despatch which showed the results of the training under Christopher Gledhill, M.A., who directed the work, assisted during the performance by the baton of Mrs. G. Winder Smith.

All costume and scenery were designed and made at the school.

The principals of the cast, other than those already mentioned were Percy Sherwood (Colonel Calverley) who gave a steady performance, Fred Gibaut (Major Murgatroyd), Bruce MacNaughton (Lieutenant the Duke of Dunstable), C. M. Serson (the solicitor), and Morgan Bonney (Archibald Grosvenor).

The high-born ladies were David Dale (Angela) who sang and acted with ease, Alec Ryder (Saphir), and Billy Wilson (Ella).

Officers of the dragoons who gave a smart and full-voiced performance were R. Drury, N. Powell, W. Hill, M. Townsend, W. Larter, J. Wilkes and two masters of the school, H. Ketchum and W. Rashleigh.

The rapturous maidens were R. Baker, W. Blackwell, M. Haig, S. Scott, J. Bate, J. Davis, D. Harris, J. Beal, B. Eaton, I. McCallum, T. Wilkes, M. Gordon, and P. Saunders.

M. Bonney, D. Macgillivray and M. Roper did the scenery and the electrican was B. Weaver.

Prime Minister

day next week in honor of this visit today," the Prime Minister said.

This would mean, he explained they would have two days away from school, Victoria Day, on May 24, followed by the special day for Peterborough school children.

The Peterborough Citizens' Band played and the children sang enthusiastically, "O, Canada."

It was very encouraging, the Prime Minister told the children, that they were standing on guard for Canada as they promised in the words of the song.

If Canada presents a strong front facing aggressors, you won't have to stand on guard in the trenchese and on the battlefields," Mr. St. Laurent told them.

From the park, the Prime Minister's party drove to the Canadian General Electric Co. where they were greeted by a gold-lettered welcome sign and the C. G. E. bagpipe band.

Works manager Ian McRae and Mrs. McRae met them and Mr. McRae conducted the party on a tour through parts of the plant. Both Mrs. St. Laurent and her daughter, as well as the Prime Minister took a lively interest in the machinery and work explained to them.

Although very little work was in progress because it was Saturday, Mr. St. Laurent stopped and spoke to several of the workmen doing special rush jobs.

Waiting near the Managhan Road gate of the plant a small crowd had gathered. One elderly lady stood expectantly, flag held high in her hand, and the Prime Minister didn't miss her. He waved to her and the motorcade rolled on.

The cars drove up Charlotte St. to George St. and along the main street to Hunter St. as hundreds lined the sidewalks gay with fluttering flags and pennants overhead and on the store fronts.

At Victoria Park more than 1,000 children from six schools and a large number of adults waited. Again the Prime Minister talked briefly to the children then sprung his surprise of the extra school holiday. It isn't often children meet a person who can scatter school holidays as he goes along.

Next stop was the Quaker Oats Co., but before the car parade arrived, a slight hitch developed. On Hunter St. opposite The Examiner building an old car had stalled. Men tried desperately to push it out of the way before the motorcade arrived but the cars of the procession had to turn out to go around it.

Waiting at the Quaker Oats Co. to greet the Prime Minister were James Wharry, P. M. McCarrell, Fred Ash, Col. Max Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Blake Bell.

Mr. St. Laurent and Madame St. Laurent with their daughter signed the company's register as well as Mayor and Mrs. Swanston. Members of the party inspected several of the packaging operations, but because of the press of time in the tight tour schedule they did not penetrate farther into the plant.

The Quaker's president and general manager, R. R. Faryon, was away on a business trip to Chicago, but from his office the Prime Minister and Madame St. Laurent admired the view of the Otonabee River and the hills east of Peterborough in the background.

At King George Schol, the Prime Minister met most of the school children of Ashburnham and again gave his welcome news to the enthusiastic students.

Visit to Westclox.

Walking across the street to the Western Clock Co., the Prime Minister and his party were welcomed by general manager J. H. Vernor, H. T. Cranford, assistant general manager and O. A. Degraw, sales manager.

Just as they were entering Mr. Vernor said to Madame St. Laurent, "You might want to rest and may not be so interested in our plant."

"Oh yes, we want to see it," the Prime Minister's wife replied. As in everything else she saw, Madame St. Laurent was keenly interested in all there was to see at the Westclox.

On the top floor, about 15,000 clocks of all varieties were being test run on special racks. The Prime Minister, who apparently likes to be awakened early no more than anyone else, commented, "Horrible beasts!"

No more than half a dozen employees were in the Westclox building and the Prime Minister paused to say hello to each one.

Coming out of the Westclox, the Prime Minister was conducted to the top of Armour Hill where he paused to take in the magnificent view the clear day afforded.

The motorcade then went on a brief tour of Ashburnham, starting with the Lift Lock and ending at his private car in time for luncheon and a rest before an exhausting afternoon was to begin.

All along the many streets, the Prime Minister's party had travelled during the morning, men, women and children were standing on sidewalks and verandahs to see them as they drove along.

Housewives paused in their work, women shopping interrupted their bargain hunting, and the boys and girls stopped in their play.

City police, posted at key spots and turns along the route did a very efficient job of providing a clear way for the Prime Minister's group without holding up busy Saturday traffic. Members of the Peterborough detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police effectively handled the crowds at each of the places where the party alighted from the cars.

Vandals Destroyed Treasured Sun Dial

Confined to her home with an incurable illness, an elderly woman, living near London and Bethune streets woke this morning to find one of her most treasured possession had been destroyed, apparently by thoughtless vandals.

The sick woman derived a great deal of joy from a sun dial in her garden but she will no longer be able to see it from her window because this morning when she looked out, she found it had been shattered.

The sun dial was made especially for her by a Peterborough cement contractor. The contractor presented it to her as a gift—a gift which has brought joy during her long illness.

OBITUARY

MRS. ROBERT ARMSTRONG

Mrs. Robert Armstrong, 519 Bolivar St., died on Sunday in a Peterborough hospital at the age of 70. She had lived in the city 45 years, coming here from Victoria Rd., near Lindsay.

Born in Millbrook, she was a daughter of Thomas Jones and Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Jones.

Mrs. Armstrong was an active member of Trinity United Church where she was a member of the WMS and the Service for Others class.

She leaves two daughters and two sons: Mrs. Malcolm Latimer (Marjorie) of Peterborough; Mrs. Charles Forsyth (Pearl) of Bridgenorth; Newton and Keith of Peterborough. She also leaves 11 grandchildren and three great grandchildren. Her three sisters and two brothers are Mrs. Arthur King (Bertha) of Victoria Road; Mrs. John Wright (Thirza) of Toronto; Mrs. Henry Pollock (Emma) of Saskatchewan, William and Whitney of Fenelon Falls.

The Rev. Dr. G. Bruce Gordon will conduct the funeral Wednesday at 2 p.m. at the Nisbett Funeral Home and burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

MORNING STROLL

The Hon. Louis St. Laurent previewed his itinerary up George St. early Saturday morning. Before many people were downtown Mr. St. Laurent was seen strolling up the main street at 7:30 a.m. for an early morning breather before his 13-hour tour of Peterborough.

Bedding Sought For Flood Victims

The total amount sent into the Examiner for the disaster victims in southern Manitoba and Rimouski is now $2,105.

There were several anonymous donors including one who gave $100.

Contributions of $2 or more will be acknowledged in the Examiner. Make cheques payable either to the "Manitoba Flood Relief Fund" or the "Rimouski Fire Fund."

Major Cyril Everitt, officer in charge of the Peterboorugh Salvation Army, announces that a survey has been made of the stricken areas of Manitoba by Army representatives.

Many victims are now returning to their homes, and they are in dire need of bedding, sheets, blankets, pillows and even mattresses. Therefore, the Salvation Army is making a general appeal for any of these articles. The Temple on Simcoe and Aylmer Streets will be used as a temporary emergency centre. Shipments will go direct to the flooded areas.

High Pressure Tactics Fail In Police Court

COBOURG, May 22 (ENS) — When Harold McMaster, 35, of St John N.B. got 30 days for breaking and entering, he tried to high-pressure Magistrate R B Baxter into letting him go on suspended sentence. However the magistrate didn't succumb.

McMaster, who has been in and out of U.S. and Canadian prisons on petty larceny, immigration violations and vagrancies, over a period of time, was charged in court her with breaking and entering the offices of J. J. Oulahen and Dr. W. J. Brett and stealing $1.08 from a milk bottle at the apartment of Mrs. Phillip Ashcroft.

Constable E. Butler said he received a complaint that a stranger was coming out of Dr. Brett's office before the office was supposed to be open. He later arrested the accused. Entrance was gained by using a skeleton key.

McMaster said he moved out of the Maritimes because his prison record was always catching up to him. His travels took him almost from coast to coast and down to southern California and Utah.

"About the only thing to do with a man with his long record is throw him in the penitentiary and throw the key away," observed Crown Attorney Harry Deyman. "On the other hand, it might be just as well to send him on his way," he added.

"Thirty days on each charge, to run concurrently," said the magistrate.

"Give me suspended sentence and I'll get right out of town and head back east," said the accused.

"You just go through saying that you didn't like it down east and went west because of your record," the magistrate reminded him.

"If you send me to jail, I'll come out just as bad as ever and I'll never get anywhere," protested the accused.

"Thirty days," repeated the magistrate.

"No. Let me go on suspended sentence," said McMaster.

"That is enough of this," said the Crown Attorney nodding to the constable to take McMaster out.

ROSENEATH, May 22.—(ENS).—More than 200 guests were present at a dance and presentation in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Elden George, recent newlyweds, on Friday, in the LOL hall, Roseneath.

Minife's orchestra, Harwood, played for dancing.

Following midnight lunch, the bride and groom were called to the platform, and an address was read by Mrs. Ivan Thackeray. Miss Pauline Down and Mr. Blair Thackeray presented tri-light floor lamp on benalf of the Charivari Serenaders, and a purse of money from the gathering.

Guests were presented from Peterborough, Port Hope, Cobourg, Hastings, Baltimore, Fenella, Campbellford, Warkworth, Dartford and Norham.

Mrs. F. Foster's Home Venue Of WA Group

HASTINGS, May 22.—(ENS).—Group two of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church met this month at the home of Mrs. F. C. Foster. The president, Mrs. Foster, presided, and Mrs. J. M. Baker had charge of the worship. Mrs. Robert Collins read the scripture.

Mrs. Foster gave a brief report on the Presbyterial. Mrs. Cecil Oliver invited the group to her home for the June meeting.

Find Missing Pair

TORONTO, May 22.—(CP).—J. Leonice Roe and Patricia McCloskey, both 15, missing for a week from their suburban Etobicoke homes, have been found in Penetanguishene, Ont., a relative of one said late Sunday.

EIGHT-MONTHS-OLD Bonnie Jean Howard of Portland, Maine, doesn't seem to mind a bit as her pet Boxer pup, Bruce, finishes up her breakfast cereal. Maybe Bonnie realizes Bruce is just a six-weeks-old baby and hungry all the time.

Boxed Plants In Heavy Supply

Two weeks behind last year hot-house plants appeared in quantity for the first time Saturday on the weekly market. Cabbage, tomatoes, onions and celery plants in vegetables and asters, marigolds, snapdragons, petunias and pansies in flowers were all selling fairly briskly at 30c a box. Some flats, containing 100 tomato plants, were sold at $1.75 and $2 depending upon the variety.

Cut flowers sold readily on the outside market but moved slowly in the building. Tulips, 50c to 75c a dozen, and paper whites, 50c and 60c a dozen, were in good supply. Daffodils were 60c a dozen.

Flower roots went slowly. Clumps of lily of the valley and lemon lily were 20c each while sweet William, forget-me-not, and iris roots were 25c each. Centerbury bells, depending upon the size of the roots, were two for 25c or three for 25c. Potted geraniums sold from 35c to 75c each.

Eggs were 35c a dozen for grade A small, 38c for grade A mediums, 40c for grade A large and 43c for grade A extra large. The high on the market for eggs was 43c for mediums and 45c for large. Chickens were selling moderately between 38c and 45c a pound.

Four puppies, a collie and three spaniels, were offered for sale. The spaniels; two males and a female, were selling at $3 and $5 each.

Truck And Car Crash

COBOURG, May 22 (ENS) — Considerable damage occurred in a week-end accident when a truck driven by Reg Stuart of Cobourg was in collisic with a car driven by Oliver Hie of the same town. No one was hust. Both vehicles were northbound and the accident occurred when Mr Stuart was turning left into the golf club. Constables E. Butler and C. Cunningham investigated.

Foil Mass Break

HUTTONSVILLE, W. Va., May 22— (AP) — An attemted mass break from the West Virginia medium security prison here was foiled by alert guards Sunday night, although four youthful convicts slipped away. Two were captured shortly afterwards. State police said a "number of others" among some 50 inmates quartered in a dormitory were involved in the escape attempt. They tried to get away through a barred second-storey window which they pried open after breaking the glass.

Took Food And Truck From Canning Factory

COBOURG, May 22 —(ENS)— Orville Hannan of Cobourg pleaded guilty Saturday to breaking and entering the canning factory on May 12; theft of canned goods under the value of $25 and joy-riding. He was remanded for sentence.

Chief W. J. Carey testified that following a complaint on May 13 that the canning factory had been broken into through a window and canned goods taken, he investigated. The truck owned by the factory had also been taken out on May 12 and later was returned. After the arrest of Hannan, three dozen tins of canned goods were recovered.

Hannan told the court he had taken the canned goods because his pay was not high and he needed the food. As for the truck, his mother-in-law had been after him to move some furniture out to Alderville and as he didn't have the money to hire a truck, he had "borrowed" the one from the canning factory, putting it back as soon as he was through with it.

NOTICE

GARBAGE COLLECTION

Commencing Monday, May 22nd, 1950, the Sanitation Department of the City of Peterborough will not be working on Saturdays, making the following changes necessary.

WEST OF MONAGHAN ROAD

All sections of the City west of Monaghan Road now receiving a Wednesday and Saturday collection will instead receive a Monday and Thursday collection.

OTHER SECTIONS

Those sections of the City within the following boundaries will be collected Monday and Thursdays: from and including Albert Street south to Romaine Street—Monaghan Road east to Park Street and from Lake Street south to Princess Street—Park Street east to George Street.

EAST CITY

All East City will be collected on Tuesdays and Fridays and that section of the City from Lansdowne Street north to Little Lake—George Street east to Haggart Street; Lansdowne, Prince and Princess Streets from Park Streets to George Street will also be collected on Tuesdays and Fridays.

ONE COLLECTION OF ASHES

Until further notice there will be one collection of ashes per week—which includes grass, brush, bottles and broken glass. Those collections will be on Thursdays and Fridays from those sections from which garbage is being collected.

OUT BY 7 A.M.

On collection days, garbage and ashes must be out for the collectors before 7 a.m.

The Sanitation Department requests the voluntary help of every householder and every Business Establishment to assist the Department in keeping the City clean, and to make this change of system and working week possible by discarding and clearing away all Improper Containers.

Under no consideration should garbage be set out in Cardboard Boxes or Containers other than metal, nor should garbage be set out in uncovered containers.

J. E. PIERCE, Supt.,
Sanitation Department.

Twentieth Century Hospital At 3½ Million Cost

Peterborough's new Civic Hospital, a three and a half million dollar project, was officially opened by the Prime Minister on Saturday. Within a month the whole building will be open for public inspection and soon will be in full use.

• • •

We rejoice in the splendid new building, the nurses' residence, and the accommodation and equipment. The site is splendid, at the western edge of the city and on eminence which gives a panoramic view of rolling countryside and city hardly to be equalled in Ontario. Local people long used to Peterborough's ways and by-ways will have to re-orientate their geography. For instance, one drives west a mile into the country out the extension of Park Hill Road, turns left, and lo! there is the hospital and the city's west gate—no longer in the country.

• • •

Our pride in the new Civic Hospital is not unmixed with perplexity. It is Peterborough's third undenominational hospital. The first two were built and supported almost entirely by private charity, the munificence of several donors, and patients' fees. The old Civic Hospital still in use, formerly called Nicholls Hospital—which the new institution will replace—did not cost the ratepayers a penny until the 1920's. From 1920 to 1930 a few thousand dollars came out of the municipal treasury, chiefly an assessment for indigent patients. In the next decade the city provided for the small monthly deficits. Then suddenly, at the same time that an extension to the old, or the building of a new hospital became inevitable, hospital costs soared. The Nicholls Trust fund was inadequate to cope with the situation. The Nicholls Hospital became a Civic Hospital in name and substance. Costs still rose and the need for more accommodation mounted.

• • •

After the war, the ratepayers voted money for a new hospital, Government grants were obtainable, and plans for the present new building were laid. As the building began to rise, further sums were demanded of the citizens, and approval given for other debentures.

• • •

The costs of operating our hospital, and the costs of putting up the new building have not been a unique problem to Peterborough. It is instructive, however, to see how Peterborough has attempted to manage its burdens of hospitalization. Here is how the new $3,500,000 building has been financed:

Federal grant	$ 234,766
Ontario Gov't grant	242,666
Peterborough County grant	150,000
City of Peterborough, 1st debenture issue	600,000
Peterborough City Trust, municipal monies	300,000
City Utilities Commission	50,000
Balance of Nicholls Hospital Trust' fund	240,000
Sale of old building	200,000 (?)
City of Peterborough, 2nd debenture issue	1,500,000

Thus, the citizens of Peterborough are providing, directly and indirectly, $2,450,000 in the equivalent of cash; as well as surrendering into the financial pot the remainder of the Nicholls bequest, which for so many years kept the old hospital operating and had built it in the first place.

◇ ◇ ◇

That is how the citizens of Peterborough have expended their resources past, present and future, to provide this district with an adequate, modern hospital. (In addition, of course, service clubs, and many other organizations, have raised money for special equipment and the like.)

◆ ◆ ◆

While they have been laying themselves flat in these ways, hospital costs have mounted: to the patients therein for whom the bed rates have increased, and to the city treasury, for annual deficits: this year amounting to $80,000—in a year before the new, bigger hospital with its increased costs of operation has come into use.

• • •

Is it any wonder that the citizens of Peterborough look at their new hospital not only with pride (pride in the building, pride in their community effort), but also with trepidation?

Provincial and Federal Government grants have increased. The figures quoted above show that they have not increased enough to prevent a back-breaking load being hoisted on municipalities. For instance, only an eighth of the immense cost of Peterborough's new hospital has been provided for by both Governments. Compare this proportion with, for instance, the grants for a new road, or a new causeway, such as that built over Chemong Lake last year. For that, the Provincial Government contributed 80 per cent. of the cost.

A Call At The Kremlin

The United Nations General Secretary, Trygve Lie, has finished his Mission to Moscow. He had an interview with Stalin last week and has returned from behind the Iron Curtain to report his belief that war is avoidable. "The undertone of all the conversations I have had with everyone in Moscow" had been peace. Mr. Lie's visit was therefore of some value, and it is interesting that he has such a keen ear for undertones. Most of us, not able to sit across a table from Stalin for an hour and a half, can hear only the blare of the Kremlin overtones. The most newsy item of the visit is that Stalin is hale and hearty, "as healthy and lively as ever he was in 1946." Mr. Lie was not talking to an embalmed corpse.

Can Mr. Truman Do It Again?

Most of our readers will recall U.S. President Truman's political coup of 1948. Opinion in advance of the election of that year had been almost unanimous in predicting his defeat. The so-called public opinion polls, a majority of U.S. editorial pages, columnists and radio commentators, and a large section of Mr. Truman's own Democratic party, had conceded victory to his opponent. Shouldering all this aside, he embarked jauntily on a tour of the "whistle stops", and a number of larger communities. The trip was remarkably successful and was later given a major share of the credit for the victory which confounded the prophets and critics.

Mr. Truman is now on tour again, and the journey is patterned after that of two years ago. All the towns and hamlets, all the great centres with well-organized Democratic political machines, on his route across the Mid-West and West have been visited. Mr. Truman's message to the people generally is almost identical with that of 1948. In fact, one of the two points of difference in the two tours is highly technical; the present one is described as "nonpolitical." It is so only in the sense that Mr. Truman lumps his Republican and Democratic opponents together and calls them "timid men," "reactionaries," "greed boys" and "calamity howlers."

Even the background is much the same today as two years ago. Mr. Truman's party is uneasy about his failure to get Congress to enact most of his Fair Deal program, and about the effect of the China lobby's attack on the State Department, led by Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin. There is still a rebel group within the party. Poll-takers have brashly declared that Mr. Truman has lost heavily in public confidence and affection. Critics have spoken, solemnly and heavily, about inappropriate timing and the "unwisdom" of the President leaving the capital in the present political situation, and "playing politics" at a time of near-crisis in world affairs.

Mr. Truman, however, is still drawing the crowds, still being greeted enthusiastically by the people to whom he is "reporting" as their "hired hand." And the second difference in the two tours is the attitude of all Democratic leaders along the route. They are hastening to greet the President warmly, intent on guarding against repetition of the embarrassment suffered by some of them in 1948.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The trouble with the weather is whether. But the important difference is still meteorological, not orthographical.

A Briton charges that the Canadian market has become fickle. Fickle as a woman. A result of Canada's growing up and being referred to as she and not he, or it?

Gary Cooper has been in the movies for 25 years and still likes it. That is not the problem most actors face; it is whether people after 25 years still like them.

Musical Notes

By PETER PIPER

HOW should Bach be played on the piano? This is a question which should be exercising our minds particularly in 1950, the bicentenary of his death. In the first place Bach never wrote for the piano. His keyboard instruments were the clavichord and harpsichord, and of course the organ. On these three instruments he was supreme as an executant. Nearly all his organ works have an independent part for the pedals, and so they have to be arranged for the piano, but his clavichord and harpsichord works can be played as written on the modern piano. Bach never indicates whether a work is to be played on the harpsichord or clavichord, though this can be inferred from internal evidence at times. For example the Italian Concerto can be safely said to be written for the harpsichord of two manuals (keyboards) owing to its lay-out.

It is said that Bach preferred the clavichord, and it is certain that many of his more intimate works could be rendered sympathetically on it than on the more brilliant but less responsive harpsichord. The clavichord is ruled out of court in concerted works and works intended for public performance on account of its feeble tone; it was preeminently the instrument for the home. Both instruments were vastly different from the modern piano, so that all Bach's keyboard works are in a way transcribed when played on the piano. Pianists should not be afraid of occasionally using the sustaining pedal on the grounds that neither the harpsichord nor the clavichord possessed one; its use however must be extremely restrained.

Bach wrote very few directions for phrasing or expression, and sometimes no indication of speed. This is common to all writers of the first half of the eighteenth century, and has caused the ridiculous misconception of sham musical antiquarians that all music of this period should be played through without expression. It is true that musicians of that period were somewhat less interested in problems of dynamics than their successors, but I think it is nearer the mark to say that they regarded the musical text more as a ground plan than a detailed series of directions. This was an age of extemporization. Singers and performers alike did not hesitate to enrich the often bare framework of the score with all sorts of grace notes and other embellishments as the spirit moved them. To indicate meticulously all the nuances of expression would be felt cramping to the style of the performer. Many of the pieces for harpsichord by Handel and others are but the barest sketches which would inevitably be elaborated in the course of performance.

In one respect Bach comes nearer to the moderns; he nearly always writes out the ornamentation in full. Bach's ornamentation is so unmistakably stamped with the hall-mark of his personality that we should be grateful that it has been preserved. As for phrasing we are on more debatable ground. There are usually several alternative good phrasings for the subject of a Bach figure. Whichever is chosen it should be adhered to rigidly wherever the subject comes in, as the phrasing will help to "bring out" the subject without swamping the other parts. Bach should be played with expression, not just "rattled through", but care should be taken to avoid sentimentality, which is out of place and holds up the flow of the music. Extremes of fortissimo and pianissimo are seldom called for, but there should be plenty of nuance within smaller limits. The bass may frequently be doubled at the octave with good effect. Grace notes had better be played gracefully or not at all.

I ONCE tried the experiment of playing a record of the fourth movement of Berlioz's "Symphonie Fantastique" to a group of boys, telling them that it was supposed to illustrate something, and asking them to write down what they thought it was. The answers were most interesting, and showed intelligence in many cases, though none of them of course guessed that it was supposed to represent a March to the Scaffold. Several thought it was a storm at sea, some thought it was a battle. The nearest guess was that it was a man dying and going to Heaven. I then told them what the composer was trying to illustrate and played over the record a second time. I pointed out the sinister inappropriateness of the gay music in the middle section (just the sort of thing that might happen at a public execution!) and the roll of the side-drum at the end to indicate that justice had been done. Afterwards I raised the question whether the composer was not trying to express in music something that could be expressed better in words, or whether he had succeeded in writing something that satisfied as music. That is the acid test of programme music.

AURAL training is a much neglected aspect of musical education. It is a subject in which there are vast differences in natural ability, but it can be developed even in the most unpromising pupils, given practice and perseverance. The average music teacher is hardly to blame for the fact that aural training is so neglected: the blame should really rest on the musical academies. In their syllabuses the subject is usually allotted only about ten per cent. of the total possible marks. This being the case the teacher has usually no option but to concentrate mainly on the technical work and the prepared pieces if his pupil is to get good marks. If the percentages of marks for aural training were to be raised the whole standard would be raised and musicianship would be improved.

The teaching of theory should go hand in hand with aural training. Nobody should be allowed to write anything that he did not "hear" in his mind. With more aural training the study of harmony becomes an intelligible subject instead of an alarming and arbitrary series of prohibitions designed for the purposes of examinations. It is only when aural training is neglected that theory becomes a bugbear. Theory, too, from the earliest stages must be linked up with actual practice. Even the simplest cadence should be written "for voices", "for strings", and so on, and not as some abstract exercise divorced from practical considerations. Reasons should be given wherever possible. In the case of the prohibition of consecutives the attempt to justify it on rational grounds is almost hopeless (I have read some ingenious but not very plausible explanations): the only honest thing to do is to say that it has been the common practice of composers from the fifteenth to the beginning of the twentieth century, and that it is the business of the student first to assimilate something of technique of past ages before trying to be "original".

King George And The 'Flying Dutchman'

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

Canada has several phantom ships, such as the burning vessel of the Bay of Chaleurs, the apparition of Mahone Bay, and the craft said to be sometimes seen driving on the rocks off the mouth of Halifax Harbor.

Australia has only one phantom vessel but it is vouched for by a prince who later became the Sailor King, the late George V. The story is told in a two-volume work, "The Cruise of Her Majesty's Ship Bacchante. Compiled from The Private Letters and Notebooks of Prince Albert Victor and Prince George of Wales, with Additions by John N. Dalton".

Published in London in 1886 the book is dedicated to Queen Victoria, grandmother of the two princes. Prince Albert Victor was the elder brother of Prince George, the later George V. He died not long after the end of the voyage.

The Bacchante had damaged her rudder and the Princes were sailing from Melbourne to Sydney, New South Wales, in HMS Inconstant. The entry for July 11, 1880, reads as follows:

"At 4 a.m. the Flying Dutchman crossed our bows, a strange red light, as of a phantom ship all aglow, in the midst of which light the masts, sails and spars of a brig 200 yards distant stood out in strong relief as she came up on the port bow. The lookout man on the forecastle clearly saw her, as did also the quarterdeck midshipman, who was sent forward at once to the forecastle; but on arriving there no vestige nor any sign whatever of any material vessel was to be seen, either near or right away to the horizon, the night being clear and the sea calm.

"Thirteen persons altogether saw her but whether it was Van Dieman or the Flying Dutchman or who else must remain unknown. The Tourmaline and Cleopatra, sailing on our starboard bow, flashed to ask whether we had seen the strange red light.

"At 6.15 a.m. observed land (Mount Diana) to the northeast. At 10.45 a.m. the ordinary seaman who had this morning reported the Flying Dutchman fell from the topgallant to the forecastle and was smashed to atoms. (At our next port the admiral also was smitten down). The midshipmen's half-yearly examination began with the algebra paper."

Dangerous Talk

(The Printed Word)

Arthur Lismer said, at a recent banquet given in honour of him, his teachings and his paintings, that much of his life he had been "exhausted and exalted." He seemed to take pride in this admission.

Dr. Lismer should be dragged aside and cautioned. If he cannot break himself of such goings-on, he should at least keep decently quiet. Canada's youth, reared in an emphasis on security, and looking stolidly forward to a pension, must be protected from the contaminations of genius. Neither exhaustion nor exaltation has any place in a planned economy.

French Tourist Trade

In 1949 the 2,400,000 foreign tourists who visited France left behind them $150,000,000. This year a further effort will be made to modernize and enlarge the hotels. In addition to the 3 billion francs ($9,375,250) provided in the Monnet plan to encourage the tourist trade, loans of from 20 to 50 million francs ($62,500 to $156,250) are to be made to hotel proprietors. This will bring the total investment in new equipment for the tourist trade up to $17,500,000.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

But there went up a mist from the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul. (Gen. 2: 6, 7.)

Edger Throws Two-Hit Ball As Petes Defeat Dovers, 7-0

Behind two-hit pitching by Bill Edger, the Petes banged three Toronto twirlers for 14 bingles here Saturday to open their Viaduct Baseball League schedule with a 7-0 win over Dovers. They played errorless ball in the field and looked good, coming on stronger near the finish. A fair-sized crowd was on hand, and the prime minister paid a brief visit to the park. President Hugh McLean of the Viaduct League, along with Hugh Campbell and Vern Dawson took part in the opening ceremony.

A TWO-HITTER—Bill Edger opened the Viaduct Ball Loop schedule here Saturday by throwing two-hit ball as the Petes shut out Toronto Dovers by 7 to 0 in a fine showing.

Edger was in fine form with good control and plenty of curves to keep ahead of all but two batters. Cornack and Ryback getting singles. Dan Ryback lasted till the seventh for Dovers on the mound, but was shelled out then, with John Henderson serving an inning, and Joe McGowan finishing up. Their support was wobbly and the Petes got four unearned runs.

Estlick Leads

Paul Estlick led the local attack with three for three, as he drove home three runs. Howie Dalton smacked out a double and two singles in five tries. Joe Lowrey hit a double and single, as Bill Dadson and Pat Wilson cuffed two singles each Catches by Estlick, Menzies and a pickup by Brown were fielding features, the visitors getting a double-play when a runner forgot there was but one out on a fly ball. Lowrey's double would have been a triple but a preceding runner was slow to get caught at the plate.

Estlick got a run in the second on a walk, steal and single by Edger. Two tallied in the sixth on hits by Dadson, Brown and Estlick, plus two miscues. They got four in the seventh for Manager Ed Murphy on two errors, singles by Wilson, Dadson and Estlick, along with Dalton's double But five of the Dovers got on base, one reaching second and nobody seeing third throughout.

UE Soccerites Lead Loop After 5-2 Win

Peterborough UE soccer eleven are now leading the Eastern Ontario Soccer League with two wins and a draw with a total of five points. They defeated Brockville on Saturday afternoon 5-2 in Brockville. Attard was the outstanding performer to be followed by R. Strong, while the Brockville custodian was brilliant. The local boys now meet Kingston here next Saturday in an important match.

Selection of goals fell in favor of Brockville who made good use of the advantage to keep Peterborough on the alert to save their citadel but Brockville opened the scoring from a scrimmage in front of goal. After 10 minutes of play Brockville made another breakaway to find Anderson making the count 2-0. Petes tried hard to get the swing of the game but they didn't click to get a shot on goal, although Strong and Downer twice tested the Brockville goalie from close range without success.

Finished Strong

On resuming, Peterborough showed perfect combination that brought them success when Strong scored from his own rebound. On the next visit, led by Stan McGann on a close passing movement, Strong caught the Brockville goalie unaware with a 20-yard drive for the equalizer. Encouraged Peterborough halfbacks reverted to quick interception to nullify any progress by the Brockville eleven as they weakened under the steady pressure. From a timely pass by Craig Attard made the opening for G. Downer to put the Petes ahead. Brockville retaliated with dangerous raids but they were completely baffled when Fred Attard on an individual effort with his typical angle shots gave the Brockville goalie no chance to save. On a Craig-Downer pass George Foster registered the fifth counter. Petes failed to score from a penalty kick after Downer had been brought down in the act of scoring.

Peterborough UE—J. Hutchinson, goal; S. Murduff and T. Foster, full backs; S. McGann, E. Downer and J. Craig, half backs; R. Strong, H. Steele, F. Attard, A. Featherstone and G. Downer, forwards. Subs: J. Chamberlain and G. Foster.

Brockville—J. Anderson, goal; T. Smith and R. Kay, full backs; J. McKenzie, G. Harper, and R. Murduff, half backs; T. Brooks, H. Humphries, R. Merritt, P. Pollock and G. Smart, forwards.

Blue Dance Wins Easy Victory

TORONTO, May 22 (CP) — Blue Dance, a feather-footed three-year-old from the stable of J. R. McIntyre, hung up an easy six-length victory Saturday in the first division of the plate trial at Woodbine Park.

J. F. Seagram's Roanite, a 40-1 shot, won the second division after a neck-and-neck run with the favored Nephisto from Parkwood stables. The race was run in two divisions because of the large number of entries—17 in all.

A crowd of 20,000 thronged the east-end track for the trial, a sneak-preview of the King's Plate, and a testing-ground for entries in the turf classic for Canadian-bred three-year-olds. It will be run May 27.

Blue Dance, odds-on favorite, covered the six furlongs in 1:15, trailed to the wire by F. W. Merrill's Lady's Lover and Medalofreedom from the Double Blue stable.

Roanite scampered in a length ahead of Nephisto in the second division after the pair had battled it out on even terms most of the way. Sir Strome was third. Time was 1:15 4/5.

Victory was worth $2,500 each to Blue Dance and Roanite.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

It occurred to us the other night at Miller Bowl that refs should be real careful when trying to break up a fight. Just as in hockey or other games where hard body contacts makes for short tempers. If one ref grabs a fighter to hold him and the other ref (or an assisting player) is slow grabbing the other, the latter can get in a few telling punches on a helpless opponent. Like in the Dugan-Payne scrap last Friday. The Huntsville official—a member of that club, too—even tripped Arn up as he yanked him away from Payne. Dugan promptly hung one on the ref, and it served him right. Of course, in a loop game that would have meant a suspension for hitting a referee.

* * * * * *

More entries are required in the minor baseball setup, just nine being in yet. They expect 16, and the westend had better get busy. Not too many in the northend, either, but that has been the case for several years. Lots of players and teams in East City and the southend. Bill Ovens, former mayor, says he wishes he had a bit more time and he'd manage a westend squad of boys. Surely there are others who have the time. The PMBA holds a meeting at seven p.m. Tuesday in the "Y" to take entries, check on diamonds available and handle other pre-season business.

St. Laurent Drops In

Senior ball got off to a fine start in Riverside on Saturday, even the Prime Minister dropping in for a brief visit. Half the bleachers were taken away for use in other spots he was visiting, but they'll all be back for the May 24 tilt. By the way, Vern Dawson, George Clarke, Ed Murphy and others are hoping for more donations toward the lights. The fund has been coming along good, but the last few thousand are the toughest. Poles are here now, but more ough-day is needed. Prexy Hugh McLean of the Viaduct League, along with Vern Dawson and Hugh Campbell, took part in the opening ceremony before a fair crowd on a swell aft.

* * * * * *

Bill Edger was in dandy pitching form for a two-hit shutout and his buddies went good at bat and afield. Paul Estlick led the clouters and had a good running grab. Joe Lowery and Pat Wilson showed okay form in the field and at the plate, while the infield of Dadson — Joe Stewart is honeymooning—Garvey, Brown and Dalton were clicking all the way. Danny Brown is a sweet shortstop in any company. Reminds us somewhat of Charlie Gehringer, though the Silent Ghost was a second-sacker for Tigers. Al Menzies caught a great game, too. We don't think Ed Murphy will have too much to worry about when he gets two or three good college imports to bolster that club. The Petes will give anyone a battle.

* * * * * *

Another One In Bag

They came right back Sunday in Toronto to take Dovers 6-1 as more than 2,000 paid toward the the flood relief fund. Doug Plunkett blazed his bullet ball by nine as he scattered five hits in a swell slab showing, and who says the Petes' pitching isn't right promising? Whole crew clicked well, with Howie Dalton once more showing the old eagle eye at the platter to smack out three safe blows. Joe Lowrey and Al Menzies came through with a pair apiece. Joe is starting off like it might be a big season for him at bat, maybe his habit of always touching a sack going on or off the field starting to pay off, eh? In other senior week-end games, Aces took a pair, beating Staffords 5-1 and Oshawa 16-8. The Aces are here Wednesday aft to play the Petes, and that should be a dandy.

* * * * * *

Kawartha Golf Club had nice weather for its official opening on Saturday, Prexy Alex MacGregor and the other officers starting things off in good style. Lex Robson, capable pro, says they'll have a record season for members and interest. A lot of improvements, the course being in tip-top shape and the pro shop enlarged. They had 79 teeing off in the three flights of competition, won by Jack Condon, Sandy Sanderson and Red Reid for low gross, with low net being taken by Bill Barnett, Gordon White and Bill Irwin. Lots of sociability later and an evening dance. Guest day next Saturday there.

Batting—Joe DiMaggio, Yankees—Drove in eight runs as the Yankees took the measure of the Cleveland Indians twice, 14-5 and 12-4. He batted in six runs in the opener with two home runs and a double. One of hie homers came with the bases full. He collected two singles and drove in two runs in the nightcap.

Pitching — Conrado Marrero, Senators—Yielded only three hits in pitching the Senators to a 6-2 triumph over Detroit Tigers.

Plunkett Hurls Fine Fray For Petes' Win

Doug Plunkett was in top form yesterday at Viaduct Stadium as Ed Murphy's squad made it two straight in the week-end series with Toronto Dovers, defeating the latter 6-1, before more than 2,000 fans. Entire proceeds of $339 are to be donated to the Manitopa Flood Relief Fund. The players of both teams paid admission to the park, while the league will pay all expenses of the game not freely donated.

The big fireball king of the Marines mixed his blazing fast ball with a sharp breaking curve and baffling change of pace to completely subdue Ray Tenenbaum's boys all the way, striking out nine and scattering five hits. He walked three, but was never in trouble. Meanwhile his mates combed the offerings of lefty Joe Weisberg for 10 safe bingles, including a hard smash by Dalton into the right field bleachers in the fifth for six runs. Jack Henderson twirled the ninth after Kochjerg pinched in vain for Weisberg in the home half of the eighth.

Peterborough took an early lead in the second as Menzies flied to left, but Brown reached first as Teperman muffed his short fly, advanced on Estlick's safety and scored on Stewart's hard single. Lowrey scored Paul on a sharp bingle after Plunkett fanned. Garvey popped to Lipka to end the inning. They added another in the third on Dalton's single, a wild pitch, and Menzies' sharp single over second. Dalton's homer came with none aboard in the fifth. The visitors added two more in eighth, aided by Weisman's balk, two walks and hits by Plunkett and Lowrey despite the only double play of the game as Stewart drove to Cormack, who retired Estlick and him in a fast keystone play from Shadlesky to Hugh Bolton.

Yankees Sweep Twin Bill As DiMaggio Hits Stride

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

All's well with New York Yankees now that Joe DiMaggio is back on the beam. Apparently all-both DiMag and the Yankees needed was a change of scenery.

With their first western trip nearing its end, the defending American League champions are sitting prettier than at any time this season. A sweep of the doubleheader in Cleveland, 14-5 and 12-4, established them more securely than ever in first place.

Washington's 6-2 triumph over Detroit and Chicago's 4-3 victory over Boston after the Red Sox won the opener, 7-0, gave the Yanks a 2½-game bulge over the second-place Tigers and a three-game edge over the Red Sox.

When the Yankees left New York a week ago they were in second place and DiMaggio was in the midst of one of the worst batting slumps of his career. He was batting .255.

Hits His Stride

But once on the road DiMaggio began hitting and the Yankees wasted little time climbing to the top. They won six successive games and have three more scheduled before the trip is over.

In the six games Joe had a batting mark of .391 and boosted his average to .259.

Brooklyn Dodgers' first-place hold in the National League was cut to a half game when Philadelphia Phillies divided a doubleheader with St. Louis Cardinals while Cincinnati Reds were nosing out the Brooks 10-9. The Cardinals needed a triple play to win the first game 6-5 but the Phils came back to win the nightcap, 4-2 on Andy Seminick's two-run homer in the last of the ninth.

In Third Place Tie

Boston's Braves moved into a third place tie with the Cards, winning two from Chicago Cubs, 3-2 and 4-3. Pittsburgh moved past the Cubs into fifth place, sweeping both ends of a doubleheader from the Giants in New York 4-2 and 8-6.

Philadelphia and St. Louis split an American League twin bill, the A's winning the second game, 8-3 after the Browns had won the opener 11-6. Wally Moses' grand-slam homer in the ninth featured Philadelphia's triumph.

DiMaggio enjoyed his biggest day of the year Sunday as he batted in eight runs in the twin bill. He drove in six in the opener with a pair of homers and a double. One of his four-baggers came with the bases loaded. Ed Lopat and Allie Reynolds each won his fourth game for the Yankees. Bob Feller and Early Wynn were the losing pitchers.

Conrado Marrero stopped the Tigers with three hits for the Senators. A two-run homer by Eddie Yost, and another circuit clout by Sam Mele with two mates aboard, all against Ted Gray, accounted for all but one of Washington's runs.

Lefty Billy Pierce snapped a seven-game losing streak for the White Sox with a seven-hitter against Boston after Ellis Kinder had shut out Chicago on four hits in the opener. Bill Wight, Kinder's opponent, allowed only seven hits, but one was a three-run home by Walter Dropo.

Home runs by Virgil Stallcup, Johnny Wyrostek, Grady Hatton and Danny Litwhiler enabled Herman Wehmeier to go the distance in the Reds' 10-9 victory over Brooklyn.

Port Hope Gets Close One Over The Petes

With two out in the last of the ninth and the score 10-all, the Port Hope Ontarios Saturday pushed across an unearned run to take the opening Lakeshore baseball game from the youthful Peterborough Intermediate "A" Ashby's entry.

Carmen (Jake) Jequith, a righthander, started on the mound for Ashby's but ran into a little wildness in the third, combined with a call of the new balk rule to give the Ontarios two runs to add to an earned run in the first. An error, three bases on balls and three hits in the fourth sent Jaquith to the showers as the Hopers crossed the plate six times to give Port Hope the lead 9-6.

Bill Thompson, another righthander, relieved Jaquith and pitched four-hit ball for the next five and one-third innings. In the eighth with one out White, the Port Hope lead-off man, clipped his fourth hit into centre field. He advanced to second on a wild pitch but Thickson flied out to Don Floyd in centre who threw to Ted Collins at third for a double play, catching White on the throw.

Gets Winner

In the ninth the Ashby boys easily claimed the first two batters but Mann, the Hope catcher, slipped a single into right and Porter, the Hope rightfielder, edged on the bases with an error. Two pass balls enabled the catcher to take the winner across.

Len Wescott started for the Port Hope nine and was nicked for four runs in the top of the first. Don (Red) Conway, Petes lead-off man, started the ball rolling with a single and seven batters later Ashby's had four runs on three hits and an error, one man was left on. Again in the fourth the Ashby bats began to connect. Floyd with a single, Jaquith a triple and an error by Wescott gave Peterborough two runs. The roof fell on Wescott in the sixth as the Peterborough boys got two hits with two errors for four runs to tie the score 10-all. Jack Holman, a righthander with a fast ball alternating with a deceiving bender, finished the pitching chore for the Ontarios. In his three and a third innings he never allowed a hit but gave up two walks while striking out three.

White for Port Hope had four with a walk to lead the batters while Red Conway of Ashby's and Foote and Mann of the Ontarios had two for five.

Lineups:

Peterborough Ashby's — Conway, rf; Pagett, ss; Collins, 3rd; Curry, lf; Legrow, 1st; Quigley, 2nd; Casey, 2nd; McGrath, c; Floyd, cf; Jaquith, p; Thompson, p.

Port Hope Ontarios—White, cf; Thickson, 2nd; Foote, 3rd; Edwardson, 1st; Mann, c; Porter, rf; Keeler, lf; Reaves, ss; Wescott, p; Holman, p.

Home-RunBinge Gives Leafs Doubleheader

By The Associated Press

Bud Heslet, strapping outfielder-catcher of Toronto Maple Leafs is on a home run binge.

Heslet who gained [illegible] while the New York Yankee chain as a four-base walloper, belted three out of the park in the second game of Sunday's doubleheader against the International League-leading Montreal Royals.

The 205-pound giant warmed up for his red letter day with a home run in Friday and Saturday's games. Montreal pitchers blanked him in the first game of the twin bill which the Leafs won 2-1, but they couldn't get him out in the nightcap which the Leafs also took 13-2.

Heslet started mildly enough with a single in the Leafs' six-run first. He followed up with home runs in the second, fourth and sixth innings of the seven-inning game. Heslet drove in four runs and scored four.

Catcher Vince Plumbo batted in as many runs as Heslet with one swing of his bat. Plumbo unloaded a grand-slam homer in the first. Johnny Mayo also homered for the Leafs who collected 12 hits to allow Paul Stuffel to coast to his first victory.

Errors Costly

Errors in the fifth inning by Damon Phillips and Rocky Bridges enabled the Leafs to score twice and win the opener for Jocko Thompson, a recent acquisition from the parent Philadelphia Phillies.

The Syracuse Chiefs pulled to within 2½ games of the Royals by dividing a doubleheader with Jersey City Giants. The Giants captured the first game 7-5 and the Chiefs the second 8-5.

Seven home runs were hit in the two games. Al Rubeling, Eddie Shokes, Ben Zientara and Jerry Burmeister connected for the Chiefs and Stan Jok, Pete Milne and Mavin Blaylock for the Giants.

Bill Kennedy and Joe Payne pitched the Baltimore Orioles to brilliant 17-0 and 3-0 victories over Springfield Cubs. Kennedy allowed only three singles and Payne two.

The Orioles supported Kennedy's neat job with a 17-hit attack that included a pair of homers by Butch Woyt and one each by Al Unser and Anse Moore. Ed Pellagrini homered in the nightcap.

Rochester moved up into fourth place, two percentage points ahead of Springfield by dividing with the Buffalo Bisons. The Bisons took the opener, 9-5 and the Red Wings the finale 6-1.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Fifteen years ago Wednesday the first night game in the history of major league baseball was played.

This historic event took place May 24, 1935 at Crosley Field, Cincinnati, where the Reds defeated Philadelphia 2-1 before 18,422 fans in cold weather.

The innovation was greeted with misgivings by officials. Little did they dread that 15 years later more than 400 night games would be on the majors' schedule and that only Chicago's Wrigley Field would be without lights.

"Just a novelty that will wear off," was the consensus regarding the brain child of Larry MacPhail, then general manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

But night ball began to mushroom from its humble beginning. First it was only seven games a season, then 14, then 21. Now, with few exceptions which are self imposed, night play is unlimited.

MacPhail's prime motive in introducing night baseball to the majors was to jack up the attendance.

Brookmeade Stable's Greek Ship surprised a crowd of 33,543 at Belmont Park Saturday by winning the $25,000-added Metropolitan handicap.

The only three-year-old in the field of 11 horses, including some of the topnotchers of the handicap division, Greek Ship scored by a half length over P. A. Markey's Piet which, in turn, was three-quarters of a length before Brandywine Stable's Cochise.

Greek Ship returned mutuels of $69.30, $22.10 and $8.70. Piet paid 6.20 and $4.30 and Cochise $3.20.

At Arcadia, Calif., Proximity shattered the world trotting record for 1 1/6 miles Saturday in winning a $2,500 free-for-all on the western harness racing program at Santa Anita.

Proximity, driven by Clint Hodgins, of Clandeboye, Ont., stepped the distance in 2:06 2/5, three full seconds better than Rodney's clocking.

The victory boosted the eight-year-old Proximity's total earnings to $163,579.67. She is the richest money-winning harness horse off modern times.

At Yonkers, N.Y., the durable Johnny Kelley of West Acton, Mass., raced Sunday to his second national United States amateur Marathon title in three years, finishing 50 yards ahead of the nearest of 66 pursuers. He was clocked in two hours, 45 minutes, 55 3 3-5 seconds for the 26-mile, 385-yard route. Canada's only contender, cigar-smoking Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., finished fifth in 2:49:02.

At White Plains, N.Y., Babe Didrikson Zaharias, carding a 78 for 144-hole total of 629, Sunday won the $5,000 first prize in the Weathervane women's cross-country championship, edging out Louise Suggs by three strokes.

Cancels Concerts

LOS ANGELES, May 22 — (AP) — Margaret Truman has cancelled her July concert appearances and will not sing publicly this summer. James Davidson, head of the New York agency which handles her bookings, said Sunday that the president's daughter has asked to be relieved of scheduled appearances. Miss Truman, "for personal reasons," plans no concert bookings until October, Davidson said.

Tragic Drinking Party

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, May 22 —(AP)—Two soldiers were dead today, two were in critical condition and nine others were in hospital after drinking methonal alcohol taken from an army motor pool. Military officials said the 13 service men held an "experimental" drinking party Friday night.

Hill Prince Wins Preakness With Great Ease

BALTIMORE, May 22 (AP) — What really did happen to Hill Prince in the Kentucky Derby?

Those who missed the Louisville classic still are puzzled about that after seeing the ease with which the Virginia colt took Saturday's Preakness.

Out of the welter of conjectures one fact stood out clearly—Hill Prince certainly ran a different kind of race. And if he sticks to that kind he's going to take something not now in sight to stop him.

The derby post-mortem was marked by a controversy centred on jockey Eddie Arcaro. Those who wrote about the race and those who called the official charts were agreed that Hill Prince's second to King Ranch's Middleground was due to being pulled up twice. Arcaro denied it.

Then, flushed by the glow of victory in the Preakness, Christopher T. Chenery, who owns Hill Prince, said:

"He was restrained in the derby. Today we let him run the way he wanted to."

Hill Prince proved he knew more than his board of strategy.

Quite A Change

For up to and including the derby it had been the practice to keep Hill Prince far off the lead and close to the rail for a late run. If there's lack of racing room at the critical moment this can be disastrous.

Not so in the Preakness. He amazed all past-performance watchers by opening up after the field of six had gone about a quarter-mile in the 1 3-16 miles race. At the first turn Hill Prince put on a spurt and in what seemed a split second he had a three-length lead.

Coming around the second turn into the stretch Middleground came up to Hill Prince's saddle cloth and for a moment it seemed it was going to be a head and header down to the wire. But Arcaro gave the Virginia speedster a signal and he took off until he had five lengths at the finish. C. V. Whitney's Dooly, who surprised everybody by beating his stablemate, Mr. Trouble, was another five back.

O'Hallorans Get Soccer Win

In the opening soccer league game Saturday, O'Halloran's defeated the fast-moving Petes 5-3 before a meagre attendance. Milan Pollock, Polish boy for O'Halloran's was clever with his accurate positional play as well as being a big scorer. J. Kinna, Vancouver, was good in goal as well as at centre-forward where he scored a goal. Best for the winners were Barry Payne and Scott; for the losers Norm and Eddie Lane.

Right from the kickoff O'Halloran's took the initiative to test Pete's goalie with all kinds of drives. He was especially brilliant in saving the shots labelled for below the bar. N. Lane relieved the pressure to the other end where a beautiful centre-kick resulted in H. Payne registering. Milan dribbled his way inside the full backs to slip the ball over to Foster, who found the rigging below the cross-bar, to even the count. At this point, Petes set up a steady attack that brought out the superior qualities of Larry Payne and Scott, full backs, along with Mervin Buchan, acting as a steady influence at centre-half. They again had the Petes surprised when Martin, outside right, beat the full backs when he back-heeled the ball to Foster near the goalpost to make it 2-1. Just before the interval, Martin, outside right, quickly and accurately centered across into goal where the Polish boy connected with a drive.

On resuming, Petes introduced a full 11 against oppositions 10 men. Kinna went into centre-forward to harass the full backs. Again Payne and Scott responded with a scientific defence that held the Petes. Earl, Buchan and O'Halloran, half backs outplayed the attack to feed the forwards with scoring opportunities which terminated in Buchan making it 4-1. Petes cut down the lead when Kinna registered on an individual effort. On the next visit H. Payne reduced the count to read 4-3. Again McArthur, goalie made repeated saves. On the next visit by O'Halloran's forward line they added to the count through Foster.

Petes—J. Kinna, goal; Albert Downer and D. Downer, full backs; K. Downer, H. Payne and N. Lane, half backs; W. Downer, N. Downer, Art Downer, W. Cribbis and E. Lane, forwards.

O'Halloran's—K. C McArthur, goal; T. Scott and L. Payne, full backs; G. Earl, Merv Buchan and A. O'Halloran, half backs; R. Martin, M. Buchan, H. Foster, Milan Pollock and H. Latham, forwards.

Referee—Jack Adams.

Kawartha Club Starts Golf

Fair weather greeted the official opening of Kawartha Golf Club Saturday as about 100 players, including president Alex MacGregor and other officials gaily swung into action to try their skill and luck—o'er fairway and hazard.

Lex Robson, seven times winner of the Millar trophy and popular pro of the club here who is starting his 11th consecutive year, expressed the belief that this season may prove one of the finest in the club's history as more and more newcomers, young and old, are gaining an interest in the fine sport and are anxious to master the intricacies of the game. The pro shop has been enlarged and improved, as well.

Jack Condon came through with the winning gross score in the first flight, closely followed by Fraser Dunfield. The former grossed 38 with a six handicap for a net 32 while the latter with a four start grossed 40 for a net 36. Low net scores, first flight, went to Bill Barnett and Herb Correll with a 34 and 35 net on a 40 and 42 gross with a six and seven handicap, respectively.

Winners of the second flight low gross were Sandy Sanderson and Dootch Vitarelli with Gordon White and Doug Chamberlain taking low net honors. Third flight found Alex Metcalfe and Herb Butcher in a dead heat for second in low gross scoring which was won by Rod Reid with Bill Irwin carded the best net score.

Marie Wilson Pulls Surprise Tackles Play

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 22 (AP)—Zounds! Prithee guess who is making her legitimate debut in a play written 177 years ago—Marie Wilson.

'Tis truth. The boxom lass, also known as My Friend Irma, will open June 7 in "The School for Scandal" by Richard Brinsley Sheridan. It was first presented by the Merry Players of Drury Lane on May 8, 1777.

Miss Wilson's previous stage experience was no more than a maidenly strippe tease, which she performed nightly for seven years in a bumptious show called Ken Murray's Blackouts. She will perform in her first play for the Circle Theatre, which has also essayed the works of Moliere, Strindberg, G. B. Shaw, Maugham, and Galsworthy.

"Fun," She Sayeth

The actress is rehearsing about 10 hours a day with her fellow players. "How fare ye with the experience?" I inquired.

"It's like doing things in a workshop," sayeth she. "you may end up with a lot of ugly furniture, but think of the fun you've had!"

She hath already put her role as Lady Eazle to memory, but doth she understand it?

"I don't know; there are a lot of 'gads!' and 'luds!' and 'zounds!' and it's long, too. There are five acts, with two or three scenes in each act."

Would her costumes be cut low?

"Natch," she answered. "They wore gowns cut really low in those days, you know."

Hope Intrigued

Bob Hope naturally was intrigued by the news story that Bing Crosby was nabbed by gendarmes while snoozing on the grass on the Champs Elysees.

"I talked to a girl from France," he told me, "and she said there wasn't any grass on the Camps Elysees. The only thing I can figure is that being laid out a couple of his toupees to rest on."

Abductors Free Wife Of Vice-Squad Officer

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 22 — (AP)—Mrs. Jo Alice Raper, 23, kidnapped wife of a police vice-squad officer, was released unharmed by her abductors late Sunday night at a suburban filling station.

Her husband, C. V. Raper, and two detectives met her at the station.

Mrs. Raper said she was kidnapped from her home by two men, about 43 and 20 years old.

She was not molested but was held captive in a room somewhere in Oklahoma City all day.

Officers earlier said a kidnapper had overpowered the woman in her bedroom early Sunday and carried her away in the nude to get revenge on her husband.

Australia To Start Television Programs

The Australian government recently announced plans for establishment of a television service It has been decided not to license commercial programs, but the medium will be retained as a national service. Programming is not expected to start before 1952.

First stage in the development will be the setting-up of transmitters in each of the six state capitals, to serve about 60 per cent of the potential audience. Regional transmitters will later extend the service.

The adoption of a 625-line screen has been decided. This compares with the 525-line screen used in the United States and 450-line in the United Kingdom. Sets will have to be made in Australia.

Tiny Tornado

DALLAS, Tex., May 22 (AP)—A tiny tornado slapped the southeast edge of Dallas Friday night, damaging some buildings. High winds broke windows in downtown Dallas. Hail and rain storms struck small towns north and east of Dallas.

Steal Coin

LONDON, May 22 (Reuters)—Thieves, probably a gang of youths, broke into Lord's, the most famous cricket ground in England, and stole the "Tossing Coin," a golden guinea of 1789 used since the beginning of the game to toss for first innings.

Air-Minded India

CALCUTTA — (CP) — Dr. K. N. Katju, governor of West Bengal, opened the first national air rally at nearby Barrackpore recently. He said in a speech that India presented the best field for civil aviation in the world because, except during the moonsoons, the weather was ideal for flying.

Present Prizes For PMHA At Windup "Do"

The PMHA held a farewell get-together at George Street Sunday school with officers and about 50 boys in attendance to enjoy a splendid program planned and directed by Len Symonds, manager of the juvenile Oddfellows and a tireless worker in many phases of boys' work in the city.

President Les Mountney thanked the board of directors of Civic Arena for their co-operation which enabled the association to complete a successful season. The final Oddfellows-Petes' exhibition and speed skating race April 18 left PMHA with a net balance of $451.18 to date with expenses paid, according to figures released by the treasurer, Ed. Faux.

Good Workers

Mrs. E. Woodcock and Mrs. W. Post were fittingly rewarded for their fine work of handling tickets all season at the Arena despite cold; the former was presented with a beautiful end table and hearty applause. The ladies expressed thanks and further good wishes to the association and the boys in return.

Two films were shown on the Grey Cup final and Cavalcade of Hockey by Ellsworth Ingall of the Peterborough Film Council, while magician Bob Hardy entertained the gathering with his bag of tricks.

of tricks. Emmett Carney played the piano to round out a full evening's show along with the presentation of cups to the winning teams.

Millard's Optimists coached by Ed Woodcock received the Bill Andrews trophy as bantam winners while the Dick Outmet cup went to the Oddfellow juveniles. Al Watkins' Outboard Marine midgets won the Dit Clapper trophy.

Adopt New Article In Press Ethics Code

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, May 22 (Reuters)—Another article in a press "Code of Ethics" was adopted Saturday by the United Nations sub-committee on the freedom of information and the press, ending the first week of its present session here.

Twelve countries, including Britain, the United States and Russia, attended the opening meeting, but Russia later walked out because a Chinese Nationalist representative was there.

The article lays down that "personal interest shall not influence professional conduct. Whether for publication or suppression, the acceptance of an inducement or bribe is one of the gravest professional offences."

"Calumny, libel, slander, unfounded accusations and plagiarism are also serious professional offences. Any published information which is found to be inaccurate shall be voluntarily and immediately rectified. Rumors and unconfirmed news shall be identified and treated as such."

Has Confidence In Men Running Fund

WINNIPEG, May 22 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Sunday night in a prepared statement that he has "full confidence" in the men who are running the Manitoba flood relief fund and that he is sure the fund will receive the "wholehearted support of the Canadian people."

The statement was issued to avoid misinterpretation of a remark the Prime Minister made earlier at a press conference.

Mr. St. Laurent was asked by a reporter whether he would comment on the $10,000,000 relief fund.

"I think there are Canadians everywhere who wish to make some contribution to assist those overtaken by misfortune in the Red river valley," said the Prime Minister. "It would seem that such assistance should go beyond the scope of the regular activities of the Red Cross."

A public relations officer for the fund interjected that the fund would step in after governments and the Red Cross had finished their share of rehabilitation in the valley. It would replace flood victims' clothing, personal and household effects not provided by the other agencies.

Sharp Reply

Reporters at the press conference said Mr. St. Laurent, who seemed tired after a strenuous day, replied rather sharply that he would not be impressed by a fund which would withhold its money until governments and other agencies had done their part. He said, however, that he had confidence in the men running the Manitoba flood relief fund.

Shortly after the press conference, a statement was issued by the Prime Minister which said:

"In a supplementary statement regarding the Manitoba flood relief fund, the Prime Minister said that he had been giving his attention to the responsibilities of the Federal government and had been leaving the work of voluntary agencies to those who had assumed that responsibility.

"He added that those who were directing the Manitoba flood relief fund were Canadian citizens in whose judgment and capacity he had full confidence and that he was sure the fund would receive the whole-hearted support of the Canadian people."

A member of the Prime Minister's party will visit fund headquarters before he leaves Winnipeg.

KEY FLOOD SPOT—Rough winds buffeting flood water against this thin line of sandbags at the Fort Garry dike crossing the Pembina highway in Greater Winnipeg have been termed "extremely hazardous" by army engineers. Feverish activity to build up the weak section can be seen as men pile bag after bag against the crushing wall of water.

Weekend Toll Reaches 18, Many Mishaps

By The Canadian Press

A truck-train collision that resulted in the deaths of seven persons brought the toll of week-end fatalities in Ontario to 18. In addition two men are missing on a fishing trip in the eastern part of the province.

Seven other persons are in serious condition in Sturgeon Falls, Ont., hospital after the collision early today at Verner, some 50 miles west of North Bay. Three men, a woman and three boys were killed in the crash which occurred when a truck loaded with a fishing party collided with the train.

The wreck boosted the traffic toll to 10 for the week-end. Drownings accounted for four, a boy died in a fire, and another from injuries in a fight.

Scorched clothing on the body of Dr. John Lewis of Youngstown O., led to the belief that the motor launch in which he was travelling with two companions had gone down after an explosion in Rideau lake north of Kingston.

Other drownings: Eugene Madore, 9, off a Haileybury dock; Pauline Lander, 7, at Guelph; Bob Knight, 15, at Chatham.

Traffic deaths: Marcia Broadway, 22, at Barrie; Arvid Anderson, 50, found on road at Sudbury; Frank Jaksik, 47, at Hamilton; Henry Marshaleck, 21, charged with manslaughter and criminal negligence in Jaksik's death.

At Sudbury, Zotique Groulx, died from injuries after being ejected from a beverage room. Ten-year-old George Morrison died at Sault Ste. Marie in a fire which destroyed his home.

Junior Chamber Jamboree At Fair Ground

The Junior Chamber of Commerce Jamboree at Exhibition Park begins today at 4 p.m., continuing until Wednesday night.

The Jaycees are occupying the eastern section of the park with the Green carnival shows, and are offering other entertainment features, including an outdoor theatre of films in the drill hall. They have also booked a driving school, and are giving prizes for the oldest man on the grounds, largest family and other similar distinctions.

The complete program is ready for tonight and Tuesday and the Wednesday holiday.

The Junior Chamber is one of the organizations that is actively engaged in promoting civic matters, and already has a record of accomplishment that is financed by such affairs as their Jamboree.

Five Are Treated For Injuries

A Toronto visitor fell from a scaffold Saturday at the new Civic Hospital and dislocated his wrist. He was one of five persons treated over the weekend at the two hospitals.

The victim of the tumble was Bill Gutterfield, 18, of 67 Ryall Ave., Toronto. After having his wrist set he was allowed to leave.

Two seven-year-old boys were also brought to Civic. Cyril Barrett, Snelgrove Ave., fell while playing at home and cut his forehead. Dr. J. T. Stewart put a few stitches in the cuts and the boy was permitted to go home.

The other seven-year-old was Edward Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford M. Baker, Hastings. He also fell while playing and a stick somehow penetrated into the back of his mouth. The injury appeared to be a cut on the "tonsil bed.'

Mary Ellen Crate, 7, daughter of Mrs. Helen Crate, Hastings, was taken to St. Joseph's after being kicked in the face, Saturday afternoon, by a horse. The accident occurred at her home.

She sustained a couple of bad facial cuts and at first it was believed her jaw was broken. An X-ray showed no break and she returned home at night.

Another St. Joseph Hospital patient is six-year-old Sharon Meharrie, 675 Cameron St. She broke her left arm above the elbow while wrestling with a playmate.

Brigadier Agnew Inspects Sea Cadets

Lakefield Preparatory School cadets of R.C.S.C.C. St. George were inspected Saturday afternoon by Brigadier D. A. Agnew, D.S.O., Commandant of the Royal Military College. Brilliant spring sunshine flooded the cricket field where the ceremonial parade of over seventy boys of The Grove school was held. The inspecting party included Brigadier Agnew, Commander D. Elliott, director of Sea Cadets for Canada, Lieutenant-Commander Crist, of H.M.C.S. Donnacona, and G. Winder Smith, headmaster of the school. John Drew, of Montreal, commanded his school-fellows in the ceremonial.

The band, commanded by Hugh McCulloch of Galt, was awarded the Shedden Shield for the smartest platoon.

Foltowing the parades, the cadets fell in for seamanship classes where they showed their skill acquired during the winter months in Morse, heaving line, knots and splices.

Sailing exercises were carried out on Lake Katchewanooka, which fronts the school property, and a dozen cutters and dinghies on the sparkling water gave a festive appearance to a thorough exhibition of seamanship. Signals to shore were maintained with semaphore and flags.

Visitors Greatly Impressed With Respect of Citizens

"I think the opening of our centennial year Saturday was a fine success," Mayor Max Swanston said to The Examiner today.

"I am sure that Mr. St. Laurent went back to Ottawa impressed with the respect of the people of Peterborough for the office and dignity of the prime minister of Canada. At the end of the day he told me that everything had been wonderful, from the weather to the crowd of citizens who met him at the public reception at the Empress Hotel after the civic dinner.

"Mr. St. Laurent was not aware of it, but one of the officers of the Conservative Association commented to me: 'I think I see a lot more Conservatives than Liberals here tonight.'

When you find that spirit and see the interest of the citizens all day, one can be certain that Mr. St. Laurent was gratefully impressed with the warmth of the reception Peterborough gave him. Incidentally, he paid a little tribute to the Police Department, saying that they directed everything smoothly and so quietly and right on time. And, the General Motors man from Oshawa, who was driving one of the cars said that he had never seen better police work, and he has had a lot of experience in that sort of detail.

Well Planned

"Everything had been harmonious between the council and the Board of Governors of Civic Hospital, the school heads, industrial management and others in planning the arrangements, and that is the spirit in which the proceedings developed.

"I'd like to thank the citizens for the fine co-operation and for the way they welcomed Mr. St. Laurent throughout the day. It is evidence of their approval of things that we try to do, and then when you get the co-operation of citizens like Ald. and Mrs. Waddell for the afternoon tea at their home, the members of the Peterborough Club for the use of their handsome quarters for a little rest in the afternoon, you know that we can all rise to such occasions, forget political differences, and be Canadians first. It is really a grand experience, and I know that other mayors before me have been impressed by it.

"On behalf of the council and its reception committee of which Ald. Sands is chairman, I wish to thank everybody who helped in any way to make Saturday a memorable event. It was a great promise for the future of Civic Hospital."

Mayor Swanston said the next distinguished visitor would be Hon. Ray Lawson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, who is coming in June to open the Lions Club swimming pool.

Then toward the end of the summer the corner stone of the city hall will be laid by Premier Leslie M. Frost, head of the government of Ontario. On that occasion he is coming as guest of the city.

Sink Gold Mine In Marmora Twp.

MARMORA, May 22 (ENS)—Sopha Miller Gold Mines Limited have started operations on their mine on Lot 6 of the First Concession of Marmora and Lake Township.

Erection of the buildings commenced on Thursday and sinking of the shafts is expected to commence about June 15. This project is financed by American capital.

Burton Sopha, Cordova man who has spent many years in mining in the Cobalt district, is the one from whom the mine takes its first name.

Seven executives are spending about ten days at the present time on the property. To quote Mr. Sopha's words "They are working like horses".

Ontario Rock Co. Sells To Building Products

The Havelock rock company—Ontario Rock Co., has been sold to Building Products Ltd., an official of the latter company said today. Sale price was not disclosed.

Each year, the rock company cuts loose with a blast using on the average 20 tons of dynamite. There will be the annual blast this year, under different auspices.

The rock company has been operating in Havelock since 1914, and Building Products Ltd. also has a plant in Havelock.

Purchase of the rock company, which employs 40 people, will almost double the size of Building Products' Havelock plant. The rock company produces crushed stone for highways.

Canada Depends On Other Lands To Fill Pulpits

"In Canada you are depending on other countries to fill your pulpits," the Rev. Dr. C. L. Cowan, moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, told St. Paul's congregation Sunday morning. "What is the matter with our Scottish, Irish and English homes that they are not giving us more for the ministry?" he asked.

The Moderator told of men who were working for the church in remote areas such as the Alaskan Highway and hundreds of miles north of Edmonton for salaries that "would drive John L. Lewis insane."

Men were recruited into the police force after answering a few elementary questions and paid salaries of more than $2,000 but ministers, after seven years' training, were paid $1800.

Lost Vision of Christ

"We have lost the vision of Christ, we are thinking in terms of ease and luxury instead of in terms of tears and sweat," he declared.

After describing how a friend he had known many years ago, had become wealthy by operating a lumber business, while ministers had not the same opportunity of obtaining wealth, the moderator declared:

"Men are forgetting that their money is useless if the church of Christ goes down. The final salvation of humanity and of Canada lies not in H-bombs and A-bombs nor in armies, but in the church of Jesus Christ.

"If the church goes down, down go the ten commandments. We cannot have a moral society without the church. The church must go on or Canadian civilization goes out."

"The Church of Christ is not something you can return to, not something you can attach yourself to. It is a fellowship of believers who have been brought into this group by the spirit of our Lord Jesus Christ," Dr. Cowan said.

"There is no such thing as the Roman Catholic, Presbyterian, United, Pentecostal churches, nor the Salvation Army in the denominational sense, the speaker declared. But all those who have confessed to the Redeemer form part of the vital church upon which Jesus Christ gave His precious blood. It is the government of our group that is called the Presbyterian Church of Canada."

MISS ISABEL CAREY, of Peterborough, who is being graduated today from St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto. She is also winner of the scholarship and will receieve a cheque for $100. and post graduate training in obstetrics.

Roomer Wakes To Find Other Man Dead

An autopsy will be performed to determine the cause of the death of John Jordan, 629 Union St., found dead about eight a.m. today in the room of Dave Forbes, 158 Charlotte St.

Forbes said he had gone to sleep about 7:30 p.m. Sunday and when he awoke he found Jordan dead on the floor. He said Jordan had not been there when he went to sleep.

Coroner Dr. Herbert N. Young said he believed Jordan had been dead about 12 hours.

Forbes told police Jordan had visited him earlier Sunday afternoon, but had left.

A veteran of World War I, Jordan has been a champion boxer in the lightweight division of the Canadian Army.

He is survived by three brothers, Edward Francis of Toronto, Joseph of Rochester and Patrick of Peterborough, and six sisters, Mrs. R. Sutherland, Mrs. G. McPhee, Mrs. Edward Alconbrack, Mrs. Fred Montgomery, all of Toronto; Mrs. James Curran of Rochester; Mrs. Harry Moher and Mrs. Harry Keith, both of Peterborough.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Due to the small classes at the YMCA Saturday morning the YMCA ping pong championships were postponed until next Saturday morning. Championships will be held for members of the pioneer, juvenile, junior and intermediate classes.

5,000,000 FISH EGGS

Despite bad weather conditions, spawn-collectors of the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries harvested 5,000,000 maskinonge eggs. The eggs will be deposited in the government hatchery at Deer Lake near Peterborough and will eventually be released as fingerlings to provide sport for fishermen in future years.

May 23, Empire Day Not School Holiday

Empire Day — Tuesday — will not be a holiday for school children, although it will be marked by special ceremonies at all schools, it was announced today.

May 24 will be a holiday, and Thursday, the day promised the children by Prime Minister St. Laurent, awaits the decision of the Board of Education, which meets tonight.

Separate school students will have Thursday as a holiday, as well as Wednesday.

Prime Minister Easily Most At Ease In Tour Through City and Industries

Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent had a good look at Peterborough Saturday morning, and Peterborough had a good look at its prime minister. Both liked what they saw. With Mrs. St. Laurent and a daughter, Mrs. Madeleine O'Donnell, the prime minister visited Peterborough to take part in the celebration of the city's 100th anniversary as an incorporated municipality.

What the citizens of Peterborough saw was an erect, vigorous man, looking younger than his 68 years, with a ready smile and sparkling dark eyes that seemed to see everyone and everything. His ready wit and acute observations livened the party often and kept it from being too formal. He was easily the person most at his ease throughout the tour and he gave the impression of enjoying himself.

Madame St. Laurent charmed everyone she met, but hardly any more than their daughter.

City Looked Fresh

What the prime minister saw was a busy city looking fresh and clean with the light green of sprouting leaves on the trees and gaily fluttering flags and pennants in view everywhere. He also saw friendly people anxious to catch a look at him, the first prime minister to come to the city on a non-political visit.

During the morning, accompanied by Mayor Max J. Swanston Alderman Sands, city clerk E. A. Outram, Mr. St. Laurent's party visited two of the city's parks to to meet school children and the Canadian General Electric, Quaker Oats and the Western Clock Co., as well as many parts of the city.

Long before Mr St Laurent and his party were due to leave their private railroad car parked on a siding at the C. P. R station, many had gathered to be the first to see them. Some were rewarded with the sight of the Prime Minister eating his breakfast.

Posed for Pctures.

By the time he finally emerged dressed neatly in a black suit, quite a crowd had congregated. With Mrs. St. Laurent he posed briefly for pictures and then, with a cheery wave of his hat to the crowd, started on his 13-hour day.

Down at King Edward Park, about 800 school children waited in chattering impatience to see the man they had heard about from their teachers. They first caught sight of the cars through the bushes along the east side of the park.

In the lead car, behind Traffic Officers Claire McGillen and Harold Mesley on their motorcycles, Mr. St. Laurent stood with Mrs. St. Laurent and Mayor Swanston sitting beside him.

As the official party walked across the park to a small improvised platform where the children were lined up, closely packed, they broke into a cheer, waving their centenary souvenir hats and tossing them into the air.

They got a good deal more from the Prime Minister than they expected.

Extra Holiday Granted.

The Mayor and I have arranged to give you an extra day's holi-

Bosley Youth, 17 Gets 7 Months Violent Robbery

Ted Bosley, 17, of 96 Lynch St., was sentenced to five months definite and two months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC in police court today on a charge of robbery with violence.

His two companions, Clinton Stockdale, 19, RR 4, Peterborough, and Roy Hotts, 20, 675 Donegal St., were also sentenced to the same terms last week.

They were all charged with robbing Paul Lowes, 16, of Sherbrooke St., of about $52 after taking him for a ride about three miles north of the city.

The evidence was that Bosley hit Lowes to get him to tell where the money was. Bosley then held Lowes while Hotts searched him and found the money in Lowes' sock.

Mrs. John B. Bosley, the youth's mother, said her son had always been straightforward and honest and very obedient. She said, however, he had never been able to keep a job because of attacks of asthma.

Says Trillium

Who ever heard of a 15-petalled Trillium? That was what Mrs. Everette Labelle, 334 Dublin St. found Sunday while out for a drive in the country.

The family was picking wild flowers near Indian River when Mrs. Labelle came across the Trilium with 15 petals. The flower looks something like a carnation and is being kept in a vase to see whether there will be even more petals when the bloom opens out more.

Monkey At Large Among Lumber Piles Is Finally Caught By Company Employees

Come to sunny, tropical Peterborough—home of maskinonge, smallmouth bass, tourists, and as of today, monkeys.

For years, the only monkeys Peterborough had were caged at the filtration plant zoo and a service station on Highway 28.

Now, there is one free monkey in Peterborough. Workers at the Beaver Lumber Company's yard on George St. saw him scuttling through the piles in the lumber shed today.

Nobody knew for sure where the monkey came from. Some though he escaped from last week's midway show across from George St. wharf. Others though it might be the first migratory band seeking cooler weather.

When the Examiner investigated, the monkey was in retirement, although the species as, as rule is not publicity-shy.

There was a chance, of course, that he had gone fishing.

However, shortly after one o'clock today he came out of hiding and was caught by the employees who took him to the Filtration Park Zoo.

TO THE CITIZENS OF PETERBOROUGH

An Explanation and Apology

It was our intention to fly the Union Jack and decorate our building on the occasion of the opening of our new Civic Hospital when the City was honored by the presence of the Prime Minister.

However, it was not seemly to do this when our buildings were placarded with signs of U.E.W. 527 and patrolled by their pickets.

Through the good graces of Mayor Swanston, U.E.W. 527 was contacted with the view of removing the picket for three days—Friday, Saturday and Sunday—with our guarantee that no one would enter the factory.

U.E.W. 527 refused the Mayor's request and declined to remove their pickets, hence the above explanation and apology.

Germans, Poles and Balts Free U.S. Soldiers for Duty

By JACK HENRY

HEIDELBERG, — (Reuters) — The United States occupation army in Germany has enlisted 26,000 Europeans, mostly Germans, into what is unofficially described as an American "Foreign Legion" to serve with American soldiers in semi-military capacities.

Existence of this body has led to Soviet allegations that the Americans were creating a new German armed force in their zone.

The Legion's roster, according to official figures, comprises about 16,000 Germans, 8,500 Poles — remnants of General Vladyslav Anders' Polish army in exile — and approximately 1,600 Estonians, Latvians and Lithuanians. These figures do not include an estimated 50,000 more Germans serving in the U. S. forces in non-military occupation capacities.

The majority of the legionnaires do guard duty at American installations, and for this they carry U. S. Army carbines and ammunition. The 26,000 are divided into two organizations—labor service battalions, consisting of anti-Communist Poles, Balts and 2,500 Germans; and the industrial police, an all-German body. The two organizations number about 13,000 each.

When on guard duty legionnaires wear surplus U. S. army uniforms dyed dark blue with steel helmets usually painted white and they carry rifles.

The industrial police work an eight-hour day and live at home. They are discharged when there is no further need for their services. They are chiefly used to guard American Army controlled parking lots and secondary army installations such as post exchanges.

Labor service battalions, however, are a semi-military organization formed on U. S. Army lines.

Do Guard Duty

In addition to guard duty, these battalions do sentry duty and construction work at restricted installations, such as the Rhine general depot and the Rhine ammunition depot near Kaiserlautern in the French zone, serve in technical labor units and act as drivers.

In the last two big U. S. Army maneouvres in Germany, Germans from labor battalions accompanied American units in the field. They included physicians and other medical personnel and mess stewards.

These battalions, which have been described in an official army publication as The Blue Legion, observe military courtesy, though U. S. authorities have from time to time discouraged saluting. They live in barracks, drill, and are subject to quasi-military discipline.

Labor battalion personnel are moved to different parts of the United States zone as troops on duty. They are given three meals a day, with a total of over 3,000 calories, in contrast to the industrial police, who get no rations from the U. S. Army. Labor service personnel, Germans excepted, are paid $5 a month in U.S. occupation script, in addition to their monthly Deutschmark pay, for the purchase of cigarets and other items at post exchanges.

The official United States aim in creating both the labor service battalions and the industrial police is to free American soldiers from all possible routine army tasks for duty with combat units.

Chief of the labor battalions is Francis Soboltá, a former colonel of the Polish Army who was captured by the Germans near Warsaw. Sobalta also looks after the industrial police.

About 6,000 blue legionnaires have emigrated to the United States, Canada and Australia, and 87 per cent of present personnel hope to emigrate. General Anders who lives in England, remains the legion's spiritual leader. . .

BRANTFORD, Ont.—(CP). — A baby's first tooth is always the occasion for much proud concern on the part of parents. Edith Loraine George was a little different, however. Her parents found she had her first tooth two days after she was born and believe the tooth may have been there at birth.

Sandra At Six Is CBC Veteran Of Three Years

MONTREAL. — (CP) — With three years of radio experience behind her, little Sandra Miller has become a network veteran even though she is only six years old.

The daughter of BCC announcer Charles Miller, she is believed to be the youngest performer to appear on a CBC network. She joined her father just after her third birthday. The show was a success and was incorporated in a network production. Now Sandra gets lots of fan mail.

Her spontaneous remarks about her daddy's stories made a hit with radio listeners and she remained a star of the feature until last fall, when she started school.

At present Sandra goes on the air only once a week with her father to play parts in children's stories broadcast locally.

Early tyhis summer Mr. Miller hopes to take his daughter to Toronto where they will again go on a national network.

"She's just a little girl who likes to talk a lot," said Mr. Miller, adding that her facility in ad libbing might be attributed to her lively interest in everything.

Sandra is fond of animals and knows a great deal about their habits. One of her afternoon delights is feeding squirrels, chipmunks and pigeons on Montreal's Mount Royal.

However, she is not completely an outdoor girl. She likes to model and one of her main interests is dancing. Nothing pleases her more than acting in church plays.

Sandra boasts a steady flow of fan mail out of all proportion to her age. One week when she was ill, she received more than 2,000 letters.

She is not paid for her radio work but gets expenses, such as taxi fares to and from the studio.

The year was 1840...

. . . the month, May—an historic cargo was aboard the schooner "Fly" when she stood out from Gooderham & Worts wharf.

As her master, James Gooden, felt the lift of Lake Ontario's swells, it is unlikely that his thoughts went beyond the shipmaster's routine concern for his cargo's safe delivery. But this was no ordinary cargo—for the "Fly" carried the first recorded shipment of manufactured goods from Upper Canada!

The "Fly" sailed only to Montreal. Today, 110 years later, by ship and train, truck and plane, Canadian goods go to every part of the world. The enterprising men who led Canada to its present position as a great trading nation were nourished by the freedom of thought and action won for them at the polling place.

Glasgow Tea Rooms Remain As Monument

GLASGOW, (CP).—Tearooms known to generations of Glaswegians are to be preserved as a monument to Charles Rennie Mackintosh, described by the Glasgow Herald as the city's greatest architect.

Glasgow Corporation's general finance committee has recommended that the city purchase the premises on Ingram Street formerly known as Miss Cranston's tearooms.

After 50 years they are much the same as when Mackintosh designed them: a Chinese room with a maze of grilles and flamboyant ornaments, a panelled smokeroom and fireplaces with wrought-iron gates.

The original high-backed chairs are still there, as well as the solidly-simple tables, specially designed cutlery and decorative umbrella stands.

Mural decorations by Margaret Macdonald Mackintosh, the architect's wife, reflect the influence of Aubrey Beardsley and the pre-Raphaelite school.

Scottish Theatre Receives Setback

GLASGOW, — (CP) —, John Stewart's hopes of creating a Scottish "Stratford - on - Avon" have received a setback in the refusal of the Ministry of Works to sanction the building of a festival theatre in the grounds of his Pitlochry home, Knockendarroch House.

Stewart, formerly proprietor of the Park Theatre, Glasgow, said negotiations with the ministry had gone on for a year and at the ministry's request plans had been considerably curtailed to save building materials and capital expenditure.

The ministry acted under government regulations limiting capital expenditure.

Stewart's proposal had the unanimous approval of the Scottish Tourist Board, the Scottish Committee for the 1951 Festival of Britain and Pitlochry Town Council. He said he hoped to create in Scotland a type of theatre different from what is usually associated with repertory in cities.

Plans provided for a fully equipped, modern theatre with seating for between 500 and 700 people. In a season extending from May to October six plays would have been presented. During winter months the company would tour Aberdeen, Dundee, Edinburgh, Glasgow and Inverness.

Save Money on Doctor Bills By Spending Money on Meat

By MARY MOORE

This is the meaty part of the third and last of a series of talks on nutritions that I have been giving to a church group.

I believe, and much scientific research bears me out, that you can save money on doctor bills by spending money on meat,—and its eqivalents,—eggs and cheese.

This does not mean that I suggest that you become carnivorous, as opposed to being herbivorous. I mean to say we in Ontario should eat plenty of a variety of meat, plus a great variety of vegetables,—both native and important. This is essential to maintain or restore good nutrition.

Some nutritionists stress the fact that the less tender cuts of meat contain more juice than tender, and as a consequence are more nourishing.

So I propose to show you how to make tough meat tender, and to serve it so deliciously that your family comes back for more, and demands repeat performances.

If I arouse your interest in this new field of cooking that is open to you if you will only explore it, that will be all that I have space for—but I will have started you on a new hobby called Cooking for Curtain Calls.

In a restaurant in St. Catharines I ate braised short ribs of beef and by sheer nerve and flattery managed to have a conversation with the chef, and he was kind enough to divulge some of his secret flavorings—and give me permission to print them.

That precious recipe, and a never-fail method of cooking a pot roast tender and juicy, and beefsteak pie are the offerings I have for you today. These dishes can all be handled so expertly that they can be included proudly in your repertory of menus that you serve to your most honored guests.

Braised Short Ribs of Beef

Ask the butcher to select thick or well-fleshed short ribs of beef and to chop them into 2 or 2½-inch lengths,, cut these through the flesh between the ribs. Sprinkle with flour which has been well mixed with salt and pepper. Sear on all sides in heavy iron frying pan in about 4 or 5 tablespoons or other fat. When dark golden brown add 1 cup water and lower into the pan a small bag full of herbs. Now my chef's herbes were 1 slice from a clove of garlic, ½ bay leaf, 2 whole cloves, 4 peppercorns, about 1-16 teaspoon mustard seeds, and if available a few shavings from a horseradish root. These were tied tightly into a double cheesecloth bag, and when the meat was tender were removed of course. Cover pan tightly and simmer at as low heat as you possibly can. Replenish the water little by little as it evaporates. (This may be baked at 300 deg, Fahr. for 3 hours if desired.) When meat is tender remove to hot platter and add water from boiling potatoes, to pan to make it up to 1 pint, then thicken this with flour paste made by stirring together 3 tablespoons flour and 4 tablespoons water. Stir until thick, remove bag of herbs and if desired, strain this hot gravy over the short ribs.

Serve the above with the fluffiest mashed potatoes you can persuade your husband to operate on.

Pot Roast of Beef

The most economical cuts for pot roasting come from the blade, or shoulder or rump or round, and should not weigh more than about 5½ lbs. Sprinkle the cut surface of the meat with salt, pepper and flour and tie or skewer it tightly into compact shape that can be turned over without breaking. Brown the meat in a Dutch oven or heavy pot, using about 4 oz. of suet if the meat is very lean. Place small rack under meat, add ½ to ¾ cup water, cover and simmer at lowest possible heat for about 3¼ hours, turning meat over about 3 times during this period.

If desired whole onions, and carrots may be added about 30 minutes before meat is to be done. If onions or carrots are large they may require a longer time.

To make gravy remove meat from pot, and if there is excess fat on the liquid, skim it off. Make the liquid up to about 1 pint and thicken with 3 tablespoons flour stirred into 4 tablespoons cold water until smooth, stirring until smooth. Serve on very hot platter, and if vegetables are used, surround meat with them. Pass the gravy in a separate dish. I have not mentioned to add potatoes to the stew because I think if mashed potatoes are perfect with anything it is this dish. But mashed potatoes are another story, and under the gravy that comes from this roast are heavenly food.

Beefsteak Pie

Two lbs. flank, skirt or chuck steak, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons flour, 3 tablespoons cold water, ½ cup chopped celery, 1 cup cubed boiled carrots, 2 cups cubed boiled potatoes, 1 medium onion sliced, 2 tablespoon fat, plain pastry.

Cut the meat into 1½-inch cube and sprinkle with salt, pepper. Place meat and onions in pan, cover with boiling water, let simmer slowly for 1 hour. Line sides of a buttered baking dish with pastry. Put in layer of meat and onions. Thicken the meat liquor with paste of flour and cold water; pour over meat and onions in baking dish. Add carrots and potatoes, dotted with fats. Add celery. Add another layer of meat and onion. Cover with pie paste well-gashed in top to allow escape of steam. Bake at 450 deg. for about 15 minutes, then reduce heat and make ¼ hour at 325 deg. Fahr. to insure meat being tender.

A variation of this is beefsteak with kidney pie when you replace half of the meat with soaked and cut up trimmed kidneys.

Let me know if you like this idea of stretching the meat dollar and if I should give you more inexpensive meat dishes.

Says Women Can "Make or Break"

LONDON (CP). — Dr. Edith Summerskill, who often hits the headlines herself, says that women make the news.

"Women can make or break a journalist," she told a Ladies' Night meeting of the London Press Club.

"After all, who made the news? —Rita Hayworth, Ingrid Bergman and now a woman greater than any other, Brumas."

Brumas is the four-month-old polar bear now drawing record attendances to Regent's Park Zoo.

Dr. Summerskill, appointed Minister of National Insurance in the recent government reconstruction, addressed the press club on one of its two annual guest nights.

"I have a horrid suspicion," she said, "that the women are invited on those two nights only to keep them sweet and reasonable for the other 363 nights."

DRAWING HER INSPIRATION from places as far distant as her native Australia, New Zealand, Fiji, Banff and Burleigh Falls, Irene Collins, since Christmas the art instructor at Peterborough Collegiate and Vocational School, is holding a request one-woman show in the Library Gallery next week. Her work indicates for this young woman an important and brilliant artistic future.

Australian Painter in Peterborough Shows Her Amazing Technique and Artistry

By T. J. ALLEN

Peterborough has a real painter in its midst, but it is going to lose her. So if people hereabouts wants to be able to say: "Oh, I knew her and her work long before she became famous," they had better toddle up to the Public Library gallery next Thursday, Friday or Saturday and see what will be hanging there, in a special one-man show she has been prevailed upon to give for the three days. The painter is Irenee (both e's pronounced) Collins, a young, quiet-spoken Australian who reached Peterborough last January via New Zealand, New York, Banff and Montreal, with a stopover at Fiji.

Miss Collins has been acting for six months as art teacher at the Collegiate. She is, to everyone's regret, leaving at the end of this term for points uncertain yet; perhaps New York.

Exciting Paintings

This reporter had a preview of her work the other evening. There, in a third-floor apartment on a quiet, ordinary Peterborough street, were spread out for me on the floor without benefit of frames, stretchers or mountings, dozens of the most exciting, extraordinary paintings I have seen from the brush of one artist in Canada in a decade. Women in a mad house, a horse's skull and antlers, a modern madonna and tempora, pen-and-ink sketches, lino prints.

They were amazing, and another astonishing discovery was that most of the work I saw was done within the last year. It is more than the annual output of most professional painters who, unlike Miss Collins doing a full day's teaching, spent their whole time at painting.

Irenee Collins has studied art at Melbourne (after graduating from the university there, where she followed a usual academic course); in New Zealand, where she taught at a mixed Maori-white school for a couple of years; at Columbia University, N. Y., and at the school of fine arts at Banff last summer, where, as she says, under the instruction of the Austrian-American Frederic Taubes, she discovered a technical method which was "certainly the clue for me."

Technique of Under-Painting

Her special technical emphasis is on "under-painting," and it is this which gives her work its wonderful luminosity. It is rediscovery of the methods of applying pigment (and incidentally, of mixing) which old masters like El Greco used.

The painting is done by using a dark color underneath—this "underpainting is the job," Miss Collins says; it is then that the whole work is conceived and fully drawn. Lighter tones, at times transparently thin, are used for the final overpainting. The dark beneath the light gives the painting vividness and vitality, an appearance of spontaneity. If the subject is to be dark, the contrast can be achieved by reversing the color scheme, that is, by doing underpainting in the lighter color. (This explanation is a lame attempt to summarize a method which is both highly technical, and based on a thoroughly-considered philosophy of painting which Miss Collins has made her own.)

Although Miss Collins is absorbed in problems of technique (she even prepares her own canvas), the best of technical skills will not make a painter as good as she. Her interest in new forms, using natural forms such as a skull, a contour of mountain, and giving them an imaginative arrangement; her handling of perspective (for instance in "Crossing the Coast"—an interpretation developed from an aeroplane view); her views on humanity (her hospital scenes, her Three Witches); and the unusual combination of subjects and backgrounds (for instance, the imaginative Portraits in Masks), show a real artistry. She does figure work as well; several portraits were on view, including a powerful male nude with an "unsympathetic" background. A self-portrait done in more conventional style puts the painter herself on view.

A recurring theme in her paintings is the spiral—which shows the influence of native Maori New Zealand designs, and it is a provocation device to have in the mind's eye. There seems to be a relation between this and the thrusting motif in some of her landscape interpretations and in such an arrangement as the skull and stump done in Peterborough.

Irenee Collins has come far, geographically; I prophesy that she will go far, artistically.

Young Coloratura from Italy Termed Critics' Darling

By PAUL PETT

NEW YORK, —(AP)— The newest darling of New York music critics is a charming, brown-eyed diva who hasn't been spanked in more than a month.

She is Anna Marie Alberghetti, 13-year-old Italian coloratura, who made her American debut in Carnegie Hall April 28. "A real wunderkind," said one critic. "Unusually moving," said another. One man in the audience was so carried away he stood up and shouted in Italian, "she is an angel from paradise."

But Anna is no angel.

Last month, just before sailing from her home in Pesaro, Italy, she was spanked for going out on a bike ride without permission. "It was just a small spanking," said her mother, Victoria, who is also Anna's accompanist.

"It never happened," said Anna, rolling her eyes, twirling her beret and looking oh-so innocent.

Through an interpreter—the only English Anna knows is "good evening," "good afternoon," and "stomach ache"—she was asked when she'd be ready for opera.

"In two years," she said.

"In four years," said her father, Daniele.

Five will get you ten papa wins because he has been teaching and grooming Anna very carefully since she was four. At six, she had her first concert.

Also a Pianist

"When she was born," said Papa Alberghetti, an expert cellist, "we decided to make a singer out of her. She cried all night. At four, we knew she had talent. Since then she has been working about an hour a day on her voice and two hours a day on the piano."

"She is very good about practising," said mama Alberghetti, trying to make amends for the spanking expose. "In face, we have to stop her from overdoing it."

"I could sing all the time," said Anna, throwing the beret in the air. "But the piano—well, I would take less of the piano if I could."

The Alberghettis have two other musical children. Paolo, 6, is studing to be a conductor Carla, 10, is a soprano. Anna and Paolo are equally talented, their father said. Carla's voice doesn't have "Anna's color, but it will improve."

In the last two years, Anna has given 50 concerts in Scandinavia and Italy. Once in Bologna, admirers told her parents:

"The government should pass a special decree forcing the Alberghettis to have two children every year."

Anna is in her eighth year in school—in Pesaro they call it the "third middle"—and her best subject is history, her worst, drawing. She likes Italian novels and "Little Women." Her best friend is a girl named Luciana, who doesn't sing. Her favorite actors are Gregory Peck and Tyrone Power, for whon she sang once in Rome. Her favorite actress is Elizabeth Taylor.

BUT HE WASN'T DEAD

MONTREAL—(CP). Friends of 21-year-old Izzie Levine saw the notice of his death in the paper and hurried to his home to console his parents. When they knocked at the door Izzie answered. Some persons with a macabre sense of humor had phoned the announcement to the paper, complete with funeral arrangements.

Gussie Moran's Panties Turn Spotlight On Tennis Styles

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — (CP) — Britain's fashion-conscious have a new interest—tennis fashions.

Since the advent of Gussie Moran's lace panties to Wibbledon last year, tennis fashions have been news on most of Britain's women's pages.

Now with Wimbledon scheduled for June 26-July 8, tennis fashions are in strong focus.

Colonel Teddy Tinling—the man who designed Gussie's lace panties—has many new ideas. These are executed in transparent nylon, pleated taffeta, chiffon and lace.

A white broderie anglaise outfit with bare midriff has V-necked sleeveless top and full skirt over sky blue bra and pleated taffeta shorts. Matching ankle socks are topped by broderie anglaise.

For the interval between games there is a thigh-length coat in nylon chiffon shaded from pale primrose to deep yellow. Washable white straw embroidery trims armholes and pockets and matches the trimming of a white celanese jersey dress with horseshoe neckline, tiny, cuffed cap sleeves and flared skirt.

Transparent Dress

"Whispering Grass," a green chiffon interval coat trimmed with white straw tassels, can be worn over a transparent dress of pleated nylon with under bra and tailored shorts of pastel-blue silk crepe.

Designs by Paris' Pierre Balmain include a white linen suit with flared skirt, deep square neckline and cape collar. The skirt and deep cape collar are decorated with tufts to match the white ball trimming that gives the suit a matador flare.

Pleated chiffon creates a shirt-top style with wide pleated skirt, deep waist-length revers and pleated bloomer panties.

A silk shantung with side-button shirt top and attached skirt over neat shorts has a diagonal line to the skirt hem starting from the big patch pocket which finishes the side-button hipline.

In spite of the recent color trend in tennis fashion there seems little doubt that it will be a white Winbledon.

Gussie, for one, says that she will definitely be wearing white.

Moscrop-Hollingsworth

In St. Peter's Cathedral Saturday morning at nine o'clock the marriage took place of Shirley Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Hollingsworth, and Arthur Douglas Moscrop, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moscrop, all of Peterborough. The ceremony and nuptial mass were said by the Rev. R. J. Garvey and wedding music was played by Mrs. R. G. Aman, organist.

Given in marriage by her father the bride was wearing a gown of marquisette embroidered with lover's knot design. It was made with a sweetheart neckline on the fitted bodice and the full skirt caught up in front to reveal the lace flounce of the hooped underskirt. Her full length veil of embroidered tulle was caught to a tiara of seed pearls and she was carrying a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis. Miss Irene Hollingsworth, bridesmaid for her sister, was frocked in pink embroidered marquisette. She wore a halo hat of pink net trimmed with seed pearls and carried a spray of American beauty roses.

Mr. Robert Moscrop was groomsman for his brother and the ushers were J. V. Hollingsworth and C. Clarke.

The reception was held in the Empress Hotel, the bride's mother receiving in a dress and redingote of silver grey with matching accessories. She was assisted by the groom's mother who chose a teal silk faille dress and navy accessories. Each wore a corsage of American beauty roses.

For the wedding trip to Toronto and Buffalo the bride wore a grey suit with navy hat and accessories and when leaving had a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Moscrop will live at 506 Charlotte St.

Smith-Siddons Wedding First in Braidwood Chapel

The first wedding in Braidwood Gospel Chapel was on Saturday at 2.30, when Hazel Siddons, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Siddons of Bancroft, and George Eldon Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Smith of Lindsay exchanged vows and rings.

The church was decorated with spring flowers, ferns and palms. Mr. Samuel Taylor, of Peterborough officiated and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Vincent Millen. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Jack McConnell sang "Lord Jesus, Let Thy Favour Rest."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. Herbert Hewton, looked charming in a gow. of white lace, over satin. It had a silk net poke, long sleeves pointed at wrist and the bodice was finished with tiny buttons from neck to waist. The skirt was gathered and had insertions of net and an underskirt of net. Her silk net veil was caught with a coronet of seed pearls and orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of bettertime roses and bouvardia.

Miss Eleanor Craig of Toronto, was bridesmaid wearing powder blue taffeta, with matching mittens and hat and carrying a ring bouquet of sweet peats. Little Gail Hewton, neice of the bride was flower girl, in pink taffeta, trimmed with powder blue bows, tiny puffed sleeves and full skirt which was caught up at the hemline to show the under skirt trimmed with lace. Her bonnet was pleated pink net and she carried a nosegay of sweet peas centered with a pink rose.

Groomsman was Dr. Ronald Smith of Ottawa, brother of the groom, Kenneth Meredith and Vincent Millen acted as ushers.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Millen, 527 Park Hill Road, where the bride's sister Mrs. Herbert Hewton received, wearing a blue crepe dress, with navy accessories and corsage of red roses. The groom's mother also received wearing wine crepe, with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Girl friends of the bride served.

The couple left later on a two-week motor trip to New York and Smoky Mountain. For travelling the bride wore a navy dress trimmed with white lace, navy gabardine coat and navy and white accessories and a corsage of roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will live at 464 Arndon Ave.

Joyce Wyatt and Jack Taylor Pledge Vows at St. Luke's

A lovely wedding of Saturday was in St. Luke's Anglican Church where Joyce Elsie, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D'Encourt H. Wyatt, became the bride of Mr. Jack Thompson Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Taylor, all of Peterborough. Their vows were pledged before the Rev. W. J. Gilling.

The candle-lighted altar was flanked with baskets of calla lilies and bouquets of pink carnations. Playing traditional wedding music was organist Mr. Morley Coombs and during the signing of the register the choir rendered "O Perfect Love."

Mr. Wyatt gave his daughter in marriage and she was charming in a gown of white nylon marquisette over taffeta, trimmed with appliqued lace on collar and sleeves and illusion veiling which fell to fingertip length formed a cap headdress. She was carrying a prayer book topped with gardenias.

Miss Eleanor Taylor as maid of honor was frocked in pink nylon marquisette over taffeta with a matching headdress and Miss Dorothy White, bridesmaid and Miss Marellyn Vint, junior bridesmaid, wore similarly styled frocks and hats of blue and yellow. Each carried a ring bouquet of sweet peas and carnations.

Mr. Austin Smith of Toronto was the groom's attendant and ushers were Raymond Wyatt, Robert Wyatt, Ronald Watson and Glenn Taylor.

The reception was at the bride's home, 554 Rogers St., where her mother received in a gown of blue lace and matching hat and wearing a corsage of pink carnations. For the occasion the groom's mother wore a gown of camelia pink chiffon and lace with a white flowered hat and corsage of mauve sweet peas.

The bride and groom left afterward on a wedding trip to Montreal and Quebec City. Mrs. Taylor was wearing a suit of navy wool charmaine and a pink gabardine topcoat with white accessories. On return they will live at 765 Snelgrove Road.

Afternoon Tea Honors Special Guests

An afternoon tea honoring Madame Louis Stephen St. Laurent and her daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell was a delightful interlude in the busy program followed by these distinguished guests to Peterborough on Saturday.

Mrs. M. J. Swanston was the hostess at the home of Mrs. Hugh Waddell, Monaghan Road.

Queen's lace 'mums and little America 'mums with cornflower made a charming centrepiece for the daintily laid tea table at which Mrs. W. G. Ovens and Mrs. A. A. McIntyre presided. Little girls assisting with serving were Sarah Waddell and Carol King.

Among the guests was Mrs. Leslie Frost, wife of the Prime minister of Ontario. Mrs. T. J. Lytle, president of the Ontario Women's Hospital Aids Association, and president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Women's College Hospital, Toronto.

Civic Reception Honours Prime Minister

About 300 citizens attended the civic reception Saturday evening given in honor of Right Honorable Louis Stephen St. Laurent and Mrs. St. Laurent, and held in the Kawartha Room, Empress Hotel.

In the receiving line with them was their daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell, and Mayor M. J. Swanston and Mrs. Swanston. Guests were announced from the doorway by Alderman J. C. Gillespie.

Students of St. Peter's High School and the Collegiate who assisted with serving refreshments were Misses Barbara Huffman, Nancy Rowell, Gloria Graham, Carolee Ferguson, Gwen Pomeroy, Louise O'Connell, Barbara Shaughnessy, Diane Ballantyne, Carmel Shaughnessy, Norma Agnew, Myrna Seymour, Margaret Heal, Mary Braund, Marney Hollingsworth, Donna Howson, Betty Scollard, Dorothy Martin, Norma Agnew, Barbara Browne, Anne Forbes, Norma Bond, Doreen Doris, Ann Szammers, Patricia Toal, Sheila Donnelly, Mary Lou Currelly.

Boys who acted as ushers in the foyer were John Outram, Peter Turner, Gerry O'Neill, George Hall and Ernest Drury.

As the distinguished guests were leaving the hotel later, hundreds stood in the street to bid them farewell.

Monica Lawless Wed Today Leaves for Summer in Alta.

The marriage of Miss Kathleen Monica Lawless to Mr. William Robb Roy Park of Toronto was solemnized this afternoon at two thirty o'clock in St. Luke's Anglican Church. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Russell Lawless, 95 Parkhill Road. The groom is son of Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Pierre Park of Simcoe, Ontario.

The Rev. W. J. Gilling performed the ceremony and Mr. Morley Coombs played the organ. The church was decorated for the occasion with beautiful spring flowers.

A gown of white organdy with insertions of Swiss eyelet in the skirt and yoke and made with a short train was chosen by the bride and she wore a halo of seed pearls and veiling which fell to floor length. Her bouquet was of ivy and white stephanotis in a cascade.

The bride's attendants, Miss Dorothy Saunders of Peterborough and Miss Joyce Park of Simcoe, sister of the groom, wore frocks styled on princess lines of ice blue and dusky pink taffeta with matching mittens and accents of velvet. Their hats were of pink and blue velvet and their bouquets of pink and blue stephanotis with ivy.

The groomsman was Mr. Silvio Viron, of Guelph and Mr. Rans Vrooman of Kitchener ushered.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lawless chose a gown of sky blue lace and a hat of navy tulle and she wore a pink rose with forget-me-nots and ivy in a corsage bouquet. The groom's mother wore a gown of sandlewood lace and crepe with a leghorn straw hat and had a Talisman rose with forget-me-nots and ivy. Both assisted the bridal party who received their guests afterward in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel.

The bride and groom will spend the summer months in Medicine Hat, Alta., and then will live in Toronto. When leaving for the west, following the reception, Mrs. Park was wearing a light green linen suit and matching hat with dark gray handbag, gloves, shoes and topcoat.

Brown-Lapp Wedding Rites

George St. United Church was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Miss Myrtle Iva Lapp of Ottawa, daughter of the late Mr and Mrs. C. T. Lapp of Frobisher, Saskatchewan, to Mr. James Keith Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown of 47 Benson Ave. The Rev. Dr. James Semple officiated, at the altar decorated with pink and white tulips, and Mr. Charles Allen played the organ.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Earle Lapp of Mountain, Ontario. Her gown was of white embossed silk organdie with a net yoke edged with seed pearls. The hooped skirt was caught up with tiny silk bows showing a tiered silk lace netticoat. Her finger-tip lace-trimmed veil was shirred to form a double net cap headdress and she was carrying a semi-cascade of red roses. As bridesmaid Miss Joan Brown, the groom's sister, was frocked in pink crepe faconne with matching mittens and Juliet cap trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a nosegay of pink roses and white sweet peas.

Groomsman was Mr. Maxwell Patterson of Warsaw. Ushers were Frederick Lindars of Toronto and Kenneth Brown.

A reception was held in Hooper's Palm Room where the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Earl Lapp, was hostess. She had chosen a dress of beige printed silk and hat of natural straw. Assisting her was the groom's mother who wore a grey silk crepe dress with grey felt hat. Each had a corsage of red roses on her shoulder.

Leaving later on a motor trip to Toronto and points west, the bride was wearing a navy gabardine suit with pink and navy accessories and a corsage of pink sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown will live at 175 Montgomery St., in Peterborough.

What's Right

As a prospective bride, you have already had several showers given for you, and another friend wants to entertain for you and asks if you would like another shower.

WRONG: Let her give a shower for you.

RIGHT: Out of consideration for your friends ask if it can be a party where the guests will not be expected to bring gifts. (Too many showers for a bride work a hardship on her friends.)

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Who Should Come First Man's Wife Or His Mother?

DEAR MISS DIX: There is a lot of arguing in our office about whether a man should give his greatest love to his wife or his mother, and which he should prefer above the other. Some of the men claim that a man's mother should always be more to him than his wife, while others hold that after marriage the mother should step aside and give place to the wife. We would appreciate very much knowing what you think on the subject.

A. P. T.

ANSWER: I don't think there ever should be any argument on the subject, because a man's love for his mother and his love for his wife are two entirely different emotions and they do not conflict with each other. To ask whether a man should love his mother or his wife best is just as absurd as asking which he likes the best, roast beef or ice cream.

Dorothy Dix

Can't Replace Wife

No matter how devotedly a man loves his mother it does not take the place to him of romantic love. Nor does mother's companionship suffice a man, no matter how intelligent mother is nor how hard she tries to keep up with the times. A man may dutifully take mother around with him wherever he goes, but if he is an average man they have really little in common. It is an abnormal companionship. A man needs as a mate a woman of his own age and his own generation. A man talks to his mother, but he thinks aloud to his wife if he is married to a woman he loves.

All of this does not affect a man's love for his mother. Indeed, the more a man loves his wife, the more he appreciates his mother, because his wife has given him a better understanding of women. No man ever realizes the sacrifices his mother has made for him until he has children of his own for whom he has to sacrifice.

But when a man is married his first allegiance is to his wife. We have biblical authority for that. "When a man is married he shall leave father and mother and cleave unto his wife."

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am engaged to be married to a young woman whom I love very much. But—

She is the youngest child in her family, and very much spoiled. Has always had her way about everything, and I have to give in to her about everything to keep the peace.

She insists on living close to her mother. Says she will never go away from her mother, no matter if it was very much to my interest to go to another city to live.

I have caught her in many untruths she has told me.

I have been trying to figure whether it is a good thing to invest my all in this matrimonial venture. What do you say?

ANSWER: If you were going into partnership with another man, you would not pick out one who was selfish, self-centered, arbitrary and hard to get along with, would you? Nor would you select a man who wouldn't back you up into doing whatever was best for the firm. And you would never tie up with a man who was a liar and whose words you couldn't trust. Why, then, choose that kind of woman for a wife?

Such women are a curse to those who marry them, and my advice to you is to let mamma's darling alone. Also avoid the girl who says that she will never leave her mother. The right sort of wife gives her first allegiance to her husband and is ready to go wherever his fortunes call him.

DEAR MISS DIX: Will you please tell us why some men remain true to their wives while others are unfaithful to wives who possess every charm and virtue? In spite of much evidence to the contrary, I still believe that there are husbands who are loyal to the women they marry and I want to know why. IRENE

ANSWER: I think the answer is that men are true or untrue, according to their nature. Some men are born domestic. Others are born rovers. Some men crave constant change and excitement. Others stay put wherever they are. And some men have a higher sense of honor and loyalty than other men. And this includes wives as well as financial obligations.

Skirts Just Covering Knees Latest Report from Paris

By FLORENCE MILLS

PARIS, May 22 — (AP) — The trend toward the sack silhouette of the 1920s will be a dead duck by fall, the Paris mid-season openings have indicated.

Forecast silhouettes shown by top designers here are slim and narrow, with well-defined waistlines and skirts just covering the knee. Suit skirts will be straight and tight, and topcoats will be collarless with nipped waists and slightly-flared skirts.

Perre Balmain, who devotes half his summer show to advance fall models, favors delicate shades of "pink smoke" and greige for tweed topcoats which he trims with fox fur dyed to match. His fall dresses are extremely simple, with plunging necklines, plain sleeves and straight skirts.

Jacques Griffe shows a loose, collarless and buttonless topcoat in natural-color wool with grey American broadtail cuffs trimming three - quarter - length sleeves. His version of the slender fall dress comes in dark-grey worsted. The sheath skirt has a jutting finn at the left side.

Jacques Heim shows a wide-shouldered suit in checked wool, with the back of the jacket pleated like an army jacket and nipped in with a natural calf belt.

Summer styles still go in largely for pleats. The little, straight, sleeveless dress, pleated from yoke to hem, is a top favorite. Other styles feature sheath dresses with pleated flying panels.

Evening dresses, long or short, have vast skirts of pleated tulle or organza.

Evening fashions indicate that the full-length formal gown is back in favor.

One-piece bathing suits are back in favor this summer, but this doesn't mean French designers are going puritanical. They'll be as much nudity as ever. They are cut as high as possible on the legs and as low as possible in the neckline—some being slashed to the waist and held together by a narrow ribbon "bust bridge."

Pantaloon for Beach

Long pantaloons are shown for beach wear, with peg top or fitted as tightly as long underwear. Sensation-hunters go for a pair of yellow-and-black paisley calf-length pants designed by Piguet. They look like a sack with two leg-holes at the bottom. An intricately-swathed bodice manages to leave most of the top bare.

On the more practical side are plain, long trousers tapered like ski pants. The brief, tight shorts are still in high favor. Brilliant colors such as tomato and lime are used in sun and swim suits with terry-cloth robes in matching colors.

Hats also make headlines. Big hats are the latest novelty, entirely covering the hair. Balmain shows one shaped like a beehive, covered with white daisies and yellow sunflowers. Another is black felt with fringe "hair."

Big-brimmed hats of scarlet or champagne straw have plastic windows in front, so the wearer can see where she is going.

QUESTION: I have sent to you for several recipes. Now I would like a recipe for a good rich salad dressing. Something creamy, the same as we buy in the grocery stores. Like . Thanking you,—A.M.M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The dressing you are referring to both by name and by description is a combination of salad dressing and mayonnaise and is made as follows:

Creamy Salad Dressing

(This dressing won a prize at a large exhibition one year.)

Combine in order given 2 beaten egg yolks, 1 teaspoon each dry mustard, salt, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 cup cold salad oil (add this only 1 teaspoon at a time until ¼ cup is added; then 1 tablespoon at a time, beating until completely incorporated before adding next spoonful. (This emulsifies and is a thick mayonnaise.) Next melt 4 tablespoons butter in top of double boiler and add 1-3 cup flour, shake of cayenne, beaten egg yolk, 1 tablespoon vinegar, stirring constantly. When well mixed stir in 1 cup boiling hot water, and let cook 5 minutes. Remove from heat and chill. Meanwhile chill mayonnaise covered. When both are cold, mix them together, adding about 2 to 4 tablespoons berry or fine white sugar. This is an excellent all-purpose dressing and liked by both mayonnaise and salad dressing addicts.

QUESTION: I enjoy your column very much. Would you please send me calorie chart. I am just starting a diet and would like it very much. Would you have recipe for a hamburg loaf? I know you put a little onion and crackers and eggs, and put it in loaf and a can of tomatoes over the top. I might have left out some of the ingredients. I know a lady who used to make it but has passed on. Thanks.—Mrs. R. P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: By coincidence in the same mail as your letter came the following letter from Mrs. P. B.—which answers your query very neatly. I hope you like it.

QUESTION: I have discovered and made up a recipe which I think you might like to print in your column. I call it a Hamburger Rice Loaf. It consists of the following:

Hamburger Rice Loaf

(Submitted by Mrs. P. B.)

Two pounds hamburg meat, 2 eggs, ½ cup breadcrumbs, ½ cup any type of cheese, ½ cup tempting rice (I put in cooked rice, because I am not sure what Mrs. P. B. meant by "tempting" rice), salt to taste, and seasoning, 1 pinch of hot red pepper, parsley and poultry seasonings, and any other seasoning which may be desired.

Use a little olive oil to moisten the mixture and bake in a loaf tin for 35 minutes, at 400 degs. Fahr. in the oven.

After the 35 minutes is up, continue to bake the loaf for one hour at 30 degs. Fahr.

I would like to ask you that if my recipe is considered I thank you.—Mrs. P. B.

ANSWER: Thank you for this, Mrs. P. B. I have tried it, found it delicious, and have recommended it to the reader who wrote the letter above yours.

NEW PRE-COOKED RICE MEAL-MAKING SENSATION

Delightful Desserts— Wonderful Main-Courses
by Frances Barton

To illustrate the easy, delicious desserts and main course dishes that Minute Rice makes possible, here are some of my favorite recipes.

PEACH-LEMON RICE

Combine ¾ cup Minute Rice and 2½ cups milk. Bring to full rolling boil. Remove from heat, cover and let stand 10 minutes. Combine 1 egg (slightly beaten), ⅓ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Add a small amount of the hot mixture, stir well, return to saucepan. Add 1 tablespoon butter. Cook slowly 4 minutes, stirring constantly. Serve warm, with canned peaches and their juice. Makes 6 servings.

APRICOT RICE

Combine ¾ cup Minute Rice and 2 cups juice from stewed dried apricots. Bring to full rolling boil, cover and simmer 5 minutes. Remove from heat, cover, and let stand 10 minutes. Add 3 tablespoons sugar, ⅛ teaspoon (each) salt and cinnamon, and 1 tablespoon butter. Serve warm, with plain or whipped cream. Makes 4 servings.

SALMON CASSEROLE

Prepare 1 package Minute Rice according to basic package directions. In greased casserole, arrange in alternate layers the cooked rice, 1 cup flaked canned salmon, 1 cup grated cheese; sprinkle each layer with a little salt and pepper. Dot with 2 tablespoons butter. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Do Not Cook Like Ordinary Rice — Just Dump Into Water and Bring to the Boil!

Women everywhere are acclaiming the new, amazing, time-saving meal-maker — Minute Rice.

Now on sale at your grocer's, this entirely new kind of rice is already appearing regularly on the menus of countless homemakers who appreciate time-saving, sure results—and thrifty "extenders" for more expensive foods!

All the Tedious Work Done

It's almost miraculous. Minute Rice — the only rice of its kind on the market — is pre-cooked. All the tiresome, time-consuming work is done. So it's ready in minutes, to serve with steak or chops or fish . . . with a favorite stew or curry . . . with fried chicken — or as a dessert.

You just add the Minute Rice to water, and bring to the boil. No further cooking is needed. No washing, no rinsing, no draining, no steaming. Only one pan required — no sticky pot or sieve to wash.

Brand-New Menu Planning

Minute Rice gives you a perfect basic menu dish in far less time than it takes to cook potatoes, macaroni or spaghetti. It saves you so much time and energy! So it will inspire you to a brand-new kind of menu planning.

For such favorites as rice pudding and Spanish Rice, it cuts cooking time to a fraction. And Minute Rice gives surer, more satisfying results, every time.

Ten Year Old's Cooking Delights Family

The youngest cook — the newest bride—can serve fluffy, delicious rice that folks rave about. "It's easy", says one ten-year-old. "I measure the water and dump in the rice. When the water bubbles, I take it off the heat. That's all there is to it."

Neither Storms Nor Beasts Stop This Mail

DIGBY, NS (CP)—Typical of the some 990 mail contractors in Nova Scotia is Guy Morehouse, this town's veteran mailman-mayor.

Morehouse, who has been delivering mail from Digby to Digby Neck for 30 years, started the first motor car mail route in the province. Using a Russell he began in April 1911 and lost $1,200 in the first years of operations.

Road conditions have caused him to use every available means of transportation in delivery. This spring for the first time in several years he has had to resort to horse and wagon because motor vehicles have bogged down in mud in some sections.

During his service Morehouse has used 15 different makes of cars. In recent years he has had to use trucks because of the tremendous increase in the volume of mail carried.

Lives Up To Oath

Chronic complainers, wild animals, varied types of mail boxes and unseasonable weather are the main difficulties he has to face in living up to his oath to deliver the mail to the best of his ability.

Heavy snows were most troublesome in the early days. To meet this obstacle he evolved the first snow fence ever used in the province. The provincial highways department adopted his idea, and sent him a cheque for his work.

Like all rural mail, stage route and side-route drivers, Morehouse exemplifies the "do or die" spirit. He mentions that Duncan Mackenzie of Florence has one of the most difficult routes in the province. Mackinzie has to cross two ferries to make his delivery and until a few years ago he had to use a dog team during winter.

Throughout Nova Scotia there have been cases where mail contracts have been in the same family for 75 years. In one section of Guysborough County, one family has held the contract for more than 100 years, passing it down from father to son.

Will Celebrate May 24

BETHANY, May 22—(ENS)—The annual May 24 celebration, sponsored by the Bethany Athletic Association, will be a full afternoon and evening's entertainment. A parade, headed by the Boys Band, will begin the afternoon performance. There are six ball games scheduled for the afternoon; a variety program in the town hall will include local talent and a play by the Springville Young People will be followed by a dance.

SHEEP POPULATION

Australia had 108,730,000 sheep at March 31, 1949, an increase of more than 6,000,000 over the preceding year.

QUADS GET THE AIR—It was a big day for Sault Ste. Marie's famed quadruplets, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Hargreaves, when they reached the age of seven months and went for an outing "twin carriage style". Left to right the quads are Jennifer and Janice who take a rather sombre view of the whole thing, Joyce who is nonchalant and Joan who expresses happiness. Nurse Mrs. J. Depew and the mother, Mrs. Hargreaves, proudly present the foursome.

Citizenship

Mr. St. Laurent, however, had cheery news for his Peterborough audience.

He was "optimistic" on the subject of war—that is, an "actual shooting war." He did not elaborate.

Despite their gruelling schedule Mr. St. Laurent, Mrs. St. Laurent, and their daughter, Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell—all appeared as fresh, buoyant and interested as when the day began.

An indication of the premier's vitality is the fact that after his 13-hour visit to Peterborough, he took the night train back to Ottawa and then caught an airplane for Winnipeg at 10 a.m. Sunday.

He is now personally surveying the flooded areas of southern Manitoba.

Presented With Rug

After the address of welcome by Francis D. Kerr, KC, senior member of the Bar in Peterborough, a large grey-blue embossed rug was presented to the St. Laurents for their home in Quebec. The color had been chosen by Mrs. St. Laurent from among a number of samples previously shown her.

Canada's bilingual premier—he is equally fluent in English or French—expressed the pleasure of himself, his wife and daughter at being in Peterborough to open the new Civic Hospital and start of the City's centenary celebrations.

It was his first visit to Peterborough and he was glad it was a non-political occasion.

"I can assure you it is a pleasure and an honor to feel that the St. Laurent family will have a small place in the history of this community," he said turning to Mayor Max J. Swanston.

He prefaced this appreciation by replying briefly in French to Mr. Kerr who delivered an address of welcome—part of it in French. He assured Peterborough's senior barrister that he had been overly modest in apologizing for his French delivery.

Everyone had a few chuckles —including the Prime Minister and Mr. Kerr himself—when the latter lapsed once into English during the French portion of his welcome.

Touches On History

Mr. St. Laurent touched on some of the historical highlights in this city's history, both before and after its incorporation as a town in 1850. He made the observation — common to many Peterborough visitors—that Peterborough has unusually diversified industry.

"Why right here in Peterborough you produce nearly everything the average Canadian family needs in the course of an average day," he said.

And he paid tribute to Peterborough for "encouraging the affairs of the mind." Plays can be written, produced and performed for the average family without bringing in outside talent.

"It is gratifying that the literary tradition established over a century ago by Samuel Strickland, Catherine Traill, Susanna Moodie and others, is being kept up so worthily in 20th century Peterborough," he continued.

Great Obligations

Then he came to the main part of his address: citizenship.

"It is natural on the occasion of a centenary to recall the struggles of the original settlers and the courage and vision with which they began the construction of the communities which make up what is today a great nation.

"When we think of what our ancestors, and what our fathers and mothers have done so that we may enjoy the benefits of living in Canada, it touches most of us with pride, and I hope gives us a deeper sense of our obligations to our nation and to future generations of Canadians. The recollection of the past makes us think of the great privilege it is to be a citizen of Canada and I would like to speak briefly to you about our Canadian citizenship."

There were two reasons why this subject was appropriate. Had it not been for pride in citizenship there would be no centenary celebrations in Peterborough. And the other is because on May 23 (Empire Day), schools throughout Canada will "emphasize the advantages and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship."

Traditionally Empire Day has been devoted to the purpose of increasing the interest of pupils in Canada—its domestic history and special relationship in the Commonwealth.

These additional exercises, initiated this year, are not intended to interfere with the traditional observances, Mr. St. Laurent assured his Peterborough audience, rather they are supplementary.

The special emphasis would, he repeated, be on "our own Canadian citizenship."

No Interference

Under the BNA Act, education is a provincial matter and the premier said that the federal government had no intention of interfering or usurping any of these rights. However he expressed pleasure that the premiers of all 10 Canadian provinces had accepted his suggestion for these special patriotic observances.

"I noticed that the Premier of Ontario ended the budget speech which he delivered last March with the words: "My chief pride is the fact that I am a Canadian"

"I think most of us feel the same way Mr. Frost does. And I think so long as we do, we can all do a great deal, each within his own jurisdiction whether it be federal, provincial or municipal, to strengthen our unity as Canadians and to continue to build a healthy, free and democratic nation.

"Apart from being residents of our own city or town or local community and our particular province, of which we are very proud, we all belong to a greater community—a united nation which stretches from sea to sea—and out into both oceans.

"Now that was not always so. At first there were only a few settlements widely divided by rugged terrain whose people knew little or nothing of each other. Our ancestors, the inhabitants of New France, the Loyalists who came north from the American colonies, people like Adam Scott, and the 2,000 Irishmen settled here by Peter Robinson, and a host of others, struggled against great odds but they laid solid foundations upon which their descendants have built a great agricultural and industrial nation.

Two-Race Patnership

"But we have not only advanced in a material sense. Our country is based on a partnership of two races and two cultures. It was founded on the faith that two of the proudest races in the world could each preserve their own language and their own creed, and yet live together and develop a common nationality.

"Not only is that partnership firmer today than ever before but into the original partnership we have freely admitted thousands of others from most of the nations of the earth. And I believe that this special experience of our Canadian nation has bred tolerance and respect for others into our very bones."

Canadians have fought to preserve and extend freedom for themselves and other free nations the premier stated.

And then he warned that "the preservation of our free way of life is a continuing task."

"Man has been struggling for centuries to better himself, to increase his opportunities and extend his freedom. The pioneers of this country like our soldiers, sailors and airmen in two world wars, played a valiant part in that battle."

He pointed out that Canadians by preserving and extending this freedom might prove "an example to the civilized peoples of the world, having rendered a service to future Canadians and all mankind."

Praises Forces

But for the efforts of the Canadian Armed Forces in two world wars we could not be having this celebration in Peterborough, "in this happiest land in all the world."

"Citizenship in our country is no mere symbol. For most of us citizenship is birthright. For those who came from other lands, citizenship is the highest honor which a nation can bestow.

"In Parliament we passed the Canadian Citizenship Act in 1946. The passage of that Act has I believe given all of us, new Canadians and older Canadians alike, a deeper pride in our common citizenship as Canadians. But the passage of an Act does not make us better citizens. And the observance of special ceremonies on one day means little in itself.

"Citizenship is something which each of us must practice every day of our lives. Here in Canada it means a wide variety of things. It means tolerance and respect for the rights of others; the lending of a helping hand to one's neighbour in times of trouble.

"Our country's greatness was won by men with courage, with knowledge of their duty and with a sense of honor in action.

Great Heritage

"Canada is not the largest country in the world, though it certainly is pretty vast. It is nowhere near the oldest, and relatively speaking our population is small. But we have a great heritage. And our pride in that heritage is exemplified by celebrations devoted to the remembrance of our past such as this centenary in Peterborough.

"We Canadians are a sturdy people of very mixed origins who have learned, despite differences in culture and in language, to live peacefully and happily together. We have a land blessed with bounhiful resources.

"Barring war—and about an actual shooting war—I am an optimist I believe, provided we strive to be even better citizens than those who have gone before us, we can look forward with confidence to developing a nation even greater than anything dreamed of by the Canadians of earlier generations.

"I congratulated you in Peterborough on your pride in your past and on your hopes for your part in the future of Canada."

Head Table Guests

Head table guests, introduced by Alderman Adam Sands, included Gordon K. Fraser, MP, and Mrs. Fraser; Mrs. Adam Sands; Judge S. L. Smoke and Mrs. Smoke; Mrs. Hugh O'Donnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. St. Laurent; Bishop Gerald Berry; Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests, and Mrs. Scott; Francis D. Kerr, KC, and Mrs. Kerr; Mayor Max J. Swanston and Mrs. Swanston; the Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson and Mr. and Mrs. St. Laurent.

After retiring briefly to their suite for a rest the St. Laurents and Mrs. O'Donnell later appeared for the last event of the day—the reception.

resort frequently to this hospital. And I hope there will be a ward provided in which new Canadians can make their bows to their fellow-citizens."

"I am told and I am sure that this hospital is one of the finest built and equipped hospitals in this country," he want on.

Chairman of the hospital's board of governors, John R. Marshall, acted as chairman of the opening ceremonies.

New Era For City

In his opening remarks, Mr. Marshall said "today should mark a new era in hospitalization for the city. Our dream of these many years has at last been consummated."

Mr. Marshall said: "This hospital is for the service of our community—for all people, regardless of race, creed, or color. We, the governors, are extremely grateful to the people of Peterborough."

Following Mr. Marshall, Mayor Max Swanston spoke briefly, saying that citizens now dead "gave us the inspiration and lead for building this hospital.

"Today, citizens of Peterborough have achieved another laudable ambition—one we have held in our hearts for at least 20 years," the mayor said.

Warden Speaks

A short speech of welcome on behalf of residents of the county of Peterborough, was made by county warden Norman Wilson, who remarked he was glad to see so many people "celebrating my birthday with me."

Later, Mr. St. Laurent wished Mr. Wilson a happy birthday on behalf of the federal government.

Following the warden, Bishop Gerald Berry said: "The care of the sick is one of the noblest functions of the human race—it is an integral part of the spirit of western civilization. This magnificent hospital will continue in that work."

"I remember two years ago, when the cornerstone of this hospital was laid by governor-general. Today, the political head of the state has come to open the hospital."

In his speech, the prime Minister said he did not want to be called a "ruler" of any sort. Canada is a democracy, he said, in the truest sense of Abraham Lincoln's famous phrase, "Government of the people, by the people, and for the people."

"I believe," said the prime minister, "the phrase would be better in 'of the people' were left out. Ours is government by the people and for the people."

Leads In Prayer

The Rev. Dr. Bruce Gordon of Trinity United Church, president of the Peterborough Ministerial Association, led a solemn, sunlit group in prayer, concluding it with the Lord's Prayer.

Harold Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests for Ontario, expressed the regrets of Premier Frost that he could not be present.

"The completion of this building," said Mr. Scott, "exemplifies the co-operation in Canada of all levels of government—rural, city, provincial and federal. Tribute must also be paid to the worthy citizens who contributed their time, money, and talent to make this hospital possible."

As a past president of the Peterborough Kiwanis Club, Mr. Scott presented chairman John Marshall with a cheque from the club for $500, "to be used in alleviation of suffering and for the comfort of patients." Mr. Marshall remarked at this point that voluntary contributions for the furnishing of the hospital now totalled more than $36,000.

Prayers Answered

Federal member for Peterborough, West, Gordon K. Fraser, said: "I hoped and prayed for a clear fine day so we could show Peterborough to the prime minister as I have tried so often to picture it in the House of Commons. My prayers were answered."

W. A. Goodfellow, acting Minister of Health, Ontario, said the opening of Civic Hospital was a very important occasion in the life of the city. "I can't think of words to express the gratitude you should feel toward your city council and this hospital's board of governors."

Deputy Minister of Health and Welfare in the federal government, Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, son of Peterborough's Dr. G. S. Cameron, spoke on behalf of Paul Martin, Canada's Minister of Health and Welfare.

"All of us in the department of health and welfare derive a great deal of satisfaction in seeing municipalities move forward in this way. This hospital symbolizes the score of people in your city who are doing good work such as this."

Obituaries

MRS. WILLIAM T. McILWAIN

A resident of Peterborough for the past 60 years Mrs. William Thomas McIlwain, 119 Parkhill Rd. died Saturday at her residence in her 69th year. She was formerly Jessie Louisa Urquhart.

Pedigreed Breakfast

GUELPH, Ont. — (CP) — One Guelph family had an expensive breakfast recently. The husband, a chicken fancier, paid $16 a dozen for eggs which were supposed to hatch out prize birds—but he forgot to tell his wife about it. When he showed up for breakfast the next day the table was adorned with six of the eggs.

GENERAL ELECTRIC KETTLE

The fastest way of boiling water in the home

Here's Why the G-E Kettle is so Fast

The Hi-speed Calrod element is right in the water. All the heat goes into the water. In consequence, no current is wasted. It saves you money—and gives you boiling water really fast.

For hot water in a hurry—the G-E Kettle will prove its worth many times every day. Just fill it, plug it in, and the Hi-speed Calrod element immersed right in the water brings the water to a boil in a hurry. Yet speed is only part of the story—with a G-E Kettle in the home, the surface elements on your range are left free for cooking.

Through an ingenious device, this kettle cannot overheat—it turns itself off automatically if it should boil dry. It's a "must" for the summer cottage and for the office, too. Holds four pints. Available wherever electrical appliances are sold.

THREE WINGS IN MAIN BUILDING, NURSES' RESIDENCE, POWER PLANT

New Civic Hospital Planned In Most Modern Design With 240 Beds, 51 Bassinets

By JIM ENGLISH

Let's take a walk through the new Civic Hospital. But first, look at it from above—it looks a bit like a three-bladed propellor with the ends of the blades squared off. The blades pointing roughly east and west are the wings set aside for patients. The north wing contains for the most part administrative offices and operating rooms. North of the hospital is the nurses' residence, and to the northwest is the power plant, and behind it the silvery water tower.

240 Bed Patients

The hospital will hold 240 beds, and 51 nursery cubicles, the equivalent of 17 single rooms. There is one emergency operating suite, one regular operating suite, two delivery rooms and three labor rooms.

In general, the east and west wings which face the south will hold the patients' wards, with the nursing unit, service and maternity rooms to the north.

Two high speed elevators deliver patients and visitors to the five floors used for patients. One service elevator handles freight, and a fourth runs from the basement to the kitchen, delivering food supplies.

Now, let's go through it floor by floor.

First Floor

On the first floor in the north wing are the ambulance entrances administration offices, and the emergency operating suite. The main laboratory is also here, as well as the central supply offices and the pharmacy.

In the west wing is the main kitchen, the main cafeteria with portion overlooking the city to the south.

Then, there's the isolation department in the east wing, almost a separate hospital in itself. It is connected with the hospital in such a way that no person can leave or enter without being subjected to a series of antiseptic treatments which kill all germs.

Around the isolation department runs one of the features of Peterborough's new Civic Hospital—a covered walk with plate glass windows set in the wall through which visitors can look in to see children and friends.

Patients' Rooms

The second, third, and fourth floors in both the east and west wings are devoted entirely to patients' rooms, except for the pediatric department on the third floor of the west wing.

The second floor of the north wing hold administrative offices, records, and the library. The third-floor contains the X-ray and physiotherapy rooms, the radiologist's office and the X-ray film files. There are two X-ray rooms with a darkroom between them on this floor, and a fracture room.

On the fourth floor of the north wing we see the operating suite, containing three major and one minor operating rooms. Here, there is also a nurses' workroom, utility rooms and staff lockerrooms.

The second floor of the central portion contains the main entrance and lobby.

Separate Section

The maternity department is on the fifth floor, and is treated as a separate section of the hospital. Here there are maternity rooms in the central part of the west wing and part of the north wing.

The east wing holds the nurseries, with the maternity isolation department at the extreme east end. In the north wing are the two delivery rooms and three labor rooms, as well as utility rooms for storage.

51 Separate Cubicles

The nurseries are divided into 51 separate cubicles, one for each infant. Nobody can enter the cubicles but the nurse in charge, and she must change gowns before and after visiting each cubicle. This conforms with the very latest and best practice in in maternity wards and nurseries, hospital authorities say.

Up in the tower are quarters for four internes, a large conference room, a guild room, and work rooms for the ladies auxiliary. The penthouse, which is the very peak of the tower, contains mechanical equipment for ventilation and the elevators.

The two high-speed elevators for passengers and patients travel at a speed of 200 feet a minute, while the service elevator moves at 100 feet a minute. All are fully automatic, but can be switched over for operator control if it is desired. The freight elevator which hauls supplies to the kitchen from the basement is operated hydraulically. The other three operate on electric power.

Trays Double Checked

Back in the kitchen on the first floor again, we find a conveyor system carrying food. Orders for diets are sent to the kitchen by doctors via a telautograph system, and each tray is double-checked before it reaches the patient.

Maximum time for empty tray to be filled with food and delivered to the patient is five minutes. An electric dumbwaiter carries food for special services such as afternoon and evening drinks and snacks. Another duct contains the subveyor which carries food to all floors.

A special section of the main kitchen is set aside for making up all special diets for patients with diabetes, ulcers, etc.

Indirect ultra - violet light "wash" germs from the air in the nurseries, and isolation rooms of the pediatric department.

Northwest of the hospital is the power house where there are three 150 horsepower boilers, any two of which will provide the hospital with all heat and steam required for winter. In summer, one boiler is running to give the hospital high pressure steam for sterilizers and the kitchen.

About half of the steam produced is used for sterilizing, for the kitchen and other special jobs, and the remainder for heat.

Also in the power house is the laundry, largest in the city. Modern equipment gives it a huge capacity. Work shops for general maintenance, painters, carpenters and steamfitters are also contained in the power house.

Nurses' residence

Finally, there is the nurses' residence, north of the main building. In it ther is accommodation for 120 nurses, each of which will have a private room, so that different shifts will not interfere with the nurses' rest.

Here, there are sitting rooms and common rooms for relaxation, and a games room in the basement. A school section in the residence contains three classrooms which may be opened into an auditorium for dances, graduation exercises, and other demonstrations. The school section holds chemistry and dietetic laboratories.

In addition, there are utility rooms, a library and a reception room.

Dedicate Tiny Chapel June 4

A place for prayer will be included in the new Peterborough Civic Hospital. A small room, 16 by 8 feet, was set aside in the plans as a chapel.

Located on the first floor of the north wing, the chapel will hold three pews at the south side when finished. In addition, there will be a kneeling rail near the small altar, and a parchment scroll listing the names of Peterborough men who died in World War II.

A stained glass window in the west wall, as well as the other furnishings, have been donated by the Silver Cross Chapter of Peterborough— composed of the wives and mothers of Peterborough men who died during World War II.

Central figure in the window is of Christ the Comforter. The central panel is flanked by two smaller panels, depicting a sword and a torch.

At the bottom of the window is the inscription: "Come unto me, all ye heavy laden, and I will give you rest. In grateful tribute to the men of Peterborough who gave their lives during the Second World War. Erected by the Peterborough Chapter of the Silver Cross Women of Canada."

Dedication of the chapel, which is basically a room for prayer, but which can be used for services if necessary, will be on June 4.

On the north wall of the chapel will be a parchment list, framed in brass and illuminated, of the 412 Peterborough men who died in the last war.

ALL HOSPITALS REQUIRE EFFICIENTLY OPERATED KITCHEN UNIT

Carefully Designed Kitchen In New Civic Hospital Occupies Wing's First Floor

By JIM ENGLISH

Hospital pat[illegible] especia[illegible] are recovering like to eat. Some can't eat much, and others require fairly heavy diets. For all of them the hospital kitchen must supply food. There must be special diets for diabetics, patients with ulcers and other stomach disorders, and for those whose systems require special types of food. To supply patients with hot food, to serve them speedily, and to give them the best possible food, a hospital needs an efficient kitchen.

Such a kitchen may be found in Peterborough's new Civic Hospital. Located on the first floor, it occupies the entire west wing of that floor.

Much Care Taken

Superintendent John Hornal says it will be efficient. "We have certainly taken a lot of pains to make it that way," he said.

Evidence of the careful design is apparent even to a layman. Food flows eastward from the stores at the west end of the kitchen to the preparing tables, then to the various floors.

Let's follow a meal through all its stages of preparation in this kitchen.

At the extreme west of the wing are the store-rooms. Here, there are refrigerated rooms for meat, dairy products, vegetables, and all foodstuffs that are perishable.

In one corner is the room for dairy stores—bread, flour and other foods that are reasonably non-perishable. These are delivered to the daily stores from an even larger store-room in the basement by elevator.

The basic ingredients of the meal moves from the stores to preparation tables. Facing east along the length of the kitchen, on the right we see the meat tables, and the butcher's block. Here meat is made ready for the ovens and the broiler.

On the left, there are the tables for cutting and peeling vegetables, and the blessing of the machine age, the potato peeler. Against the left wall is the section set aside for preparation of salads.

Beyond the meat table on the right are the ovens and the broilers. Beyond them again, is a 60-quart mixer for pastry and batters.

On the salad and vegetable side, there is first a dole plate for keeping salads cool and fresh. This plate is a long, flat metal container, through which a refrigerating liquid circulates to keep the plate cold and the salad fresh and crisp. Beyond this are the huge shining metal vegetable kettles.

Meal Takes Shape

From the kettles, the dole plate and the ovens, the meal begins to take recognizable shape. Meat is sliced and sent to the steam tables, where it is joined by the salads and vegetables. Another dole plate here maintains the freshness of the salad.

Still facing east, we see slightly to the left of the centre of the kitchen a conveyor belt carrying trays and dishes. To the right of the conveyor are the storage racks for trays, dishes, cutlery, and dish covers.

The tray is set on the conveyor belt. On it first goes the main course, meat and vegetables in a dish covered with a metal dish cover. On some trays, salads replace meat and vegetables.

The conveyor moves slowly until it reaches an inspection point after which desserts and tea, coffee, or milk are set on, according to the individual diets.

After passing the inspection point, the trays move with their load to a swifter conveyor belt which carries them past the coffee and tea urns, and the ice cream cabinet. At last the trays are ready to go to the patients.

Carried to Various Floors

From the end of the belt, they are placed in a subveyor, which carries meals upward to the various floors. One floor is served at a time. As the trays arrive at each floor with their welcome load, a crew of eight servers removes the trays, places them on carts and takes them to the indicated rooms.

Then comes the unhappy aftereffect of the meal—dishwashing. But here, in Civic Hospital, the jobs is not as sad as in the average home.

Trays with dirty dishes are placed again on the subveyor at loading points on the various floors. They travel down to the kitchen, are removed from the opposite side of the subveyor, and are placed on another conveyor belt which moves them to a table.

As the trays pass along the belt, workers remove certain articles from the trays in order. Dishes, cutlery and trays are then racked in the washing trays, which first pass through a rinser which removes the gross dirt.

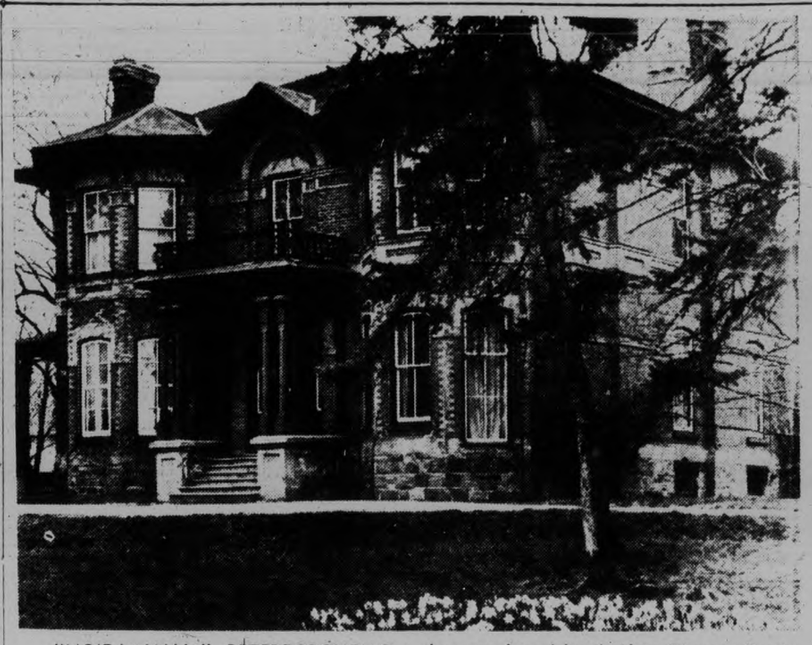
Actual Dish Washing

Then they move into the actual washer, which souses them in hot, soapy water. From there they move to a hot rinse. Then they are placed on another table to dry by themselves.

When they are dry, the dishes and knives and forks and spoons are placed again in the storage racks where they wait to start the circle all over.

Fruit juices and snacks ordered for light meals in the afternoon and evening travel to the various floors by an electrically operated dumbwaiter which operates in a duct next to the subveyor duct. In case the subveyor should break down, the dumbwaiter is capable of carrying the meals.

These light snacks are sent to the diet kitchen located on each floor, from where they are delivered to the patients. The plates, of course, go back again to the dishwasher's delight.



"MOIRA HALL," PETERBOROUGH'S FIRST hospital was purchased by the late Mrs. Charlotte Jane Nicholls from the Cottingham estate and endowed with $15,000. It was used for five years and then purchased by the late Thomas Bradburn and remained in that family for many years. The present owner is contractor Charles Huffman. This fine old house stands amid spacious grounds at the west end of Charlotte St.—Examiner Staff Photo

100-Foot Tower Supplies Water For New Hospital

Water for the new Civic Hospital will be supplied by the shining 100-foot water tower to the west of the powerhouse.

A pumping station on Weller Street between Albertus Avenue and Monaghan Road will boost pressure to fill the 50,000-gallon tank.

The tower is 100 feet tall, made of steel, and was made and erected by the Horton Steel Co. of Thorold, Ontario. It will provide water for all hospital buildings, and the surrounding district.

Federal Minister of Health Congratulates Governors

Federal Health Minister Paul Martin forwarded by wire his congratulations to Peterborough on the opening of the new Civic Hospital, saying: "All who come to the new Civic Hospital . . will find . . . the same humanitarian service and scientific skill that has for so many years characterized hospital care in Peterborough."

Text of his wire follows:

"The opening of the new Peterborough Civic Hospital is a memorable event in the history of Peterborough and of the surrounding towns and townships. This imposing structure will add impressively to modern hospital facilities in the Peterborough area.

"I was glad to approve a substantial Federal grant under the National Health program towards its cost because the expansion of hospital accommodation can do so much to raise health levels in Canada. By building this fine institution Peterborough takes a great stride forward in health.

"I know that all who come to the new Civic Hospital will find the best of facilities and the best of health care. They will find, too, the same humanitarian service and scientific skill that has for so many years characterized hospital care in Peterborough."

HON. PAUL MARTIN

Mrs. E. M. Leeson Superintendent

Since 1890, when Nicholls Hospital was built, there have been 10 superintendents in what became Peterborough Civic Hospital in 1945.

Before that, in 1885, Miss Hannah Dalby was superintendent of Moira Hall, Peterborough's first hospital, and one of half-a-dozen in Ontario at the time. Moira Hall, later the Bradburn residence, is now an apartment house, and stands on the south side of Charlotte St. west of Monaghan Rd.

Longest in office of all superintendents was Mrs. E. M. Leeson, who was superintendent of Nicholls Hospital from 1922 to 1940. Two others, Miss A. Ballantyne, and Miss F. Bolster, stayed for the shortest period, one year each.

In 1890, Nicholls Hospital was built and Miss Louis Eastwood became superintendent. She stayed for two years, and Miss A. Ballantyne took over for one year.

Mrs. M. O'Donovan became superintendent in 1893, and held that position until the end of 1896. In 1897, Miss Jessie Bolster was appointed, and was replaced in 1901 by her sister Miss F. Bolster, who stayed for one year.

Miss Margaret Coleman became superintendent in 1902 and left office in 1905. She was succeeded by Miss F. E. De La Matter in 1906, and Miss De La Matter stayed as superintendent until 1912.

New Wing Built

In 1912, Miss E. M. Beamish was appointed and during her tenure, the south wing was added in 1914. Miss Beamish left in 1921, and in 1922, Mrs. Leeson came to Nicholls.

Previous to 1940, the job of superintendent involved being superintendent of nurses, and superintendent of the hospital. The office was split in 1941 into those two jobs, and John Hornal became superintendent.

In the same year, Miss Edith G. Young was appointed superintendent of nurses, and in 1947, Miss Annie Thomson was made director of nursing and superintendent of the school of nursing.

NURSES' RESIDENCE WILL HOUSE 109 NURSES, THREE SUPERVISORS

Main Floor Is Given Over To Reception, Classrooms

To the northeast of the new Civic Hospital building lies the nurses' residence, an L-shaped three-storey building of steel construction.

When completed, the residence will house 109 nurses, and three supervisors. Provision has also been made for classrooms, games rooms, diet kitchens, and a laboratory.

About 1,000 tons of steel and large quantities of bricks of cement, wiring, and glass and wood are going into its construction. It is estimated the residence will be finished by the end of June.

The top two storeys of residence will be taken up completely with living quarters for student nurses and supervisors. Each student will have her private room, complete with wash-basin and wardrobe chest.

For the supervisors, three suites, each consisting of a bedroom, sitting room, and bathroom, are set aside.

Doors and door frames are made of birch inside the building, and wardrobe cabinets of birch and white pine. The roomy wardrobe cabinets, reaching to the ceiling, separate each pair of rooms.

One of the features of the residence is the windows, which have built-in storm window units. These are attached to the inside of the sashes by screws and hinges and can be swung open for cleaning.

Reception Room

The main floor will be devoted to the reception rooms, offices, and classrooms. The reception room will be at the bend of the L, in the southeast corner. North of that, on the very east end of the building, will be the classrooms —three of them—separated by folding doors, which may be opened to turn the classrooms into an auditorium.

In the basement, provision has been made for a diet kitchen, a laboratory, two games rooms and several storage rooms.

The stone facing outside the main entrance, at the southeast corner, is of rough ashlar stone from Port Credit. Steps are of hard Queenston stone from the Niagara district.

The ashlar facing carries around the corner to the north on the outside walls of the classrooms. Above the facing is an overhanging concrete apron, flashed with copper.

Outside walls of the building are of two shades of red brick, matching the main hospital building. Footings and foundations are concrete, and the building is fireproof.

The building is connected to the main building and the powerhouse by a tunnel. The main tunnel runs north from the north wing to the powerhouse and is joined near the powerhouse by the tunnel from the nurses' residence.

In the crook of the L, landscaping plans provide for a sitting-out garden. A games area has been planned for the land west of the hospital.

ANCIENT INTERIOR OF THE OLD NICHOLLS Hospital laundry is short on equipment and pleasant working conditions compared to the streamlined plant employees will move to soon. Richard Fairburn, LEFT, fills a tub with soiled linen and at RIGHT, Evelyn McGrath, Anne Doyon and Margaret MacGinnis work at the old-fashioned mangle. The new plant has ample floor space, the latest equipment, air conditioning and lots of light.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

First Hospital Fought Shy Of Delivering New Babies

First hospital in Peterborough, Moira Hall, was a staid old place, judging from some of the minutes of the trustees' meetings.

The original board of trustees was composed of George A. Cox, M. Sanderson, R. S. Davidson, J. McClelland, J. W. Flavelle, and Richard Hall. Mr. Hall was elected chairman at the first meeting on June 19, 1885.

On November 24, 1885, the following was entered in the minutes:

"The Chairman informed the Board that he had received an application for admission to the Hospital of a Woman during 'confinement.'

"It was resolved:

"That this application and any similar applications cannot be entertained."

Peterborough's first hospital averaged seven patients a day during its four-and-one-half years' existence. A total of 334 patients were admitted, and they spent a total of 10,934 days in the hospital.

Going by the records, the first patient admitted was a man of 30, Sidney Phillips, who was suffering from typhoid fever. He was admitted on October 28, 1885, and discharged the day before Christmas in the same year, cured.

No births at all are recorded during the four and a half years, and none was recorded at Nicholls Hospital until 1890, when a Mrs. Snider gave birth to a child.

An error in the records lists a John Capel, 90, as having given birth to a child, although a further column shows he died of pneumonia.

505 TONS OF STEEL USED IN CONSTRUCTION OF CIVIC HOSPITAL

427,000 Bricks In Hospital 38,000 Bags of Cement Went Into Concrete Work

By JIM ENGLISH

Essentially a reinforced concrete structure, Peterborough's new Civic Hospital has plenty of brick in it. In fact, if you wanted to pile the bricks in it face to face, you'd need a ladder a little more than 15 miles high.

Altogether, there are 427,000 bricks in the new hospital. This figure includes 165,000 bricks for inside work, and 262,000 facing bricks. The facing bricks are in two shades of red.

But the bricks took up a lesser role than the cement. For the three five-storey wings and the tower and penthouse, more than 38,000 bags of cement were used. At 87 pounds for each bag, that tots up to um . . . 1,653 tons.

Mixed in with all those tons of cement were 3,500 yards of sand, and 5,000 yards of gravel.

505 Tons of Steel

For reinforcing the concrete, a total of 505 tons of steel was used. Breaking that down we find 410 tons were used in the north and west wings, and 95 tons used in the east wing.

Three Large Boilers

Over in the power house, there are three high-pressure boilers developing 150 horsepower each. Throughout the building there are numbers of steam traps, convertors, several steam-driven turbine pumps, boiler feed pumps, and electric pumps.

As one plumber put it: "Goodness knows how many of those things there are."

Plumbing, ventilating and heating in the building were designed by H. H. Angus and Associates of Toronto, and installed by J. Wiggin and Son, of Lansing.

Altogether there are more than nine miles of pipe in the building, including soil pipe, copper and galvanized pipe.

For heating, about 25,000 feet of pipe were used ranging in size from 10 inches to one-half inch. The whole main building is heated with hot water and steam convector radiation.

For the plumbing, another 25,000 feet of pipe were put in, also ranging in size from 10 inches to one-half inch.

About 650 fixtures — sinks, toilets, showers, washbasins, baths and the like—were used. These fixtures required more than 13,000 caulked lead joints, and about 3,500 wiped soldered joints.

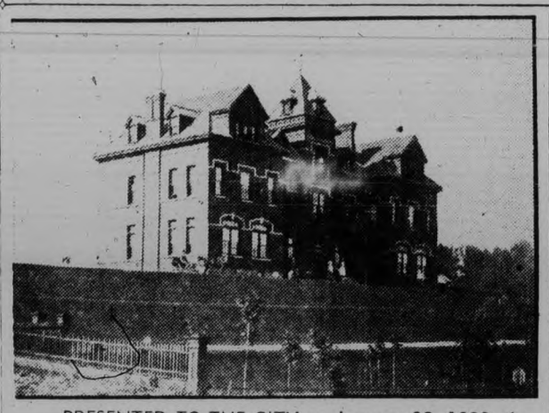
For a little more than a year, the new hospital was plastered. Lathers, plasterers, and laborers tramped through it, slapping tons of materials smoothly onto the walls and ceilings of the rooms and offices in the hospital.

20 Tons of Lime

Workers employed by W. J. Crowe Limited of Toronto, plastering contractors, used 20 tons of lime, 200 tons of hardwall, 10 tons of plaster and five tons of cement.

But before they could do that, they had to put down seven tons of metal lath, 150,000 feet of channel, angle, and pencil iron, one-and-a-half tons of tie wire, and thousands of clips and staples. When they finished that, they went ahead and got the hospital plastered.

Linoleum floors in the hospital were laid by the Robert Simpson Co.; painting was done by Bavington Brothers of Toronto; and wiring by Standard Electric Co., of Toronto. Refrigeration was done by Wright's, of Peterborough.



PRESENTED TO THE CITY on January 29, 1890, the above building is the northern section of the Civic Hospital, formerly Nicholls Hospital. This building, the second to be occupied by Nicholls Hospital, was erected by Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls during 1889.

New Civic Develops City As Leading Medical Centre

The new Civic Hospital will be "the means of establishing Peterborough as one of the leading medical centres in Eastern Ontario," according to John R. Marshall, chairman of the Hospital Board of Governors.

"This hospital has attracted some of the finest men in medicine in Ontario to this city," he said. "We have more specialists in this city than any other of this size in Canada."

In addition, the hospital will "be equivalent to the fourth or fifth largest industry in Peterborough," said Mr. Marshall. The hospital will employ approximately 400 people.

Questioned as to the final cost of the hospital, Mr. Marshall said he believed "we will be within our $3,500,000 estimate, as far as we can see now."

"It's going to mean this to Peterborough: The city has been inadequately served by hospitals for more than 25 years," he said. "If we had started to build this hospital 25 years ago, it would have been a better thing."

"With a hospital of this size, equipped as it is and doing the business it will be doing, it will be equivalent to the fourth or fifth largest industry in Peterborough.

"Furthermore, it has already started extensive residential development throughout the west-end of the city, and I believe this is due entirely to the fact that the hospital was built there," he said.

Mr. Marshall predicted the hospital would be large enough to serve the city adequately for the next 15 or 20 years, and that, with the large acreage purchased for its site, there would be no need to buy additional hospital sites for perhaps the next 100 years.

Started Training for Nurse 57 Years Ago at Nicholls'

Of the hundreds of women who have nursed in Peterborough hospitals, no one is able to cast her memory back as far as Miss Fanny Dixon, 538 Harvey St., who went in training at Nicholls Hospital in 1893.

Miss Dixon, whose family home was the Dixon House, now recalls haw the staff of four nurses worked day and night when the hospital admitted 18 typhoid cases, who were cared for in addition to a number of other patients.

One ward in the hospital was set aside for isolation cases and whenever that ward was being used, the busy life of the nurses became really hectic.

Paid $15 a Month

Miss Dixon started nursing at Nicholls Hospital for $15 a month and shortly after her graduation went to Chicago to do private nursing for $25 a month what then seemed an enormous sum. She had become assistant superintended at the hospital before leaving.

After 10 years in Chicago, she returned to Peterborough and the hospital and spent a nursing career of some 30 years.

One of Miss Dixon's proud possessions is her graduation pin —an enamel covered silver bar bearing the words "Deo Et Humanitati" from which hangs a monogram N. H. P.—Nicholls Hospital Peterborough.

The nurses alumnae was founded in 1900 and when the half century mark was celebrated on May 6, Miss Dixon, who had graduated seven years before its formation, was the oldest member. Miss Dixon is 86.

Doctors Miss Dixon remembers working with were Dr. Haliday, Dr. Boucher, Dr. Fife and Dr. King. They were four doctors practising in the city when she started her career in the '90's.

If a curious enquirer asks Miss Dixon today what she remembers of her nuring career at the turn of the century, she will probably reply "I was kept too busy to be able to remember much now."

That seems to be a general summary of the life of a nurse in the early days.

But there was time for recreation too. Miss Dixon recalls how the family orchard was in Jackson Park before the land was sold to the Nicholls. Jackson Park is still associated in Miss Dixon's mind with happy family life in the '90's.

Graduation day is another bright spot in Miss Dixon's memory. She graduated with Edith Johnson, whose father was mayor of Belleville and Mamie Nadruss of Port Hope. Rita Irwin, the fourth member of the graduation class, was ill at the time of graduation, Miss Dixon recalls. She graduated later.

The graduation ceremony was in Murray St. Baptist Church—at present the Canadian Legion Hall. Dinner followed at the hospital.

The nurses' alumnae still remembers Miss Dixon at birthdays and Christmas and this is one of her greatest joys today. She was president of the alumnae for 25 years.

65 YEARS SINCE 1st HOSPITAL GIVEN TO CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Hospital Service For Years Provided To Citizens At No Capital Expenditure

By HARRY THEOBALD

Peterborough Civic Hospital returns in its site to the neighborhood of the property and building of its origin.

Opposite its entrance, and on the south side of Charlotte Street was Moira Hall, a spacious private residence which Mrs. Charlotte Jane Nicholls bought and endowed in 1885 for use as a public hospital.

If sentiment had been an influence in the choosing of the land for the Civic Hospital, it would surely have recommended those adjacent acres extending to the north in a long, graceful gradient from the paved highway, then virtually a country road, which wound past the home of William Cottingham when it was converted into Peterborough's first hospital.

By comparatively recent reconversion, the building was transformed into apartments, and the land which once vacantly surrounded it with attractive expanse of estate is now entirely occupied by houses and streets. And in the centre of them, the identity of Moira Hall has been lost in the residential sweep of the city toward the west.

So, in the approach to the question of location of the new community hospital, its planners were concerned only with present day advantages of site. Sentiment did not enter into their thoughts, but in their reckoning was the endowment of Charlotte Jane Nicholls which had increased from the $15,000 she provided for the operating expenses of Moira Hall to the $250,000 which the trustees of Nicholls Hospital contributed to the Civic Hospital.

Serve Same Purpose

Time makes many turnings as its years pass, and here is one of community interest in the proximity of two buildings serving identical purposes after a lapse of 65 years, and yet separated in their location only by the same street that has changed in its traffic pace and volume in conceivable proportion to the hospital accommodation and refinements of today.

Moira Hall provided only temporary sufficiency of space for the sick, and in 1889 Mrs. Nicholls again responded to the needs of the community by undertaking the erection of the building at the north end of the city, liberally endowing it for the future, without cost to the ratepayers.

In January, 1890, it was formally opened and transferred to the supervision of its trustees.

The endowment of Nicholls Hospital at that time was $35,000, exclusive of the cost of its construction, and its complete furnishing for the care of the sick.

Memorial Window

A memorial window representing the Biblical scene of the Good Samaritan of the parable was placed in Nicholls Hospital by its trustees with the following inscription: "This window was erected by the Trustees of the Nicholls Hospital to the memory of Robert Nicholls, Esquire, and in honour of his wife, Charlotte Jane Nicholls, who donated this hospital in 1889."

In her will Mrs. Nicholls devised an additional endowment of $35,000, enlarging that fund to $85,000.

When the Nicholls estate was wound up in 1908, the trustees apportioned out of the residue a further substantial sum to the endowment fund of the hospital. The comment in a report at that time was: "This serves to make the hospital practically self-supporting."

In 1914 a new south wing was built at a cost of $60,000, and again financed by the trustees out of the Nicholls moneys without any assistance from the ratepayers.

The Nicholls Hospital Trust was incorporated by an Act of the Legislature in 1886. The original trustees, nominated by Mrs. Nicholls, were: Richard Hall, drygoods merchant, whose name remains on George Street, retained by the company which eventually acquired it; Robert S. Davidson, who was a hardware merchant; William Manson, bank manager (probably of the Bank of Montreal); George Albertus Cox, later Senator Cox; Joseph Flavelle, afterwards Sir Joseph Flavelle, then a grain merchant; James Stratton, collector of customs, and father of Hon. J. R. Stratton; Alfred Passmore Poussette, barrister, whose office was in the premises now occupied by Mr. John Currelly; John McClelland, merchant (jeweller).

Trustees were to be appointed as follows: two from St. Paul's Presbyterian Church; two from St. Andrew's "Presbyterian Church" and one from each of the other Protestant churches.

Charter Trustees

Of the charter trustees, Mr. Hall and Mr. Davidson represented St. Paul's; Mr. Manson and Mrs. McClelland, St. Andrew's; George A. Cox, Charlotte St. Methodist (on the present site of the Peterborough Medical Clinic); Joseph Flavelle, George St. Methodist; Mr. Stratton, Murray St. Baptist Church; and Mr. Poussette, St. John's Anglican Church.

Mr. Hall was the first chairman of the Nicholls Hospital Board. Trustees were appointed for three years, and became eligible for re-election.

The Mayor of the town was ex-officio member of the board.

It was provided that the board might request the council each month to contribute for the operation of the hospital any amount "over and above the income of the hospital from all sources. The amount so required is to be raised by special levy on all Protestant ratepayers of the city."

One of the restrictions was to the effect that, the endowment fund "must not be diminished."

Adequate For Years

For years, the fund set up by Mrs. Nicholls was adequate to the requirements of the hospital, but in recent years as operating costs of hospitals everywhere began gradually to increase, the trustees were compelled to call upon the council to meet monthly deficits. In that mounting levy and its discussion by the council was the first suggestion of the need of the Civic Hospital, now almost ready for occupation. Some of the trustees were not convinced that the conception and the gift of Mrs. Nicholls should be abandoned, but the increasing circumstances of the growth of Peterborough and the uneconomic conditions resulting from the outmoded old building, with its multiple furnaces as one defect of expense, persuaded majority conviction that Nicholls Hospital had served its day and its several generations.

CONGESTION EVERYWHERE IN NICHOLLS Hospital is especially apparent in the above photos. Provide 5 Operating Rooms One Near Ambulance Entry

Operating rooms in Peterborough's new Civic Hospital have been planned "with the greatest possible care," Superintendent John Hornal will tell you. And if you ask him, he'll tell you they are at least on a par with those in other, comparable Canadian hospitals.

There are five of them in the new hospital—one an emergency operating room on the first floor near the north wing ambulance entrance.

The other four operating rooms —three major and one minor—are on the fourth floor of the north wing. Operating lights in these rooms will deliver 3,000 foot candles of light at operating table level.

One of the features of these operating rooms, is the method used for sterilization of water. Formerly, water was sterilized in twin metal tanks which were heated with a steam coil. Water in one tank was allowed to cool to room temperature, so that hot and cold sterile water was available for surgeons.

In the new hospital, the water is sterilized in flasks in the central supply room, and heated as needed in a convection cabinet in a utility room off the operating room. Temperature in the cabinet is kept at 140 degrees.

With the tank method, there was possibility of contamination through the air filter, the tap, and the glass gauge. With this new method, used only by about 10 per cent of North American hospitals, chances of contamination are so slight they may be termed negligible.

As well as the operating rooms, there is a fracture room, used in conjunction with the X-ray room on the third floor of the north wing. There is also a cystoscopic room for study of bladder conditions, and rooms for physiotherapy, and deep therapy.

Hospital Laundry To Handle 40,000 lbs. of Wash Weekly

Forty thousand pounds of laundry a week. What housewife wouldn't shudder at the thought of that much washing. Even above dishwashing, clothes washing seems to be Canada's most popular pastime.

But some people who wash clothes have it soft. Take for instance the 13 people who will work in the laundry at the new Civic Hospital. Each week, they will have to handle 40,000 pounds (more or less) of all kinds of soiled linen, clothes, towels and what have you.

But, no scrubbing board for them. No need for the 19th century style of tramping up and down in the middle of a washtub the size of a small lake.

The new hospital's laundry is mechanized up to the hilt. Located in the powerhouse north of the hospital, the laundry is a sunny, clean, well-ventilated room.

Along the north wall are the washers and rough driers. At the east end of the room are the flat wear ironers and pants-pressers. At the south side, is a six-roller, 120-inch mangle for pressing sheets.

In the southwest corner of the building is a room for the sorters and menders, and for linen storage racks.

From the patient's rooms, soiled laundry is taken to a laundry chute, dropped down, and taken from the bottom of the chute in the basement. There is no chance of rubbish or anything besides laundry being dumped into the chute, as the openings on each floor are locked, and opened only at set times.

For the isolation department and the maternity isolation department, there is a separate chute, to avoid the possibility of infecting the other laundry. This chute also opens into the basement.

Underground to Powerhouse

Worker truck the soiled laundry through a corridor leading underground to the powerhouse. A hydraulic elevator lifts the dirty clothes to the laundry floor, and the laundry is stored in a bay with half walls.

From there, the laundry follows a rough U-pattern. First they go into the rotary washers, which tumble clothes for several minutes. One of these washers will handle 300 pounds of laundry at once, while the other, smaller one, will handle only 150 pounds.

After their sojourn in the washers, dirty clothes, etc., are taken to the four driers, which spin from 40 to 60 per cent of the water out of the damp wash.

Final drying is accomplished by ironing the clothes on the half-dozen ironers. A special gadget that looks like an electric plug presses pants. From a metal base, two eliptical steel prongs with sharp edges stand up, and the plants are slipped over these.

A small puff-iron presses the little round caps worn almost universally in hospitals. It is roughly the shape of a tear drop, with one sharp end.

Sheets travel through the huge mangle onto a wooden table, and are stored in wooden racks.

Torn laundry will go the three menders and sorters who work in the bright southwest corner. Wooden shelves reaching almost to the ceiling provide plenty of storage space.

Provision for expansion of the laundry has been made, so that other washers can be installed.

Eight or more loads of laundry will be handled each day. Each patient is allotted 21 pounds of laundry a day, and on top of that laundry in the form of gowns and uniforms from nurses, surgeons and orderlies must be handled by the hospital.

Refrigerated Water Piped To All Floors

Anyone who has been in hospital as a patient will say how much he appreciates the thermos of cold water that nurses placed by his bedside. Sometimes, though it wasn't quite as cool as it could have been.

In the new hospital, provision has been made for supplying cold water to all floors at all times. An air conditioning unit in the diet kitchen on the third floor refrigerates water, and it is piped to the other diet kitchens, one on each of the other floors.

Head of Registered Nurses Sends Greetings To Citizens

Greeting to the citizens of Peterborough on the formal opening of the new Civic Hospital have come in the form of a letter from Rahno M. Beamish, president of the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario. Miss Beamish is attached to Sarnia General Hospital.

The letter reads:

From the Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario, as president of this large organization and on behalf of all our members, I offer greetings to the citizens of Peterborough and community.

"The Registered Nurses' Association of Ontario is a young organization in comparison to other organizations in the province. The progress that has been made in the science of nursing in this province is the result of courage, vision and the determination on the part of a few who established the standards of nursing technique in the early part of this century. There are 63 Schools of Nursing in this province associated with hospitals, and at the present time there are 4,771 students in training.

"The pertinent question that is being asked of the nursing organization is 'Why is there a shortage of nurses?' Th answer may be briefly put: 'That the production of nurses cannot be increased to any large degree until there are more facilities for the education of the student nurses. There are schools required, plus residence accommodation. The nursing profession who assume the responsibility of the education of the student nurses cannot speed up the production line until we have facilities to accommodate more students. If the health of the nation depends upon scientific medical and nursing care, then the question may be rightfully asked: 'Are the consumers of nursing interested in promoting a better scheme of education for the student nurses in order to increase the number of graduates within the province?'

"I wish to offer my congratulations to the civic authorities in Peterborough for their altruistic attitude in building a new Civic Hospital at a cost of $2,500,000 At this time I am wondering just what facilities you are providing for an increased production of nurses to take care of this larger institution."

Protestant Ratepayers Refused Twice To Vote $300,000 To Build Addition To Old Nicholls Hospital

By G. WILSON CRAW

A new wing to the immediate south of the old Nicholls Hospital was built from funds of the Nicholls Trust in 1914. This more than doubled the accommodation and gave to the citizens of Peterborough a most modern hospital at no cost to them. The hospital at the time had the largest endowment of any hospital in Ontario, other than the Toronto General.

However Peterborough was a growing city and it was not many years until the Board found the bed capacity entirely inadequate. Its heating system needed a complete overhaul for the building was heated by ten old furnaces scattered throughout the basement.

No Charge to Ratepayers

In the early twenties plans went forward for a second addition to the hospital. This time it was felt that the addition should be a charge against the Protestant ratepayers. The Nicholls Hospital Trust in the past had spent large sums on the hospital, but a new addition would cost $300,000 and the Trust Funds were totally inadequate. Up until then the hospital had been operated at practically no charge to the ratepayers. The Board had done a good job.

In the summer of 1928 plans were sufficiently advanced for the Board to approaching the city council and ask for a vote of the Protestant ratepayers on a $300,000 issue of debentures to cover the cost of the addition. The vote was taken on September 26. Only 716 of the 3,200 voters troubled themselves enough, about hospital matters, to go to the polls. The result was 364 Against and 352 For the debenture issue. A majority of 12 votes against. Peterborough people had been spoon fed so long that they did not want to pay for their hospital.

The vote only succeeded in shelving the question. For hospital accommodation was badly needed. So crowded became the rooms that four beds were placed in three bed wards, three in two bed wards and two in many private rooms. That is how things where through the winter and spring of 1929.

Vote Refused

The Board had appealed to the city council for a second vote at the municipal elections in January but this had been refused. However early in April another request for a vote was made and on May 3 the bylaw was again defeated. This time the vote was 1,019 Against and 764 For.

In both these votes the feeling was general that the bylaw had not received the support of the individual members of the city council and many leading citizens. What was the trouble?

The answer was not long in coming. Many citizens and especially the council were not satisfied with the organization of the Board under the Nicholls Trust, whereby the Protestant churches had the naming of the representatives on the Board of Trustees. The council wanted some say in the operation of the hospital. In October of 1929 discussions took place between the council and the board.

City Asked to Aid

Then came the depression. The interest obtained from the Trust Fund was not sufficient to pay the deficits with the result that in 1930 the city council was called upon to contribute $800 a month. Hospital costs all over the country were increasing and it became quite evident that henceforth the city treasury was going to have to contribute monthly to finance the hospital. This increased the demand for representation from the city council on the hospital board.

During the 1931 session of the Ontario Legislature the Nicholls Hospital Trust bill was amended to permit four members from the council being named by the Board. Thus on May 29 Aldermen Fred Tuggey, James Hamilton, Robert Cotton and Jack McNabb were named by the city council. The fifth vote from the council was that of the mayor who had always been ex-officio member of the Board.

The demand for an addition continued but the depression grew worse. No capital expenditures were permitted by the council of those days. Whether this was a wise course to follow had often been debated since. However we know Peterborough came out of the depression with no increases in its debenture debt.

Annex Built

Nothing more was done until outbreak of war and with another increase in population the city guaranteed the debentures on the one storey annex.

But before the close of the war it had become apparent that with a population of 35,000 the hospital accommodation in Peterborough was totally inadequate. The Nicholls Hospital Trust had carried the torch for almost 60 years providing hospital accommodation. But with increasing costs and demands it could no longer provide the services with its limited accommodation.

Civic Hospital Originates

From this dilemma was born the idea of a Civic Hospital. A committee composed of several members of the hospital board, some of the aldermen and several representative citizens was set up to study and plan how the old Nicholls hospital Trust would be replaced by a Civic Hospital set-up.

This committee finally arrived at an agreement. The various churches who named representatives to the board of trustees approved of the change. Several members on the new Board are to perpetuate the old Nicholls Hospital Trust which did so much for hospitalization in Peterborough.

On January 1, 1945 the people voted a debenture issue for $600,000. The county council promised $150,000, the City Trust Commission $300,000, the Utflities Commission $50,000 and the balance of the Nicholls Hospital Trust fund amounted to $240,000 was the amount that the first Board of Governors had to start with when plans were commenced to build the new hospital. Building costs increased and the ratepayers finally voted another $1,500,000 to finance the project.

Landscape Architects Will Layout Hospital Grounds Plan Main Entrance Via Charlotte Street

Planning for the future, Toronto landscape architect Gordon Culham has designed an almost sparse, but natural, setting for the new Peterborough Civic Hospital.

According to Peterborough architect James Craig, of Blackwell and Craig, the object of Mr. Culham's plan is to provide the hospital with a natural setting, but not to block the view of the buildings.

The only heavy planting of trees on hospital property will be on the north side of the main road. Grass will be the basis of almost all the rest of the landscaping.

Two parking areas have been provided for visitors and staff, while a separate one between the main building and the nurses' residence will accommodate doctors' autos.

Large Oval Lawn

At the front of the hospital, shrubs will be planted, flanking the main entrance. East of the hospital, and enclosed by the main road, will be a large, oval lawn, planted with a few elm trees.

At the extreme east edge of this lawn there will be a parking lot accommodating 32 cars. This will be for visitors and hospital staff. Another parking lot to the east of the nurses' residence will provide space for another 36 cars.

Beyond the two parking areas are about 20 acres of land, all hospital property, which will eventually be made into a park.

To the south of the hospital, in the shallow V formed by the east and west wings, provision has been made for flower gardens. This would be the natural place for a garden, as the east and west wings will be used almost exclusively for patients, the north wing being a service wing.

West of the hospital, future planning calls for a games area for nurses and staff. Here, there will be tennis and volleyball courts.

Linking the main building with the nurses' residence will be a low evergreen hedge, running north and east from the north wing of the hospital, and ending near the east end of the nurses' residence.

Entrance From Charlotte Street

The main road to the hospital will run west from Charlotte St., cutting through the park to the main entrance and the ambulance entrance, both facing the east.

It will circle around the large lawn at the east, passing the nurses' residence, and a cutoff will run through the 32-car parking area. This parking lot will be cut into the face of the hill so as not to obstruct the view of the hospital.

Ambulances will deliver patients to the ambulance entrance at the north end of the north wing and circle back of the power house along a service road, which returns to the main road.

A small network of service roads runs through the section of the hospital grounds immediately to the west of the main buildings. These will be used for the delivery of wood, coal, and other supplies.

Flower beds are planned for the front lawn of the nurses' residence, and behind the residence, there will be a small sitting-out garden.

Dr. G.S. Cameron Senior Member Hospital Board

A modern hospital with up-to-date equipment and a building large enough to meet the needs of the growing community, has been one of the wishes closest to Dr. G. S. Cameron's heart for many years. Dr. Cameron, the senior member of the Hospital Board, has been practising medicine in Peterborough some 45 years and like a number of his colleagues who have watched the expansion of Peterborough from a population of less than 10,000, he has worked many years, making the best of far from ideal conditions.

Dr. Cameron's long association with the hospital has been mostly as a practising doctor and it was only a short time before the change over from Nicholls to Civic Hospital, that he became a Board member. But he has been closely associated with many who have served the community as hospital trustees.

Dr. Cameron knew Richard Hall, founder of the Richard Hall store on George St., who was a trustee of Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls estate. The doctor has watched the development of the hospital and the services of many leading citizens who gave their time and energies to operating the hospital.

Few Hospitals

When the private bill was passed by the Ontario legislature in the 1880's stipulating Mrs. Nicholls wishes, there were only some 13 or 14 hospitals in the province. Peterborough — through the generosity of Mrs. Nicholls, was taking a big step forward. The new hospital which was opened Saturday puts Peterborough to the fore once again.

Mrs. Nicholls stipulated that the hospital was to be governed by a board of trustees composed of representatives of the churches in Peterborough. And being a Presbyterian she allotted two places on the board for each of the two Presbyterian churches. This all happened before Dr. Cameron's day, of course, but 20 or 30 years ago the early history of the hospital was not as blurred in the minds of the general community as today.

Today the hospital Board is composed of eight members appointed by the city council, two appointed by the county council and four ex officio members.

When Dr. Cameron says the Civic Hospital School of Nursing is classed as A1 in the registry and that it is one of the best in the province, he says so with authority. He is also something of a pioneer in his views on training of nurses. He has long wanted to see a change in the method of training. The experiment at present being carried out at the Metropolitan Hospital, Windsor, is, in a sense, another fulfillment of what he has thought to be necessary development of the nursing profession.

Dr. Cameron is chairman of the Committee of Nursing Services and School of Nurses.

Dr. Cameron's medical career has included several years as an executive of the Canadian Medical Association. His son, Dr. G. D. W. Cameron, is Deputy Minister of Health in the Federal Government.

Ladies' Auxiliary Big Help In Hospital Organization

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Peterborough Civic Hospital has been able to render greatly appreciated services to the patients since its organization in June, 1937. It has also provided entertainment for the nurses-in-training and gifts to make their off-duty hours more pleasant.

During the past two years the secretary has looked after all donations made to the new hospital by women's organizations.

It was only after many years consideration that the trustees gave the women permission to work in the hospital. A board was then formed of 24 women, representing the 12 Protestant churches of the city, and six other women interested in the service. The number of the board members remained at 30 until January, 1950, when added duties of the new building made it necessary to increase to 45. The constitution will allow taking on up to 10 representatives from the county if they apply, but only Buckhorn and Lily Lake districts are as yet represented.

General membership in the auxiliary is obtained through a house-to-house canvas each fall, and this has increased from 750 to about 4,000, including 115 life members. Money collected in this way is spent in the hospital during the year following. For instance, in 1949, $802 was used to buy an oxygen tent and regulator.

Proceeds of recent annual penny sales have been put into a sum which will cover complete furnishing of the patients' rooms in the west wing on the second floor of the new hospital. In addition, the auxiliary has promised $1,000 toward furnishings in the new nurses' residence. Later a fund will be established for maintenance of the hospital rooms.

Miss Evelyn Morrow has done the work of corresponding secretary since the auxiliary was formed. The first president was Mrs. S. J. Graham and there has been a change each year, Mrs. Ernest Braund being the present head.

Three popular activities are the weekly visiting, which for eight years was under convenership of the late Mrs. Robert Ross, now in charge of Mrs. Alex. Rosborough; the travelling tuck shop, started three years ago by Miss Margaret English; and the travelling library, started at the same time by Mrs. Ross Williamson, now in charge of Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy.

The visitors, with gifts of fruit and magazines, bring untold pleasure to patients who may be lonely. The tuck cart enables them to purchase incidentals handily, at no extra cost, and the convener considers it no trouble to get other items they may desire. Up-to-date magazines are available from the library cart as well as good books.

The auxiliary, therefore, helps to fill the void of hospital life for patients, encourages nurses in training, and raises money for staple equipment.

New Type Bed Installed In Many Rooms

Beds in the new Peterborough Civic Hospital will be safer and more comfortable, says Superintendent John Hornal.

There will be 150 of a new type of hospital bed in the new hospital. These beds are made so they can be adjusted from a height of 18 inches from the floor to 27 inches, the latter about normal height for a hospital bed.

With the older, higher bed, Mr. Hornal says, many injuries have been suffered by elderly people who wake up at night, think they are in their own bed, and get out. Often older people fall, not expecting to be so far from the ground.

Made In Grimsby

The new beds, made by a metal firm in Grimsby, are designed to eliminate this, Mr. Hornal says. In addition, they will be of value to doctors in the practice of "early ambulation"—getting the patient up and out of bed as soon as possible after an operation.

"These beds should cut out a lot of the worse faults of the old type of hospital bed," said Mr. Hornal.

Although Peterborough will not have a "first" with these beds, Mr. Hornal said the large order placed from here has made it possible for other hospitals to obtain this type of bed.

For sleeping, the beds will be left at 18 inches, and can be raised to the full 27 inches for doctors' examination and treatment.

Acting Minister of Health For Province of Ontario Commends Work of Board

Commending the good work of Peterborough's Hospital Board, and the support of the citizens in supporting the new Civic Hospital, Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Acting Minister of Health for Ontario, has written a letter to the Hospital Board.

The letter is addressed to J. R. Marshall, chairman of the Board, and reads:

May 15, 1950.

"Dear Mr. Marshall:

"On the occasion of the opening of the new Peterborough Civic Hospital, I should like to extend my personal congratulations, and those of the officials of this Department, to the members of the Hospital Board for their success in carrying out this magnificent undertaking. The site is a most favorable one, the planning of the buildings is excellent in every way, and, with facilities and staff of high quality available, this Hospital is bound to make a worthwhile contribution to the community.

"Everyone associated with the project deserves a great deal of credit for the patience and determination shown in reaching the objective and for services already rendered. The whole-hearted support of the citizens of Peterborough will repay them for that effort and will add the encouragement and incentive necessary to complete the task. You will then have in Peterborough one of the finest hospitals in the Province.

"With good wishes to the Hospital Board and to the members of the staff,

"Yours sincerely,

"W. A. GOODFELLOW.

"Acting Minister of Health."

By HELEN MARRYAT

Dr. George Burnham practised medicine in Peterborough for 11 years before the discovery of chloroform, and another 12 years or more before this method of anaesthesia was in common use. By 1864-5, so rapidly was its importance realized, it was the number one remedy for toothache, an affliction of which we have little sympathy for today, when a trip to the dentist need not be postponed for even one hour, but which was in our grandparents time a source of misery and woe.

There is really no connection with Dr. Burnham, a well-beloved family doctor, and Sir James Young Simpson, the discoverer of chloroform, except that they graduated about the same time. And they have no immediate connection with Dr. John Forrest Dewar of Port Hope, who was the first man to use the new anaesthetic in this district.

But sometimes an event can be appreciated if it is explained in terms of men's lives, and so, here are three short biographies of doctors who discovered, introduced and applied a startling new mode of treatment.

Settling in what was in 1836 a backwoods village, where there was not even a sidewalk til 1847, Dr. Burnham began a lifetime of service to the community in days when a doctor thought nothing of a ride of 40 miles to answer a call for help. He had the confidence of the people at once in an unusual degree and many older residents remembered his response to their cries for help, and his kindly disposition and sympathy for them in their distress.

He was born on Sept. 4th, 1814, on a farm half-way between Cobourg and Port Hope, where his father, John Burnham, one of the four Burnham brothers, had settled when it was but "a waste, howling wilderness." He attended Port Hope Grammar School and at the same time studied with Dr. McSpaddin. He then attended lectures at the Bellevue Hospital Medical College in New York, where he received his MD, subsequently obtaining the same degree from the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Ontario.

In 1847, Dr. Burnham married Miss Adeline Humphries Spalding, a daughter of John Spalding, of Grafton, Haldimand township, thereby uniting two prominent UE Loyalist families. Of their eight children the late J. Hampden Burnham passed away only a few years ago. Another son, Dr. George Herbert Burnham was connected with the London Orphthalmic Hospital, a daughter, Helen Seymour became the wife of the late Dr. Robert P. Boucher.

Discoverer of Chloroform

James Young Simpson (1811-1870) graduated in 1832. This young man had rushed away from Edinburgh Infirmary, horrified by the shriek of a poor woman who was undergoing the removal of a tumor without anaesthetic as was the fate of sufferers in those days. Simpson was a Bathgate bairn" and his village-bred sensibilities were perhaps sharper to feel the woes of others than had he been a city lad without that same interest in "the neighbors." At first he thought of studying law but, fortunately for suffering humanity, he returned to "consider for the rest of his days, how human suffering could be relieved, essaying the practice of hypnotism and the use of various drugs, till he discovered the anaesthetic property of chloroform."

Settled in Port Hope

Two years after James Simpson had graduated as a Doctor of Medicine, John Forrest was born in Edinburgh in 1834, the son of John Dewar, and Elizabeth Burnet. He studied in his native city and "walked several hospitals on the continent with a special view of witnessing surgical operations. He practised for a short time in Turin, Italy, and then came to Canada, settling at Port Hope, where he was the attending physician at Trinity College School until his death in 1877. Dr. Dewar was the first man to administer chloroform to his patients in Port Hope and for a time he was the only physician in the vicinity to make a practice of its use. As Dr. Dewar did not come to Port Hope until 1859, chloroform cannot have been in general use in the Peterborough district until after 1860. Dr. Dewar was "a thorough student all his days," possessed one of the best libraries in the district, was a great reader, was highly regarded as a surgeon. He married Ann, daughter of Charles Hughes of Port Hope.

Dr. Burnham outlived both Sir James Y. Simpson and his younger collegue. Trouble with his eyes compelled him to partially retire from his extensive practice, but his interest in everything pertaining to Peterborough remained with him to the end. He took a great interest in educational matters, and "did a great deal to elevate the standard of public instruction."

Bible Returned To Pacific Isle

HONOLULU, (CP).—The Bible of the Bounty—that English ship of mutiny fame—has returned to Pitcairn Island after 111 years.

A letter from the south Pacific island of Pitcairn to Mrs. Chester E. Frowe of Honolulu said the Bible arrived Feb. 19. Mrs. Frowe started the search for the holy book in 1941.

When the men of the Bounty mutinied in 1789 and put their captain, William Blight, adrift in a boat, the Bible remained aboard. It was taken to the mutineers' Pitcairn Island hideout.

Mrs. Frowe read in 1941 that the Bounty Bible converted mutineer Alexander Smith and turned the Pitcairn islanders to a religious life. She wrote to Pitcairn and found the Bible no longer was there.

It wasn't until 1945 that the answer came back, because a war had intervened and communications with Pitcairn are slow anyway. The reply said no one knew where it was.

Mrs. Frowe wrote friends in New England about the missing Bible. In 1946 Mrs. J. Francis Saunders found the Bounty Bible dusty and stained in the attic of the Connecticut Historical Society in Hartford.

Letters Tell Story

Letters inside the Bible said it had been brought to New England by a traveller who visited Pitcairn in 1839.

Mrs. Frowe wrote to Pitcairn that the Bible had been found, and the islanders requested the historical society to return it.

The Bible was sent to England in January of 1949, where the worn pages were patched up and the book recovered in leather. It then was given to H. A. C. Dobbs of the Western Pacific High Commission of Fiji.

A letter to Mrs. Frowe said the Bible was presented Feb. 22 by Dobbs to Warren C. Christian, chief magistrate at Pitcairn. Special ceremonies were held welcoming the return of the Bounty Bible.

Fletcher Christian, a great-great-grandson of one of the mutineer leaders, told his fellow islanders:

"It was this book that saved us from growing up to be a band of heathens. It will make us all better people if we heed it today."

U.S. Needs Greater Air Power Gen. Vandenberg Warns Officials

By JAMES J. STREBIG

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—If war came suddenly the United States would have to fight for at least a year and a half with the air power it now has.

What it now has is good—but there just isn't enough of it. So says Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Chief of Staff.

Getting enough demands four big elements of production: men, machines, material and time.

Time—the one that can't be bought, borrowed, made or improvised—has been stressed in all major reports recommending high levels of peacetime production of military airplanes.

None of the proposed minimum levels has yet been approached.

Planes Declining

The number of aircraft available to the United States Air Force and Navy has been declining. Proposed purchase plans now pending in Congress will not maintain present levels.

The Air Force now has about 17,000 planes, of which 3,100 are or combat type in active service. The Navy has 13,500 planes, with 2,200 of combat type in service.

The aircraft industry in the United States, with 170,000 employees, is about one-tenth of the wartime peak. The largest wartime industry, it has dropped to below 15th place.

Size of the industry is important in plans for emergency expansion. Experience has shown that aircraft production can be tripled in one year and tripled again in a second year—if men, machines and material are available.

Possible Production

That means today's production rate of 150 combat planes a month could be boosted to 450 a month by May 1951 and to 1,350 a month—approximately the Pearl Harbor level—by May, 1952. Numberswise, the United States would be two years behind Pearl Harbor if war began tomorrow.

The real problem in expanding current production lies in the scarce materials upon which jet engines depend, upon the mass of engineering—a modern jet bomber requires 85 acres of blueprints—and the terrific assembly of electronic and other delicate equipment used for gun-laying, bombing, navigating and meeting the problems of great speed and altitude.

Top United States officials have said that in case of unanticipated war, it would take 18 months or more to push production high enough to overcome combat losses and show a gain in over-all strength. Industry officials say no planes would come out of a plant the first year.

Takes 16 Months

The "flow time"—date of order to delivery—for a jet engine already in production is 16 months. For bombing computors it is two years, for navigation equipment nearly a year. A bomber must have all those items for combat.

The bomber itself spends four months in the plant from start of assembly to "roll-out."

After that it must be flight-checked, modified to meet changes made while it was in production, assigned to a group for organizational training, equipped and sent to combat.

Today's production of military combat, transport and training planes is about 225 a month. By rule of thumb, that could be raised to 675 planes a month one year from the go-ahead signal.

United Kingdom Asks Canada To Name Needs

OTTAWA, May 22 (CP)—Sir Alexander Clutterbuck said on Sunday night that he has conveyed the United Kingdom offer to help the Winnipeg flood victims to the Canadian government, but authorities so far have indicated that the offer will be taken up only "if the need arises."

The UK high commissioner said he expects to hold further talks with Prime Minister St. Laurent when the Prime Minister returns today from a first-hand survey of the devastation.

"Perhaps by then we will be in a better position to know what Britain can supply to Canada and what Canada needs from us," Sir Alexander said.

He was commenting on a London dispatch in which it was learned that Sir Frederick Rowland, the Lord Mayor of London may open a fund to buy medical supplies and other goods for Winnipeg, but was awaiting the outcome of an approach to the Canadian government through Sir Alexander.

Strip-Tease Entertainment Top Bill In German Clubs

By RICHARD K. MALLEY

FRANKFURT, May 22—(AP)—The American strip-tease has German night life tied firmly to a G-string.

Nearly every big-city night club features at least one damsel who specializes in undressing in public.

It's a new wrinkle in German entertainment and it has the customers flocking in droves.

Older Germans remember the rush of night clubs which sprang up after the First World War. Entertainment was spicy and frequently on the commercial vice level.

A similar situation prevails in West Germany today, with the strip-tease as a new and added fillip.

The girl most West Germans like to see is a sloe-eyed brunette named Laya Raki. She says she is half Dutch and half Indonesian.

Customers Love It

She does a dance called "The Indian Gravestone" which definitely is out of the cemetery class and which leaves her rather chilly from the waist up. Since Miss Raki is a girl who might give pause to Jane Russell, the customers love it.

They blow foam off seidels of beer and applaud wildly when her gold scarf is discarded and she dances in a smile and a G-string.

A tour of Frankfurt night clubs yields a bounteous harvest of undressed entrtainment, but the German version of the American strip-tease rarely is subtle.

On one night club a flashily-dressed master of ceremonies announced Miss So-and-So would dance a tango.

Nobody Minds

A weary orchestra thumped away while a black-haired fraulein trudged aimlessy about wearing a G-string and two feather fans. Occasionally she dropped the fans to bare her breast to the enthusiastic audience.

It was anything but a tango—but nobody seemed to mind.

One night club run by a German woman has rung in another version of undressed entertainment.

Every night at 12 o'clock a 10-minute motion picture of semi-nude girls is shown.

There are other clubs spoken of in whispers but they admit only special members. Some Germans say these go far beyond the strip-tease and deal frankly in outright vice.

Newspaperboys Develop Early As Useful Citizens

In the role of "junior merchants," newspaperboys serve their communities in many ways.

With most of their time taken up in going to school and carrying their papers, they have little time to develop into problems which their parents, teachers or townspeople must solve.

Early in life, they learn self-discipline, thrift, courtesy, tact and honesty. They find that to make their routes successful, they must acquire and develop these traits.

Their value as future citizens is not mensurable. Before they become adults, they have learned much of what is needed in adult life. With this knowledge, they are several steps ahead of most children who have not had part-time work, and who have lost an opportunity to gain valuable training in their youth.

The percentage of juvenile delinquency among newspaperboys is low. As a United States newspaper once remarked in an editorial: "The old saying—'busy boys are happy boys'— is truer today than ever."

Juvenile authorities, principals and teachers, state that boys who devote their spare time to sports, hobbies, wholesome activities, and particularly a newspaper route, very seldom get into trouble.

"A newspaper route provides one of the most wholesome, interesting and profitable diversions that a school boy can find."

Speaking to his fellow-citizens in an Examiner newspaperboy broadcast this week, K. S. Wightman, superintendent of schools for Peterborough, had this to say, partly from his own experience as a newspaperboy:

"I can say that having a paper route need not—and in my experience seldom does—intertere with boy's progress at school. Indeed, it often improves it, for as he learns to take one job more seriously, he is likely to do the same with the other.

"The newspaperboy learns many things that he might not get so readily in school—a sense of responsibility, an idea of the value of money and experience in dealing with people.

"The acceptance and the faithful performance of a task which must be done day in and day out, rain or shine, is a training in character which will pay dividends in later life.

"There are only so many hours in the day, and a boy cannot be both playing games or engaging in some other activity and delivering his papers. He has to learn to apportion his time, and to leave out some things in order to do that which he finds most worth doing."

Mr. Wightman concluded: "Speaking as a man who expects to find his paper on the doorstep every night, and who is practically never disappointed, I think newspaperboys do a good job. The work they do is a very essential service.

"I have never met anyone who regretted having carried papers as a boy—on the contrary, most of us boast about it when we get the chance."

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Edgar and Ruth have returned home from a motor trip to Powassan where they attended the wedding of their son Alex.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boyce and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Walker spent a few days in Toronto.

Miss Margaret Remington has returned to her home in Ottawa after visiting her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Fred Remington.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes of Renfrew were recent guests of their daughter and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Howard Russell.

Mr. Ernest Skinkle, his mother Mrs. M. Skinkle and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Greenly visited Mrs. Ernest Skinkle recently in Riverdale Isolation Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mallory and family of Cobourg have taken with her mother Mrs. D. Johnston.

Mrs. M. Hardinge left last week for her new home in Peterborough.

A shower was held in the Norhan Community Centre on Wednesday evening for Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Post (nee Lillian Chrysler). An address was read by Loraine Skinkle and a set of dishes was presented on behalf of the White School Section; also two fancy china cups and saucers were presented from the Women's Institute of White School. Lunch was served and the remainder of the evening was spent in dancing.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Yule son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Yule of Warkworth (nee Cosetta May Tivy of Coe Hill) who were recently married at Coe Hill. The young couple will live in Peterborough after their return from their wedding trip.

Mr. Cameron Tanner, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Curtis of this vicinity, has recently finished his Masters' degree and is leaving this week for Banff National Park where he will work on the Wild Life Project during the coming summer.

Mr. Ben Buchanan has recently received a telegram requesting donations for the relief of flood victims in Winnipeg. The telegram states that they urgently require donations of flashlights with bulbs and batteries, new heavy work shirts, new work gloves, new rubberized or plastic gloves and new or used hip length waders. It also states that nothing must be purchased, all must be donated.

The Guild of St. John's Anglican Church held their May meeting at the home of Mrs. Marvin Bailey. The president, Mrs. Arthur Meneilley presided. A letter was read from the Rev. Mr. Hunter of England thanking the Guild for a food parcel sent at Easter time. Work was passed out in the form of quilt blocks prepared by Mrs. Meneilley. The Guild was invited to the home of Mrs. Thomas for the June meeting. The Rev. Mr. M. Kibbon closed the meeting with prayer. Lunch was served by the hostess.

Daylight Time Headache

This business of daylight saving time hits the CBC program directors pretty hard.

The basic problem of six time zones across the country is normally complicated by regional programs and preferences. Changing some of these where D.S.T. is in effect, and not changing where standard time still goes, gets to be a headache.

That odd half-hour zone in Newfoundland doesn't help either.

Norwood WA Meets

NORWOOD, May 22 (ENS)—The May meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church was held in the Sunday School room on Thursday afternoon.

The president Mrs. Armar Weir opened the meeting.

Mrs. Lyle McMillen asked that a small portion of the money raised by the Dummer Road group be used for some improvement in the church kitchen.

The committee appointed to arrange for the kitchen were, Mrs. Wesley Chamberlain, Miss Pauline Weir, Mrs. Bert Scott and Mrs. Armar Weir.

The president reported 16 ladies had attended the WA Presbyterial held recently in Lakefield.

Mrs. Charles Davey and her group had charge of the program. Mrs. Charles McConnell gave an interesting talk on faith as obedience.

Go To S. Africa To Escape Wives

JOHANNESBURG. — (CP) — Some British settlers in South Africa—men who have come here ostensibly to find better jobs — are in reality just running away from their wives, according to Johannesburg court officials.

Before they leave Britain, they promise to send for their wives once they have steady jobs, but that is the last many wives hear of their husbands. Now overseas court orders for maintenance are being handled by the Johannesburg magistrate's court at the rate of three a week.

Wives, determined to claim maintenance from their husbands, trace them through the British and South African courts. It usually takes about six months before payment is received on an order made overseas.

Some husbands, once they have been traced, leave the Union for "non-proclaimed" countries outside the Commonwealth, where such court orders cannot be enforced. Last month, two such husbands left for the Belgian Congo and a third went to Holland.

New Code Of Ethics Adopted For Papers

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, May 22 (AP)—The United Nations sub-commission on freedom of the press Friday adopted a section of a proposed international code of ethics for newspapers. It calls for accurate and objective reporting and avoidance of any distortion or suppression of facts.

Earlier Carroll Binder, veteran newspaperman from Minneapolis, Minn., and United States delegate, told the sub-commission that adoption of the code would give dictator governments a new weapon against the press.

In words and pictures, the Duke of Windsor tells his own story. He tells for the record, the conflict between tradition and love which ended in the terrible decision he was forced to make in 1936 when he abdicated the throne of England.

It is full, frank, and intimate, highly charged with drama, and deeply moving. It is a story unequalled in the chronicles of royalty. It is one of the greatest stories of our time.

Illustrated with many photos from his private albums, "A King's Story" begins in The Standard this week — the first of four historic instalments.

A KING'S STORY by the DUKE OF WINDSOR

This week, and for the next three weeks in The Standard, the Duke of Windsor tells you of — Canada's tremendous welcome in 1919 — Mobbed at Toronto and Quebec — His Empire and American tours — The New York ticker-tape ovation — Royal concern over reports of his gay social life in U.S.A. — His sympathy with problems of the unemployed — His plans questioned by Prime Minister Baldwin — First meeting with Wallis Simpson — Their growing friendship — King George V's illness and death — He is proclaimed King Edward VIII — Conflict with the Prime Minister and the Archbishop of Canterbury — The events of the crisis leading to the abdication — The abdication itself.

6—In Memoriams

CROUTER—In loving memory of Sidney Wallace Crouter.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear.
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps him near.
—Ever remembered by daughter, sons, daughters-in-law, grandchildren.

DUFFY—In loving memory of Dennis Duffy who passed away May 22, 1941.
The one I loved has gone to rest,
His fond true heart is still,
The hand that always helped me
Now lies in death's cold chill.
—Ever remembered by his wife, Mary.

LOUCKS—In loving memory of a dear husband and dad, Edgerton Loucks, who passed away May 22, 1948.
God knows how much we miss him.
Never shall his memory fade.
Loving thoughts will always wander
To the grave where he is laid.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife and daughters, Lillian, Fern and Floss.

7—Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank the nurses and staff of Civic Hospital and attending doctors, also those who remembered me in any way during my illness. —Roy Dunbar.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my friends, relatives and neighbours, who visited, sent flowers, cards, fruit and candy; also doctors, nurses and staff of St. Joseph's Hospital, during my recent illness.—Mrs. Sidney Smith, 541 Gilchrist St.

The family of the late Mrs. Florence Barnes wish to sincerely thank their many relatives, friends and neighbours in Peterborough and friends and neighbours in Campbellford, for their many floral tributes, cards of sympathy and acts of kindness extended to them in their recent sad bereavement. Special thanks to doctors, nurses and ministers.

We wish to take this opportunity to sincerely thank Rev. V. E. Zufelt, attending doctor, and everyone for their acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy during our recent sad bereavement. We also wish to extend sincere thanks for the beautiful floral tributes to our beloved one.—Eugene Switzer and members of the family.

H. P. Duchemin Dies, Lauded By Officials

SYDNEY, N.S., May 22 (CP)—The body of H. P. Duchemin, journalist, lawyer and educationist arrived here today from Halifax where he died Sunday morning after a lengthy illness. He was 81.

The United Church funeral will be held tomorrow from his home at 70 George St., at 1:30 p.m. EDT.

Before his death the man who campaigned with an unwavering and peppery pen in editorial columns had watched his Sydney Post-Record flourish and expand in the Cape Breton industrial area.

He was president of the Post-Record and had served as president, first vice-president and second vice-president of The Canadian Press, the cooperative news-gathering and distributing association of Canadian daily newspapers.

He was elected CP president in 1937 and after completing his term was made honorary president. During his term of office he went before the judicial committee of the Privy Council in London with the late Hon. J. L. Ralston, counsel for CP, to fight successfully an Alberta press restriction bill.

Entered Field In 1914

His active entry into the newspaper field came in 1914 when he was appointed editor of the Sydney Post, owned by Senator J. S. McLennan, with whom he had been associated as solicitor.

When the Senator died 10 years ago Mr. Duchemin succeeded him as president of the Post Publishing Company, having previously been vice-president and managing director of the Post and the merged Post-Record since 1921.

His editorials gained wide recognition for clarity and often were used to champion "maritime rights."

In politics he was a Conservative—he didn't like the modern "Progressive Conservative" resignation—and he never attempted to disguise his beliefs.

His friends, however, were of all political faiths.

Premier Angus L. Macdonald said: "He was a man of strong convictions, and whether one agreed with him or not, his courage and his ability to state his case could not but be respected."

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Conservative prime minister, said: "He was a close friend and associate, an excellent writer with an intelligent grasp of Canadian business and world affairs. The maritime provinces in particular will miss him."

AS LONG AS THERE ARE SHIPS on the North Atlantic, Dr. J. E. Labrecque won't have to worry about where his next patient is coming from as the doctor hangs his shingle on the government pilot boat, Citadel at Father's Point, Que. His job is to check the incoming passengers, to see that they have the necessary medical papers, before entering the country, and looking after any needy cases. In the above photo Dr. J. E. Labrecque, left, lounges on the rail of the government pilot tender Citadelle, before moving out into the river to meet an incoming liner. With him is Dr. Henri Laurin, another sea-going medical official.

President Retires

EDMONTON, May 22.—(CP).—Resignation of Dr. Robert Newton, president of tthe University of Alberta since 1942, was announced Saturday by Premier Manning. It is effective Aug. 31. Dr. Newton, 61, said in his letter of resignation that he wished to retire to pursue activities "set aside" during his years as president.

"Drive and Walk with Care in the Holiday Traffic"

—Minister of Highways

Travel by motorists and pedestrians promises to reach a new peak volume on May 24 this year.

The seasonal upswing in holiday motor travel has begun. More vehicles than ever before are operating on Ontario streets and highways. Pedestrian hazards are increased.

Extreme care must be exercised by all to prevent accidents. Pedestrians are urged to walk carefully.

GEO. H. DOUCETT, MINISTER

H and S Elects Mrs. B. McKenzie

MARMORA, May 22.—(ENS).—The new slate of officers named at the annual meeting of Marmora Home and School Association in the public school on Wednesday is as follows:

President, Mrs. B. McKenzie; vice-president, Mrs. J. R. Reynolds; recording secretary, Mrs. H. Rennie; treasurer, Mrs. D. P. Marett; corresponding secretary, Mrs. F. Hannah; executive, Mesdames W. G. Chrysler, F. Grant, H. Sabine, E. C. Prentice and A. F. Fraser.

Officers were installed by James Sprouls, Mrs. W. G. Chrysler, retiring president, was in the chair.

The report of the treasurer was given by the president in the absence of Mrs. R. E. Neal; conveners reporting were W. J. Cottrell, publicity committee and Mrs. L. Williams, refreshment committee.

The president drew the attention of the meeting to the recent panting of shrubs on the west side of the school, this being made possible by the assistance of the school board.

The guest speaker was L. McGinnis of the high school staff, who supplemented the showing of a series of pictures on gardening with a description of the curriculum of agricultural science which is being used at Marmora high schoo.

The speaker concluded his talk with a blackboard illustration of the planning of the new high school grounds and equipment.

Some home cooking was auctioned by E. C. Prentice for the augmentation of the association's funds.

The retiring president thanked the members of the Association, teachers and school board for their co-operation during her term of office and Principal E. C. Prentice on behalf of the staff and pupils expressed thanks to the Association for the planting of the shrubs. Refreshments were served.

New Salary Talks

LONDON, May 22 — (CP) — New talks will be held soon on the question of salary increases for teachers, Education Minister George Tomlinson told the House of Commons. Tomlinson said an official committee will meet to "thresh out the whole problem." Teachers are regarded as among the chief sufferers under the government's policy of wage restraint.

Sees Plumbing Code

HAMILTON, May 22.—(CP)—Robert Davidson, national secretary-manager of the Master Plumbers and Heating Contractors, predicted Sunday that Ontario will have a "plumbing code" within six months. The idea is intended to prevent epidemics by setting minimum health standards for plumbing installations throughout Ontario.

Bookie Killed

BOSTON, May 22—(AP)— A man described by police as "a small-time bookie" was killed and two companions were injured, one critically, early Sunday by gunmen who waited in ambush outside a north-end restaurant. George R. Killeen, 31, was killed and Jeremiah Crimmins, 34 and Daniel (Moon) Mellett, 34, were wounded.

Urging Envoy Sent To Vatican

OTTAWA, May 22 —(CP)—A plea that Canada appoint an ambassador to the Vatican during the 1950 Holy Year was heard Sunday before the 47th annual Ontario convention of the Knights of Columbus.

Presented by the Eganville, Ont., council, a resolution urged that a call go out to the 100,000 members of the Roman Catholic service organization to press for Canadian representation.

As the Knights of Columbus opened their two-day convention Saturday, they were told by Transport Minister Chevrier that Communism, the "opium of the masses," likely could not be controlled by legislation.

"How can you go into the minds of men and effectively police the spoken and the written word?" he asked, and added:

"Our most effective method lies in seeing to it that not only is our country a better place in which to live, but the best country in which to live."

Official reports showed that membership in Ontario had increased during 1949 to 16,126, a gain of almost 2,000 from the previous year. New councils formed during the year included Tillsonburg, Penetanguishene, Essex, Tilbury, Scarboro and Fort Erie.

Has Nose Repaired

DETROIT, May 22—(AP)—Miles Nelson, 26, had his nose repaired at a hospital Sunday. Police said Nelson stuck his nose into a family fight between Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Henderson and Henderson with one bite snapped the tip of it off. Henderson was held for "investigation of felonious assault."

"... COSTS ... PRACTICALLY CUT IN HALF"

with a modern AUSTIN fleet

READ THIS FACTUAL, UNSOLICITED LETTER

Fred Deeley Ltd.
901 West Broadway,
Vancouver, B.C.

ATTENTION: Mr. Fred Deeley

Dear Sir:

We wish to compliment you on the performance of the 1949 Austin A40, and to thank you for interesting us in their purchase.

We have five A40's in our firm at the present time, all of them giving service with maintenance costs practically nothing. Three of these cars are on Sales work and travel approximately 1500 miles per month. We are amazed at the saving in the operating costs. Over the last six months our costs have been practically cut in half.

The one feature which appeals to the writer the most is the fact that the riding qualities and comfort are equal to a larger car. However, this is something one has to experience by riding in the new A40, as any previous experience with Austin cars gives the wrong impression.

Thanking you again and assuring you of our continued business, we are,

Yours very truly,

Boys Who Run London Zoo Almost Come To Blows

By DON GILBERT

LONDON, May 22 —(CP)— While lions roared in their cages less than 100 yards away, fellows, of the Zoological Society—the boys who run London's famous zoo—met in stormy annual meeting.

Who, demanded one fellow, went round firing a shotgun the night Elsie the leopard gave birth to a cub?

Who gave instructions that George the giraffe should sleep out in the winter's cold?

And who was stopping members behind the scenes to "fondle" the lions?

Irate members called the Society's governing council "feudalistic and undemocratic."

So acrimonous became the exchange among the 140 fellows that one member suggested two or three ladies be put on the council to improve the tone of proceedings.

Centre Of Uproar

A modern Daniel, septuagenarian Alfred D'Aeth, was the centre of the uproar.

For more than an hour the fellows debated whether D'Aeth, a lion enthusiast, should be allowed to use the keepers' service passage to visit the lions and tigers. They decided he should not.

George Thompson brought up the case of Rota, 12-year-old lion he gave the zoo when it became too big to keep as a pet at home.

"My wife and myself are very concerned about the health of Rota," said Thompson. "cannot that drastic regulation be withdrawn so that friends of Rota can go and play with him and fondle him so that he does not die a lonely and neglected death?"

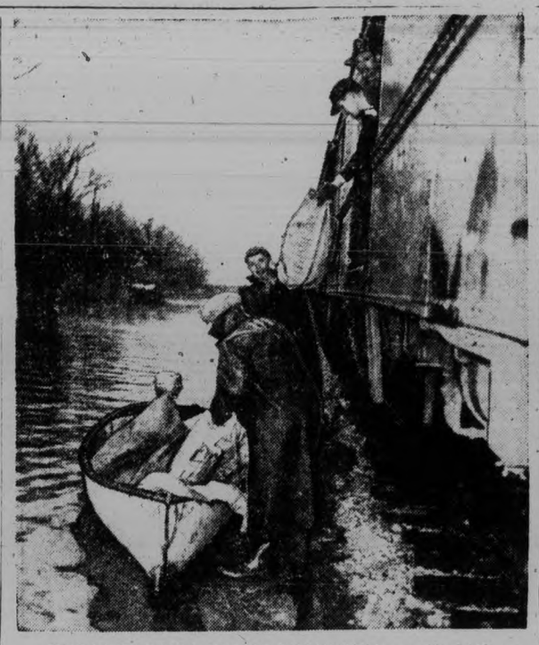
Dr. John Scott, a Scotsman with a booming voice, injected Elsie the leopard.

"Some fool went round the gardens loosing off a sportgun the night Elsie gave birth to a cub," Scott said. "it could have frightened her."

There was no reply from the chairman, the Duke of Devonshire.

"You haven't dealt with the cold giraffe," the Duke was reminded.

The Duke rose. "The giraffe," he said, is not on page two of the report—and it is page two we are considering."



THE LITTLE VILLAGE OF DOMINION, south of Winnipeg, receives mail and newspapers regularly. However, due to the flood, the current procedure is a trifle irregular. They just pull a boat alongside the mail car of the train, load up and then sail back to Dominion.

Old Days Gone In Foreign Legion Soldiers Screened Carefully

OFFENBURG, Germany, May 22 —(Reuters)— There is one thing that new recruits in the French Foreign Legion won't be permitted to forget—their right names.

The old gag about the Legionnaire who was so absentminded he forgot what he had joined the Foreign Legion to forget now is strictly passe.

This time-honored and glamorous tradition of anonymity in the Legion has been quietly discarded, it was learned here, as France launched their largest peace-time recruiting drive in American-occupied Germany for replacements of heavy losses suffered in Indo-China.

Actually, the reason for shelving this traditional privilege of enlisting under a name of one's choice is fear of communist infiltration.

The days of accepting new recruits into the colorful desert fighting force on a no-questions asked basis are gone forever, a high French officer disclosed. Now, there is a thorough investigation of an applicant's background.

This is in part the Legion's answer to occasional charges that the fabled fighting force now "talks with a Nazi accent." Germans today make up 40 per cent of the Legion's manpower—the maximum allowed for any single nationality.

The Legion's recruiting drive is acknowledged to be on the largest peacetime basis in the long history of the famous fighting force.

"Our losses in Indo-China are heavy," one officer said, "and they must be replaced. Most of the Legion's men traditionally come from areas of political unrest. There used to be the near east. Now it is Germany."

At the Legion's German headquarters, this correspondent inspected a contingent of 320 recruits who had just signed up. Half of them were Germans: the rest Czechs, Poles, Ukrainians, and Hungarians. All of them were under 25.

They were not Hollywood's version of the hard-drinking, hard living Legionnaire. They were ill at ease, frightened, in tattered clothes, all badly in need of haircuts. They had been drawn from displaced persons camps, west-Germany's jobless, and some were refugees from behind the iron curtain.

Farmer Made Movie As He Worked Land

HIGH WYCOMBE, Buckinghamshire, England (CP)—Robert Mead, 27-year-old tractor driver, made a movie while he worked. It records the personal impressions of a farm worker during the four seasons on the land.

"A Straw in the Wind" runs 10 minutes, has no music, no sound track, no written commentary. It cost £5 ($15.50) to make. Mead missed the humble premiere at Bloomsbury YWCA where admission cost sixpence (7¾ cents).

"I just took my camera with me into the fields and waited for the soil to act its part," Mead explained. "But you can't direct it like a film star. The land does not job in its own time.

"My favorite shots were of the plow. There is nothing more thrilling than seeing the gleaming plowshares cutting and turning the soil, helping nature to feed its people.

"To film the plow in action I set the front wheels of the tractor in the furrows, started the engine, then, while the tractor moved along, I jumped off and walked beside it."

Robert, who is unmarried and lives with his parents, added: "All my spare money goes on film. And I wouldn't change my job for twice the wages I'm getting."

Britain Gives Clock Plants Shot In Arm

By ERNEST AGNEW.

LONDON, May 22 (AP)—Britain has time on her hands now as a result of the war.

She's developed a new clock and watch industry, which started from almost scratch, with a lot of government aid. It now keeps 35,000 craftsmen in 40 factories and plants humming to turn out 3,250,000 clocks, 1,000,000 watches and several million time-recorders yearly.

Exports of watches and clocks are relatively small thus far—they were about $1,500,000 last year.

But Britain is virtually independent now of watch and clock imports, says the Ministry of Supply, and by 1952 the exports are expected to treble.

Two hundred years ago Britain had the world's largest clock and watch industry. It employed 70,000 artisans who turned out beautifully-wrought timepieces sold throughout the world.

Then came world competition from Switzerland, Germany and the United States and the British industry declined almost to the vanishing point.

Serious Decline

By 1939 the British industry's labor force had dropped to 4,000, turning out relatively few high quality clocks and some electric models.

In 1945 the government decided the industry should be re-established.

The government offered inducements such as machine tools and dust-free factory sites in Wales and Scotland to the watchmaking industry. Both the clock and the watch industries received special allocations of raw materials and facilities for importing goods unobtainable here.

The carefully-nurtured infant industry grew rapidly. It's still expanding.

D. W. Barrett, chairman of the British Clock Manufacturers Association, doesn't expect that the industry will ever be able to export economically more than 20 per cent of its output. High protective tariffs in other countries will prevent that, he says.

Visit To Hypnotist Results In Romance

JOHANNESBURG — (CP). — When Miss J. Strauss of Johannesburg went to a city hypnotist for treatment she did not dream it would end in romance. In fact, she says, she went to him as "a last resort" after four years of illness. Now she and Salman Ferreira, also of Johannesburg, have a wedding planned.

Mr. Ferreira says his fiancee was one of his most difficult patients. It took 35 sessions before she succumbed to hypnosis. By the time he had cured her—of nervous disability and shock—patient and practitioner had become friends.

The hypnotist laughs at the suggestion that he "influenced" his future bride into the romance. Hypnosis, he says, can produce momentary hallucinations "but not such a big one."

POLICE CLASH WITH LONDON STRIKERS

15 Serious Forest Fires Now Under Control, Situation Much Improved

Worst Blaze Sweeps 4,000 Acres Of Timber, Pumps And Hose Flown In; Timiskaming District Ordered Closed To Cars

TORONTO, May 23.—(CP).—Fifteen serious fires in Northern Ontario bushland have been brought under control, the provincial Lands Department said today. T. E. Mackey, chief of the Government's forest protestion branch, reported "considerable improvement" in the fire situation during the last 24 hours. The 15 worst blazes, concentrated around Sudbury, Kirkland Lake and Temiskaming, were out of control Monday. Mr. Mackey said all now have been extinguished or are "being held."

"Lack of green growth has contributed to the spread of the fires in the dead leaves," he said, "but there is nothing alarming in the situation today. In some cases, the fires have burned out to the edge of the road and have been checked. All fires were pretty well out or under control Monday night."

Provincial rangers previously had brought 60 other fires under control.

Costly Damage

Most serious of the 15 worst fires swept 4,000 acres of timber in Lorne Township, near Sudbury. Shipments of pumps, hose and tents were flown into the area from North Bay.

At noon, the Sudbury district fire was reported under control.

The general fire situation resulted in closing of the Temiskaming district where 27 fires are being fought. Travel along main highways is not affected by the order.

Greatest single concentration of fires, including those under control, was in Temiskaming, 50 miles north of Sudbury and North Bay, where 32 separate outbreaks were being fought.

J. B. Groulx of Kirkland Lake was charged with failing to guard a grass fire which spread out of control and razed a summer home in suburban Dane.

A. Borque, a Larder Lake township settler, was charged with setting fires in a closed season following a blaze that covered nearly an acre of land.

In Black township, 25 miles north of Kirkland Lake, 100 men and two bulldozers were attempting to halt the advance of wind-fanned flames which had already devoured 600 acres.

P. M. Dolan, chief fire ranger, in Timmins, warned that continued warm, dry weather would result in further bans on bush travel.

Flood Disaster Easing, Level Dropping

WINNIPEG, May 23.—(CP). — The Red river dropped slowly but steadily from its flood crest today. Brig. R. E. A. Morton, the army's flood-control commander, said the situation looks encouraging.

"The weather holds the key," he said at his morning press conference. "The situation will be critical until the water drops several feet."

But barring heavy, prolonged rainfall, the disaster risk to the twin cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface, Man., seems ended.

The Red's level was still dangerous, despite a drop of slightly more than one inch overnight. At 29.85 feet, it was at its lowest point since May 12 when it threatened to force mass evacuation of the twin cities' normal 350,000 population.

The physical flood problem was simply this: To maintain the metropolitan area dikes while three river-formed lakes—hundreds of square miles of muddy water — are funnelled between them to Lake Winnipeg.

The run-off, now almost 10,000,000 tons of water hourly, would continue for several weeks. It would be nine or ten days at best before all possibility of power or water failure was removed.

Dikes Holding

Today all major dikes were reported holding well. Some seemed so strong there was suggestions they will become a permanent part of Winnipeg's anti-flood defences.

The river was dropping 1½ to two inches a day and D. M. Stephens, top expert on the Red's behavior, said the rate of fall would increase gradually.

Hurt In Crash Two More Die

STURGEON FALLS, May 23 — (CP)—The death toll in a level-crossing collision rose to eight today when two children who suffered injuries died in hospital.

The children were Gerald Guay and Hector Cayen, both four.

Five other persons who suffered injuries early Monday when a truck smashed into transcontinental passenger train at Verner, 11 miles west of here, today were reported improving.

The truck was carrying 13 residents of River Valley, 15 miles north of here, home from a Sunday fishing outing when it hit the Canadian Pacific Railway flier.

17 Escape Injury As Navy Plane Sinks

HONOLULU, May 23 (AP) — Seventeen persons escaped uninjured today when a United States navy flying boat sank after a takeoff accident at Maleolap Atoll, 270 miles from Kwajalein in the Marshall Islands.

A plane flew to the scene to drop emergency supplies. A surface patrol craft will pick up survivors tomorrow.

The plane struck a submerged object while making an open water takeoff.

$75,000 Blaze

OTTAWA, May 23—(CP)—Fire of undetermined origin today caused an estimated $75,000 damage and drove 16 persons from their apartments in a downtown business block, facing on Sparks and Bank streets. Heavily damaged was the La-Mor printers shop where the blaze is believed to have originated. Other business premises damaged were McStravick's smoke shop and the F. J. Courtney and Company furniture store.

City Rainmaker In Doghouse, They Want Sun

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP) — Who's making New York City's rain these days—a Harvard professor or old Mother Nature.

They tried to thrash that question out Monday night for the umpteenth time and got the same old answer—nobody knows.

But it has been raining a lot lately, slowly filling the big city's long-parched reservoirs and making the city fathers dance for joy.

Maybe it's just a coincidence but during most of that time the city's $100-a-day official rainmaker Dr. Wallace E. Howell of Harvard, has been attacking the local rain clouds with scientific wizardry from above and below.

But if the city fathers are dancing, a lot of other folk are plain hopping mad.

Worried Farmers

Some of them are worried farmers in the watershed area. Some belong to civic groups worrying about possible floods. Others are resort owners whose crowds have turned sour during the long wet spring.

One New Jersey amusement park on the Hudson river palisades has even gone as far as to hire two "anti-rainmakers" at a reported salary of $500 a day to keep Howell's flood away from their door.

Dr. Howell himself was put on the griddle Monday night at a meeting of the Hudson valley division of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

They all asked the same question.

"I wish I knew the answer," the modest professor told them.

All along, Howell has held to a strict "maybe" on the success of his efforts in seeding the clouds with dry ice from airplanes or silver iodide smoke from the gound.

Rescuers Cheat Death In Swamp

BELDING, Mich., May 23. — (CP).—Rescuers beat death by minutes Monday in a race to find David Wright, lost for eight hours in a swamp.

Two men, who had tracked the lost child through most of the night found him with only his head above water. His legs were caught in quicksand and his fingers were losing their grip on the branch of a dead tree.

More than 200 persons were called Sunday night to search for the boy, who had gone into the swamp with his parents before nightfall to gather mushrooms. David became separated from the others and wandered for miles through the pitch black swamp.

The two who found David said his bright hair caught their attention, his legs were caught in the mire and water came up to his chin.

Special Concessions Granted Flood Victims

MONTREAL, May 23.—(CP) —The Dominion Board of Insurance Underwriters announced today that 180 affiliated fire and casualty insurance companies have agreed to inaugurate special concessions for policy holders in the flooded greater Winnipeg area.

All insurance contracts normally expiring bettween May 1 and June 15 will be automatically renewed by the companies unless other arrangements are made.

Policies are extended to cover articles such as household effects and personal property removed to temporary locations because of the floods. Such coverage will continue "until conditions return to normal."

Two Pickets Arrested After Melee

Rocks, Firecrackers Tossed At Taxis With Non-Strikers

LONDON, Ont., May 23. — (CP).—Two pickets were arrested today as a 19-man city police detachment clashed with a surging mass of union men who tried to stop cars carrying non-striking workers into the Empire Brass plant on Dundas Street East.

Dropping Monday night's plan of carrying non-strikers by taxicab, company officials themselves drove cars through shouting pickeeters to take an estimated 25 men and women into the plant.

Arrested were Audrey Irene Gibson, 19, charged with obstructing a police officer, and Joseph Rene Ward, 23, charged with causing wilful damage.

Police said Ward broke a car windshield with his fist.

Local 2699 United Steel Workers of America, CIO is on strike for higher wages, a company paid pension and a closed shop. Strike action was taken Friday afternoon.

Commenting on progress of the strike, now entering its second day, union officials said they had received offers of aid from Comunist front organizations. "We told them where they could go," said one. "If we find them around here we will ask police to move them away—they're out to cause trouble."

Monday rocks and giant firecrackers flew outside the plant as the company took the non-striking employees from the plant in taxis at 5 p.m.

Eight cars ran a gauntlet of about 200 to 300 million members of Local 2699, United Steelworkers of America (CIO-CCL) on strike at the plant for higher wages, pension plan and closed shop.

The cars were struck with rocks, kicked and rocked on their springs as they moved through the picket line with doors locked.

Staff Sgt. Robert Fraleigh, heading a seven-man detachment of city police who cleared the way for the cabs, said charges would be laid against at least one man as soon as identification is established.

Most of the 450 strikers were expected to be on picket lines again today.

Charles Pinson of Gueph, staff representative of the union, said picketing would continue 24 hours a day.

C. H. Ivey, president, Empire Brass, said Monday after a conference with company officials that the plant "would continue in production on a reduced basis."

"We are within our rights to continue to produce with available staff," Mr. Ivey said, "and we have the assurance of the police we are within our rights in everything we are doing."

He said the company would ask for continued police protection for non-striking workers.

A GRIM-FACED PRIME MINISTER arrived on Sunday in Winnipeg accompanied by Justice Minister Garson to tour the Red River flood areas and discuss relief problems with the Manitoba government. Mr St. Laurent is shown above as he took to a boat to visit some of the flooded districts of Winnipeg. Seated in back with Mr. St Laurent is Premier Douglas L. Campbell of Manitoba, while Mr. Stuart Garson is in front with Lt.-Col. H. J. Bird who conducted them on their tour. Mr. St. Laurent, after a full day in Peterborough Saturday, left here by train early Sunday morning for Ottawa and on arriving there took a plane for Winnipeg.

Civil Defence Maps Strategy

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)— An emergency civil defence plan is going to be ready soon for A-bomb-worried cities in the United States.

Mayors have been complaining that their cities can't find out what they ought to do about civil defence.

Now he federal government's civil defence office, in the National Securities Resources Board, is trying to get a program ready this summer that will show them what to do with the manpower and resources they now have.

Special surveys getting under way here and in Seattle and Chicago, where authorities will work on the assumption that the cities have been atom bombed, will be the basis for the fill-in program.

NSRB officials say no change in policy has been made—that the federal government is still against stepping in to give the orders and foot the bill for civil defence. It still plans to supply guidance and advice, and leave it to states and cities to make the detailed arrangements and pay most of the cheques.

Report Former OPP Keays Impersonating Policeman

TORONTO, May 23—(CP)—Arthur Moss, deputy commissioner of the Ontario Provincial Police, said Monday night that police at Belleville are investigating a report that a former member of the force is impersonating a policeman. The former member, J. Ernest Keays, was reported to have entered a Belleville restaurant Sunday night in the uniform of the provincial police. It was Keays who charged maladministration of justice in the Belleville area in 1948, with allegations against nine fellow officers of the provincial police including Commissioner W. A. Stringer. A royal commission under Mr. Justice Keiller MacKay found the charges "completely without justification" and recommended that Keays' service be terminated.

Last December Keays appealed to Justice Minister Garson to reopen his case and make a full investigation into administration of justice in Ontario. A week ago he placed full documentary evidence before the political parties of the country contending he had been given a "life sentence without trial". Although he could not be reached Monday night, Keays has repeatedly stated that he believes he is still a member of the OPP and that his dismissal was illegal.

Deputy Commissioner Moss said Keays had turned in his uniform shortly after the royal commission report. "He might, of course, have three or four old uniforms still in his possession," he said. He expected a report in a day or two.

Who Should Pay Phone Shot Not Department, MP's Rule

OTTAWA, May 23 (CP) — A fine point of diplomatic decorum was debated in a Commons committee Monday night—should the External Affairs Department reverse the charges on long-distance phone calls?

As a general rule, an official testified, the department doesn't because it is jealous of its reputation. He promptly got advice thrown at his from both directions.

A. D. R. Heeney, departmental undersecretary, touched off the debate by disclosure that the department makes twice as many long-distance calls in Canada as it does abroad.

On the contrary, its foreign missions send 25 times as many telegrams as the home office.

But it was the telephone bill the committee seized upon.

Mr. Heeney said many of the calls in Canada are in answer to urgent requests from business men, travellers and others wanting information quickly about various things, such as visas, passports, exchange or travel restrictions. They asked that the information be phoned back.

L. T. Stick (L-Trinity-Conception), a Newfoundlander, suggested the department should reverse the charges. Mr. Heeney said perhaps it should, perhaps it didn't do so enough. Even when the caller suggested this, the department usually didn't do it.

Leslie Mutch (L-Winnipeg South), suggested that was sound policy. It probably paid dividends in the long run. Mr. Heeney said at least two orders had gone out in the last 18 months to cut long-distance calls to a minimum. The total cost last year in Canada was $3,100.

Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel) asked: "Do they ever call you collect?" Mr. Heeney didn't think so.

Said G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West): "Well, they do to members of parliament." He thought a reversal of department policy might be a good thing. It might start to educate people to know that phones aren't free around Parliament Hill. Mr. Heeney said if that was the feeling he'd be glad to tell the Minister.

Six Labor Men Barred From U.S.

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 23 — (AP)—Six Toronto labor representatives have been denied permission to enter the United States to attend a union convention, the United States Bureau of Immigration said Monday.

Arthur J. Karnuth, director of the Bureau's Buffalo office, said only that it was "in the best interest of the United States if they don't enter."

He identified the men as Harry Shaul and Getman Gressman of the International Ladies' Garment Workers (A.F.L.) and Charles Kraigman, John Ascott, David Wisebrod and Malcolm Murdoch of the International Fur and Leather Workers Union, (C.I.O.)

Karnuth said that Abraham Rifle and John Metelsky, representatives of the Fur and Leather Workers from Toronto, also had attempted to enter the United States, and that their cases had been deferred pending further investigation. The men sought admission over the week-end. They were en route to a convention of their unions in Atlantic City, N.J.

Musical Whistles Placed On Trains Now Enough To Make Casey Jones Turn In Grave

BALTIMORE, May 2.. (AP).—They're tooting tuneful whistles on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

The B. and O. has installed musical whistles on one train and put single-chime whistles on eight yard engines. It has ordered more.

It must have brought great sadness to the ghost of Casey Jones.

The famed Casey could sign his name through the Tennessee night with a locomotive whistle.

If his ghost looks with contempt on his modern railroad brethren speeding down the rail to the tune of musical chimes, the B. and O. at least has a good excuse.

"There are a lot of people who shudder at the harsh blast of the modern diesel locomotive horn," a company spokesman said.

To ease the sleep of residents in earshot of the B. and O. and to cut down on the gripes, the railroad arranged with a New York concern to produce a chime whistle for its diesels.

Flood Tax Exemption Boost Asked

Chamber Of Commerce Request Affects Individuals, Firms

TORONTO, May 23.—(CP). —The Canadian Chamber of Commerce has asked the Federal Government to boost income-tax exemptions on contributions to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund.

Robert Bryce, chamber president, said today no reply has been received to the request, directed to Finance Minister Abbott. Mr. Bryce said he believes the matter will have to go before the cabinet.

The exemptions the chamber seeks would apply to individuals and to corporations. They would be in addition to the five and 10-per-cent exemptions now given firms and individuals, respectively, for charitable donations.

The chamber suggests that the exemptions be increased by the amount of the individual contribution.

Make Same Request

F. Douglas Tolchard, a spokesman for the Toronto Board of Trade, said his organization has suggested to the Flood Relief Fund in Winnipeg that it make the same request of Mr. Abbott.

Some firms already were up to their five-per-cent exemption limit.

"They would like to contribute, but cannot do so at present and obtain the exemption," said Mr. Tolchard.

The Chamber of Commerce and the Toronto Board of Trade appealed to Ontario corporations last week to contribute $5,000,000 of the $10,000,000 objective set by fund officials. This $5,000,000 total would be separate from the donations of individual persons.

Want Red Dean Battle Police

CALGARY, May 23 (CP)—The Very Rev. Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, was greeted Monday night by a jeering crowd outside the Ukrainian auditorium, where he appeared at a public meeting sponsored by the Calgary Peace Council.

The crowd outside included 100 teen-agers carrying placards and making considerable noise.

While the "Red Dean" was making his address, eggs, tomatoes and stones were hurled at the building. One window was smashed by a stone. Firecrackers were thrown.

Police arrested four of the teen-agers. Then a pitched battle ensued between youths and police as officers attempted to place the four in the black maria. Finally, after they were placed in the wagon, the gang let the air out of the tires of the police vehicle.

At this point, more stones were thrown and many windows smashed. One woman was injured by flying glass. Police said most of the trouble was due to teen-agers' activities.

The Red Dean was forced to leave by the back door as a howling, rock-throwing mob of teen-agers stormed in the the front entrance of the auditorium. They chanted "Bring out the Red Dean."

Police Alerted For Red Putch

BERLIN, May 23 (AP)—A vanguard of militant Communist youth arrived here today in preparation for Whitsuntide demonstrations the Reds are organizing for the coming week-end.

As they assembled, West Berlin's mayor Ernest Reuter, in a broadcast to the Russian occupation zone, warned that his sector would "defend its freedom" against any "putsch attempt to conquer and suddenly over-run free Berlin."

Meanwhile, the Soviet sector was festooned with flags and numerous reviewing stands were under construction. The Communists have advertised that 500,000 members of their Free German Youth would assemble in the city for a week-end of demonstrations. The Reds first said their marchers would storm all Berlin including the Allied-occupied zones, but extensive Western preparations to meet any such attack were followed by a soft-pedalling of Communist threats.

An internment camp is being prepared for young Communist "troublemakers" arrested in West Berlin during the rally.

Garbage Collector Drives In Queen's Train Council Fires Him After 17 Years' Service

BEBINGTON, Cheshire, England, May 23.—(AP).—May a garbage collector drive in a Queen's procession?

The Council of this city of 40,000 takes up that question tonight. It must decide whether to uphold the action of the health committee which fired Sidney Cooper, 46, and deprived him of his right to a pension after 17 years of service.

The committee said it penalized Cooper, father of eight, for driving his bright orange garbage wagon behind the Queen's motorcade when she passed through here May 3. She was on her way to launch the aircraft carrier Ark Royal at Birkenhead.

The committee also imposed a week's suspension on three men who empty garbage cans into Cooper's wagon.

Bystanders said the wagon brought up the rear of the Queen's procession for almost a mile. The crowd cheered, said officials, and the men on the wagon bowed back.

Cooper acknowledged he was in the procession, but denied he took any bows.

If Cooper's dismissal is upheld by the Council, the Queen herself will be asked by the local branch of the Labor party to intercede.

Bevan Says Election To Be Soon

Eke Out Victory By 6-Vote Margin On Housing Program

LONDON, May 23—(CP)—The government Monday night scraped a six-vote victory in the House of Commons over the Conservative opposition after Health Minister Aneurin Bevan had declared "It won't be very long before we go to the country again."

Voting was 299 to 293 on a Conservative challenge to the government housing program in line with the opposition's strategy of highlighting election issues. It was the 11th opposition defeat since the Labor Government began its second term of office March 6. Monday night's challenge was in the form of a proposal to reduce the ministry of health's appropriation by a token sum.

The government now holds a working majority of nine in the House of Commons. Six Liberals supported the Conservatives Monday. Two government ministers were absent, Defense Minister Emanuel Shinwell and War Minister John Strachey, who had left by plane earlier for an inspection trip in Malaya.

Six of the nine Liberals voted against the government. They included the leader of the party, Clement Davies. The other three Liberals did not appear to be in the chamber.

In a vote March 13, on housing the Liberals voted with the government.

The change is understood to be due to criticisms of the government in an independent committee's report on British building. The Liberals considered them unanswerable.

Winston Churchill's son-in-law Duncan Sandys, was chief Opposition speaker.

He pointed to facts which emerged from reports on building by a British mission that went to the United States and the government-appointed working party.

These showed that productive efficiency in British building was still about a quarter below the pre-war level; that output per man-hour in the United States was about 50 per cent greater than in Britain; and that British building costs generally were more than twice as high as in 1939.

ASK CONCILIATION

Two CIO-CCL unions in Peterborough have applied to the OLRB for a conciliation board to settle contract disputes with their company. Local 822, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL), is trying to negotiate a contract with the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co. And the newly-chartered Local 1112, TWUA, is trying to do the same with Fannings' Launderers and Dry Cleaners. The union at Fannings' got its charter late last week although it was certified several months ago.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion Public Weather Office in Toronto at 9.30 a.m. EDT

Southwesterly winds brought warm humid air to Ontario and held temperatures above 50 in most areas Monday night with the highs today expected above 70. Central Ontario is clear but the southern section and extreme northern regions are cloudy with a few widely scattered showers. Thundershowers will be general in the eastern portion of Southern Ontario this afternoon and evening.

Victoria Day will be sunny, hot and humid in all but the northern section of the province with highs in the low 80s.

Forecasts:

Northern Lake Huron, Lake Ontario Niagara, Haliburton regions, Toronto, Hamilton-cities: Cloudy with a few sunny intervals this morning. Cloudy with showers and thundershowers this afternoon and evening. Wednesday sunny and warmer. Winds light, becoming south 20 Wednesday. Low tonight and high Wednesday at Wingham and Killaloe 55, 80; Toronto St. Catharines and Hamilton 60, 80; Trenton 55, 75.

Summary for Wednesday: Sunny and warmer.

Optimists Hear Hugh Stewart

A rapid review of the history of harness horseracing was presented to the Optimist Club on Monday night by Hugh Stewart, owner of the Hilltop stock farm.

He traced the line of standard bred race horses and ventured the opinion that horseracing was fast becoming America's most popular sport.

The first great racehorse "Hamiltonian" was back in 1845 and to this animal three-quarters of the present-day horses can be traced, stated Mr. Stewart.

He mentioned other racing greats, such as "Dan Patch" who earned more than $1,000,000 and established the world record for the mile—one minute, 55¾ seconds; "Billy Direct", a great pacer, and "Grey Hound", now retired.

Until seven or eight years ago bookies controlled the sport and it was falling into disrepute. However the race horse breeders began organizing, sponsored the races, and raised the level of the sport.

Big Money Game

And today it is strictly "big money," Mr. Stewart said. Recently there was $112,000,000 involved in 110 nights of racing.

Last year one of the famous American stables sold 100 yearling race horses at an average of $3,985. "Imperial Hanover" sold for $72,000, probably the highest price ever paid for a horse.

Mr. Stewart is himself becoming well known in Canadian and United States racing circles chiefly through the performances of such horses as "Stewart Direct" and "Stewart Gratton".

He was introduced by John Turner and thanked by John Broadhurst.

REQUEST MINISTER'S AID

Today the striking Peterborough Lock Workers sent a telegram to Minister of Labor Charles Daley asking he "intervene in this situation with a view to bringing the parties together in the interests of a satisfactory settlement." The strike, called by Local 527, United Electrical Workers, has been on for nearly three weeks, and there seems little imminent prospect of settlement. At present the union is circulating a petition among the residents of Peterborough asking for the Labor Minister's intervention. A telegram also asking for his mediation was sent by the Ministerial Association.

Car Killed Dog, Failed To Stop Driver Fined $25

Found guilty of leaving the scene of an accident in which a dog was killed, Harrison Langford, Otonabee township, was fined $25 and $5.75 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, in police court Monday.

A second charge of leaving a dog in distress was dismissed when the crown attorney offered no evidence.

When the second charge was dismissed, defence counsel W. C. Grant said, "I think the crown abuses its privileges by laying charges like fruit baskets so the accused is bound to bounce into one of them. I say that on behalf of the public of this country."

Adrian Pammett, 423 Armour Rd., testified he had seen his small pet run over by a car travelling south on Armour Rd. in front of his house. The dog was in the middle of the road chewing a bone.

Caught Up With Driver

He said children screamed and the dog yelped before it staggered to the lawn and died. But the car didn't stop or slacken its speed. He got into his car with a neighbour, Anthony Titus, and caught up with the car driven by Langford on the Canal Rd. about a quarter of a mile from his house.

He said he asked Langford why he hadn't stopped and Langford replied he didn't know he had hit a dog. He said he asked Langford to come back to the house to report the incident and do away with the dog properly.

Langford said he would come back in about five minutes. Pammett and Titus drove about 200 yards back along the Canal Road and waited to see what Langford would do. They said he drove on and they followed him until he turned into Highway 7 at Downer's Corners.

Langford told the court he had not seen any dog and had felt no bump. He said after being stopped by Pammett, he waited for them to turn around and then started to follow them, but his time had gone flat. By the time he pumped it up, the other car was gone, and he retraced his route but was unable to find them.

Magistrate Philp considered whether or not hitting a dog constituted an accident under the Highway Traffic Act, and decided it did just as much as hitting a bridge did.

He said he thought Langford's actions were those of a man with a "guilty conscience."

OBITUARIES

MRS. EARL ROBERTS

ROSENEATH, May 23 (ENS)—Mrs. Earl Roberts of Roseneath died in a Toronto hospital on Sunday after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Roberts, nee Isabel Marlow, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Marlow, was born in London, England, 38 years ago, coming to Canada at an early age. She is survived by her husband and three children, Dolores 12, Billy 7 and Charles one year.

The funeral service was held today at McMillan's Funeral Home, the Rev. R. C. White officiating. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Fred Murphy, Fred Broadworth, John Coyle, Harold McCracken, Cephas Robins and Douglas Coyle.

The many floral tributes showed the high esteem in which Mrs. Roberts was held and the sympathy of this community is extended to the bereaved husband and children and also to her sisters, Mrs. Jock Moses, Spragge, Ontario.

Burial was at St. James' Anglican cemetery.

WALTER A. DOWN

ROSENEATH, May 23.—(ENS).—Walter A. Down, Roseneath, died Sunday in a Toronto hospital after a long illness. He was a veteran of two wars.

He was born near Roseneath on March 8, 1895, a son of the late John Down and his wife, Emily Macklin. He enlisted early in the First World War, going overseas with the 139th Battalion, receiving severe shrapnel wounds in France. Following his discharge he farmed near Markstay in New Ontario until enlisting with the Veterans' Guard in the Second World War.

After the war he returned to Roseneath.

He is survived by his wife, the former Eliazbeth Reid, of Toronto, two sisters, Mrs. Fred George, Fenella, and Mrs. Alex Merriam, Cobourg, and four brothers, Wesley of Centreton, Harry of Roseneath, Frank and Clarence, of Fenella.

The funeral service will be held on Thursday at 2 p.m. at the McDougal and Brown funeral home, Toronto. Burial will be in a Toronto cemetery.

Seeks Emigration

HAIFA, May 23 —(Reuters)—Prime Minister Ben Gurion today appealed to Russia to allow Russian Jews to emigrate to Israel. It has been estimated here that there are more than 3,000,000 Jews in Russia. It was stated that Russia was almost alone in the world in not allowing Jews to go to Israel.

Commons Has 6-Hour Debate On Education

OTTAWA, May 23 (CP) —A one-time school teacher propelled the Commons Monday into a weighty six-hour debate on whether the Federal government should grant money to the provinces to expand and equalize educational opportunities across the country.

The debate was initiated by R. R. Knight (CCF-Saskatoon), former school teacher, who sponsored a private resolution urging the government to consider that proposition.

The motion, which drew objections from government benches and support from opposition parties, was still under discussion when the House rose. It now goes off the order paper.

Two cabinet ministers—Agriculture Minister Gardiner and Health Minister Martin—said they were against the motion.

Drew Endorses Plan

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, endorsed it. He suggested the Federal government could help the provinces by extending the number of scholarships available for research and for young men and women taking university training in teaching. The Federal government should see what could be done.

Mr. Gardiner, also a former school teacher and at one time Minister of Education in Saskatchewan, said the Federal government was not opposed to additional grants to the provinces but felt it should not attempt to make grants and then order that they be spent on education. The proper place for the discussion would be before the approaching Dominion-Provincial conference.

Mr. Martin suggested adoption of the motion would do a great disservice to national unity because it asked that, without any reference to the provinces, the government provide equality of education. The government should wait until it could discuss the matter with the provinces this fall.

30 Animals Offered At Hereford Sale

The catalogue if the Hereford cattle auction sale at the Exhibition Grounds Friday May 26, beginning at 1 p.m. quotes this provision by the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

"Two men—not relatives, and not on the same farm—can form a Club, owning at least 20 females, and buy a bull subject to financial assistance up to one-third of the cost, or $150."

This second annual eastern Ontario Hereford sale is offering eleven bulls and nineteen females from the herds of twelve consigning breeders from Cobourg to Little Britain and the Bobcaygeon district.

Lt.-Col. F. E. Birdsall is president of the association. Homer Hawkey is vice-president, and E. V. O'Toole is secretary-treasurer.

Col. E. S. O'Neil of Denfield, who was in charge of the several sales at Old Orchard Farms, the home of John Stuart, Jr., has been engaged as auctioneer.

Tools And Sun Glasses Stolen From Vehicles

Two thefts, one from a car and one from a truck, were reported to police Monday.

Dan O'Brien said he left his truck parked on Brock St. opposite the Windsor Hotel shortly after five p.m. About half an hour later he returned and discovered several tools were stolen. Missing were a pair of pliers, a wood chisel and several wrenches.

Earlier in the day, Mrs. Edith Card of Camp Shilo, Manitoba, reported she had left her car parked on the Charlotte St. parking lot about 7 a.m.

Sometime between then and noon when she returned to it, the locked car doors had been forced and a pair of sun glasses taken from the glove compartment.

Attach No Blame To Driver Of Truck

COBOURG, May 23—(ENS)—No blame was attached to the driver of the truck which struck Sam Gyatt and killed him near Bewdley on May 3, by a coroner's jury at an inquest into the fatality last night. The aged man was walking on Highway No. 28 and was struck by a truck driven by Steve Lawrence of Port Hope. Coroner Dr. W. B. Wilkins presided.

Dummer Man Fined, Struck Farmer

Bruce Innes, Dummer township, was found guilty of assaulting Leonard Joseph Harrison, Dummer township, and was fined $15 and $11.70 costs in police court today.

Harrison, his face scratched and cut, said Innes had been working for him cutting wood and farming and was living in his house. He said Monday night Innes came home drunk. About 11 p.m. his family and a friend who was visiting went to bed.

He said Innes went into his room and turned on his radio full volume. He called to Innes to turn the radio down so they could sleep, but got not response.

Wrestled At Door

He went to Innes' room to tell him again, but Innes met him at the door and hit him in the eye with his fist. They wrestled around for some time before stopping. They then went downstairs and Innes grabbed a chair and hit him over the shoulder with it. He also kicked him.

He testified Innes warned him if he went to the phone, he would kill him, and went to his room to get a large knife, but Harrison slipped out and phoned the police.

Mrs. Harrison said Innes had fallen down coming from the road into the house and lay there for two hours before managing to reach the house.

Nobody interfered with him, she said.

She saw Innes hit her husband and said later Innes also hit her.

"Just Protecting Myself"

Innes testified he had been hit first and he was "just protecting myself."

How many years younger than Harrison do you say you are? Magistrate W. R. Philp KC asked Innes.

About 15 I guess, he replied.

Innes was also faced with a drunk charge laid against him October 8 by city police. He had been given an adjournment but did not reappear for trial. He pleaded guilty in court today after a request for an adjournment again was denied.

Arthur Pitchford Heads Accountants

The Peterborough Chapter of the Society of Industrial and Cost Accountants of Ontario held their third annual meeting at the Empress Hotel. This meeting was fairly well attended and many points of interest were discussed, particularly the advisability of providing programs which would be of more interest to the students. Several very enjoyable numbers were given after dinner by the Lift Lock City Four Barber Shop Quartet.

The results of the election of directors for the coming year were read, and at the directors' meeting which ensued, the following oficers were appointed:

Chairman, Arthur Pitchford; vice chairman, G. W. Hodgson; sec.-treas., Ken Kidd; programs, J. B. Bell; publicity, R. G. Aman; membership, Ted Jones; student welfare, G. W. Langhorne; attendance, S. R. Adamson; representative to Dominion Council, R. C. Bastable.

Prior to the close of the meeting it was decided to send an invitation to the Ontario Council to hold its 1951 annual meeting and convention in Peterborough.

Fire Department Decorated Streets

Members of the fire department did the decorating of the streets for the visit of Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The pennants and streamers were bought by the Centennial Committee, and will be left to brighten the city all through the summer.

The decorations will raise a question in the thoughts every visitor, as to why Peterborough has put on a gala aspect for the summer.

Mayor Swanston said today he intended to mention the work of the firemen as one of the groups co-operating for the opening of the centenary year.

"But, at the moment I forgot it, and we would like the firemen to know that their contribution was greatly appreciated," Mayor M. J. Swanston said.

Activity In Golds Seems To Slacken

TORONTO, May 23 — (CP).—Activity in low-priced golds showed signs of snackening on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Early activity matched Monday's rapid rate.

The Exchange's 1 p.m. index showed industrials down .47 at 235.38, golds up .15 at 98.30, base metals down .74 at 119.16, Western oils down .74 at 70.71.

The more speculative gold stocks turned briskly with handful showing good gains. Porcupine Peninsula Eldona, Goldhawk Macho River, and New Thurbois were among the gainers. Several leading junior producers chalked up advances ranging to five cents.

Flower Lovers To Hear Mrs. D. W. Boucher

Mrs. D. W. Boucher of Kingston is coming to the Horticultural Society meeting next Monday night at the YWCA. She is a past president of the Ontario Horticultural Association, and is much sought after for similar meetings across the province. She is also a frequent contributor to the magazine "Your Garden and Home".

At this meeting three specimens of African violets will be given as door prizes. Everybody is invited.

W. C. Wilks, secretary, expects a large attendance to hear Mrs. Boucher who is favorable remembered from her visit to Peterborough last year.

Members of the beautification committee are busy planning and planting the several projects sponsored by the society.

"We have had many favorable comments about the flower beds at No. 28 and No. 7 Highways. It is good to know they are appreciated," Mr. Wilks remarked to the Examiner.

Most Refugees Prefer Western Lands

OTTAWA, May 23 (CP)—For every European refugee who has gone back behind the iron curtain nearly 15 have come to the western countries to start a new life, the Commons committee on external affairs was told Monday night.

Canada alone, in accepting 80,600 persons rooted out of their homes by Nazi Germany, nearly doubled the 40,000 to 45,000 who left the displaced person camps to go back to original homes behind the curtain.

The figures were given by A. D. P. Heeney, Under Secretary of State for External Affairs. They were termed striking by M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, and significant of the feeling of the people caught in one of the front-lines of the cold war, particularly in view of Russian attempts to get them back.

But at the same time Mr. Heeney reported that there still is a "hard core" of 292,000 in International Refugee Organization camps in Europe and no definite decision has been made about the handling of the problem when the IRO comes to an end next spring. The western countries have absorbed more than 720,000.

Plan Horse Race In Near Future For Rotary Funds

CAMPBELLFORD, May 23 — (ENS)—Halton White and Charles Wood of the newly-formed Rotary Club of Colborne, were guests of the Campbellford club on Monday. The two visitors informed the Campbellford men that Colborne is going to put on a horse race in the near future. Mr. White said his club was looking after two children who need extensive medical treatment, and the venture is their first major attempt to raise funds.

Mike Kennedy of Trenton, was also a visitor at the Monday meeting.

It was decided to hire Allan Taylor of Campbellford to supervise the bathing beach this summer.

Swimming at the beach in the north end of the town will be free to all and Mr. Taylor will carry out swimming instruction classes throughout the summer.

Dr. C. A. Bright gave a report of the progress of the auction sale the Campbellford Club is holding on July 17. He said it had been suggested that as Rotary sponsors the local scout group, the troop should be given the refreshment booth concession at the arena on the day of the sale.

The lot on which the club members plan to build a cottage to be raffled later this year, has been selected, and at present the deed is being prepared. As soon as the club owns the land, the assistance of all members will be needed to build the cottage, which is to be raffled to raise funds for community service.

Plans for raising money for the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund, and the Rimouski Disaster Fund were discussed, and commitees were chosen to see that whatever project is decided on, will be a concerted effort by the entire club.

Man Admits Stealing $450 Generator Set

COBOURG, May 23 (ENS) — David Hadden of Toronto pleaded guilty to theft of a generator set worth $450 from Donald Duncan of Cartwright township in court Monday. Provincial Constable Don Nicol said the generator set was recovered near Toronto, having been left at a farmhouse after the jeep Hadden was driving upset. The generator set was in the jeep at the time.

Evidence was that Hadden had been drinking and had told the owner he had a prospect for the sale of the equipment. However the owner couldn't agree to so low a figure and the deal fell through. The accused said he had assumed that Duncan knew he had taken the outfit to sell. The magistrate remanded him out of custody.

Gave Minors Liquor As Favor; Sent To Jail

COBOURG, May 23 (ENS) — William Cameron of Port Hope was sentenced to a month in jail when he pleaded guilty in court Monday to supplying liquor to minors.

Provincial Constable Don Nicol testified that on May 13 he received a complaint that three boys were acting in a peculiar manner at Helm's Bend, near Port Hope and on investigating found that they were under the influence of liquor.

The accused admitted he got the boys two mickeys of liquor and two bottles of wine. He said he made no profit on the transaction but did it as a favour.

Given Another Chance

COBOURG, May 23 (ENS) — Orville Hannen of Cobourg who "borrowed" a truck because he had to move his mother-in-law's furniture and who stole some canned goods from the canning factory because he was short of funds, was given another chance when he appeared in court on joyriding and theft charges. Magistrate R. B. Baxter remanded the accused out of custody.

Music Standard Very High Says Adjudicator

CAMPBELLFORD, May 23 — (ENS)—Pupils of Campbellford public and high schools won much respect for themselves at the Northumberland Music Festival, which was held in the Warkworth Town Hall the latter part of last week. Campbellford pupils had to compete with 90 other rural schools and five urban schools. There were 460 entrants in the solo classes, a total of more than 1,900 entries in the entire program.

The vocal adjudicator, G. Roy Fenwick, Mus. Bac., Director of Music for the Department of Education, Toronto, told the entrants at the close of the program that they had achieved a very high standard in their music. "Try to sell your song, and make it expressive," he said.

Mr. Fenwick stressed the fact that people of Ontario do not seem to open their mouths sufficiently when they sing. He asked pupils to concentrate on this, and he believed their standard could be improved.

Winners from Campbellford were as follows:

Boy's vocal solo, eight years and under, 51 contestants—Billy Ireland of Campbellford with 86 per cent, Dennis Hopping of Campbellford placed second.

David Tarsey of Campbellford, placed second in the boy's vocal solo, 11 years and under. Anne Hay and Aldythe Arthur were second in the secondary school duet; Gaele Meyers and Barbara Fox were first with 85 per cent, and Phyllis and Ada Goodfellow placed third.

Anne Hay also placed second in the girl's vocal solo, 16 years and under.

Campbellford placed third in the urban school chorus. Valerie DeCarrol and Marilyn Hopping placed first in the ladies' open duet. Phyllis and Ada Goodfellow were first place winners in the ladies' open trio, and Anne Nicholls of Campbellford won first place in the open piano solo.

A double trio of the Campbellford high school won first in their entry and a ladies' chorus of the same school also took first place.

Campbellford also placed second in the urban school chorus.

CATCHES WOLF AT DEAD OF NIGHT—Harry Dunford was wakened Saturday night by the howl of dogs. He rushed down the road in his car to see what the trouble was, and found a large, shaggy timber wolf tired out after being chased by the dogs. Mr. Dunford called at Ted Iliffe's house on the way for a flashlight and together the men went to the swamp. Mr. Dunford's first shot killed the wolf.—(W. W. Reed Photo)

Aroused By Dogs Jumps From Bed And Shoots Wolf

CAMPBELLFORD, May 22. — (ENS).—Harry Dunford of RR 2, Havelock, was awakened from his sleep late Saturday by the loud barking and baying of his dogs.

Believing the dogs were running cattle, the man got up to investigate. He got into his car and drove down the road toward where the dogs appeared to have something cornered. It was quite dark and Mr. Dunford could not see well, so he returned to the home of a neighbor, Ted Iliffe, to borrow a flashlight.

The two men returned to the spot, Mr. Iliffe armed with a flashlight, and Mr. Dunford with a high powered .22 automatic rifle.

They called the dogs away and at first thought the animal at bay was a bear cub, but on getting a closer look, they discovered it was a large, shaggy timber wolf. The wolf was in a swamp and was tired out after being chased by the dogs. One well aimed shot finished the beast, and Mr. Dunford proudly carried the trophy home.

Mr. Dunford shot five wolves during the winter. While talking at his home Sunday a groundhog came out to sun himself about a hundred yards away in a field adjacent to the house. Mr. Dunford slipped a shell into his gun and dropped the animal with one shot.

"Chief," Mr. Dunford's Walker hound, has figured in three wolf episodes and has the scars to prove it. The dog is eight years old and has an uncanny skill for scenting wolves.

Twelve Against The East

When Count Sforza, the Italian Foreign Minister, said at the end of the London conference of Foreign Ministers of the Atlantic Treaty nations that "We may well assure the world that something really historic has been achieved," it was not a customary platitude. Something historic was projected. Two broad and robust statements in the communique issued after last Thursday's final meeting indicate the significance:

1.—"The Council proceeded on the basis that the combined resources of the members of the North Atlantic Treaty are sufficient, if properly co-ordinated and applied, to ensure the progressive and speedy development of adequate military defence without impairing social and economic progress."

2.—"The Council throughout its deliberations recognized that only through co-ordinated planning and joint effort could these objectives be achieved."

The Foreign Ministers' Council has taken definite steps to make these decisions effective, and it has set up in London a permanent body of deputies, with power to act.

• • •

The Atlantic Treaty countries have decided to discard the old notions of separate national defence and to create a "balanced collective force." They plan really mutual assistance to each other and have recognized that the military aspects cannot be separated from the financial, economic and social (a point which Canada has been urging). Committees have been directed to examine "the problem of adequate military forces and the necessary financial costs as one and not as separate problems." The principle of collective defence, now definitely agreed upon, is indeed revolutionary in national and international dealings.

• • •

The necessity for this is obvious, yet it will be difficult to negotiate. The Council recognizes that the combined resources of the North Atlantic Treaty countries are sufficient; but at present each country is arming itself piecemeal and bogging down in heavy financial costs because of it. The western nations now cannot match the Soviet Union's defensive and offensive forces; they can surpass them through proper pooling of their resources.

• • •

The Atlantic Pact nations have more than 336,000,000 skilled and efficient people, producing nearly 150,000,000 tons of steel a year. The Soviet bloc (excluding China) has only 255,000,000, largely backward people, producing only 33,000,000 tons of steel a year. But despite this, and despite the Atlantic community's spending twenty billion dollars a year on armaments, it is still inferior in total military power to the Soviet bloc, and could muster only twenty divisions against the Soviet's 150 divisions. With adequate organization, and co-ordination such as the Foreign Ministers now urge, the combined strength of the Atlantic Treaty nations will overcome their several weaknesses, and surpass the Soviet power. Such superior force could ensure peace.

Why Forget 'The Maple Leaf'?

A good deal of emphasis is being placed on O Canada these days; we hear it more often at public gatherings than we did a few years ago, and we read that in future it will be used to accompany official salutes by the Royal Canadian Navy.

We have expressed our views about O Canada in these columns on several occasions. It is a pretty good tune, reminiscent of several others, including a chorus from Mozart's Magic Flute; it is a little too long for frequent public performance, and it provides no convenient half-way stopping place, as does God Save The King; its middle section is a rather characterless bit of rum-tum-tum; it ends up with a really good flourish. But, like The Star-Spangled Banner (a much better tune, by the way) it has one grave fault—it is hard for most people to sing.

If we are going to emphasize our national airs, why forget about one which is musically better than O Canada, and markedly more cheerful in spirit? We refer to The Maple Leaf. It has been neglected during recent years, but its first verse lingers in memory—

In days of yore the hero Wolfe
Britain's glory did maintain
And planted firm Britannia's flag
On Canada's fair domain:
Here may it wave, our boast, our pride;
And, join'd in love together,
The Lily, Shamrock, Rose entwine
The Maple Leaf forever!

Perhaps these words may give offence to those who want to pretend that our country's origin was dark, mysterious and attributable to nobody in particular, like the paternity of William the Conqueror. But the tune is excellent, and certainly it contains more of the briskness and humour of the sea than O Canada.

Or, if Canada has to have its own music for a naval salute, what about Newfoundland's excellent sea-song, Squid-Jiggin' Ground? Let us not import the slightly second-rate portentousness of O Canada into every aspect of Canadian life.

Winnipeg Flood Caused By Heedlessness

In a time of emergency it may seem callous to point out that the emergency could have been prevented. In the Winnipeg area many people are in distress and have suffered heavy loss; they have our sympathy and they must also have assistance. Nevertheless, we are becoming a little weary of the uproar which is being raised by those newspapers which are accusing the Dominion Government of failing in its duty toward the people of Manitoba; the fact of the matter is that the responsibility for the present Manitoba predicament rests upon the people of that province, and to some extent upon the people of Winnipeg.

The flooding of the Red River did not come as a surprise; for ten years American scientists at the source of the Red have been predicting something of the kind. During the past ten years some kind of flood control could surely have been organized which would have prevented the present trouble. What is most needed is a program of afforestation in the area of the Red River which would prevent spring floods. The source of the Red is not in Canada, but in the U.S.A., and that is where the work should begin. Nevertheless, it is futile now to appeal to the people of North Dakota and Minnesota for assistance, crying "Look what your river has done." Ten years ago was the time to set up an authority with representation from those states and from Manitoba to take the necessary steps.

Warnings of possible floods in Winnipeg have not been lacking. When a minister of the Manitoba Cabinet warned last February that the Red would flood, he was cried down as a calamity howler by Winnipeg real estate agents who had property to sell in the very region which is now under water. The danger from the Red has been played down by Manitobans who, for one reason or another, did not want it to be known, and who foolishly hoped that the problem would not become serious.

It is serious now, and Manitoba's lack of forehandedness is the reason for it. It is questionable whether a flood which was foreseen, and warned against, can now be described as a calamity; we are sorry for the people who are suffering, but we are not sorry for those who refused to see danger when it was pointed out to them. Nor can we see that the Dominion Government is obligated to rush in and foot the bills for provincial carelessness.

All prairie districts face the problem which is created by flat land, sudden thaws, and insufficient forest. Afforestation is one answer to the problem; a system of dams—admittedly very difficult in flat country—is another. Only foresight and intelligent attention to warnings can prevent the Winnipeg story from being repeated in many Canadian cities, not all of them on the plains.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A Pembroke weekly remarks on our jibe at that town's disappointment over being left off the Trans-Canada main route: "The Examiner doubtless realizes, but, understandably, neglects to say that it owes its good fortune to its strategic location between Carleton Place and Lindsay." The lamb between two lions, or the rose between two thorns?

Senator Hayden said Thursday during a debate on dropping the eight per cent. sales tax on ice cream and not on margarine, that "the closer you get to the cow the better your chances of exemption." Which is to say: the closer you get to the cow, the better you can milk—the Government.

Tourists For England and Wales

By SENATOR RUPERT DAVIES

TWO of the handsomest booklets which have ever come to my desk arrived last week from Mr. D. Rhys Grenfell, M.P. Mr. Grenfell will be remembered as the Member of Parliament from Britain who toured Canada addressing Chambers of Commerce, service clubs etc., in 1949. He was discussing the exportation of Welsh coal to Canada. Mr. Grenfell at that time was on a mission for the British Government in connection with securing more outlets for Welsh coal in this country.

It will be remembered that in connection with these addresses that Mr. Grenfell told that he was Chairman of the Welsh Tourist and Holidays Board. He still occupies that very onerous and important position, and has his offices in the Temple Buildings of one of the most famous spas in Wales, Llandrindod Wells.

◇ ◇ ◇

THE Welsh Tourist Board is making a very special effort to attract tourists to the principality. The traffic to Britain this year is expected to be very heavy indeed, and the Welsh Tourist Board is anxious to benefit from that traffic.

This is the year of the "Festival of Britain", and as everyone who is interested in Great Britain and its tourist attractions is well aware, the British Travel and Holiday Association, under the chairmanship of Sir Alexander Maxwell, is assisting in every way to make the "Festival of Britain" a success. The Welsh Tourist Board also works under the auspices of the B.T.H.A.

◇ ◇ ◇

ONE of the great problems of the Welsh Tourist Board is attracting Canadian and American visitors to Wales. Unfortunately, very few Canadians include the last stronghold of the ancient Britons in their itinerary. A great many tourists take the steamer St. Tudno from Liverpool to Llandudno, and return the same evening with the feeling that they have seen Wales. They have admittedly seen a very beautiful watering place on the North Wales coast, also the mountains of Snondonid, but they have in reality seen nothing of the beauties of the Welsh countryside.

Speaking as one who has motored over nearly every inch of Wales, and who knows something of its beauties, I was delighted with the two booklets which arrived last week. They are splendidly written, I suspect by Mr. Grenfell himself, and are beautifully illustrated with pictures of castles, hills, dales, and the watering places of the principality.

◇ ◇ ◇

WALES is a land of castles and ancient churches, it has extensive pro-Roman and Roman relics; it teems with historical data and retains the ancient names for its mountains, rivers, churches and towns. The Welsh people speak the most ancient language in Western Europe, and delight in the songs and poetry, in the musical speech of their forefathers. Wales is affectionately known as "The Land of My Fathers", and is worthy of the pride of nationhood which has been cherished without weakening the general patriotism of all the people of the United Kingdom.

◇ ◇ ◇

WALES is looking forward to welcoming large numbers of visitors to the National Eisteddfod at Caerphilly Castle in August 1950, and at Llanrwst in 1951 in the famous Conway Valley in North Wales. The International Eisteddfod instituted at Llangollen in 1947 has been a marked success in the last three years. The Welsh Eisteddfod has a link with Canada owing to the fact that on several occasions Sir Ernest MacMillan, the conductor of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra has been one of the judges. I well remember the Eisteddfod of 1938, held at Machynlleth. Sir Ernest was one of the judges on that occasion, and because of the fact that a choir from Ottawa was competing in the Choral division, I missed the reception for the Overseas delegates given by Lord Davies, the president. It was a great blow to me as a Welsh-Canadian that the Ottawa choir did not get a place, but the competition was so keen that one had to be almost one hundred per cent. perfect to win the first prize.

◇ ◇ ◇

THIS year's International Eisteddfod is expected to be the greatest international musical gathering of the season. The number of national choirs from Europe and America is increasing from year to year. This year promises to be an unprecedented success. There is no finer location than Llangollen. It was here on the top of Dinar Gran, that Owen Flendower the great Welsh leader established his castle at the beginning of the fifteenth century. The meadows in the Valley of the Dee provide a most beautiful green carpet for the site; the trees will be in full foliage and bloom in July, the oak, ash, chestnut, elm, yew and sycamore of the valley and backed by the cedar, spruce, pine and fir which extend upwards for 2,000 feet upon the hillside. The scenery is impressive and access to the mountains is easy by coach or car. There is abundant fishing in the rivers and streams, and lakes lie deep among the mountains and are well stocked with fish. Sea fishing is available for the expert and the novice.

◇ ◇ ◇

THERE are over a thousand miles of indented coast line and a thousand natural bathing beaches in Wales. The Welsh Tourist and Holidays Board are this year issuing a special invitation ot their kinsmen and all overseas tourists to come to Wales. This year should be a notable one in Britain, due to the "Festival of Britain". In Wales, the natural beauties of the country, the mountains of Snowdon, Plinlimon, Cader Idris, the churches, castles and pre-historic monuments combine to add interest to the beautiful "Land of our Fathers". The Welsh still speak and sing in Welsh; it is worthy of a nation's pride and worthy of a visit by visitors who go to Britain from abroad.

Resuming The Passion Play

In Oberammergau

By RICHARD LOWENTHAL

OBERAMMERGAU'S world famous passion play was resumed here on Ascension Day, May 18, after a sixteen-year interval, with full traditional splendour. Among the five thousand spectators crowding the grandiose amphitheatre were the British and American High Commissioners, the President and Chancellor of the West German Republic and many Cabinet Ministers both from the Federal Government and Bavaria. Altogether 1,400 villagers including all the native-born adult males and some 500 children, took part in the play either as actors, choir, members, musicians, or stage hands, to keep the vows made in the plague year of 1633.

The eight-hour play, first performed in 1634, tells in its present form, in 16 scenic sequences the story of Easter Week from Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem through the stages of His Passion to His Resurrection. Each sequence is preceded by a prologue, a musical choir in a tableau vivant depicting analagous scenes from the Old Testament.

The picture of the Biblical scenes presented to the spectators' eyes could hardly be more beautiful of more impressive. The scenic arrangements and costumes for which producer Johann Georg Lang has been responsible since the 1934 performance have a perfect balance in composition and colour scheme. They are plainly the work of a creative artist, nourished on the great traditions of European religious paintings.

The music, too, makes a powerful contribution to the general impression. Though composed by a local teacher in 1815, its style is that of the 18th-century transition from oratory to opera—the period of Gluck, between Handel and Haydn. Gradually watered down by continual minor changes during the past hundred years, it has been completely overhauled and restored for this year's performance by Professor Eugene Pabst with outstanding success.

Compared to the strong impact of scenery and music, the text, dating largely from the baroque period with some 19th century re-edition but unchanged since 1860, is rather weak in parts. So, inevitably, is much of the acting, despite some very fine individual performances. The movement of the crowd on the giant stage is superb; their frequent shouting in unison prescribed by the text jars on the spectators. Long sentences shouted by crowds simply cannot be understood—a contrast to the very clear diction of almost all the actors—and breaks sequences of the dialogue.

There is a paradox in all this. The world-wide fame of the Oberammergau Passion Play rests on its unique character as a remnant of popular religious art. Yet today it is the professional artistic element of the whole rather than the popular one which assures its success. That is no accident—the community itself has changed.

◇ ◇ ◇

OBERAMMERGAU today is not a primitive peasant community completely wrapped up in an unbroken tradition and free from social differences. The main work for the play, taking up a great deal of time, is carried on by a limited circle of families who are sufficiently independent to be able to afford it—chiefly hotel-owners and prosperous wood-carvers. It is inevitable that most of the chief parts are distributed within this circle, that the same family names occur again and again in the cast.

At the other end of the scale there are now the 1,100 refugees by which the pre-war community of 3,000 has been swollen—hundreds of them still living in barracks while other hundreds have just been transferred to newly-built houses to free for tourists the hotels on which they were billeted. The communal leaders tried to cope sensibly with the problem: contrary to tradition, they have allowed the children of the newcomers to join in the play, as it would have been too cruel to let them look on as their class-mates grew their hair long and to keep them excluded. To make no exceptions, even a little American, Johnny MacMahon, son of an officer stationed locally—has been permitted to take part. There will also be this year one free performance for the poorest of the refugees from all over the area.

Nevertheless, this is a far cry from the old, traditional Oberammergau, protected by its mountains from any outside influence. One prominent leader is quoted as saying that sixty per cent. of the inhabitants really ought not to take part any more in the play because they are not sufficiently Christian. That may be too strict a standard, but it points to a real problem—the same problem which the Bavarian State Secretary for Art, Dr. Sattler, mentioned when opening here a new museum of religious art on the eve of the new play. The works assembled in that museum, he said, could not be understood as "pure" art any more than the Passion Play itself—they were works of faith. But there were few true believers. Perhaps it was symbolic that these works have been moved from the churches to a museum.

What we have been watching here—as in present-day Germany generally — is not a genuine religious renaissance, rather a restoration brought about by a pious minority. The crucial question for Oberammergau is whether it can survive as more than a museum piece.

Ship Repair Yard Burns On Fraser

VANCOUVER, May 23—(CP) Fire, punctuated with explosions, swept through a ship repair yard on the Fraser river suburban Vancouver Monday destroying a machine shop, storage rooms and at least one seine fishing boat.

The British Columbia Packers 60-boat halibut fleet was menaced for a time by the wind-driven flames, but a change in direction drove the fire over the river.

The fire, which broke out shortly after midnight, burned through an old cannery used by B.C Packers Limited as a machine shop and touched off drums of gas and oil with cannon-like explosions.

Havelock Driver Gets 7 Days

Pleading guilty to charges of drunk driving and having liquor illegally in his car, Robert McGlaslan, RR 3, Havelock, was sentenced Monday in court to seven days in jail and fined $10 and $13.50 costs by Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC.

Chief Constable Bay M. Bell of Havelock said Saturday night about midnight he drove up behind a parked car to check it, but the car pulled away as soon as he was stopped.

He followed the car about four blocks, which was being driven in an "erratic manner" before stopping it.

Chief Bell said McGlaslan was unsteady on his feet and smelled strongly of liquor besides being "very disagreeable and unreasonable".

Teletype Men Replace Kansas Typesetters

CHICAGO, May 23 (AP)—Details of a plan to use teletypewriter typesetting circuits in southeastern Kansas were told to the Inland Daily Press Associaion Monday.

Richard M. Seaton, publisher of the Coffeyville (Kas.) Journal, said the circuit will start operation June 1 and will eliminate type setters in five newspaper plants.

Seaton said Associated Press dispatches and regional news will be edited at a central office to the five independently-owned dailies, the Coffeyville Journal, Pittsburgh Sun and Headlight; Parsons Sun; Fort Scott Tribune-Monitor and Independence Reporter.

Under the system a typist in the central office does the work of type-setting machine operator.

Seaton said the new system would reduce composition, wire and editorial costs and would make possible increased coverage of news of importance in southeastern Kansas.

Veteran Returns Given Remand

COBOURG, May 23—(ENS)—Raymond Morgan of Roslin, veteran of Okinawa, who was remanded out of custody on Friday in order that he could go home to take his wife to receive medical attention, appeared back on schedule in court today. He faces a number of charges of false pretenses and arrangements are being made for restitution. As he has a traffic charge in Belleville to straighten up, he was given an opportunity by the magistrate to look after that and to appear in court next Monday on the false pretense charges.

The accused told the magistrate that he joined the U.S. army when he was 16.

Father, Two Sons Charged With Obstructing the Police

A father and two sons, Ambrose Brick, Toronto, and Ernest and William, were Monday charged with obstructing police by misinforming them after an accident Sunday at Young's Point.

A warrant was already out for the arrest of William charged with shooting May 1 at Harry Rowe of Haultain with intent to do harm. On this charge he was remanded on Tuesday on $2,000 bail.

The father was remanded to May 29 on $500 bail. Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, reserved judgment in the trial of Ernest Brick and the charge against William was dismissed.

The multiple charges arose out of an accident Sunday morning on the south bridge at Young's Point. Here it is alleged that the truck, driven by Thornton Brick, brushed one of several people fishing by the bridge railing, and injured him.

Questioned later by police the Bricks are said to have claimed the driver was another brother, Norman. But he was absent in Toronto at the time.

This misinformation was the basis of the charge.

Instead of coming to a stop the driver kept on. In the vehicle as passengers were his two brothers, father, at least three women and five children.

Another motorist followed the truck up Highway 28 overtook it and asked them to return to the scene of the accident. They did so.

However after getting out of the truck Thornton, left to "get a drink of water" and he has not been seen since, Provincial Police say.

A warrant has been issued charging dangerous driving and other charges may follow. William and Ambrose Brick, the father, were also said to have left the scene of the accident.

They were apprehended by Provincial Police Constables George Henderson and T. H. Fitzpatrick, together with Chief Constables Garnet Samis of Lakefield, as they lay sleeping in a private lane a mile and a half south of Young's Point.

Thornton is the only one of the four men of the family still unaccounted for.

At first it was feared that James O'Brien, the Toronto man hit by the truck, was seriously injured. But. Dr. H. E. Gastle found that he was only shaken up.

In police court today, Corporal McClure testified that Ambrose Ernest and William all told him together and separately that the driver of the truck had been Norman.

Mr William Brick, wife of one accused, testified she had overheard Ernest tell the corporal Norman was the driver.

Ernest Brick told the court he had said only that he did not know who was the driver because he had been asleep at the time.

"All I can say, somebody's mistaken," Ernest commented.

"Yes, there's no doubt about that," Magistrate Philp replied.

Magistrate Philp asked Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, however, whether is was a crimnal offence to mislead a police officer on any evidence. How was that different from any misinformation a witness might give police, he queried.

Crown Attorney Bradshaw said the difference was in whether or not the police were "wilfully and deliberately" misled.

Home Resistance To Be Tough For Golf Trophy

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, May 23 (Reuters)—Willie Turnesa, 1947 winner and last year's runner-up, big Bill Campbell, and "Dynamite" Bill Goodloe, all got through their first-round matches Monday to maintain the hot United States challenge in the British amateur golf championship.

But it became clear by the end of the day that home resistance is going to be tough.

Players of the ability of Irishman Sam McCready, the holder; Sam McKinley and Gerald Micklem, both Walker Cup players; and J. D. A. Langley, present English champion, are still there, bidding to keep the trophy in the British Isles.

Eddie Hamilton, twice a Scottish champion, showed the tenacity of the Britons as he took the fancied Campbell to the 19th in a great fight in the rain.

Crooner Bing Crosby quickly fell. Bobby-soxer fans followed Bing around in thousands, but he was well and truly beaten 3 and 2 by opponent, Jimmie Wilson of St. Andrews.

Sensation of the day was the carve-up of Sir John Cradock Hartopp, a local player of some renown, by Goodloe, who lived up to the title of "dynamite."

The Valdesta, Ga., player produced a "golfing gem" despite the rain. He swept Sir John out in majestic style 7 and 5.

Turnesa's first-round victory put him into the third round, since scratchings created a bye in the second. He put out compatriot James Knott of New York 5 and 3.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Local harriers have entered a three-club track meet in Oshawa this coming Saturday. Toronto Lakeshore "Y" and Oshawa Shamrock A.C. are in, too. Events are 100 yards, the 440, mile, the 120 low hurdles, broad jump and medley relay. Coach Bill Morewood is holding open workouts at the Oval on Tuesday and Thursday at seven p.m. The Peterborough trackmen lost by but three points in a previous meet with Oshawa, but this three-way one should see stiff competition. An item from Canton, N.Y., says: "Don Sherburne broke Middlebury college's 220 record here as he sped the distance in 21.9." This is very fast going for Don, who spent last summer here and was a member of this Harriers Club. He'll be back again next month.

Couple of men's softball scraps on tap tonight in the Bowl, commencing at seven. East City plays UEW in the opener, and it might be a keen enough contest as the UE chaps won their first fray in convincing style, whilst the Ashburnham outfit was barely nosed out by the strong Mutuals. Nightcap sees Mutuals meeting Orphans, and the Russelle pack may pitch Bigford, Bob Greenlaw and Turner in that order. Orphans are starting to bolster already and expect to have Junior West with 'em this game, West apparently not being sure yet that he wants to move to Lindsay. Thursday sees East City playing Orphans, and Mutuals meeting UEW.

Girls Getting Ready

Girls' Softball League begins its 1950 season at the Ashburnham Bowl this Friday night at seven with a twin bill. We should have the schedule some time today. Teams in are Ashby's, CGE, Marines, Woollens and Westclox. Loop is affiliated with the PWSU, and should see some good softball served up. Many of the youngsters of a year or two back have developed into smart players now. Norma Kennedy is with Marines, and we expect Isabel Bullock will be with Westclox—that team having lost Nona Whetung to Toronto. Anyway, there'll be quite a scramble as they square away this week. Opening ceremony, etc.

Big holiday attraction on May 24 (tomorrow) for sports' fans is the senior ball game in Riverside at three. A Viaduct Major League fixture, bringing Toronto Aces here for the first time. They beat Staffords and Oshawa o'er the weekend, so should be a potent pack of diamondeers. But the Petes have won two in as many starts this semester, and look like nobody's setup. Lefty Bill Dadson is likely to get the hurling call from Manager Eddie Murphy, with Bill Edger, Doug Plunkett and Gunner Whitehill in reserve. If the weather is right, this game should draw a hefty gallery. Petes go back to Toronto for a night game Thursday.

As The Smoke Clears

'Twas a busy week-end in the Viaduct League and when the smoke of battle had lifted on various fronts, New Toronto emerged atop the circuit with three wins and no losses. Petes are next with two victories and no reverses, while Aces have won two out of three. Staffords have split evenly in two starts, as Oshawa lost their first two, and Dovers have now been beaten four in a row. A number of games in this loop booked for the morrow. Oshawa scribe sounded disappointed in the imported pitcher, though saying he looked good when shifted to shortstop. The big catcher appears to be solid material and should help 'em a lot.

Brampton opens the senior "A" lacrosse schedule at Weston tomorrow, while Friday sees Toronto at St. Kitts, Mimico at Owen Sound, and Hamilton Tigers playing the Petes here. Prexy Paul Irwin's pack will find the Tigers much tougher stuff than the Huntsville crew, and it ought to be a nifty number to see. Some 40 juniors (with a few over-age chaps) took in the last junior gutted-stick drill here and they'll practice again on May 28 at 10 a.m. under direction of Jerry Fitzgerald and Lou Vitarelli, with drills likely twice a week after that. Tadpoles and peewees have open workouts at nine tomorrow morn under Coach Fitzgerald.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

Tomorrow is May 24, and it is the first summer holiday. To many it is just another holiday—some go to their cottages and open them for the summer; to the children it is firecracker day; and for lawn bowlers it always means the day on which bowling is officially declared open for the season. We believe that this is the case with lawn bowling clubs all over Ontario.

So, as in other years, we open with a mixed rink tournament, draw from the board at 1:30 p.m. All will be welcome. Telephone your name in early, and once again we use our threadbare slogan: "Be on time."

Regarding the draw for the annual President - Vice-president games that appeared in Monday's issue of the Examiner, the first 10 pairs play on Thursday night and the balance on Friday night.

Go out—go out, I beg of you,
And taste the beauty of the wild,
Behold the miracle of earth
With all the wonder of a child.
Walk hand in hand with Nature's God,
Where scarlet lilies brightly flame;
Make footprints in the virgin sod
By some clear lake without a name.
Lay hold upon the out-of-doors
With heart and soul and seeking brain,
You'll find the answer to all life
Held in the sun and wind and rain.
Where'er you walk, by land or sea,
The page is clear for all who seek;
If you will listen with your heart
And let the voice of Nature speak.

PS—One of our boys will be heard tonight over CHEX at 6 o'clock on the subject of lawn bowling.

QM Seniors Get Win

Queen Mary seniors yesterday beat King George 20-12 on the latter's school diamond. Their 11-run splurge in the opening frame pretty well settled things early, as they kept getting a few runs here and there, despite threats by the losers. Teams:

Queen Mary—Roberts, ss; Cullen, 2b Brady, lf; R. Dunn, p; Deck, c Cuffe, 3b; Merrett, 1b; Franks, cf; Jackson, rf; McIlwain, rf.

King George McKenzie, c; Withers, p; Fairs, 2b; Fuller, 1b; McIlmoyle, 3b Roote, ss; Barker, lf Wilson, cf; Smith, rf; Thompson, ss.

Umpires: A. Olmstead and H. Wilson.

Additional Sports On Pages 7, 8, 14

MANAGER WALLY ALSTON of the Montreal Royals sits between third baseman Damon Phillips, left, and Walter Fiala, right. Peeking over his shoulder are Turk Lown, pitcher, and Al Gionfriddo. Royals are leading the International League in the long drive for the pennant.

May's Gain Victory

May's mauled Prince of Wales 29-12 in their school fixture yesterday, banging in 11 runs in the first, three next heat, then one, and 14 in a wide-open fourth canto. The losers got one each the first two innings and five apiece in the fourth and fifth. Teams:

Prince of Wales—Jay, Coombs, Playford, Allbrook, Davis, Parks, Innis, Falkner, Barrie, McCourt.

May's—Shaw, McGrath, Chambo, J. McFadden, Tully, Greeniss, Marshall, G. McFadden, M. McFadden.

Umpires: J. Crown and R. Burroughs.

Glen Lasswell Today Full Fledged Jockey

NEW YORK, May 23—(AP)—Belmont's leading rider of the season, 18-year-old Glen Lasswell, is a full-fledged jockey today.

The San Ysidro, Calif., youngsters ends his year of apprenticeship and, beginning with his next mount, loses the five pounds allowance given beginners.

During his apprenticehip, Lasswell had 257 winners, 201 seconds and 180 thirds in 1,341 mounts. He's had 25 winners in 14 days at Belmont.

He's under contract to Maine Chance Farm.

Peterborough Golf

Gord Harrison, pro at the Peterborough Gold Club, had a sizzling 73 on Sunday morning and he appears to be in fine fettle for the big summer circuit. Perfect weather drew a hefty turnout at the northend links over the weekend, with good scores turned in for the two sweeps.

Ross Cutmore (Western U) carded 79-7-70 for low gross in the first flight; Bert Cutmore (club president) smacked out a 94-24-70 to tie Doug Wylie (Notre Dame) who had 91-21-70. In the third flight, Pup Curtin (Petes' lacrosse) batted 100-32-68 for low net.

King Edward Triumphs

King Edward and Confederation went to a 10-all intermediate school draw last week in a game interrupted by rain, but yesterday King Edward hit hard to pound out an 18-3 verdict over the Confederation team. Ferguson pitched fine ball and had the best of support in all departments for the verdict. Teams:

Confederation Goldie, Dreury, Brown, Floyd, Parnell, Jones, Rose, Scharf, Douglas, Chesney, Briggs.

King Edward: Curtis, Rowe, Halcrow, Sutherland, Ferguson, Saunders, Beggs, Keeting, Simmons, Rusaw.

Umpire: J. Weir.

Queen Mary Wins

Queen Mary edged out an 18-17 junior school softball win over Grove yesterday, getting four runs—including a homer by Haig—in the seventh for the verdict. Staves clouted a homer, also, in the fourth, while Griffin got a four-bagger for Grove in the initial inning. It was a free-hitting and rathter loose scrap but close enough most of the way. Teams:

Queen Mary—Mann, Dafoe, Staves, Haig, Brown, Brisbois, Jobbitt, Bagnall, Millage, Welsh.

Grove—Simmons, Wood, Linsey, Griffin, Hotston, Hargreaves, Cary, Copping, Patterson.

Grove: Simmons, Wood, Linsey, Griffin, Hotston, Hargreaves, Cary, Copping, Patterson.

Umpire: E. Dreury.

Newhouser Stops Senators Pitches Tigers To 5-1 Win

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Hal Newhouser and Don Newcombe have sore shoulders, there are a flock of strong-armed, healthy looking hurlers who would like to have some of the same.

Nothing appeared to be wrong with either of the pitching aces Monday as each turned in a fine winning effort.

Newhouser, the veteran Detroit southpaw, stopped the surprisingly potent Washington Senators with eight hits in pitching the Tigers to a 5-1 triumph. Newcombe gave a similar eight-hit exhibition against Cincinnati Reds as Brooklyn Dodgers won by the identical 5-1 score.

Both hurlers were plagued by ailing arms all spring. Each traced his misfortune to an aching shoulder muscle. Newhouser lasted only three innings against St. Louis Browns in his only other appearance of the season.

Newcombe was knocked out of the box in his first three starts before Manager Burt Shotton decided to give his negro righthander a 10-day rest. Don came back to pitch a strong game against St. Louis Cardinals last week, but the jury was still out. The critics wanted to see how he fared in his next outing.

See Plenty

They saw plenty Monday night. Newcombe struck out seven batters.

The Dodgers bunched five of their eight hits off Howie Fox and Harry Perkowski in the first and fourth.

In a way it was an anniversary celebration for Newcombe. It was exactly a year ago Monday that Don gained his first major league victory, a 3-0 shutout in Cincinnati.

The victory increased the Dodgers' first-place lead over Philadelphia in the National League pennant race to a full game. The Phils were one of the six clubs in the circuit to enjoy an off day.

Newhouser had a six-hit shutout going into the ninth.

Lead Attack

Dick Kryhoski and Johnny Lipon led an 11-hit attack on Ray Scarborough and Micky Harris. Kryhoski got the Tiger scoring under way with a three-run homer in the second inning.

Scarborough, the loser, pitched even though he was notified a couple of hours before game time that his father had died at Mt. Gilead, N.C. The righthander left immediately after the game.

Vic Raschi of New York Yankees, pitched a strong game in subduing Cleveland Indians, 7-3. Raschi allowed the Indians only five hits in registering his fourth triumph against two losses.

The Yankees snapped a 1-1 tie in the eighth with two runs off starter Mike Garcia, and added four more in the ninth at the expense of Steve Gromek and Al Benton to register their seventh triumph in as many starts in the west.

Keep Lead

The victory enabled the Yankees to retain their 2½ game lead over Detroit in the American League race.

Vern Stephens rapped two home runs for Boston but it was not enough to stop Chicago White Sox from defeating the Red Sox 10-9, in 10 innings.

Stephens' second homer and his eighth of the season, came in the top of the 10th with a man on and put Boston in front, 9-7. The White Sox, however, came back with three in their half of the 10th. A pinch single by Eddie Malone scored Jim Busby with the winning run.

Queen Alex Victors

Queen Alex hit the ball hard yesterday to take a senior School Softball League triumph 14-8 over King Edward at the south-end park. They counted five runs each in the first two frames, one in the fourth and three in the sixth. The losers were held down by good pitching and fielding to a run in the second and three in the third, but they rallied for four in the sixth. Teams:

King Edward: R Hobart, ss; Ball, 3b; Frizzelle, p; Hunt, 1b; Feeley, 1b; J. Hobart, c; Johnston, 2b; Smythe, cf; Detlor, cf; Chalmers, 1b; Tarkington, rf.

Royals Blank Bisons 5-0; Leafs Trounced

By The Associated Press

Branch Rickey, president of Brooklyn Dodgers, may think Carl Erskine has little on the ball, but he can't question Erskine's determination.

Rickey pulled a surprise last week when he sent Erskine to Brooklyn's Montreal farm club in the International League. The move was frowned upon by Dodger fans since Brooklyn at the time needed all the pitching help it could get and Erskine had won eight games while losing only one for the Dodgers last season.

But the stocky righthander from Anderson, Ind., took the switch in stride. He made his first start for Montreal Monday night and blanked Buffalo Bisons, 5-0, on five hits. In addition, he stopped Montreal's three-game losing streak.

Erskine struck out nine and walked only two. Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont., the former Philadelphia Athetics' ace, suffered the loss, yielding seven hits in less than four innings.

Edges Leafs

Jerry White's pinch-hit homer with two men on in the eighth inning gave Rochester a 10-7 victory over Toronto Maple Leafs. Hal Rice of Rochester and Eddie Sanicki, Bill Glynn and Johnny Mayo of Toronto also found the home-run range.

Baltimore scored three runs in the seventh and eighth innings to turn back Springfield, 9-5, for the third straight time. Eddie Pelligrini and Al Unser homered for Baltimore, while Forrest Burgess had one for Springfield.

A six-run seventh-inning blast gave Syracuse an 8-6 edge on Jersey City. Art Hartley went the distance for Syracuse to receive his fourth victory. Eddie Shokes cracked a home run for Syracuse. Pete Milne hit one for the Little Giants.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Prince Simon, the American-bred colt from the stable of the New York banker William Woodward, remained Monday night a firm favorite at 2 to 1 for Saturday's Epsom Derby, as six horses were withdrawn from the field.

Twenty-eight steeds still are entered for the mile and a half classic following the scratching of Lord Derby's Exodus and Periguez, and Route Napoleon, Eclat, Indian Empire and Indigo Two.

The odds on two contenders, the French L'Amiral and Aga Khan's Khorassan, shortened in the bookmakers' latest callover. L'Amiral went from 7 to 1 to 13 to 2. Khorassan, receiving good support, narrowed from 20 to 1 to 100 to 7.

Can you imagine the Brooklyn Dodgers in short pants?

Will the daffiness boys startle the world by exposing big-league knees to the curious and unsympathetic gaze of bleacherites on the Gowanus?

Could be.

Branch Rickey, far-sighted, dollar-minded one-man brain trust of the Brooklyn organization is keeping a close and observing eye on the experiment at Mobile, Ala., where the Bears have gone Hollywood.

The Dodgers' Southern League farm club has joined Brooklyn's Hollywood Stars in discarding the full-weight uniforms handed down to them by tradition for short pants and knitted "T" shirts.

It started when the Bears obtained outfielder Cliff Aberson from the Hollywood club. Egar Allen, owner of the Mobile franchise, had been curious about the experiment at Hollywood. Aberson was so enthusiastic over the cooler, lighterweight rigs that the Bear owner was tempted to experiment.

Before making a final decision Edgar got Rickey on the phone, explained what he wanted to do.

And with Branch Rickey watching results so closely from his desk in Brooklyn, don't be surprised if the Dodgers themselves follow the lead of their country cousins and break out in briefies.

The National Boxing Association's national committee will vote on whether Jake Lamotta should continue as middleweight champion of the world.

In announcing this at Washington Monday, president Fred J. Saddy of the NBA said two questions will be asked:

1. Should recognition of Lamotta be withdrawn, with the winner of the fight between Ray Robinson and Robert Villemain declared the new champ?

They fight in Philadelphia on June 5, and the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission already has announced it will recognize the winner as the middleweight king.

2. Should Lamotta be allowed to continue as champ, provided he wins his bout with Rocky Graziano in New York?

If the answer to the second question is yes, the NBA said Lamotta would have to fight the Robinson-Villemain winner within 90 days. The result will not be known for a week.

The Professional Golfers' Association of Canada at an executive Montreal meeting Monday decided to return to the old system of holding its annual tournament within "two or three days" of the Canadian open golf championships.

This action was taken as an answer to continued demands from Western Canadian golf organizations which have threatened to pull out of the PGAC if both tournaments are not held at about the same time each year.

The meeting also decided that its meet henceforth will be a 54-hole event in stead of 72 holes.

A PGAC spokesman said western golfers had complained that both annual tournaments were held too far apart and thus required two long trips east to attend.

The Canadian open, sponsored bythe Royal Canadian Gold Association, is scheduled for the Royal Montreal golf course Aug. 24-27 this pear.

Hastings Junior Softball Team Honored at Large Banquet

HASTINGS, May 23 (ENS) — The Hastings junior softball team winners of last year's OASA junior "C" title were tendered a banquet by the citizens of the village.

Places were laid for 55 at the chicken dinner. At the head table were Reeve C. S. Howse, acting as chairman for the evening; guest speakers Dr. F. G. Robertson of Cobourg, Dit Clapper of Peterborough, Bert Bailey of Peterborough; Carl Austin of Wooler TVL Softball League president; Barney McCall of Trenton, Sec. TVL.

The council, clerk and constable were also special guests.

The Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Minister of Health and Welfare sent his regrets at being unable to attend.

Bert Bailey, presented the past president's trophy to Don West, team captain. Toast to the team was proposed by Walter Peck and responded to by Jim Morrow. Mr. H. G. Fairman proposed the toast to the ladies.

Laverne Thomas on behalf of his team-mates presented Stan Wellman, manager coach and sponsor of the team with gifts.

The team was then presented with jackets by the members of the Hastings Recreational Centre.

CASEY TO WINNIPEG

Tom Casey, starry Negro halfback last year with Hamilton Wildcats, has signed to play the 1950 season with Winnipeg Blue Bombers, Ralph Misener, club president, announced at Winnipeg Monday. He played one year of professional football with New York Yankees.

Must Take United Nations Seriously, Rotarians Told

"We didn't take the League of Nations seriously we must take the United Nations seriously." This was he admonition to the Rotary Club Monday of J. Alex Edmison, organizer for the UN in Canada.

"I can remember when we sat in our chairs and thought of the League as a very fine platform for debaters," he said. "The United States gave no support to the League, but today they are strongly supporting the UN."

Mr. Edmison, who says he considers Peterborough his home town although he was not born here, is also executive-secretary of the John Howard Association for the rehabilitation of those who have served sentences in Canadian prisons. In 1946 he was an officer of UNRRA.

"We have heard a lot of talk about Canada's progress in the past half-century," said Mr. Edmison. "But I don't believe people in Canada really appreciate their country's position in the world. Canada has had a very important role in the drafting of recent global strategy."

Worst of all, he said, was the ignorance of young people on the subject of the United Nations. He told of speaking to a group of young people in Toronto, all of whom could name the man who was charged with the dynamiting of an aircraft in Quebec, but none of whom could name even one member of Canada's delegation to the United Nations.

In addition, Canada stands in need of greater national unity. "I know we have national unity in a crisis you can see what we are doing for Winnipeg and Rimouski but there is little of it in week-to-week living."

Mr. Edmison urged greater unity between the English and French-speaking provinces particularly.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Edmison recalled the days when he visited Peterborough for his summer vacation, and "my greatest thrill in life then was coming here and seeing the lines of horse-drawn cabs standing by the Grand Trunk station."

Mrs. Christina Connor presented Mrs. Bonter with a gift on behalf of the Circle. Refreshments were served.

Poisoned Food Kills 6 In London Hospitals

LONDON, May 23—(Reuters)—Poisoned food has killed six persons in two London hospitals within a week, it was disclosed Monday.

Latest outbreak was at Springfield hospital, Tooting, southwest London, where two men died and other patients were affected.

At an inquest today, a government pathologist said an investigation had been ordered.

Last week four persons died and and 60 were affected in a London hospital after eating a meal which included a meat hash.

SCOTLAND WAILS OVER MIRED WHALES—Two Scottish boys at East Lothian, John and James McCallum, look over some of the 147 whales stranded on the beach. Washed in during a strong tide, the sea monsters were left high and dry when it went out. And East Lothian was left with a whale of a problem.

96 Whales Die on Beach Due to Pilot's Blunder

By DON GILBERT.

LONDON, May 23 (CP) — Ninety-six pilot whales blundered ashore on a Scottish beach and died slowly on the sands. Their plight has been popularly chronicled as "the tragedy of the dying whales."

To Orkney Islanders it was a simple but troublesome problem of removing 450 tons of whale. The mammals were beached close to a place called Mount Pleasant, and it was obvious it could not long live up to its name unless the bodies were disposed of.

Scientists explained why whales die when stranded on beaches—they are crushed to death by their own weight.

In this case, apparently, the pilot was guilty of a serious miscalculation in navigation.

The massive bull whale which led the school ashore was the first to die. Naturalists ruled out "mass suicide" as a romantic theory. But the baby whales did show a determination to share the fate of their elders.

Come Back

Children refloated four of the six-foot babies. But after disporting themselves in Stronsay Bay for half an hour, they charged the beach like speedboats, throwing themselves among their dying parents.

The Orkney authorities were elated to receive an offer by a Norwegian firm to remove the whales free of charge. But the plan was vetoed as soon as the Norwegian government heard about it.

Finally the Scottish Burgesses had to pay out £225 ($697) to have Stronsay lobster fishermen tow the whales out to sea.

Many asked why not cut up the whales on the spot for food? Indeed, Orkney islanders did carve themselves a few steaks. But, on a larger scale, the authorities weren't interested.

Leave For Ottawa

HALIFAX, May 23 — (CP) — Two Nova Scotia government representatives left for Ottawa last night to argue before the Supreme Court of Canada an appeal from a Nova Scotia supreme court decision concerning the delegation of legislative jurisdiction between the provincial and federal governments. The bill was introduced in the legislature in 1947. It would give the Nova Scotia government power to transfer certain powers to Ottawa or accept certain powers now held by the federal government.

Fewer Divorces For Men With Ulcers

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK, May 23—(CP)—There is personality in stomach ulcers. Persons with ulcers have the highest marriage rates, and the lowest divorce rates.

Among executives, the man with an ulcer is likely to be on several boards of directors. Most ulcer victims have an unsatiable craving to be superior persons.

Nearly one man in 10 has an ulcer. Women have fewer. In women a happy marriage is apt to put an end to ulcer troubles.

These findings are from "Personality in Peptic Ulcers," a new book by Doctors A. J. Sullivan and T. E. McKell, of the Ochsner Clinic, New Orleans, and Tulane University.

Eptic includes all the ulcers, whether in the stomach or in the organs immediately below, like the duodenum. All these ulcers have the same causes and same effects.

"The ulcer patient," these doctors write, "is the tense, anxious, driving, active, mildly-agitated individual frequently seen as the go-getter, the promoter, the organizer, the manager, the executive, the business man who cannot seem to let up, who will not admit defeat, who cannot relax to drift with the tide but must fight upstream against the current which would deposit him in the eddies and backwaters of life."

Revolving Door Brings A Turn For Worse

TORONTO, May 23 (CP)—Hyman Weiman was going through a revolving door early Monday when things took a turn for the worse.

The 45-year-old man was back in Toronto from Florida for his son's wedding when police arrested him on a year-old charge of stealing $2,530. Weiman was going through a revolving door of a downtown hotel when police caught up with him.

Police said he is accused of taking the money from Abe Freeman, Toronto furrier, for an automobile which was never delivered.

Nurses At Annual Vesper Service Hear Challenge To Profession

The annual vesper service in memory of Florence Nightingale was observed at St. Paul's Church Sunday evening by the Protestant members of the Registered Nurses Association, Chapter C, in co-relation with a baccalaureate service for 1950 graduates of the Civic Hospital.

A challenge to the profession was contained in the splendid sermon prepared and delivered by the Rev. C. G. Boyd.

The minister reviewed changes of the past half century and concluded the most beneficent of all discoveries were in the world of medicine. "Nurses, with the medical profession, will agree with the church that ambulance service is not enough in a modern world of de-personalized isolated people who have lost their temporal as well as eternal significance," he said. Acknowledgment of God in Christ and human guilt was indicated as the prescription for suffering mankind.

Interested nurses listened closely as Mr. Boyd cited the belief of Dr. Howard A. Kelly of Baltimore, rated one of the three outstanding gynecologists in the world today: "I believe that all men without exception are by nature sinners, alienated from God, and when thus utterly lost in sin, the son of God himself came down to earth and by shedding his blood on the cross paid the infinite penalty of guilt of the whole world. I believe that he who thus receives Christ as his Saviour is born spiritually as definitely as in his first birth. I believe that no man can save himself by good works or by what is commonly known as a moral life."

In True Tradition

Mr. Boyd said "To share Christ's redeeming action is in the true tradition of Florence Nightingale whose 130th anniversary is being celebrated today." He continued "To you from failing hands nurses of the past hand the Nightingale lamp" and, in closing said to the nurses of today "Into your hands I give the Divine Light. Be yours to hold it high."

At close of the church service, a Bach bi-centenary organ recital by Mr. Christopher Gledhill, organist, was enjoyed.

Afterward, a reception was held in the Guild Room where Mrs. C. G. Boyd received, assisted by Mrs. John Hornal and Miss Cornelia Wilson.

Congratulations to the graduating class were extended by Mr. Boyd who assured them of prayers and interest in their work. Mr. Jas. Dutton spoke a few words of welcome to the nurses.

Refreshments were served by members of the Ladies' Aid with Mrs. Dutton and Mrs. Boyd pouring coffee.

Miss M. Langmaid thanked the ladies on behalf of RNAO members and Miss M. Dauncey expressed appreciation of the graduating class.

Truman Raps Russian Flouting

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Criticizing Russia for what he called a "wilful flouting" of the United States Charter, President Truman said Monday that a strengthened UN—backed by a more powerful west—will speed the day when the Soviet Union will make and keep agreements.

While the President did not discuss the issues raised by Russian demands that Red China be admitted to the world organization, it was learned that the western powers have decided against throwing open the door at this time.

Responsible officials who could not be named said such a decision was reached at London by the Big Three foreign ministers.

The decision can be expected to result in the indefinite continuation of the Soviet bloc's boycott of sessions of UN agencies at which Nationalist China is represented.

It was this boycott which Truman termed a "wilful flouting by the Soviet government of obligations assumed by it under the (UN) charter."

He told Congress that in the face of this boycott the UN is sensibly proceeding with business as usual.

May 24 Holiday Victoria Day Instituted 1838

In 1838, a year after Alexandrina Victoria ascended the British throne, an Empire holiday was established, commemorating her birthday, May 24.

On her death Jan. 22, 1901 the rest of the Empire decided to mark Edward VII's birthday, but Canada passed a bill designating May 24 as an annual holiday in memory of Queen Victoria.

Continuing the tradition with firecrackers and festivity, Canadians tomorrow celebrate the 131st birthday of Victoria, By the Grace of God, of The United Kingdomof Great Britain and Ireland, Queen, Defender of the Faith, Empress of India.

A parallel with Victoria Day is held elsewhere in the Commonwealth as Empire Day, no longer a general holiday. Founded by an Ancaster, Ont., woman, Mrs. Clementina Fessenden, Empire Day was first celebrated in 1899 with the Queen's approval. It was adopted in the United Kingdom in 1902.

While the rest of the British world holds Empire Day tomorrow, in Canada it is observed on the last school day preceding Victoria Day, this year being May 23.

"All This For Woman"

At Queen Victoria's coronation in 1838 the Turkish ambassador is said to have muttered: "All this for a woman." Hed he been able to foresee this lasting tribute to herself and the perpetuation of her reign in the hearts of a nation whose birth and early growth took place during her reign, he would be even more astounded.

Victoria's reign—the longest in British history—saw wide development and colonization of the Empire and great extension of her power on land and sea. She became Empress of India. From a group of scattered colonies, sparsely settled and restless, there grew the Dominion of Canada. At her death, the last scattered shots of the Boer War echoed the birth-pangs of the Dominion of South Africa.

Daughter of Edward, Duke of Kent, son of George III of Great Britain, Victoria's prospects at birth of becoming Queen were not great. Her uncle, afterwards George IV, was Regent.

He died and was succeeded by his brother, William IV. When William died, his 18-year-old niece, Victoria, was the sole surviving child of four sons of George III.

Awed Bismarck

Victoria's reign lasted 63 years. Not only did she consolidate her throne to head the greatest empire the world had ever known, but she captivated her subjects and won the awe of such boundary-makers as Bismarck and her own politicians such as Gladstone and Disraeli.

Shortly before he died, William IV said of his niece:

". . . a good woman and a good queen. It will touch every sailor's heart to have a girl queen to fight for. They'll be tattooing her face on their arms, and I'll be bound they'll think she was christened for Nelson's ship."

How true his words were has been established by history. Tomorrow Canadians will celebrate at least one holiday whose implications are well realized, one symbolic of the golden age of British imperialism, during which British North America became the first of the Dominions.

Norwood Cadets' Fieldcraft Commended At Inspection

NORWOOD, May 23 — (ENS) —Norwood High school cadets were on parade under command of Lieutenant Sidney Breckon for their annual inspection on Friday. Captain E. Thirgood was inspection officer, and Major H. K. Long took the salute.

The cadets, led by the Camp bellford High school band, headed by drum majorette Valerie DeCarrol, marched from centre of the town to the fair grounds for inspection.

Owing to the weather the corps was unable to present the usual physical exercises. The cadets were congratulated by Major Long and Captain Thirgood for theier steadiness and smartness and especially for their field craft, which was judged the best presented by any of the high schools inspected this year.

Best cadet awards went to Doris Moore, Joyce Chrysler and Jack Youngs. Drum Marjorette Valerie DeCarrol also receieved a prize.

Officers in charge were: Company commander Cadet Major Long, Captain Thirgood, Cadet Captain Arthur LaBrash, No. 1 platoon commander, Cadet Donald Wilson, No. 1 platoon sergeant, Cadet Robert Wilson, No. 2 platoon commander, Cadet Laura Horne, No. 2 platoon sergeant, Cadet Francis Hogg, No. 3 platoon commander, Cadet Shirley Clysdale, No. 3 platoon sergeant, Cadet Lois Stackhouse, company sergeant, Major Thoms Starke.

Lunch was served to the band after inspection. In the afternoon the film, David Copperfield, was shown at the town hall.

Has Heard Complaints On 25% Tariff Rate

OTTAWA, May 23.—(CP). — Senator Thomas Vien (L-Quebec) told the Senate Monday night there had been "complaints" about June 1 enforcement of the new 25 per cent tariff rate on British textiles coming into Canada and indicated he would say more about it later.

Senator Vien, speaking during second reading of amendments to the Custom Tariff Act, did not say who made the "complaints," but it was presumed he was referring to Canadian importers.

The bill, which will boost the tariff on British textiles from 10 to 25 per cent, was given second reading.

Proposes Merger Of Canada-U.S.

NEW YORK, May 23 (AP)—A plan for the merger of Canada and the United States into one country is proposed by George E. Shea, Jr., financial editor of the Wall Street Journal, in a magazine article.

In a story entitled "Why The U.S. and Canada Should Be One Country," Shea says "arbitrary division" of the continent is endangering the prosperity and security of both countries.

The article says merger of the two countries would open up new opportunities for private capital and create new markets. The present division of the continent is "serving to hold back the development of Canada's wealth," and as the natural resources of the United States is being exhausted it is "restricting U.S. welfare."

Another reason for union, Shea says, is the necessity to ensure defence of the continent "in an age of new, inter-continental weapons."

Urge Changing Name Of Church Of England

TORONTO, May 23 (CP)—A recommendation that the name of the Church of England in Canada be changed to the Anglican Church of Canada will be made to the Toronto Anglican Synod next week.

The recommendation is contained in a report of a special sub-committee of the diocese.

Proposal for changing the name was made at a meeting of the general synod last September. It was decided to ascertain opinion in every diocese before taking action.

Listing the reasons for recommending a change the committee said the present name is not sufficiently distinctive for a Canadian church. To many new Canadians it is a church for the English and not for Canadians.

Rip Out Seats For Delegation

OTTAWA, May 23 (CP)—Carpenters ripped a row of seats from the public gallery of the House of Commons to allow attendance at Monday's session by a delegation from the Canadian Association of Incurables—most of them in wheelchairs.

The delegation, numbering more than 20 including attenddants, had suggested crippled members might be carried to seats prior to the opening. But the rules of the House preclude anyone entering before the 3 p.m. opening and Speaker Ross Macdonald sanctioned removal of a row of seats so members could be wheeled into the gallery.

The delegation is in Ottawa to press for pensions for Canada's incurables.

In the House Monday E. G. Hansell (SC-MacLeod) told the chamber of a petition, signed by 20,000 incurables, urging government consideration of pensions. But he said since it was not phrased within the rules of the House, he would have the delegation present it directly to the government later.

Bethany People See Stage Show

BETHANY, May 23 (ENS). — Under the auspices of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild of Bethany, Rigby Players of Port Hope presented "A Gay Nineties Night" in the Town Hall on Friday. R. B. Brant was responsible for the scenery and Mrs. B. R. Bryant and Mrs. R. G. Maier the costumes. Mrs. R. G. Maier directed the program and Mrs. Alex Murray was pianist.

The cast for the old-fashioned melodrama in one act, "Fireman, Save My Child," were Mrs. B. R. Bryant as an old-fashioned mother, Dennis Morris the hero, Bill Thompson the villain, Mrs. Bud Guy, maid. Mrs. E. M. Wynn the village gossip, John Barns as Bing Barnes the funy feller, Mrs. E. R. Burgess as Mary Lawson, the bookkeeper, and Miss Audrey Vivian as Daisy.

Lewis Roberts, John Davidson, Bertram Bryant and John Black comprised the Barbershop Quartette, and were heard in four numbers.

Mrs. R. G. Maier was charming in a ballet dance, and Miss Barbara Tickell recited. Misses Patricia Smith and Dianel Brown presented a song and dance act, and Mrs. B. R. Bryant gave two comic renditions of "Sweet Violets" and "Up in a Balloon."

A mixed quartette, Mrs. E. M. Wynn, Mrs. B. W. Tyson, Mrs. R. G. Maier, and Rev. C. H. Boulden sang "By the Light of the Silvery Moon."

The cast of characters in the second melodrama ,"The Villainous Shah of Shush," were John Black, Miss Constance Scott, Miss Barbara Tickell, John Burns, Ed. Phillips, and Mrs. R. G. Fredericks as Mannahanna.

The stage managers were Ted Harwood, Glen James, Melville Gros, Art Alexander. In charge of the make-up were Mrs. Victor Spencer, Mrs. W. C. Carson, Mrs. A. B. Hodgetts, Mrs. Peter Lewis.

Also assisting were Miss Jean Robertson, Miss Phyilis Smith, Mrs. Harry Mitchell, and Miss Joan Waghorn.

Obituary

MISS IDA SWITZER

EAST EMILY, May 22—In the death of Miss Ida Switzer the township of Emily lost one of its noble daughters. Miss Switzer was in her 77th year and had spent her entire life on the farm where she was born. She was a woman of stirling worth and deep piety, interested in her church and community, always endeavoring to make things better in every way. For years she was a member of the choir, a Sunday School teacher and a member of the Women's Association.

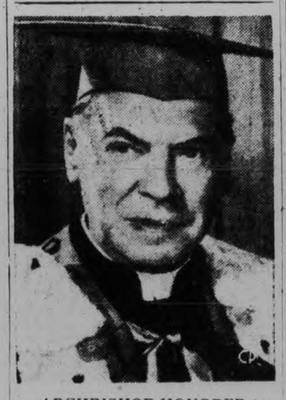
At the funeral service conducted by the Rev. V. E. R. Zufelt of Omemee, her old favorite hymns were sung and the remains were laid to rest in the family cemetery.

Offered Position

VICTORIA, B.C., May 23.—(CP).—Ceeil Clifford Wyatt, 52, city clerk-treasurer-comptroller of Kingston, Ont., has been offered the post of municipal manager of Victoria at $10,000 a year. This announcement was made by Ald. Harold M. Diggon, chairman of the special screening committee, who expects a reply from Mr. Wyatt by the end of the week.

Oppose Marriages

CINCINNATI, May 23 (AP)—The Presbyterian Church in the United States Monday voted to join the Protestant Episcopal Church in opposing marriages between its members and Roman Catholics under conditions required by the Roman Catholic Church. Objections referred to particularly are those which involve a promise that children of such marriages must be brought up in the Roman Catholic faith.



ARCHBISHOP HONORED — Most Rev. Alexander Vachon, archbishop of Ottawa, has been named president of the permanent committee for International Eucharistic Congresses. He is the first archbishop in Canada or the United States to receive the appointment, made by Pope Pius. Msgr. Vachon will have the task of organizing the first post-war International Eucharistic Congress, likely to be held next year. He was responsible for organizing the 1947 Marian Congress in Ottawa.

City Choristers Visit Havelock

HAVELOCK, May 23 (ENS)—The Brotherhood Choir of St. James United Church, Peterborough, visited Havelock United Church on Sunday evening. A fifteen minute song service was conducted by J. Worrall before the regular service. Ashton Fife was at the organ.

The service was conducted by the president, Harry E. Naish. The invocation prayer was offered by T. Littlefair, prayer and the Lord's prayer by A. Prest with R. Heard reading the scripture lesson. The announcements and offertory prayer were by Morley Hodder of Newfoundland, a student from the Theological College of the United Church in Montreal, who is beginning his service on the Belmont Lake mission field for the summer months.

An anthem was sung by the choir and two selections on the musical saw by P. Hiscox with pipe organ accompaniment by Mr. Fife. Members of the Dorcas Rebekah Lodge No. 98 and Royal Lodge IOOF No. 286, were also present at the service, marching from their lodge rooms led by the Havelock Pipe Band under the leadership of Pipe Major Harry Anderson. The IOOF lodge was augmented with members of the Cantons from Peterborough and Trenton. The sermon was given by the Rev. F. R. Vandenburgh.

Following the service the Saint James Brotherhood, their friends and members of the Havelock congregation met in the Sunday school room for further singing and fellowship.

Ask Newspaper Support

MONTREAL, May 23 (CP) — The most powerful support available for drives against air pollution is through community newspapers, Robert H. Clifford of The Cleveland Press Monday told more than 250 delegates to the Smoke Prevention Association of America at its 43rd annual convention. The delegates, mostly from the United States, heard Mr. Clifford tell of the importance of smoke control since "it affects every man, woman and child."

40 Canadian Students Attend French Seminar

MONTREAL, May 23—(CP).—Four McGill University students will be among 40 Canadian delegates attending a five-week seminar of the International Student Service at Poigny, France, this summer, it was announced Monday.

Some 120 students from west European countries will meet then to study the crisis of western civilization.

The 40 Canadian students leave for France from Quebec City June 23 and are scheduled to return here in mid-September.

HOW TO GET QUICK RELIEF FROM SORE, PAINFUL PILES

A Candid and Honest Discussion on a Delicate Subject

FOREWORD: This is a frank attempt to give you in non-technical language certain information regarding a widespread and personally annoying physical condition. A condition which not only afflicts countless thousands, but makes these thousands suffer untold discomfort, pain and embarrassment. Far too often this condition—at first superficial in itself—can be Nature's warning of more serious trouble to come. We believe every man or woman who suffers from this condition owes it to their own personal comfort to read the statement below.

Leonhardt Proprietaries, Ltd.

* * * * *

Since the dawn of civilization, medical men have carried on a ceaseless war. Not only to save human lives, but to relieve,—or, better still, prevent some of the physical afflictions of humanity and the incalculable human misery they cause.

Thus, when a famous physician or a noted scientist makes an important therapeutic discovery or perfects a new surgical technique, the news rings round the world. Yet, even while these front-page discoveries are taking place, some of the most widespread human maladies—"hay fever"—"the common cold"—"athlete's foot"—certain digestive disorders—are undergoing constant scientific study and laboratory scrutiny by men the public never hears of . . . simply because these "everyday" maladies do not seem serious.

Among these seemingly commonplace afflictions are "piles". Those who suffer from this amazingly widespread trouble are burdened with a double hardship.

They yearn for relief, but hesitate to seek it —merely because of "false pride", the sheer embarrassment of seeking advice or treatment often makes it preferable to suffer in silence. There is no "drama" about piles. No glamour—no glory—no front-page fame for the man who finds a way to help pile sufferers. The subject itself is mostly taboo . . . it is seldom, if ever openly discussed. But no man or woman who has known, or now knows, the agonizing, embarrassing torment of itching, burning piles—the loss in business efficiency, in social pleasure, in good looks and vitality and sheer enjoyment of life—will deny that a safe and efficient method for relieving this condition, could well be a far-reaching contribution to human health and comfort.

* * * * *

WHAT ARE PILES?

Piles, as such, are not a primary ailment but result from some condition preceding or associated with them. The contributing conditions that cause piles never originate in the parts affected.

In their early stages, piles are inflamed, distended rectal veins—actually, "varicose veins" in the delicate membranes of the rectum. One of their primary causes—surprisingly often, in fact—is hepatic congestion or torpidity of the liver which results in common, everyday constipation. In ordinary layman's language, here is what happens:

1. When the liver is unduly congested and its normal function is slowed by sluggishness the flow of blood to the liver from the lower bowel is retarded and dozens of small rectal veins become swollen and distended with blood.
2. This sluggish, congested liver action usually causes constipation.
3. With the start of constipation, hard clogging masses form in the lower bowel and colon.
4. These hard masses press upon and irritate or bruise the sensitive, distended rectal veins.
5. Blood thickens and stagnates in the bruised area. The tiny veins become greatly inflamed, over-sensitive, lumpy and thus excrutiatingly painful.
6. The pain from these blood swollen veins, plus aggravation of the constipation itself, is "self perpetuating". The condition increases the itching, burning pain and soreness, which in turn further increases the constipation—which in turn tends to further enlarge and irritate the swollen veins which then become pile tumors. It is a vicious circle.

This is why, from the very onset, piles are sheer torment—as their victims know all too well.

* * * * *

But the agony and embarrassment of piles are only the beginning—really Nature's first call for help.

If help does not come in time, if the vicious circle is not broken, there eventually may be only one answer—chronic piles or the surgeon's knife. A big price to pay for lack of knowledge!

* * * * *

Yet, today in many cases, radical action may not be the only answer. More than half a century ago an able and qualified professional man began an intensive study on the whole subject of piles—their cause and effect. He found a means by which this vicious circle may be broken. This man compounded and tried, in his own practice, many different combinations of ingredients. He finally devised a formula of medically proven elements which showed amazing results in 86 out of 100 consecutive cases that came to his personal and professional attention. Proving that piles come from congested conditions inside the body—never from an outside cause—his final formula was an internal remedy, small tablets taken by mouth.

* * * * *

Now, we have been asked by many well informed persons "how in the world can small tablets taken with a glass of water three times a day help my piles?" But just stop and think as we repeat—"piles come from congested conditions inside the body—never from an outside cause. Therefore it is sensible to attack piles from the inside where the trouble starts. To combat piles you need internal medication that actually relieves hepatic congestion, stimulates the liver and bile, gently and effectively eases constipation and works to improve the circulation of blood in the lower bowel. And as proper treatment improves blood circulation in the lower bowel the healing forces of Nature take hold and promote a healthier condition in the sore, painful areas where piles are found. That is why you need internal medication if you want to relieve the unnatural congestion that is the real cause of piles. It is on that sound reasoning this man originated an internal treatment for piles.

* * * * *

He gave his formula the trade name of Hem-Roid and began to use it, not only in his own practice, but also to furnish Hem-Roid to his friends and acquaintances. Several years later, in 1904 to be exact, he sold the formula and name. Hem-Roid was then offered to the general public.

* * * * *

The remarkable results through the use of Hem-Roid are a matter of record extending over the last 50 years. Millions of packages have been sold in various countries throughout the world. Hundreds of users have testified to its quick and efficient action.

* * * * *

SPECIAL NOTE: The makers of Hem-Roid sincerely believe that pile sufferers everywhere will welcome this information. Of course some persons, in very old, long standing, neglected cases should consult a physician. But for the average pile conditions, we know nothing better than Hem-Roid to give you the action and results you desire.

* * * * *

ACCEPT THIS SPECIAL OFFER NOW

We want Hem-Roid to prove itself to you in your own case, so we make this generous offer. Secure from any drug store a package of Hem-Roid, 60 tablets, 20 full days treatment, at the amazingly low cost of $1.50. Use the tablets exactly as directed for 10 days. If, at the end of that time you are not delighted with the results you get, return the unused portion of the package to the druggist and your full purchase price will be refunded without question—you are the sole judge. So you risk nothing—not even the small cost of Hem-Roid, (a few pennies a day,) if you are not completely satisfied. And you do stand to gain quick and immeasurable relief from the pain, discomfort and embarrassment you have endured. So why suffer? Why risk costly and perhaps more radical methods when inexpensive Hem-Roid may give you quickly, easily and pleasantly just the help and benefit you seek?

* * * * *

It would show a serious lack of interest in your own personal comfort for you to continue to suffer the pain, itching and soreness of piles when so good a remedy as Hem-Roid may be had at such a small cost. And it is rare indeed that more than 10 days' use are needed to prove its merit. Try it and see for yourself.

Clean-up Time For Cottagers; Beware Of Fires

On the eve of the great exodus to the outdoors on Victoria Day, hundreds of fortunate Peterborough people will drive to their summer homes for the "grand opening". The word "holiday" is a misnomer. It is nothing but hard work for father and mother.

Cleaning operations both inside and out is the ritual. Such practice has become so common year after year that plans are laid weeks in advance. And if the raking and burning of rubbish is well up on the list, timely warning from Department of Lands and Forests men is, that at the present time fire hazard is at an extreme high.

Only last weekend, three forest fires occurred in the Trent district and have now been brought under control. The largest in Cardiff township, Haliburton, swept over 50 acres, another in Chandos township reached 15 acres and a third is in Hindon township.

To illustrate forest fire proportions. In Northern Ontario, 75 fires occurred over the weekend, a third of these in Temiskaming. The largest one is raging near Sudbury over 4,000 acres. Of the total, 15 fires have yet to be brought under full control, seven are being held, 13 are under control, 28 are being patrolled and 12 are under investigation. All bush travel is banned in Temiskaming.

Cottagers' grounds are tinder dry with the forest floor deep in dead leaves. The usual green carpet of spring growth and budding brush is very light due to backward spring growth. Conditions are just right to cause a fire that would spread through cottage colonies on the draft of its own creation in the matter of very few minutes.

Ask Early Trial For Wm. Yuzwa

William Yuzwa, charged with the murder of Jack Loucks in a stabbing brawl in Lindsay last November, may get an early retrial.

He was tried at the Spring Assizes in Lindsay but the jury was unable to reach a verdict. A new trial was ordered by Mr. Justice G. A. Urquhart and it was slated for the Fall Assizes.

In the meantime Yuzwa is in Victoria County jail.

It's pretty hard for a man to be languishing in jail while waiting all that time for trial," commented B. J. Spencer Pitt, defence lawyer, who confirmed the report he has written Chief Justice McRuer asking for an early trial.

He is now awaiting a reply from the Chief Justice.

Originally four men—Yuzwa and the three Zahodnik brothers—were charged with Loucks' murder but the brothers were freed at the preliminary trial in November.

Empire Day In City Schools Special Lessons, Programs

Celebrations of Empire Day in public schools of the city and district were based on a program developed by the Department of Education in Toronto. Public school inspector P. D. Windrim said today the program was not followed in all details, but formed a suggestive basis for the celebrations.

At Queen Mary School, students staged a 15-minute skit which was broadcast over an inter-communication system in the school.

The department's plan was split into three sections—for primary, intermediate, and senior groups.

Empire Theme

For the primary group, the celebration consisted of question and answer periods concerning the flag, the royal family, and the empire.

The intermediate group's program consisted of studies before Empire Day, and a more detailed discussion of the meaning of the day. It was aimed to develop the concept that the empire is a family of nations.

Theme of the senior section's celebration was establishment of the commonwealth of nations by the pioneers. The senior part of the program was planned to bring out more detail of history and more discussion of present times.

Mr. Windrim said that the department's program was "followed to some extent, although teachers were free to incorporate any work they might have covered, and that was not included in the program."

Students Present Oxygen Tent

A cheque for $130 for the purchase of an oxygen tent for the new Civic Hospital was presented Monday to Mrs. E. C. Braund, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and to John Hornal, superintendent of the hospital, by the students of PCVS. Sam Murphy, president of the Students' Council, made the presentation at the senior assembly.

This year through the efforts of the classes and of the individual students the Council Fund is more than $850. The classes have submitted sums to the fund varying from $20 to $70. The money is raised through volleyball games with the teachers, candy sales, movies, and other class efforts.

The fund was raised to provide money for organizations in the school requiring financial aid as well as helping outside charity organizations. The council has given this year $100 to the choral club to go to Toronto; $50 for music for the male quartet; $46.50 to the BAA and a loan to the BAA of $100 for next year's football equipment. Outside organizations which have received grants are: $25 to Save the Children Fund; $25 to the United Emergency Relief Fund for Britain and $50 to the March of Dimes.

Mr. Murphy said Monday receipts from the last dance of the year, the Cotton Hop, held last Friday will be given the Manitoba Flood Fund. The council is also trying to buy uniforms for the concert band.

MAIN ST. TOPICS

HOLD ELECTIONS

Officers of the Y's Men's Club for 1950-51 will be elected at the weekly meeting Thursday night at the YMCA. The 1949-50 executive will be in office until September.

SUMMER SCHOOL AT DORSET

Teachers for the Ontario Education Department's new course in conservation will attend a summer school at the Ontario Forest Ranger School at Dorset, the department announced Monday.

PLAN CONCERT

The Peterborough Citizens' Band, assisted by the local chapter of barber shop quartets, will hold a concert Sunday night in the Summer Gardens. The receipts from the concert, the first by the band this year, will be given to the Manitoba Relief Fund.

MOTORCYCLES AGAIN

For the first time in 10 years motorcycles were today out in full force on Ontario highways. Thirty-two machines were put into service by Provincial Police to help speed traffic at strategic points on the highways. Patrols will operate on Highway 2 from Cobourg and Bowmanville. There are no indications of a similar move being made in the Peterborough district.

Bay Of Quinte Conference In Peterborough

Marking the silver anniversary of church union, the Bay of Quinte Conference of the United Church of Canada will meet at George St. United Church from May 30 to June 2.

A jubilee service will be held May 30 at 8 p.m. at which speakers representing the various churches that came into union will speak.

Twenty-five years ago, the Methodist, Congregational and part of the Presbyterian churches joined to form the United Church of Canada.

At 3 p.m. May 30, communion service in charge of the conference president, the Rev. J. E. Anderson, of Brighton, will be held. Speakers at the jubilee service will be the Rev. H. A. Kent, the Rev. J. H. Arnup, and the Very Rev. T. W. Jones. Part of this service may be broadcast.

One of the features of the conference will be the speeches of the Rev. Gerald R. Cragg, of Erskine and American United Church, Montreal. He will speak at 11:45 a.m. each day from May 31 to June 2.

During the conference, reports will be presented on finance, overseas missions, pensions, publications and home missions. On June 2, addresses will be delivered by ministers who have reached 50 years of service since ordination.

FULL LOAD ALLOWED

All half load restriction have been lifted, Peterborough headquarters of the Provincial Police announced today.

Miss Ann Bain, Deaconess Appointed To Winnipeg

First designation of a deaconess in Peterborough in some years will take place tonight at St. Paul's Church, when Miss Ann Bain, 114 Dublin St., will be designated by the Peterborough presbytery.

Miss Bain graduated last month as a deaconess following a three-year course at the Presbyterian Missionary and Deaconess Training School in Toronto.

Miss Bain will leave for Winnipeg in two or three weeks. She has an appointment at St. James' Church in Winnipeg, and intended to leave for the west at the end of this month. However, flood conditions prevent her leaving until the middle of June.

Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's Church, who is moderator of the Peterborough presbytery will conduct the service and designation.

The sermon will be preached by Rev. F. R. Meredith of Bowmanville, and Rev. J. M. Ritchie of Warkworth will address the deaconess-designate.

The service, which corresponds to the ordination of a minister is believed by Rev. Boyd to be the second in Peterborough. First deaconess designated here was a Miss Maude Ackison.

A reception, arranged by St. Paul's Women's Missionary Society, will be held following the designation. Several presentations will be made to Miss Bain.

Walter Mortlock Given Contract To Build Schools

The $122,874.95 tender of the Walter H. Mortlock Construction Co. for construction of the Prince of Wales school annex was accepted Monday night by the Board of Education.

It was the lowest of the 10 tenders submitted. They ranged from a bid of $122,296 by Mortlock (all contractors were invited to offer two bids, one on a more expensive type of windows) to $158,954.90. The Eastwood Construction Co. was next in line with $126,450.

The tender must still be approved by the Department of Education and then work on the one storey, six-room annex can begin.

City council is to be informed that $140,000 will be required by the end of June for the financing of the building. Actually, council was advised last fall that the $140,000 would be needed and there have been two readings of a bylaw for the issuance of this amount in debentures.

The Municipal Board has given temporary approval for $140,000, less the cost of the site. So it is considered unlikely there will be any hitches—either in the way of Department of Education or Municipal Board objections—to the signing of the contract with Mortlock Construction.

Apart from the $122,874.95 estimated for construction costs there will be the architect's fee of six per cent (or slightly more than $7,000), and $10,000 for the site. Furnishings will be extra.

A Most Modern School

According to the architect J. B. Parkin of Toronto, the annex will be the "last word" in modernity.

Altogether 235 pupils will be accommodated in it. There will be five standard classrooms equipped for 35 children each and a large double kindergarten.

There will be a small principal's office, doctors' and nurses' examination rooms and a teachers' room. An enlarged lobby will allow the children to shelter during inclement weather.

This latter feature was regarded as a "must" because there is no basement in the plans for the building. Heating will be by oil and hot water.

Each of the five standard classrooms will have a 'project space, concealed cloakroom, wash basin in the project space, and two toilets.

Lighting A Big Feature

Perhaps the outstanding feature of the new building will be the lighting. Fluorescent lights are provided as well as concealed chalkboard lighting for the green "blackboards."

The upper part of the walls along the outside of each classroom will be of directional glass block. These prismatic blocks bend the light rays upward toward the ceiling. The rays then reflect down on the classroom from above and the problem of glare is thus substantially diminished.

Ordinary glass bloc just diffuses the rays in every direction from the point of entry, Mr. Parkin explained.

The Prince of Wales annex will be the first public school in Peterborough to have this natural lighting feature.

"There is no better way of lighting a classroom," said Mr. Parkin. "It is in line with the latest methods in this country and the United States."

He added that glare could be cut down even more by pulling drapes over the "double, double-heavy plate glass windows" (outer and inner windows which can safely seal out the cold).

Sold Pelts, Fined

On a written plea of guilty, Robert Brown, Burleigh Falls, was fined $50 and costs in police court today on a charge of selling muskrat pelts without a licence.

Careless Driver Assessed $100 License Cut Off

A fine of $75 and $27.20 costs was imposed on Roy Dafoe, convicted in police court today on a charge of careless driving April 15. A charge of drunk driving was dismissed.

Commenting on the testimony given by Dafoe's friends called as witnesses, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, said "Dafoe appears to be a decent young man. I hope he will not continue to associate with the parade of witnesses we have seen here in court this morning."

Defence Counsel W. J. Arthur Fair KC leaped to his feet and exclaimed, "That's a very unfair thing to say. These boys are roughly dressed and come from Havelock."

He said he didn't think the crown attorney had any business commenting on the witnesses. "That's a terrible thing for a man to say."

Witnesses Testify

One of the witnesses, and a friend of Dafoe's, Randall Cole, Blairton, was the driver of the car which Dafoe hit in the accident on which the charge was based.

Chief Constable of Havelock, Bay Bell, testified Dafoe had called him on the phone about 1:30 a.m. April 15 to report an accident.

Chief Bell found Dafoe's car in the north ditch of Highway 7 just inside Havelock. Another car driven by Cole was pulled into the driveway of a service station.

He said Dafoe came up him and said "There she is, in the ditch, and there's the marks on the road."

Teetered On Feet

The skid marks indicated Dafoe's car had skidded partly to one side about 51 feet. Chief Bell said Dafoe smelled strongly of liquor and teetered on his feet. Dafoe had a cut high on his forehead and a scratch above the bridge of the nose.

Chief Bell took Dafoe to a doctor and had him attended to.

Mr. Fair suggested to Chief Bell that Dafoe was unsteady on his feet because of the blow on his head which broke the windshield of the car. The chief said he couldn't say, but didn't think so.

Dr. Donald J. Holdcroft, Havelock, said Dafoe was in a dazed condition when he was brought to him. He said he was alert although he smelled of alcohol. He said a slight concussion was possible.

"He didn't act like an intoxicated person in my office at all," Dr. Holdcroft said.

No Explanation

Cole said both cars were driving out of town, his in front. He said he had no explanation for the accident and denied he had either slowed up or made any move to turn.

He said Dafoe was knocked unconscious by the crash and had to be dragged from the car. He came to about 10 minutes later.

A passenger in Cole's car, Donald Johnston, said Cole had started to slow his car and Dafoe's car seemed to hit "all of a sudden." He said Dafoe had had a drink at the dance they all attended, but he considered him fit to drive.

Another passenger in the Cole car, Doug. Adams, said he came into the dance late, but he "didn't even notice he (Dafoe) had been drinking. He was acting perfectly normal to me."

Melville Woods, said "he was normal as far as I knew."

Chief Bell testified damage to the right front portion of Dafoe's car and the left rear portion of Cole's car indicated Dafoe had been trying to pass Cole on the curve.

Magistrate W. R. Philp KC said he would give Dafoe the benefit of the doubt on the drunk driving charge and found him guilty of the careless driving charge. He suspended Dafoe's licence four months.

$800,000 In New Building Forecast At City Hall; Permits Issued Contractors

Recent building permits amounting to nearly $800,000, issued from the office of City Engineer A. E. Chalmers, are chiefly municipal investments in the future of the city.

Eastwood Construction Company has taken out a permit for $643,062 for Peterborough's new city hall, and Walter Mortlock has registered the Board of Education's plans for a six-room junior school, an annex to Prince of Wales School on Monaghan Road.

City and District Loyal Orange Lodge are building a $5,000 dining hall addition to their headquarters on Brock St. Most of the other permits this month have been for dwellings.

Build Two Units

Missing from the building prospects this year is any major enlargement of the city's industrial establishments. Canadian Timber Structures Limited are planning to build two units on their property on High St., north of the C.P.R., similar to the original in which they are already in production. They are reported negotiating with the city council and industrial commission for the property adjoining their present site for which they have had a verbal option.

Cobourg Lumber Company has staked out street lines on the High St. land they recently bought from Cecil F. Hayes, indicating intention of early action on their housing project.

Departmental information encourages the expectation that the federal government will proceed this year with the erection on Charlotte St. of the long deferred postal-customs building.

Peterborough-Brinton Carpet Co. are building an addition to their plant.

On the whole, new construction here this year is continuing in much the same average volume that has been maintained through the past-war period.

Price Of Coal Goes Up 25 Cents

A rise of 25 cents a ton for hard coal is expected by Peterborough coal dealers by the end of this month. This would raise the cost to $24.75 a ton.

Most of the dealers said today it is not known yet whether there will be an increase in retail prices, but that the suppliers to the local dealers are raising the cost 25 cents a ton. They all expected this would affect retail prices but it would have to be decided at a meeting of the dealers.

In Toronto Monday word was received that the price of coke would probably rise before next winter.

Toronto coal dealers reported prices were up 25 cents a ton and predicted the increase would be 80 or 90 cents a ton by next winter.

The Canadian Retail Coal Association heard from E. A. Taylor of the Steel Company of Canada that coke production costs are at an all-time high. He said "There is 100,000 tons less coke in sight for the Canadian market now than there was a year ago."

Buckhorn Plans Festive Night Flood Relief

Residents of the Buckhorn district have decided to make a real effort to help the flood victims in the Winnipeg area.

This Friday the Buckhorn Community Club are sponsoring a program of lively entertainment — something for everybody in the family is promised—proceeds to go to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund.

Tom Mason is arranging the program and will be master of ceremonies. Details of the evening's fun are still being worked out.

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Stokes, proprietors of Buckhorn Lodge, have offered the lodge without charge for the benefit performance. It is situated at the head of Buckhorn Lake, 18 miles north of Peterborough. The curtain goes up at 8 p.m.

Donate All Money

Residents of Peterborough — in fact anybody that cares to drop in —will be welcome. Every cent raised by this community's effort will go toward helping out those unfortunates who have lost their homes and possessions to the rampaging Red River.

The Community Club is an active social club organized about a year ago to further projects in the Buckhorn area. This past winter they organized a Boy Scout troupe. Membership stands at nearly 100.

Bridge and euchre parties during the winter have helped to finance the club's projects and during the summer there are weekly dances.

It is expected that some Peterborough talent will go to Buckhorn to round out the program. Refreshments will be served.

Sign New Agreement

TORONTO, May 23 (CP) — A new agreement between the Photo-engravers' Union (AFL) and six Toronto employers was signed Monday providing a $5 weekly pay increase this year and an additional $3 next year. This brings the weekly scale to $90 a week for 37½ hours this year and $93 next year. The union shortly will open negotiations for new contracts with rotogravure plants and newspaper publishers.

Cadet Corps Holds Annual Inspection

HAVELOCK, May 23 (ENS) — The annual inspection of the Havelock Cadet Corps was held in the public park on Friday afternoon. Captain Thirgood, cadet training officer, Kingston, took the salute.

The corps, comprising one platoon of boys and two of girls, went through the ceremonial in smart precision. The Havelock Pipe Band, under the command of Pipe Major Harry Anderson, furnished martial music and were highly complimented by the inspecting officer.

There were demonstrations of PT and tumbling by the girls and boys and also a light machine gun display by Don Colby. An explanation of the proper method of holding a rifle for accurate shooting was given by Sgt. Mjr. James Thompson using cadet cpl. Reg Pollock to demonstrate.

A fieldcraft display showing a section in attack was presented. A Bren gun and service rifles were used firing blank ammunition. After the inspection, Captain Thirgood complimented the cadets. Another year, he felt, would be better because the boys would have their rifle drill as well, and this always adds to the general appearance. The rifles came too late to attempt rifle drill at the inspection this year.

The three awards for the best cadet in each platoon were won by Jack Southward, Dorothy Holdcroft and Barbara Van Steenburg. The cadets returned to the school where refreshments were served.

On Sunday the corps marched to the United Church for the morning service.

The Rev. F. R. Vanderburgh conducted the service. A solo was sung at this service by Mrs. Fred Chase.

Jury Rules Insanity

DETROIT, May 23 (AP)—Eugene Braunsdorf, 52-year-old symphony musician, was acquitted Monday by reason of insanity in the "mercy killing" of his crippled daughter. Braunsdorf killed his pastic-crippled daughter, Virginia, 29, a year ago, then turned the same pistol on himself in attempting suicide. He pleaded temporary insanity.

Vote Tabulation

INDIANAPOLIS, May 23 (AP) —The last unofficial tabulation of votes in the International Typographical Union (AFL) election was made Monday at union headquarters. It showed Woodruff Randolph, who sought re-election to a fourth two-year term, with a margin of more than 7,000 over C. G. Sparkman of Detroit. The official tabulation starts May 27.

Last Rites Held For Joseph Vollans

Funeral services of the late Mr. Joseph Vollans were conducted by Rev. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church from his late residence 468 Bolivar St. on Monday.

Following a short illness Mr. Vollans passed away at his home. For the past 37 years he had resided in Peterborough, having lived in Manchester, England. Following his enlistment in the 93rd Battalion in the First World War he had been an active member of the Canadian Legion. In his respect, The Last Post was sounded by Jack Sage, bugler, at the Graveside.

Mr. Vollans was a member of St. John's Anglican Church and he had 33 years of employment at the De Laval to his credit.

Pallbearers were B. Tillcock, F. Britnell, E. Barry, H. Bassett, A. Mason, P. King.

Interment was in Little Lake Cemetery.

OLA Clearing Decks

BRAMPTON, May 23 (CP)— Approval of 59 playing certificates by the Ontario Lacrosse Association cleared the way for tomorrow's opening of the senior lacrosse season between Weston Lions and Brampton Excelsiors.

Little objection to player movements was raised at the meeting Monday night although Jim McLeod of Owen Sound, president of the OLA, had to rule on three cases. McLeod upheld Weston's objection to Brampton using Gus Chard. He will remain Weston's property until he secures his release or takes his case before the league executive.

A Brampton objection to Owen Sound signing Jack Mason was withdrawn when it was pointed out that Mason, although a native of Fergus, played for Owen Sound last year. Barney Welch, in Hamilton uniform the past two years, was given to St. Catharines, where he is currently residing.

Community Honors Newly Married Couple

BONARLAW, May 23.—(ENS). —The Orange Hall, Springbrook, was filled on Friday evening when the entire community gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chambers (nee Audry Brown), whose marriage took place on May 6.

The Rev. J. Beare was chairman and an address was read by Mrs. Ellwood Bateman. The bride and groom were presented with a Chester-bed and end table.

Music was supplied by Doug and Myrt Jones for round and square dancing. Lunch was served at midnight.

Demands Damages

DETROIT, May 23.— (AP).— Columnist Drew Pearson demanded $500,000 damages in a libel suit filed in United States District Court Monday against the Detroit Times division of the Hearst Publishing Company. Pearson claimed he was libeled in a column by Westbrook Pegler of May 23, 1949, in which Pegler said Pearson evaded service in the First World War.

Cuts Leg On Saw

BONARLAW, May 23 (ENS)— Four-year-old Joan McFaul cut her leg when she fell against a saw in the barn last week. The cut required seven stitches which were given at Dr. Parkin's office. The child is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McFaul.

The first night major-league baseball game in history was played 15 years ago today. Performing to average 5,000 daytime crowds, Cincinnati switched to "after-dark" contests which made an immediate hit when 20,000 persons turned out to see the Reds defeat Philadelphia 2-1.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass
Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH the alkaline (no-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store

JACOBY ON CANASTA

"Last night," writes H. M. B. of Denver, "I discarded a deuce to freeze the pack. I held six cards and my partner held three, while each of the opponents had at least a dozen cards. Each side had already made a canasta, and they had more melds down on the table than we had.

"I thought that this was a good time to freeze, but my opponents said it wasn't. They said it was contrary to all of the Jacoby rules.

"It worked out well for me. My partner got rid of two cards that were making a nuisance of themselves in her hand, and then she melded out. She said it was a fine play and who is this guy Jacoby anyway?

"All of this puzzles me. What have you got to say for yourself?"

I've got plenty to say, but it won't do me much good. You'll hear lots of people quoting "Jacoby rules" that don't exist except in their own imagination. The next time somebody springs one on you, ask to see it in print—either in one of my newspaper articles or in one of my books.

Actually, you picked a very fine time to freeze the pack. You had every reason to expect what eventually took place. You and your partner were right to be playing for out since the opponents had more melds down on the table and more cards in their hands. Your partner had the better chance, with only three cards in her hand, and your freeze was shrewdly planned to help her get rid of unwanted cards so as to build up some sort of going-out meld.

Incidentally, your partner had the right idea when she scoffed at "rules" and the people who make them. The advice of a card expert is useful only if it works. Don't pay any attention to impractical advice. Stick to tactics that win, no matter what the experts say. But remember that if the advice is silly enough the expert probably never gave it to begin with.

✧ ✧ ✧

Q—Your side has already made a canasta, and you hold only one card. You draw a joker. Can you meld the joker and just refuse to discard? You don't want to meld out.

A—No. If you meld the joker, you must automatically meld out. If your other card is meldable, you may meld it; otherwise you must discard it. Either way, you are out. If you don't want to meld out, you must discard one of your two cards and keep the other in your hand.

Q—Your side has no canasta. You hold only one card, and draw a joker. Can you meld the joker and discard your other card without melding out? In other words, you come down to no cards, and simply draw one card and discard it whenver it is your turn to play.

A—You are not allowed to do that. Coming down to no cards at all is just what is meant by melding out; and that automatically brings the hand to an end. Howevr, you are not allowed to meld out when your side has no canasta. In the situation described, you cannot meld. You must discard either the original card or the joker, and continue to play with one card still in your hand.

✧ ✧ ✧

"We had a real bang-up argument last night" writes M. B. N. of Dallas, "and it's still going strong. It's a very friendly argument, except that somehow or other nobody has a good word for me.

"Neither side had melded, and each side needed 120 points. My wife finally swooped down on the discard pile, putting down her entire hand to do so. Her 11 cards and the previous discard totaled only 90 points.

"One of the opponents asked what was going on. My wife said she was melding out concealed and therefore didn't need a minimum count.

"The other opponent said we didn't have a canasta. My wife said that there were seven sixes in the discard pile, and that those would be her canasta. She also said that she could meld every card in the discard pile. Both of her statements were quite true.

"Both opponents said that the meld was not legal. They claimed that the canasta in the discard pile didn't count for us until we actually had the pile. They added that even if my wife had a canasta in her own eleven cards, she still couldn't take the discard pile without the minimum count.

"They put it up to me, and I refused to express an opinion. Frankly, I thought the opponents were right but it didn't seem like a good time to say so. My silence got me nowhere at all. The opponents hooted at me for being afraid to talk up, and my wife gave me the old snake-in-the-grass look.

"Who is right, and what should I have done?"

I can tell you who was right, but you won't catch me saying what you should have done about it. In these husband-wife arguments at the card table it's every man for himself.

The opponents were right. No matter what you may be able to meld after you get the discard pile, you must first get the pile. And you can't get the pile unless you have the minimum count. This rule applies, of course, only if the meld is the initial meld for your side.

• • •

Q—Are you ever allowed to take the discard pile and meld out concealed when you cannot make the minimum count? Can you do this if your partner has already melded? And if you do so, aren't you making use of your partner's meld?

A—If your partner has already melded, you may take the discard pile and meld out concealed even though you cannot make the minimum count. You are helped by the fact that your partner has melded, but that doesn't matter as long as you don't add any cards.

Q—My opponent needed 50 points for the first meld. He put down three aces and then put down two sixes to take the six that had just been discarded. Is he allowed to do this with more than the needed 50 points or must he total exactly 50 points to get the discard pile?

A—He must total at least 50 points. There is no upper limit at all. Even if he put down a couple of hundred points the meld would be perfectly legal.

Blindness Beaten Girl Sees Her Bridegroom

LONDON, Ont., May 22.—(CP).—"A wider world of hope and joy I see . . ."

The sentimental words of the familiar wedding song took on new meaning here Saturday at Calvary United Church when a ceremony performed by Rev. L. C. Lawson united in marriage Doreen Mable Stoutenburg and Lewis George Stacey.

A few short months ago, the bride was facing total blindness, yet as she walked down the aisle with her father, she saw her bridegroom awaiting her, and the flower-like pastel frocks of her attendants.

Doreen Mable, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Stoutenburg, of Oxford St., is the girl who on May 15, underwent a delicate eye operation in New York City and thus won her battle against blindness.

With the May sunlight streaming through the stained glass windows of the church, she presented a charming picture as she proceeded slowly down the aisle. Her gown of white slipper satin was fashioned with a yoke edged with a deep ruffle of lace, long pointed sleeves and full skirt, featuring a peplum trimmed with matching lace and ending in a slight train. Her fingertip illusion veil fell from a sweetheart headdress.

Guests were present from Detroit, Owen Sound, St. Thomas and Orangeville to offer their best wishes to the 19-year-old bride and her young husband.

Doreen's father, Albert Stoutenburg, explained that her local physician, Dr. Charles Thompson, had informed the family a few days ago [illegible] eye, with the new cornea, now has 83.10 per cent. vision.

"The doctor thinks it will be almost 100 per cent. eventually," said Mr. Stoutenburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis George Stacey will spend their honeymoon in the Muskoka district.

Hickey-Armstrong Nuptial Vows

At St. Peter's Cathedral Saturday morning nuptial vows were pledged by Jean Edith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Armstrong of Lakefield and William Joseph Hickey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hickey, Omemee. The Rev. F. K. Malone said the mass and performed the ceremony.

Sweet peas and daffodils decorated the altar table. Mrs. R. G. Aman played wedding music and Mrs. Claire Connelly sang "Ave Maria."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. George Rigby. Her gown was of white satin with a square neckline and long sleeves and the bodice, fastened at the back with tiny buttons topping a full skirt. She wore white lace gloves and a fingertip veil of embroidered lace caught to a pearl studded coronet and was carrying a bouquet of white roses. Miss Lorna Hickey, the groom's sister, was bridesmaid and was frocked in yellow taffeta styled with sweetheart neckline and full skirt with ruffle coming to a point at front and back. She wore a pearl-trimmed hat of yellow lace and carried a bouquet of pink and yellow roses.

The groom's attendant was his cousin Joseph Emmett O'Donoghue. Ushers were William Crough and Walter McMann.

The reception was held in the Empress Kawartha Room with the bride's sister, Mrs. George Rigby, receiving in a navy crepe dress and white straw hat. Also the groom's mother who wore a navy and white printed crepe dress with blue straw hat. Each had a corsage of American beauty roses.

For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Rochester, N. Y., the bride wore a turquoise gabardine suit and had brown accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Hickey will live at 57 Parkhill Road.

Mary Cranley Wed At Douro To Joseph Barry

A pretty wedding took place in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, Douro, Saturday, when Mary Ola, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cranley, became tthe bride of Joseph Barry, son of Mr. William Barry and the late Mrs. Barry, of Hastings.

The Rev. J. J. McCarthey officiated. The wedding march was played by Mr. Victor Kennedy, and the Misses Marcelle, Patricia and Isobel Heffernan sang.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a gown of white embroidered satin with pearl trim at the high neckline. It was fashioned with long tight-fitting sleeves, coming to points over the hand. Her veil of tulle was caught to a crown headdress and she carried a cascade of red roses.

Her sister, Mrs. Helen Salo, was bridesmaid and Miss Rita Barry was maid of honor. They chose frocks of pink and blue moire taffeta, with heart-shaped hats to match and carried bouquets of pink and yellow roses with snapdragon. Flower girl, Miss Betty Cranley, niece of the bride, wore pink taffeta with matching hat and carried a bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas.

Gromsman was Mr. Patrick Barry, brother of the groom, and ushers were John and Frank Cranley, brothers of the bride.

Guests were received afterwards at the bride's home by her mother, who was attired in a navy ensemble and wore a corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry left later on a wedding trip to Ottawa and points east, the bride wearing a navy suit with pink accessories. They will make their home in Peterborough.

Beamish-Jamieson

The marriageof Marilyn Fern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Jamieson of Peterborough, to Clifford James Beamish, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Beamish of Indian River, took place Saturday. The Rev. E. W. Rowland performed the ceremony at his home on Lock Street.

The bride was gowned in white satin and wore a white and blue headdress and corsage of red roses. Her attendant, Miss Roberta Brooks of Havelock, wore a pink taffeta dress with navy and pink headdress and a corsage of white gardenias.

The groom was attended by his brother Mr. Charles Beamish.

After a reception at the bride's home the couple left for Toronto and Niagara Falls. After their honeymoon the couple will live at Trenton where the groom is stationed with the RCAF.

Sonja Pettersen Is Bride Of O. A. Clements

The marriage took place in Norwood Baptist church Saturday of Sonja Oline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmer Pettersen and Orville Alexander Clements, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Clements, all of Norwood.

The Rev. Walter S. Crone, of Peterborough, officiated. The church was decorated with ferns, palms and apple blossom and the music played by Miss Jean McLeod. During signing of the register, Miss Leitha Mantsell sang "Because."

The bride was given in marriage by her father and she wore a gown of white satin and lace with train. Her veil of white tulle was caught to beaded crown headdress, and she carried red roses.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Clifford Schell and bridesmaid Miss Violet Weaver. They were frocked in mauve and yellow net over taffeta with matching shoulder veils, and carried bouquets of carnations.

Groomsman was Johnson McKay and ushers were John Petterson and Clayton Shaw.

A reception was held in the church basement where the bride's mother received, wearing navy flowered silk with a navy hat. The groom's mother also wore navy flowered silk and matching hat and each had a corsage of carnations.

For travelling the bride wore a pale blue gabardine suit with navy accessories and a silver blue mink collar. After a trip to Montreal they will live on the groom's farm in Dummer.

Trip to Banff Follows Nuptials Scrimgeour-Gray

The marriage took place Saturday in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church of Ruth Isobel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Gray, 309 Park St. N., and John Henry Carron Scrimgeour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Scrimgeour of Calgary, Alberta.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd performed the ceremony and the music was played by Mr. Christopher Gledhill, organist. During signing of the register Mrs. J. McLeod sang "Because."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of blush satin made with a cowl neckline and train. Her veil was of blush tulle, falling to fingertip length from a halo headdress and she carried a cascade of white gardenias and white sweet peas.

Bridal attendants were Miss Doris Hendry, Peterborough, and Miss Doris Street, Orillia, cousin of the bride. They were frocked alike in turquoise taffeta, fashioned similarly to the bride's gown, and they wore matching halo hats and carried cascades of pink carnations. As flower girl, the bride's cousin Margot McArthur of Midland was in a frock of rose taffeta and matching bonnet and she carried a nosegay.

The groomsman was Mr. A. Bernard of Toronto and ushers were R. Nixon, Hamilton, and J. Johnston, Toronto.

The reception was held in the church parlours with the bride's mother receiving in a gown of mink-tone crepe with dark brown accessories and fur neckpiece. She wore a corsage of yellow carnations. The froom's mother who was also receiving chose a gown of navy sheer and white and navy accessories and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

On their wedding trip west the couple will spend time in Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Calgary and Banff and will return to live at 555 King St. The bride's travelling outfit is a navy gabardine suit and navy accessories.

CUTTING THEIR WEDDING CAKE are sen the first couple to be married at the Braidwood Gospel Chapel, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Smith. The bride was formerly Hazel Siddons, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Siddons of Peterborough. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Smith of Lindsay.—(Parks Studio Photo)

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Man Patient In Business Disagreeable With Family

DEAR MISS DIX: I am married to a successful businessman who exercises plenty of patience with his customers, but doesn't have a bit of patience with me or his children. I try in every way to please him and other people praise my cooking, but he finds fault with everything I do. He does not hesitate to tell me before people to mind my own business and shut my mouth, and he tells the children I don't know anything. He will take us on an automobile trip and then spoil the trip by being disagreeable.

Dorothy Dix

He is generous in money matters, but he doesn't consider our feelings. He has a naturally irritable disposition and I don't hope to change that, but I would be glad for your advice as to how to act myself so as to save the situation.

PERPLEXED WIFE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The only thing that you can do is just to accept the situation and adjust yourself to it. Learn how to shut your ears when he starts on one of his tirades and think of something else. Bow your head to the storm and it will soon pass over you. And realize that all of his fault-finding means nothing. He probably thinks you the smartest woman in the world and the greatest cook, and when he knocks everything you do he is just blowing off the irritability with which he is surcharged.

Family Suffer

Many men make of their families the escape valve for all the temper and nerves that they dare not visit upon their employers or their customers.

The bawling out that many a wife gets over her inefficiency as a housekeeper because she has boiled mutton instead of roast beef for dinner, is merely the cursing out that a man would have liked to give his boss, but didn't dare to. When a man calls his wife a fool and tells her to shut up and that she doen't know what she is talking about, he is often saying to her just what he would have liked to say to some rich old woman whom he had to smile upon and palaver to keep her from going somewhere else to shop, or to some other doctor, or lawyer.

I'm not denying that this is hard on the wives, but it may make their husbands' strictures a little easier to bear if they can realize that they are really not meant for them.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: How can a man make himself attractive to women? R. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: By taking as much trouble to be easy on the eyes as women do. No woman wants to look at a man with his hair hanging over his collar and a stubble of beard on his face and a general appearance of needing to be sent to the laundry.

By being interesting to talk to. By being well read, and intelligent. By being able to converse about books that everybody is reading and topics that everybody is discussing instead of monologuing about himself and what he said to the boss and the boss said to him. By having a line that doesn't consist of sporting events and baseball and football scores.

By knowing how to do thinks. How to dance without stepping on a girl's feet. How to order a dinner. How to get the right seats at a theatre. How to meet people. How to take care of a girl. By showing a girl the little attention that all women love. By observing anniversaries.

By remembering her tastes and interests. By treating a girl as if she were an intelligent human being and not a moron. By making a girl feel that you admired her and respected her.

And not making love to her the first time you saw her and by not pawing her and making her pay for every date by submitting to familiarities.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: Why is it that you inject the you-made-your-bed- and-you- must-lie-on-it attitude into so much of your advice? JOE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Because it is one of great eternal truths that I am forever trying to impress upon the young. I am trying the best I know how to make them see that the one thing from which we can never escape is the consequences of our own acts. For our sins and our virtues both follow us.

RED, WHITE AND BLUE JACKETS flag attention to ultra-simple classic summer styles. The blazer-striped cardigan makes a snappy topper for the white spun rayon dress (left) of Jules Furst design. The blazer is of a crisp washable rayon. Shiny gold buttons fasten the front. Dress has a halter neckline and a deep inverted front pleat.

Pepping up the navy blue pique dress right) is a tiny shoulder sweater of striped knitted cotton. Dolman sleeves are elbow length. One button fastens the sweater under the Peter Pan collar of the dress.

Mme. St. Laurent Leaves Letter For Junior League

Seventh annual communion breakfast of the Catholic Junior League was held Sunday morning at the Empress Hotel after nine o'clock mass in St. Peter's Cathedral. Arrangements were in charge of social convener, Miss Gladys Costello who acted as toastmistress.

Miss Rita Young, president, welcomed the members. A toast to the Pope was proposed by Miss Loretta Sullivan and to the King by Miss Matilda Pepe, toast to the Junior League was proposed by Miss Genevieve Murray with response by Miss Marjorie Stevenson.

Two delightful solos, "In My Garden" and "My Little Nest of Heavenly Blue," were sung by Mrs. E. Collis with accompaniment by Miss Veronica Scollard

Guest speaker, Mrs. Frank Lynch, was introduced by Miss Barbara Hickey. Mrs. Lynch brought a letter from Madame St. Laurent which read as follows:

Members of St. Peter's Junior Catholic League—May 20th.

Owing to our departure on the midnight tonight it is with deepest regret I cannot be with you at your communion breakfast on your seventh birthday. Please accept my sincere congratulations on this happy anniversary.

In your good prayers a little remembrance of us will be deeply appreciated."

The speaker also read a letter of greetings from Mrs. Walker, Provincial President of Catholic Women's League, extending congratulations on the work done and sending greetings for continued good work.

Mrs. Lynch went on to express her own eppreciation of members' efforts and stressed the importance of being a good neighbour especially to new Canadians and those who need help in any way. She gave several suggestions to assist in the work.

A vote of thanks was given by Miss Veronica Scollard.

Those present included: Mesdames E. Collis, M. Crough, J. Dunn, L. English, W. Gannon, R. Hull, M. Leahy, J. Lynch, T. McKenna, W. Hickey, C. McCoy, J. O'Brien, M. Stevenson, P. Scollard, R. Catholic Teachers Addressed By Rev. F. Marrocco

The Ontario Catholic Teachers' Association of Peterborough district held a spring meeting at St. John's School, with President Sister Mary Bernard in the chair. The Rev. John Coughlan opened with prayer. Mr. William Grady welcomed the guests on behalf of the Separate School Board of the city.

Business included detailed reports by Miss Berneice Greenan and Sister Benilda of the OEA meeting held in Toronto last month.

Guest speaker was the Rev. F. A. Marrocco of the social action department of the Canadian Catholic Conference at Ottawa.

Father Marrocco urged the teachers to form study groups and become familiar with the social encyclicals of the recent popes so that they might give a more social slant to their teaching and make their students conscious of the basic social principles.

"The church is desperately in need of leaders," said Father Marrocco, "and looks to the educated and professional groups for them. Teachers have a special mission as they mould and direct the young, the ones who must play their part as strong Christian leaders if our way of life, as we know it, is to survive the present world crisis."

Mr. Edgar Boland voiced the appreciation of the gathering for the challenging address.

Pavilion Opening Proceeds Given To Fire Brigade

Opening of the Pines Pavilion at Bridgenorth Saturday evening was attended by more than 1,000 people and through donation of the hall by proprietor Mr. Herb Payne, the entire proceeds went to Bridgenorth Fire Brigade.

With this and proceeds of a series of weekly card parties and several community dances, the Brigade is now in a position to proceed with building of a new fire hall for which a foundation has already been laid with volunteer help. It is hoped it will be completed by the middle of June when a pumper is expected to arrive.

Draws for 11 prizes, donated by Peterborough merchants, were made during the evening and announced by Mr. El Jones as follows: David Martin, 438 Edison Ave., one ton of coal; S. C. Phillips, 205 Sherbrooke St., table lamp; Barbara J. McIlmoyle, 203 King St., $10. pair of shoes; Sue Booth, 44 George St., woollen blanket; Miss Cecelia Record, RR 1, Chemong Rd., electric clock; J. Whalen, 29 Edgewater Blvd., $5 credit note; A. E. Clark, Bridgenorth, picture; Miss Cecelia Record, RR No. 1, Chemong Rd., tendersweet ham; Fred King, Bridgenorth, wrought iron door set; E. J. Williams, 56 Jackson Ave., dozen pints of ginger ale; Duncan Watson, 76 Ware St., year's subscription to Peterborough Review.

R.C. Nurses Attend Vespers in Chapel

In recognition of the national vesper service of registered nurses, held annually on the Sunday closest to Florence Nightingale Day, Roman Catholic nurses assembled Sunday evening in St. Joseph's Hospital chapel for recitation of the rosary and benediction of the blessed sacrament, and a sermon by the Rev. J. Maskey. Refreshments were served afterward in the reception room, and Miss E. Pawlicka, a recent graduate of the American University School of Nursing in Berout, Lebanon, gave an impressive talk on nursing methods there.

6—In Memoriams

GRAY—Robert, who passed away May 24th, 1940.
But some sweet day we'll meet again,
Beyond the toil and strife,
And clasp each other's hand once more,
In Heaven, that happy land.
—Ever remembered by wife Ida and family.

HANSON—In affectionate and loving memory of a dear mother, Sarah Hanson, who passed away May 23, 1926.
There is no death, the stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore.
And bright in heaven's jeweled crown
They shine for evermore.
—Lovingly and always remembered by Lottie and Herb.

JOHNSON—In loving memory of Gerald E. Johnson, who passed away May 23rd, 1948.
God knew that he was weary,
And the hills were hard to climb.
—Ever remembered by mother, sisters and Mary.

7—Cards of Thanks

We wish to take this opportunity of expressing our sincere thanks to attending doctors, sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's hospital, members of Gospel Hall and Auburn Sunday School; also Mr. O. G. Shantz, who officiated at the funeral services and all friends and neighbours who sent floral tributes or helped in any way during the illness and death of our dear father, Mr. E. Kellar—W. H. Payne and brothers.

JUDICIAL SALE OF TIMBER LANDS

SITUATE IN THE TOWNSHIP OF HARCOURT, PROVISIONAL COUNTY OF HALIBURTON.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF ONTARIO

WHITE V. PITT

Pursuant to the Judgment in this cause, and to the direction of the undersigned Master, Sealed Tenders, addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender in White v. Pitt" in accordance with the Conditions of Sale hereunder, will be received by the undersigned up to 2:30 p.m., on the 23RD DAY OF JUNE, 1950, at Room 114N, Osgoode Hall, Toronto, for the Purchase in One Parcel of the Property hereinafter described, at which time any Tenders received will be opened, and any persons interested may then attend.

The Lands in question comprise about 2,000 Acres situate in the Township of Harcourt in the Provisional County of Haliburton, and are said to be well wooded with the following estimated timber types:

H 1 Mature hardwoods 400 acres
H 3 Second growth and old cut-over hardwoods (40-50 years old) 1,400 acres
C 1 Mature conifers (Spruce, Hemlock, Balsam) 75 acres
Recently cut-over
Water and waste land 75 acres

Mineral rights and road privileges are reserved to others.

The Land is said to be unimproved, but is sold subject to the dower right, if any, of the wife of the defendant Pitt.

The highest or any Tender not necessarily accepted.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. The Vendor shall not be required to produce any abstract of title, deeds or evidence of title, other than those in his possession. The Purchaser shall examine the title at his own expense and any objection thereto shall be made in writing within ten days from the acceptance of the Tender. Should no sufficient objection in writing be made within that time, the Vendor's title shall be held to have been accepted. Should any sufficient objection in writing be made within that time which the Vendor is unable or unwilling to remove the Vendor shall be at liberty to rescind the sale in which case the Purchaser shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit money, without interest.

2. Each Tender shall be accompanied by an accepted cheque, payable to the Accountant of the Supreme Court of Ontario, for at least ten per cent. of the amount of such Tender, as a deposit, and the Purchaser shall pay the remainder of the purchase price into Court to the credit of this cause on closing, and upon payment the Purchaser shall be entitled to a Vesting Order, to be obtained by the Purchaser at his own expense, instead of a conveyance, and to be given possession of the property.

3. The Purchaser at the time of the sale shall sign an agreement for the completion of the purchase in accordance with these conditions.

4. All adjustments will be made as of the date of closing.

For further particulars, apply to MANNING, MORTIMER & KENNEDY, 67 Yonge Street, Toronto, Solicitors for the Plaintiff.

DATED this 18th Day of May, 1950.

A. S. MARRIOTT,
Master.

Not In Kindergarten

As children in the kindergarten do not need to concentrate on "fine work" such as printing, it was felt that these special anti-glare measures were unnecessary in their case. There is an acoustic tile ceiling and mastic tile floor.

G. Wilson Craw, chairman of the accommodation committee, said one of the most gratifying features was the large number of local sub-contractors who had mad bids and had them accepted.

Nine of 13 sub-contracts will go to Peterborough and district. Some of these are plastering, brick, heating, plumbing, excavation and electrical.

"It is the first time in my knowledge that this has happened," said Mr. Craw. "Usually there were very few jobs done by local sub-contractors."

Outside sub-contractors got such work as steel, miscellaneous metals, aluminum windows and weatherstripping and acoustic tile.

The Mortlock Construction Co. built the Confederation School addition two years ago and both the board and the architect said the work had been "very satisfactory."

One of the problems in construction of the Prince of Wales annex will be drainage. The annex is on a lower level than the school proper, has a hill at the back and careful grading will be required to ensure that perfect drainage is obtained.

Roscoe B. Doughty Awarded Fellowship

Roscoe B. Doughty of Norwood has obtained his Ph.D. at the University of Toronto, and has been awarded a fellowship by the University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doughty of Norwood.

Mr. Doughty was graduated from Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, in 1940 with a BA, and in 1941 joined the RCAF. He became a pilot officer, and was shot down over Germany and taken prisoner.

Prisoner of war for 18 months, he was released at the end of the war, and returned to Canada in 1945. He resumed his studies at that time and got his MA at Toronto.

Disaster Funds Total $2,320

Another $215.50 was acknowledged Tuesday by the Examiner official agent for the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. This brings the total acknowledged in these columns to $2,320.50.

Other smaller donations have also been received.

Cheques should be made out either to the "Manitoba Relief Fund" or the "Rimouski Fire Fund."

Ten million dollars will be required by public subscription across Canada to meet the minimum needs of the flood victims.

The Examiner will be pleased to pass along any donations you may make. Those $2 or more will be avknowledged in this paper.

Amount previously acknowledged, $2,105.

Shoot Wolf On Farm

HASTINGS, May 23 (ENS) — A wolf came out into the open field where Jack Smith and Arthur Maycock were working on William Lewis' farm, Hastings, recently. They were successful in shooting the intruder.

OBITUARY

MISS ALMA RUTH COON, RN.

Miss Alma Ruth Coon, RN, of Queen Mary Hospital, Montreal, died on Monday at the Royal Victoria. She was the daughter of the late Rev. Charles Coon and Emily Wattam, and leaves five sisters. They are Mrs. M. Dobbin of Pickering, Mrs. F. Anderson of Carlton Place, Mrs. R. Pickering of Lindsay, Mrs. Charles Elliott and Mrs. W. H. Frise and a brother, Horace Coon, all of Peterborough. Another brother, Dr. A. W. Coon, lives in Norfolk, Vt.

Miss Coon received her nursing training at Ottawa Civic Hospital and after graduation was radio technician there. She served overseas during the Second World War as Nursing Sister in South Africa and also on Hospital Ship "Letitia." After the war she was on the staffs of DVA hospitals in Peterborough, Kingston and Montreal. Miss Coon was a member of the Radiologist Technicians and of the Ontario Society of Radio Graphers and a former member of George Street United Church.

The body will rest at the Comstock Funeral Home on arrival of the CNR train on Wednesday at 4:30 a.m. and service will be held there on Thursday at 2:30 p.m. The Rev. Dr. James Semple will officiate and burial will be at Riverside Cemetery, Lindsay.

Funeral On Thursday

Requiem mass for John Jordan, 57, of 629 Union St., found dead Monday morning, will be said in St. Peter's Cathedral Thursday at 9 a.m. Mr. Jordan was born in Leeds, England, the son of the late James Jordan and Ellen Nicholson.

Gas Explodes In Sewer Sump

The man who lit a cigaret lighter to see if his gasoline tank was empty at least got a decisive answer.

Not so Jack Dobbin of Adamson and Dobbin, plumbers, who Monday afternoon lit his lighter while investigating the source of running water in a sump in the basement of the Richard Hall Hall store. A small explosion painfully burned his arms, face and hands and singed his hair.

But Mr. Dobbin hasn't even the satisfaction of knowing what caused the puff of flame. Everybody is agreed it was gas that ignited. But what kind of gas? And how did it get in a water well?

One guess is that when he lifted the lid of the sump the flame set of a small amount of sewer gas, or again it may have been a leak from the gas main.

Now instead of one problem there are two. And neither the source of the water nor the gas has been found.

And Mr. Dobbin? Well after receiving treatment at the hand of the Fire Department and later at the Clinic he was able to go home. But like the firemen, utilities workmen and the manager of Hall's—he's puzzled.

What's Right

Your young son says "Nope" and "Yeah" to your adult friends.

WRONG: Feel that is all right, since many children today do talk that way to grownups.

RIGHT: Teach him to say "No, Mrs. Smith" and "Yes, Mr. Smith" or "Yes Sir."

LISTEN TO THE Examiner Carrier Boys' Broadcast

Hear the Hon. Harold R. Scott, Minister of Lands and Forests; Mr. James Fraser, Manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Arthur Lewis, Peterborough business man and President of the Peterborough Liberal Association. Also two Examiner Carriers: John Pearson and John Cupoli.

HON. HAROLD SCOTT

Hear the Hon. Harold Scott speak tonight on "Today's Youth Are Tomorrow's Leaders." Youngsters learning about free enterprise, and the fact that initiative, aggressiveness and thrift pay off, are learning the fundamentals of true democracy.

Hear Mr. James Fraser, Manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, discuss Peterborough's many successful Junior Merchants and the problems which they meet and handle, and their similarity to the problems facing Peterborough's Senior Merchants and other business men.

JAMES M. FRASER

ARTHUR H. LEWIS

Mr. Arthur Lewis, prominent Peterborough business man, claims newspaper carriers are receiving the finest training in good citizenship that is available at their age. As an accountant, Mr. Lewis believes the Examiner Carriers' savings record is outstanding.

BLAST SAVES POWER PROJECT — Heavy timbers and wood sheeting are thrown hundreds of feet in the air as a section of the cofferdam of Manitoba's multi-million dollar Pine Falls power project is blasted to allow flood waters to spill through. A 32-foot breech was made in the dam. The water level the following day was down five feet, halting the flood threat to the project, about 100 miles northeast of Winnipeg.

Grey Toppers and Cutaways Important Derby Clothes

By MICHAEL O'MARA

LONDON, May 22.—(CP).—Grey toppers and cutaways, picture hats and square parsols are the style indispensable for Saturday's Epsom Derby—first major society-cum-sport affair on Britain's summer calendar. The King has asked that as many men as possible attending the racing classic wear morning clothes. It is not a royal command, but it means that anybody who pretends to be anybody will don full Epsom regimentals for the event—even if he has to rent a suit at five guineas (about $16.30) a day.

Women will add color to the scene with gay summer dresses, bigger-than-ever cartwheel hats and the latest fashion frippery—square sunshades, no less.

Some of the finery probably won't see much of the race, but will get their satisfaction from themselves being seen among the most fashionable in the land.

The heavy summer big-time sport schedule really got under way today at St. Andrew's, Scotland, when 311 golfers began the British amateur. But Scots links fans eschew fashion for utility and follow the play clad in comfortable—if occasionally inelegant—clothes.

Spice was added to this year's open by the entry of crooner Bing Crosby and his British counterpart, Donald Peers. However, Bing was eliminated in the first round.

Wimbledon Next

Epsom week over, sporting society will turn to the all-England lawn tennis championships at Wimbledon—some to watch lobs and smashes, some to study the latest costumes of Gertrude (Gorgeous Gussie) Moran.

After that, it's off to Henley, up the Thames from London, where rowing's the sport. "Old Blues"—men who once rowed for Oxford or Cambridge—will talk knowingly of this year's crews, bask in the sun or flock to the gaily-striped refreshment tents while along the river shoot the straining eights.

Meantime, there is cricket to watch every day—with the touring West Indies squad the big attraction—and the Eton-Harrow match at stately Lord's cricket ground to draw another crowd of all the best people.

It's a long, hard summer for the upper-crust spectators, and those of them who can still afford to maintain shooting boxes likely will be glad of the respite when autumn rolls around and they can climb back into their country togs and relax.

BIG MAIL SYSTEM

As of July 1, 1949, there were 41,607 post offices in the United States.

RAGS TO RICHES—Fortune smiled on the Mulligans of Bon Accord, Alta., following discovery of oil on their northern Alberta homestead. Already they have realized more than $40,000 with the promise of more to come. Until oil companies moved to the area, the Mulligans eked out a bare living from the land and lived in a hut with a mud floor. Here they are in front of their new $4,000, seven-passenger car. An oil derrick is in the background. Left to right: Ella, 21; Gertrude, 8; Floyd and Lloyd, 10-year-old twins; Kathleen, 25; Mrs. Mulligan, at wheel; William Mulligan, the father, standing; Patsy, 14; Maizie, 16, and Robert, 19, seated beside the car.

Welcomed At Fair

TORONTO, May 23 (CP)—All countries with which Canada trades and has diplomatic relations are welcome at the Canadian International Trade Fair here May 29 to June 9, and that includes Czechoslovakia. Glenn Bannerman, Canadian government exhibition commission director, commented Monday night on a report that the Czechs have been refused space at the first American International Trade Fair at Chicago next August.

United Church Plans Jubilee

TORONTO, May 23 (CP)—The United Church of Canada will celebrate its 25th birthday June 11 with a special evening service in Maple Leaf Gardens, it was announced today.

The silver jubilee celebrations will also include a concert in the Gardens June 12. Proceeds will go to the Winnipeg Relief Fund.

Participating on both occasions will be the Toronto Symphony Orchestra under Sir Ernest MacMillan and a massed choir of 1,000 voices.

The United Church was established in Toronto June 10, 1925, by representatives of the Presbyterian, Congregational, and Methodist churches. Rt. Rev. Dr. George C. Pidgeon, named first Moderator of the United Church at that meeting, will be among the special guests at the commemoration.

A portion of the Sunday evening service will be broadcast by arrangement with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. It will be carried to other United Churches in Canada, where regional rallies will be held.

Members of United Church choirs from all 10 provinces have been invited to participate. Ontario choirs will send members to celebration ceremonies in other sections of the country.

Cut GE Production Government Asks

TRENTON, N.J., May 23 (AP)—The United States government Monday sought a court order compelling the General Electric Company to cut by half its facilities for producing light bulbs.

Federal Judge Phillip Forman was asked to approve a decree requiring G.E. to "divest itself of its plant, machinery, equipment and auxiliary facilities, representing one-half of its productive capacity measured by its average annual production for 1948 and 1949."

In January, 1949, Judge Forman convicted G.E. and eight other manufacturers of incandescent lamps of violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Act. He said then that they combined to assist G.E. in maintaining a monopoly of the industry in the United States.

Forman withheld immediate decision.

Set Fine Example

LONDON, Ont., May 23 (CP)—The example set by the United States and Canada can be the pattern for the solution of differences between Northern and Southern Ireland, Sir Basil Brooke said Monday. The prime minister of Northern Ireland told a joint Rotary-Kiwanis meeting here that co-operation through democratic processes will resolve all problems between them.

More Bogus Bills

OTTAWA, May 23 (CP) — A warning to Canadian postmasters to guard against the acceptance of five varieties of phoney United States $10 bills was issued Monday by the federal post office department. The warning was contained in the department's weekly bulletin issued to the hundreds of city and rural units across the country.

Free Radio News

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—The United States and Britain Monday ended talks on how to get news about the free western world to radio listeners behind the Iron Curtain. Although no details were revealed, it is understood they decided on closer co-operation in all overseas information work and the erection of many more transmitters to push American and British programs through the Soviet radio blockade.

LIQUID GOLD

Exports of Alberta's refined oil products increased by 224 per cent between January 1948 and January 1950.

Studying Appeal

OTTAWA, May 23 (CP)—Immigration Minister Harris said Monday the government still is considering the appeal of Count Jacques de Bernonville against deportation. Sentenced to death in absentia by a French court on a charge of collaboration with the Nazis in the Second World War, the count was ordered deported by a three-man immigration board Feb. 16. An appeal was immediately lodged with the federal government.

Say Attlee Ready To Call Election After June 30

DORKING, Eng., May 23 — (Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee was believed ready Sunday night —after a two-day conference with 56 top Labor party leaders—to bring about a general election at any time after the end of June. Saturday and Sunday Attlee was closeted with the party chiefs including members of the cabinet, the executive of the Labor party and key men in the trade union and co-operative movements, close allies of the party.

In five informal sessions the prime minister and the other leaders thrashed out agreement on a program aimed at making the right psychological approach to the electors, while holding the enthusiasm of their organized followers who want to see the Socialist experiment advanced.

The conference did not decide the date of the next election—that decision rests with the prime minister. But the fact that policy talks have taken place this weekend, coupled with recent instructions to Labor party branches to tune up organization, "indicate that Labor plans to be prepared for a general election any time after the end of June.

When the conference ended the Labor party issued a statement saying:

"The conference has resulted in policy consultations on the broadest basis between the three wings of the Labor movement. For the first time, the early consultative stages in the framing of Labor party policy have been jointly discussed by representatives of the Labor party, the Trade Union Congress and the co-operative movement."

Frank Fontaine No. 1 Comic Around Movies

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, May 23 (AP). —Four months ago, Frank Fontaine was in the depths of despair after being dropped from a studio contract. Today he is in the most sought-after comic in Hollywood.

Fontaine is a plump, blonde-haired man who has a round face that can make all kinds of contortions. He has a deep voice with which he can portray anyone from Winston Churchill to a dim-witted sweepstakes winner. He also has seven children, the youngest 2½ weeks.

He was born 30 years ago in Cambridge, Mass. His father, a native of St. Hyacinthe, Que., was a night club entertainer who was often called "the Bing Crosby of Canada," and his mother was once a chorus girl.

Frank was playing a Boston date when a television talent scout viewed him and started the trail to the big time.

Off To Hollywood

Frank journeyed to New York and guested five times on the toast of the town show. He was lamped by an MGM talent executive and brought west to the studio.

Flush with success, the comic shipped his family and furniture to California and bought a house. "I had to buy," he recalls. "I had six kids in an apartment in Beverly Hills and people were calling every day bellowing, 'Get out! Get out!'"

After being filled with big promises by the studio, Fontaine was slipped into a bit part and then dropped when his first six-month option came up. That was last January.

"I had to ship all the family and the furniture back to her house in Boston, which I fortunately had not sold."

Then Fontaine's luck changed. He received a call from Director Claude Binyon, who had seen his test. "Anybody who can make as many faces as you can should be right for a role in my picture 'Stella,'" said Binyon.

Then It Started

That started the ball rolling. Then Jack Benny saw him at a benefit and put him on the Benny Air Show. Republic signed him for "Hit Parade of 1951." Twentieth-Fox has him lined up for "Call Me Mister" and perhaps a term contract. And he is just about set to portray Andy and the Kingfish on the air show Amos 'n' Andy. The originators of the blackface comics plan to retire after next year and Fontaine can have the job for the next 25 years.

The travelling Fontaine kids may be tired of packing, but they had better get ready for another trip. This time they are coming back to Hollywood— and likely to stay.

UK Flies Aid To Winnipeg Earmarks $310,000 For Victims Of Disasters

Tons of Sheets, Blankets And Dressings To Be Sent On First Trip; Help Rehabilitate Flood, Fire Victims

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, May 25.—(CP).—Britain today earmarked £100,000 ($310,000) for disaster relief in Manitoba and Quebec, and said emergency supplies will start flowing across the Atlantic tomorrow. As a first instalment a British stratocruiser will fly to Winnipeg bearing eight tons of sheets, pillows, blankets, towels, toys and medical dressings. Further supplies will be sent by ship early in June. Some of these will be allotted to the fire-devastated Quebec communities of Rimouski and Cabano.

Choose Items Carefully

These decisions were announced in the House of Commons today by Patrick Gordon-Walker, Commonwealth relations secretary. He told a press conference earlier that the British government had consulted with Canadian representatives here in an effort to make sure the relief shipments include "just the things Canadians want."

He told correspondents that Canada has suffered "very grave" disasters. But British aid was not intended to suggest the Dominion was "reeling" nor was it a "tit-for-tat" gesture in response to Canadian assistance in similar circumstances.

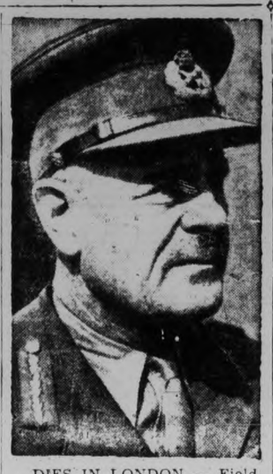
"In the prime minister's phrase, we're just doing our best to fill in gaps," Gordon-Walker said.

In First Shipment

Included in the first consignment will be 15,000 pairs of sheets, 1,500 pillows, 500 blankets, 1,000 towels, children's toys and a large quantity of adhesive bandages, which Gordon-Walker said Manitoba authorities had specifically requested.

In addition to government assistance, the commonwealth relations office will handle any public funds raised spontaneously by British communities. Since the money cannot be sent to Canada without breaking currency controls, the government will arrange to transfer funds into goods.

The value of tomorrow's airborne aid to flood-stricken Manitoba is estimated at about £5,000. Future shipments will include cutlery, carpets, chinaware and carpenter's tools.



DIES IN LONDON — Field Marshal Earl Wavell, desert commander in the Second World War, died in a London nursing home, Wednesday.

UK Commander Wavell Dies In London

LONDON, May 25 (CP)—Field Marshal Earl Wavel, who in the dark days of 1940-41 led his famed "Desert Rats" to the first Allied land victories in the Second World War, died in a nursing home here Wednesday. He was 67.

Lord Wavell underwent a serious abdominal operation May 5. He had suffered with jaundice.

His death came as a shock to his many friends in many countries who held him in high respect both as a field marshal and person.

In Cochrane, Ont., Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada said Lord Wavell's smashing of Marshal Rudolfo Graziani's Italian army in North Africa in 1940-41 was a "brilliant" campaign, executed with poorly-equipped troops.

In Ottawa, Defence Minister Brooke Claxton called Lord Wavell "one of the great soldiers of our time" and his death a "personal loss." Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former commander of the First Canadian Army, also paid high tribute to the British war hero.

Recalled from his post as viceroy of India early in 1947 because he disagreed with the policy of giving India immediate independence, Lord Wavell spent the last years of his life indulging a taste for music and poetry.

He edited an anthology of verse, Other Men's Flowers, which was generally acclaimed. Politically, he fought in the House of Lords for improved pensions for British veterans of the Indian service.

African Commander

As Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell he commanded the British and Australian army of Desert Rats in North Africa when Allied fortunes elsewhere were at their lowest ebb after the fall of France, the Balkans and Greece.

Though erect and spruce and shielding his empty eye socket behind a gleaming monacle, the commander believed too much spit and polish was had for an army. His soldiers called him Archie behind his back. He also believed that bold stratagems and

Boost Given Railways Totals 20%

Three Commissioners Unanimous In Granting Increase

OTTAWA, May 25.—(CP).—A freight-rate increase of 3.4 per cent., amounting to about $13,000,000 a year, was awarded to the railways today by the Board of Transport Commissioners.

The board, disposing of a rate case started in 1948, boosted to 20 per cent. a March 1 award of 16 per cent. to the railways.

The net result was an increase of 3.4 per cent. on the rates that were put into effect through the March 1 judgment, and which now are effective.

The new award was granted following an application from the railways on the ground that a mistake had been made by the board in its March 1 decision. The railways contended the board found a "deficiency" in rail operating revenue and failed to cover it adequately in that award.

The increase is effective on 15 days' notice.

Action Deferred

Seven provinces—all except Ontario, Quebec and Newfoundland—had appealed the 16-per-cent judgment to the cabinet, asking that it be wiped out. Action has been deferred by the cabinet on the appeal until now, because the case was still in the hands of the Board.

A spokesman for the provincial group said that the appeal to cabinet would be amended to cover today's decision.

In terms of its effect on the general level of freight rates, the 3.4 per cent. boost will mean an average hoist of perhaps 1½ per cent in the general level because rate increases are applied only to certain types of traffic.

It will mean that the level of the rates to which the general increases are applicable to, which has gone up 40 per cent as the result of the post-war increases, now will be about 45 per cent above the pre-war scale.

Unanimous Vote

The three commissioners who sat on the case were unanimous in finding that the railways were entitled to the full 20 per cent which they asked in 1948.

Assistant Chief Commissioner Hugh Wardrope, who wrote the 16 per cent judgment, acknowledged that there had been an error in finding a "deficiency" in the 1949 revenue of the Canadian Pacific Railway—the "yardstick" line—and failing to grant an increase large enough to cover it. Commissioner F. M. MacPherson concurred with him.

Commissioner H. B. Chase wrote a separate judgment concurring with the assistant chief that the railways had proven the necessity for the full 20 per cent.

DISASTER DUTY — An armed marine stands guard amid the South Amboy, NJ, waterfront railroad yard wreckage after an explosion of four munitions barges rocked the town. Blast apparently killed 26 persons and injured over 350. According to a Fire Dept. official, the overall damage might reach $20,000,000.

Allies Agree To Arm Middle East

Will Supply Demands With Stipulation Not For Aggression

WASHINGTON, May 25. — (AP). — Britain, the United States and France have agreed to supply arms to the countries of the Middle East.

Under the agreement, announced simultaneously in the three western capitals, arms and war materials may be sent to the Arab states and Israel—but only under assurances that "the buyer-state does not intend to undertake any act of aggression against another state."

The agreement was reached during the recent three-power meeting in London. It marks an end to a long-standing differences among these countries over the question of furnishing weapons to military forces recently engaged in bitter fighting over the partition of Palestine.

Although there was no reference in the announcement of the strategic importance of the middle East in the east-west cold war, officials here were of the opinion the big-three foreign ministers had this strongly in mind.

Need Certain Level

Their joint statement said the three governments recognized that the Arab states and Israel "need to maintain a certain level of armed forces for the purpose of insuring their internal security, their self-defence and to permit them to play their due part in the defence of the whole area."

Should any country receiving arms under the arrangement show signs of preparing to "violate borders or truce lines," the statement said the three powers would "act at once" through the United Nations "to prevent such violation."

The decision on arms shipments in effect approved Britain's past policy of shipping arms to Egypt and Hashemite Jordan, countries with which it has arrangements for military aid.

Israel appealed to the United States for heavy American supplies such as tanks, artillery and jet planes. The United States delayed its answer pending a discussion of joint policy with France and Britain.

Send Helicopter To Help Fight 65 Fires

TORONTO, May 25 (CP) — The Department of Lands and Forests announced today a total of 65 fires were being fought in the province.

The fires extend from Port Arthur east and south to the area around Algonquin Park, Tweed and Lindsay.

The most serious situation is being encountered in the Timiskaming and Sudbury districts where a combined total of 36 fires are being handled.

At 6:30 a.m. today an RCAF Sikorski S-51 type helicopter left its base at Trenton to assist in putting fire fighters on the fireline of an outbreak that occurred Wednesday afternoon in Street and Loughrin townships in the Sudbury district.

This latest fire is giving considerable trouble due to inaccessibility by ordinary means of travel. The helicopter is expected to help facilitate movement of fire crews. The fire is believed caused from a saw mill operation.

In the Timiskaming district a 3,000 acre fire in Teck township is the main problem this morning. This fire is being fought by more than 300 fire fighters and is within three miles of settled areas which is giving the department some concern.

Fires by districts are as follows: Port Arthur 1, Kapuskasing 3; Cochrane 12; Sault Ste. Marie 1; Gogama 1; Timiskaming 25, Sudbury 11; North Bay 5; Algonquin 2; Trent 1; Quinte 3.

Fire claimed two lives Wednesday and destroyed seven homes as well as hundreds of acres of forest land in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. Hundreds of firefighters were still on the job today.

Expect Announcement Next Week On Wheat

LONDON, May 25 (CP)—An announcement probably will be made early next week on Britain's future wheat purchases from Canada, Trade Minister C. D. Howe of Canada said today.

Howe said the announcement will be made probably next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The Canadian minister, who left later today by air for Canada, thus erased all doubts about the progress of the Anglo-Canadian wheat negotiations.

There had been persistent reports which said the negotiations foundered over the question of price.

"That is not true," Howe said in an interview. "I have had a very happy and satisfactory visit in which I dealt with a number of matters.

Atomic Plant Project Shut Down By Walkout

OAK RIDGE, Tenn., May 25 — (AP)—A mammoth atomic plant construction project was shut down completely today by a wildcat walkout of AFL workers.

The strike, which members of the Laborers and Hodcarriers Union began Wednesday without warning, spread to all other crafts working on the project, the Atomic Energy Commission reported.

"The project is completely shut down," said an AEC spokesman. "We haven't been informed by the union or anybody else as to what the walkout is all about."

May Cut 129 Million From Aid To Britain

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) —E.C.A. Chief Paul Hoffman disclosed today that a $129,000,000 cut may be made in aid to Britain.

Hoffman told the Senate Appropriations Committee an "up-to-date review" of the E.C.A. program for Britain "indicates that due to the greater than expected improvement in its (Britain's) position since devaluation, this allocation can be reduced by $129,000,000."

Britain originally had been slated to receive a total of $687,000,000 in the coming year's E.C.A. program.

Hoffman also disclosed he has saved $277,000,000 of this year's European Recovery Fund.

Suggest Telephone Call Lured Farmer To Death

PRESCOTT, May 25 (CP). — Possibility that a telephone call may have lured Merrill Whitmore to his death is being investigated by police today.

Police said they had learned that the 40-year-old farmer received a telephone call Monday night a few minutes before he left his home near Roebuck, Ont., five miles south-west of here. His body, the head battered in, was found in his barn Tuesday by the wife of a neighboring farmer.

Neighbors of the slain man said they heard the Whitmore call signal—three long rings — sound on the rural telephone line shortly after 10 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Mina Whitmore, 84-year-old mother of the slain man who was in bed at the time, said she heard the telephone ringing and that her son went downstairs. She did not hear him go back upstairs again.

Police said it was possible that Whitmore was summoned to a meeting by the slayer. However, they added that there is little chance of tracing the originator of the call unless someone on the party line overheard the conversation and comes forward with the information.

Police said they had been unable to find a motive for the murder. Also unknown is the spot where the slaying actually took place.

To find that spot police are considering the possibility of organizing a posse today to thrash through the wooded area some 11 miles north of here in a new effort to find the unidentified person who battered the 40-year-old farmer over the head and then dragged his body back to his farm.

Fuchs' Helper Arrested In U.S.

PHILADELPHIA, May 25 — (AP) — A mild-mannered, stoop-shouldered little biological scientist was under heavy guard today charged with being the go-between through whom Dr. Klaus Emil Fuchs delivered some American atom bomb secrets to Russia.

Thirty-nine - year-old Harry Gold was held in default of $100,000 bail. The FBI said he admitted the charge, and quoted him as saying:

"I thought I was helping a nation, whose final aims I approved, along the road to industrial strength."

In Washington, some Congressmen predicted that more arrests in the United States may come soon. Gold's arrest came a few hours after agents of the FBI, who had made a special trip to London, had questioned Fuchs in the presence of British intelligence agents.

Gold's arrest shocked and stunned his father, brother, research aides and neighbors.

Thug Shoots Two Men In Bank Holdup

MONTREAL, May 25—(CP)—A bank manager and a police officer were shot and wounded today in the unsuccessful attempt of a lone bandit to hold up the Bank of Toronto branch on downtown Beaver Hall Hill.

Bank Manager Stanley Bickley and Sgt. A. Gamman of the RCMP were wounded in the exchange of gunfire with the bandit.

The bandit is believed to have escaped and so far as known was not hit by shots fired at him.

Bickley is said to have suffered only a flesh wound but Gamman was said to be in serious condition. Both were taken to hospital.

Gamman is stationed at the Bank of Canada, a short distance from the Bank of Toronto branch.

The bandit entered the bank during he noon hour, walked up to a wicket and said something to a girl teller. The girl screamed and fell to the floor.

The bandit apparently became alarmed and tried to run from the bank as Manager Bickley rushed from his office. Bickley was shot and fell to the floor.

About the same time Gamman, who is believed to have heard the shooting while passing by, ran inside and was also shot.

The same bank was held up several months ago when $3,200 was taken.

Flood Danger Ended-Morton

WINNIPEG, May 25 (CP) — The army's flood commander said in effect today that there no longer is any risk the flooding Red river will force general evacuation of Winnipeg.

"I can no longer recommend the necessity for people to leave town," Brig. R. E. A. Morton told his daily press conference.

It was a direct reversal of his stand until now. It came after two holiday statements from the army and an abrupt drop in the river level provide beyond doubt that serious flood risk to greater Winnipeg is nearly ended.

There were the strongest indications that by May 30 at the latest all danger of serious flood damage will have disappeared for 1950.

The river's Winnipeg reading at 5 a.m. was 28.85 feet, more than a foot below the flood-crest peak of 30.3 reached last Friday. A Canadian Press graph of its probable future behavior—based on the best scientific information—indicated that by early next Tuesday it should be down to 25.0 feet.

Brig. R. E. A. Morton, the Army's flood-control commander, announced that high-level parts of St. Boniface and some Winnipeg suburbs, previously listed as dangerous or flooded, now are safe. The statement reduced by about one-quarter the Greater Winnipeg area, previously shown as "flooded" on headquarters' official map.

Police Still Investigating Suspects In Spy Inquiry

OTTAWA, May 25.—(CP).—Out of the mass of material seized by police as a prelude to Canada's celebrated 1946 spy inquiry have come clues to the identity of some Canadians still under police investigation. These persons, Justice Minister Garson told the Commons Wednesday, are among the 150 persons listed in a pocket address book which named Dr. Klaus Fuchs, United Kingdom atomic spy now serving a prison term of 14 years.

Because of the nature of current investigations, Mr. Garson said in reply to E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) that it was "not desirable to specify the number of persons identified" in the note book.

One of many thousands of documents seized, the notebook, said Mr. Garson, contained names of 150 persons resident in Canada at the time of the 1946 spy inquiry.

Limited Suspects

The majority of entries in the notebook referred to "professional people and others of good repute whose loyalty is beyond question," but there is a "limited" number who could be suspected of either espionage or subversive activity.

"In all such cases where positive identification proved possible," said Mr. Garson, "the entries were then related to and dealt with on the appropriate investigation files."

The notebook, he added, has been examined by police in the light of spy developments, such as the arrest and trial of Dr. Fuchs, or whenever it was "indicated that such re-examination might contribute to or strengthen security measures."

Aid Army Veterans

WINNIPEG, May 25—(CP)—Army veterans who have suffered financial loss from the floods in Manitoba can expect "the fullest possible assistance" from Second World War canteen monies, H. C. Chadderton of Ottawa, national secretary of the Army Benevolent Fund, said today. Mr. Chadderton arrived here today to consult with the Manitoba committee with regard to participation in the Manibola flood relief progma.

Keays Defies Police Officials

KINGSTON, May 25 (CP)—J. Ernest Keays of Belleville said today he has not been formally discharged from the Ontario Provincial Police force and that he will continue to wear the uniform of the force until he receives an official dicharge, "honorable or dishonorable."

A Royal Commission last July recommended that Keays be fired.

It was announced at Provincial Police headquarters in Toronto this week that an investigation was under way concerning reports that Keays had been seen in uniform in Belleville Sunday night.

"I have been wearing a Provincial Police uniform and I intend to wear it again," Keays today told the Whig-Standard in an interview. "If I am arrested for unlawfully wearing the uniform, the authorities will find it necessary to prove in a court of law that I am not an officer . . They fired me because I made a police report."

UK Move In Red China Said Much Like Munich

TAIPEI, May 25 (AP)—British advocacy of United Nations membership for Red China is "painfully reminscent of Munich," Nationalist China's foreign minister said bitterly in an interview today.

Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin told the House of Commons on Wednesday:

"We think it is better for the new China to be inside the U. N. We do not want to ostracise anyone on political grounds."

Red Police Posting Guards Along West Berlin Border

BERLIN, May 25 — (AP). — Red police posted guards along the Russian sector boundary today to keep some 100,000 "Free erman Youth" (FDJ) marchers, now in East Berlin, from straying to the West.

Soviet - controlled newspapers blared a warning that "Anglo-American incendiaries are throwing Young German peace fighters in jail just for wearing the blue shirt."

West German police conifrmed that they have arrested 15 FDJ members since Monday for riding in trucks decorated with Communist propaganda. Red officials charged that the arrest total was far higher.

Meanwhile, FDJ cohorts continued to pour into East Berlin by train and truck every hour. With 100,000 already here, Communist Youth officials predicted that the figure would double by tomorrow.

The Communist police force, bolstered by more than 15,000 reinforcements for the Whitsuntide youth demonstrations, suffered two desertions last night.

Two young patrolmen in uniform appealed to Western authorities for asylum.

British, American, and French military police maintained vigilant jeep patrols on the whole 100-mile route through the Soviet zone from West Germany to Berlin.

U.S. Sceptical Of Lie Success

WASHINGTON, May 25 (AP) —United States State Department officials view with scepticism the report from UN Secretary-General Trygve Lie, after a visit to Moscow, that constructive negotiations to end the cold war are possible.

Some US officials seem convinced that at this time and for the foreseeable future neither side in the cold war is prepared to make the concrete concessions on compromises which in their view might lead to a true East-West settlement.

Moreover, they believe that, barring a major change on one side or the other, a top level international meeting would bring little if any relief from the present tensions of political conflict.

Strike Threatened Against Chrysler

WINDSOR, May 25—(CP)—Officials of United Automobile Workers (CIO) said today that strike action against the Chrysler Corporation of Canada, Limited, would be recommended to a membership meeting of Local 195 this Sunday.

A union statement said the decision was taken at a meeting Wednesday of committeemen and stewards from Chrysler's three Windsor plants, where UAW Local 195 represents some 4,000 workers.

UAW international representative Harry Rooney said union and company negotiators would meet again today to discuss union demands for pensions, social security and contract changes. Contract negotiations opened about a year ago.

Pay-As-You-Go Financing For Pension Plan Would Boost Living Costs

Study Plan For $40 Monthly Pension Without Means Test. For Those Over 70; Plan Private Talks

OTTAWA, May 25.—(CP)—A "pay-as-you-go" system of financing an old-age pension scheme may result in higher living costs. This was the opinion of M. W. Sharp of the Finance Department, who Wednesday presented a brief before the joint parliamentary committee on old age security. He suggested that an alternative fundamental approach to the provision of old-age security may be found in the "deferred equity" or insurance approach, by which the pensioner earns his pension through the payment of "appropriate premiums" during his working life.

The "pay-as-you-go" approach would mean that "those who are working pay the cost of providing pensions for those who have retired."

Mr. Sharp said the financing of a "pay-as-you-go" system would mean distributing the current cost of pensions over the whole population "in what is considered to be a proper way."

Replying to David Croll (L—Toronto Spadina) who asked how the "pay-as-you-go" system might affect the cost of living, Mr. Sharp replied that a tax on wages and salaries would undoubtedly have an effect on production costs and that would be passed on to the consumer.

Harder Method

The question was raised as to whether the money could be obtained through a sales tax and Mr. Sharp agreed with several committee members that revenue-raising by means of a sales tax would be "harder on the lower income groups."

He also agreed that if the attempt was made to collect the revenue needed through special levies on personal income and by increasing the scope of income tax the collection costs would mount rapidly in cases where the government tried to collect from self-employed persons.

These, he said, included about 650,000 farmers and 350,000 other workers who kept their own accounts.

Private Sessions

As the committee continued its investigation into various suggestions for providing Canada with an adequate old-age pension scheme, the announcement was made that after next Wednesday sittings will be held in camera, that is in private.

At those private sessions, it is indicated the members will real-

Hasty Pees Form Hastings Branch

BELLEVILLE, May 25—Belleville, in conjunction with other home cities of ex-members of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment (overseas) will have a branch of the regimental association of its own.

This was decided at a meeting of ex-members of the regiment residing in the city and district at a recent meeting.

The name of the Belleville branch will be "Moro" to commemorate a famous battle of World War II in which the regiment participated.

Sgt. Mitchell Rishotte, veteran of the first battalion and now connected with the reserve unit, was named president of the new branch with Captain Bob Scott appointed secretary-treasurer.

Other branches of the association are "Duffy" (Peterborough); "Assoro" (Toronto); "Navigio" (Kingston) and "Monte Casino" (Brockville).

Plans for the regimental reunion scheduled for Thanksgiving week this year in Belleville will be made through the newly-formed Moro Branch. Lieut Angus Duffy is president of the association.

General Clay Heckled In New York Speech

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP) — Heckled and picketed, Gen. Lucius D. Clay cast aside a prepared speech at an anti-Communist "hold Berlin" rally Wednesday night and issued a rallying call to the people of the German capital and a warning to the Russians.

To the people of Berlin, the former United States military governor in Germany, said:

"You have within yourselves the moral strength to stop any attempted uprising among the youths of Germany which would destroy freedom. Be patient — the time of freedom is rising."

A lone heckler disrupted the rally and caused brief disorder after police had routed 1,000 chanting pickets outside Town Hall. A young man began heckling Clay because he had cut the prison sentence of the notorious Ilse Koch of Buchenwald.

Garson Defends Manitoba Flood Action

OTTAWA, May 25 (CP)—The part the Manitoba government played in meeting the Red River flood disaster was both criticized and defended in the Commons Wednesday.

Rallying to its defence, Justice Minister Garson, former Manitoba premier, told the chamber that the provincial government had been derelict in only one important aspect — failure to tell the people of the job it was doing.

Answering criticism from opposition members, he reviewed steps that had been taken to prepare for the emergency. Touching briefly on the question of federal financial aid, he said he does not know yet what the federal government will contribute.

He could not, he said, say whether it would be more or less than 75 per cent of the damage.

He spoke after Arthur Ross (PC—Souris) charged that the only agency which had "failed, and failed miserably," in the emergency had been the provincial government and Premier Campbell.

Neglected Warnings

Alistair Stewart (CCF—Winnipeg North) said the government paid no heed to early warnings of danger of flooding.

William Bryce (CCF—Selkirk) suggested the federal government make an immediate grant of $10,000,000 to help the flood victims and give them encouragement.

Say Rainy Lake Waters Rising

FORT FRANCES, May 25. — (CP).—Rainy Lake inched higher today as reports of heavy rain came from many points in this international border country of lakes and forests. Lake levels now are at their highest marks in years.

Roads here and in nearby sections of the United States are covered with water to a depth of 14 inches in places. Summer cottages in the area, dotted with holiday resorts, have been put on blocks. Flood waters threaten a building housing the transmitter of CKFI, Fort Frances radio station.

The level of Rainy Lake now is some five feet higher than the level of May 1, due to an unusually heavy spring run-off and recent thunderstorms. It now is 1,110.58 feet above sea level, an increase of more than two inches in 24 hours.

Similarly sharp rises are reported from other points in the district, a watershed of 12,500 square miles.

Gold Stocks Lose Steam On Exchange

TORONTO, May 25 (CP). — Low-priced gold stocks lost more of their steam as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Activity slowed considerably from the rapid rate of Monday and Tuesday.

Volume for the first three hours was 2,404,000 shares.

Seniors were higher on the gold board and several leading junior producers chalked up penny advances. A few active spots remained among the more speculative issues. Bonville Mines attracted considerable attention following news of financing plans. The stock jumepd from 8 to 18 cents in heavy turnover. Norlartic and Dulama were also heavy traders.

Industrials sagged steadily over a broad front. Losses in most cases were held to fractions.

Base metals were active and mixed. Opening trends pointed higher, but easiness developed in mid-session.

Western oils pushed ahead with National Petroleum leading on an advance of 27 cents at a new high at $2.26.

EXPENSIVE PAPER

The total weight of paper used in the production of currency in the United States in 1949 amounted to 1,792 tons.

Would Like To Try Hand At Breeding Apes With Humans To See Results

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., May 25 (AP)—The artificial cross-breeding of apes with humans would raise a batch of moral and ethical questions, says the University of Virginia's Dr. Sydney William Britton.

But, he declares, he would like to conduct such an experiment "from the standpoint of cold scientific curiosity."

The physiologist made his statement in answer to criticism over a recent suggestion he made at a Washington meeting that such cross-breeding be used to give the ape a boost up the evolutionary ladder.

"I tried to be funny," said Britton on his comment at the meeting of the National Academy of Sciences, at which he spoke mainly on the probable effect that gravity played in the development of man's brain.

"All I did was quote other physiologists on the subject, and remark that creation of a new type of beast might again lead to traffic in slavery," he said. He maintained that the breeding poses no scientific difficulty and will be tried eventually — if it hasn't already.

"After all," he observed, "it's time to stop fooling around with fruit flies and start on the apes."

BRIDGE BLASTED — Canadian Pacific Railway officials and workmen examine a dynamite-blasted bridge across the Kettle River near Grand Falls, BC. Police say the blast was fired by fanatic Sons of Freedom Doukhobors as an "anti-war protest".

Entire Village Mourns Deaths

RIVER VALLEY, Ont., May 25 —(CP). — The residents of this modern Ontario village, and people from all over the province gathered in the Parish Hall on Wednesday to pay tribute to the eight victims of Monday morning's level crossing tragedy at nearby Verner.

The large crowd forced a change in plans and the service in the church was moved to the town's Community Centre. The auditorium was filled with people and a large crowd stood outside in silence while the service was being held.

The flower-covered caskets had remained in the Community Centre since Tuesday afternoon. All through the night, friends and relatives called to kneel and pray in front of the biers.

The tiny white caskets in the centre of the auditorium contained the bodies of Hector Cayen, Robert Forget, Denise Forget and Gerald Guay. They were flanked by the larger grey caskets of Mrs. Edouard Cayen, Mrs. Edouard Forget, Julien Cormier, and Herve Cayen.

The heart-broken members of three families knelt in the church as hundreds of relatives and friends joined them in prayer.

Following the church ceremony, a mile-long cortege of cars escorted the eight bodies to the little cemetery on the edge of the hill. And there, the eight people who had started on a fishing trip together, and had died together, were buried together.

gambles were the mark of the successful general.

With these as his precepts, he gained sudden fame with his amazing counter-offensive in 1940-41 which drove Italian troops 500 miles across the barren desert in 60 days.

Starting from 130 miles inside Egypt, the drive was not halted until it had wrested most of Cirenaica from the Italians and taken 140,000 Italian prisoners.

Many Italians surrendered because they believed Lord Wavell's forces were overwhelming. Hundreds of dummy guns, mingled with the real guns, and the explosions of firecrackers fooled the enemy.

Master of War

Winston Churchill acclaimed the general a master of war. German Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel was reported to have acknowledged that the British general was "very, very good."

The fruits of the victory were soon wiped out when the Germans sent Field Marshal Erwin Rommel to rescue the Italians.

Lord Wavell took the blame. Under political pressure he had sent virtually all trained and equipped troops to defend Greece.

"I made a miscalculation," he explained. "Unfortunately the enemy attacked at least a month before I had expected it possible."

He had planned on having other forces in readiness to meet the German attack by that time.

In July, 1941, he was sent to India as commander-in-chief of British forces, and it was left to Field Marshal Lord Montgomery to win the eventual victory in Libia in 1942.

Trolley Hits Glasgow Bus Seven Killed

43 Others Injured In Overturned Bus, Confusion Terrible

GLASGOW, Scotland, May 25.—(AP).—A speeding trolley car crashed Wednesday through the roof of an overturned double-decker bus in view of hundreds of horrified onlookers, and killed seven passengers. Forty-three persons were injured, 12 seriously.

Both vehicles were crowded with rush-hour workers when they crashed in Glasgow's busy Great Western Road. Workmen using acetylene torches freed many trapped by twisted steel.

Doctors and nurses converted the street into an emergency dressing station and gave treatment to the injured.

Killed were a 17-year-old girl and six men, all among the 40 passengers on the bus.

Smashes Roof

Seconds after the heavy bus overturned—no one could explain exactly why—the nose of the trolley smashed through the bus roof and into the midst of struggling passengers.

"I heard screams coming from the upper deck and the crunch of twisting steel and the breaking of glass," said Alec Carmichael, an uninjured passenger. "Then just above my head I was horrified to see the driving cabin of the tram car pierce through the ceiling of the lower deck."

The bus driver, dazed by the crash, tried to tear open the metal sides of the bus with his hands in the excitement.

Hundreds of onlookers helped in the rescue and treatment of the passengers before police cordoned off the area. A priest hurried from a nearby Roman Catholic church to administer the last sacrament.

Dies Of Injuries

OSHAWA, May 25 — (CP) — Mrs. Eva Laurie of Oshawa, died in hospital today of injuries suffered when hit by a truck driven by Frederick P. MacDonald, 27, also of Oshawa. Witnesses told police Mrs. Laurie stepped into the path of the truck from behind a parked vehicle.

St. Paul's Service Designates New Deaconess

Miss Ann Bain, 114 Dublin St., was designated a deaconess Tuesday night at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. The service is believed to have been the second in Peterborough.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd of St. Paul's conducted the service, and was assisted by Rev. Horace Kaye, of Lakefield, who preached the sermon. Address to the designate was made by the Rev. J. M. Ritchie of Warkworth.

The Rev. Boyd asked the designate the three questions which correspond to the questions asked in the ordination of a minister:

"Do you believe the word of God as contained in the scriptures of the Old and New Testaments to be the only infallible rule of faith and practice?

"Do you humbly engage in the strength and grace of the Lord Jesus Christ and zealously to discharge the duties of your office?

"Do you promise as a deaconess of the Presbyterian Church in Canada to be subject to its courts and loally to obey the same?"

Miss Bain answered "I do" quietly to the three questions.

Sermon and Address

The questioning was preceded by the call to worship, a prayer and a hymn, and followed by the sermon and the address to the designate.

In the address, Mr. Ritchie spoke of the difefrence between the jobs of a deaconess and a minister. Theme of the sermon given by Mr. Kaye, was the two natures of man—human and divine.

Following the service, Miss Bain was presented with her deaconess's pin by Mrs. Hughanna Ralston, principal of the Presbyterian Missionary and Deaconess Training School.

In a reception held after the service in the Sunday school, Miss Bain was presented with several gifts from church organizations. A three-piece set of luggage was given her by the congregation; a purse by the various church groups; a briefcase by the Ladies' Aid; a clock from the young women of the church; and a pin for life membership in the women's Missionary Society. From the women's organizations of the district, Miss a leather-bound Bible and hymn book.

The Rev. F. R. Meredith, who was to have preached the sermon, could not attend, and was replaced by the Rev. Mr. Kaye.

Committed Frauds In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, May 23 — (ENS)—Kenneth A. Johnston and John Greeley, no permanent address, who were apprehended for passing forged cheques on the Cobourg Lumber Company recently, faced three charges of "uttering forged documents", laid by Chief Constable George H. Hardy of Campbellford when they appeared before Magistrate T. Y. Willis in Belleville.

The men were convicted on these and other charges and Johnston received a 10 year sentence, to run concurrently with another 10 year sentence on other similar charges. Greeley received a sentence of six months, concurrent with another similar sentence on a forgery charge.

The men passed cheques totalling $152 in Campbellford on December 16, 1949. One cheque cashed by Joe Dunk was for $45, another by Claud Post for $52 and a third by Herb Leonard was for $55. The men faced many other charges of forgery and uttering from the Cornwall and Kingston area.

Lawyer J. Cohen Dies Suddenly In Toronto

TORONTO, May 25 (CP)—J. L. Cohen, KC, 52, prominent labor lawyer, died suddenly at his home Wednesday after a heart attack. He was a former member of the National War Labor Board, losing that position after he went on a "sit-down" strike against government policy.

A native of Mahchester, England, his family moved to this country when he was a boy. His father died when he was 13 and he became the family breadwinner.

Death came four months after he had been reinstated as a barrister and solicitor, following disbarment on conviction and sentence of six months for assault on his secretary.

Cohen first became prominent during the United Auto Workers (CIO) strike at Oshawa, in 1937. He engaged in many other court cases on behalf of the CIO.

Unscheduled Display

WINNIPEG, May 25 (CP)—An unscheduled Victoria Day display of exploding fireworks and flaring rockets gutted a Chinese fireworks store here Wednesday night. Police said two boys who tossed lighted firecrackers into Joe Eng's open doorway caused a fire which did $6,000 damage. The firecrackers landed in a stockpile of fireworks which exploded and blew out the store window.

"WIGHT" RUSSIANS WAIT—These are two of the 31 Russian fishing vessels that anchored off the Isle of Wight, England, ostensibly waiting out rough weather spell. When 9 British warships steamed off for manoeuvres with French and Dutch naval units, the fishing fleet followed in the same general direction but was forced back by heavy seas. A British newspaper claimed the vessels may have been sent to provoke a cold war incident.

Sues Government Rare Legal Tangle

OTTAWA —(CP)— A case believed to be unprecedented in court history anywhere in the world will be unfolded in the Exchequer Court next month.

It is an intriguing patchwork of modern history, war, and their complexities, and the unfortunate case of a French civil servant who has been forced to change his nationality three times.

The case is that of Jean Kieffer, a retired post office worker in Strasbourg, France, against the secretary of state for Canada. Evidence is expected to show a startling succession of events dating from the Franco-Prussian War through two world wars to the present day.

It will revolve around the purchase of 190 shares of Canadian Pacific Railway stock by Mr. Kieffer back in September, 1918, just before the end of the First World War.

Mr. Kieffer was residing in Strasbourg at the time, which made him an enemy alien as far as the secretary of state's department was concerned. Later the stock was registered through the H. W. Schnieder Banking Corporation at New York and turned in on a CPR refinancing scheme. This resulted in Mr. Kieffer receiving 760 shares for his original 190 shares.

It was then that the secretary of state's officers seized the stocks because they were on a Canadian company and in the possession of an enemy alien.

Became French Citizen

However, by this time Mr. Kieffer had become a citizen of France in good standing. This came about through the direction of the Versailles Treaty, which returned the Alsace-Lorraine region—in which Mr. Kieffer was born and lived—to France.

Apparently Mr. Kieffer received no satisfaction from authorities in Ottawa, so in 1932 he started court action in the Exchequer Court against the secretary of state. But the distance and technicalities involved stalled off any action until just before the Second World War.

During the Second World War the Germans took over Mr. Kieffer's home town and again he became an enemy alien in the eyes of Ottawa officials.

After the war, Mr. Kieffer again started proceedings.

Last November the British consul-general's office sent its representative to the now-retired civil servant's home to record his vidence. Mr. Kieffer's sworn statement will be read into the evidence this June.

Mr. Kieffer figures the custodian of enemy alien property owes him $80,000 on dividends and interest declared on 760 shares of stock since its purchase.

Make Inquiries On Tax Relief

OTTAWA, May 25 (CP)—Acting Revenue Minister Winters said Wednesday in the Commons he will make inquiries as to whether all donations to the Manitoba Relief Fund will be exempt from income tax.

He was replying to J. A. Ross (PC-Souris), who said that under the present act corporations cannot claim exemption for charitable donations over and above five per cent of income. Individuals could not claim exemption for donations over 10 per cent of income.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce had asked that all donations to relief of Manitoba Flood Relief be exempt for income tax purposes.

Mr. Winters said he had stated in the House prevxiously that donations to Manitoba FFlood Relief would be tax free if accompanied by a proper receipt. However, he would have to check to see whether the exemptions would apply to donations above five per cent of income in the case of corporations and 10 per cent in the case of individuals.

CALIFORNIA HERE I COME: "We are motoring to California for the month of August. Can you tell me what clothes my daughter, 10, and I should take? We want to travel lightly."

For daughter, overalls or slacks and T-shirts, plus a coat and sweaters. Also during your visit to your aunt she will need two or three cotton dresses and a better dress. For yourself you will find travelling in a suit with cotton mesh sweaters cool, and not mussy. An afternoon dress, two or three cottons, and a coat — along with stockings and lingerie should keep your packing to a minimum.

GIVE AWAY HOME: "Is it true that a small bungalow will be given away at the Canadian National Exhibition this year? Do I need to be a veteran to qualify?"

You are quite right, sir. A house will be given away on the night of September 9th at the Canadian National Exhibition. It is not necessary to be a veteran to qualify. Drop around and inspect the house at your convenience. It will be in the Coliseum, West Annex.

NURSERY EQUIPMENT: "We are expecting a baby in July. I am a stranger in Canada. Can you tell me what baby clothes I should buy and what nursery equipment I will need?"

Under separate cover a pamphlet has gone to you with all the information requested. Good luck with the new "heir apparent."

Nicholls Monument?

Fifteen years ago, in the dollar values of that day the Charlotte Jane Nicholls bequests to the Nicholls Hospital, to build and maintain it, were calculated to have amounted to three-quarters of a million dollars. It is a monumental sum. Mr. Vincent Eastwood, Senior, a city elder and financial custodian, is perhaps the only prominent resident of Peterborough now living who knew Mrs. Nicholls. He has for the last sixty years been a witness to the effects of her munificence. He, like other citizens, wonders if a tablet and a memorial window are sufficient tokens of the people's gratitude. He has suggested to The Examiner that some sort of fitting monument be erected on the new hospital grounds, at the main entrance, a monument costing perhaps six or eight thousand dollars.

• • •

When Nicholls Hospital became the Civic Hospital in 1945, it was agreed between the municipal authorities and the Nicholls Trust that a plaque be erected in recognition of Mrs. Nicholls' bequests. This has been done, as visitors to the new hospital's main lobby know. In addition, the memorial window which was in the main office of the old hospital has been removed and installed in the new lobby.

• • •

In view of the dissociation soon to take place from the building which Mrs. Nicholls erected, the question is whether plaque and window are sufficient. We have suggested in these columns that a wing be named for the benefactress. Mr. Eastwood carries the idea behind the suggestion further; and there is no doubt that his proposal will meet with much favour in various quarters. A monument, a graceful piece of sculpture, would enhance the grounds and entrance to the building, and recall to all who come and go from the hospital during the next century an act of remarkable generosity by a woman who had her fellow citizens' welfare at heart. Such a memorial could be considered in the landscaping plans.

Forest Fire Hazard

The late spring is, strangely enough, a season when forest fires are soon started and difficult to control. Already there are a dozen serious bush fires and sixty others kindled in Ontario. These are at a time when spring freshets have hardly run out and in districts where snow in the bush has disappeared only a few weeks ago. But when the sun comes out strongly through woods not yet protected by leafy shade, the leaves and underbrush of last autumn become dry as tinder. Abetting the cycle of nature are the people who set grass fires or are careless with matches and cigarettes. Travellers through the countryside, picnickers, fishermen and cottagers in the lake country must take special care that they do not unwittingly or through negligence allow a spark or a small flame to set a whole district ablaze. Ontario's heritage of woods and forests is too precious, too difficult and slow to regain, to be damaged or destroyed by fires which could have been prevented.

How Long Is Not Very Long?

Mr. Aneurin Bevan, British Minister of Health and a man who speaks with vigour if not caution, seemed to let the cat out of the bag last Monday. After another of the close votes in which the Labour Government was sustained by a hair's breadth, Mr. Bevan said "It won't be very long before we go to the country again."

Now, that seems like headline news; as a matter of fact, it did make the headlines. But a bit of reading between the lines takes the news out of Mr. Bevan's views. Everybody knows that sooner if not later the Attlee Government, teetering along with a clear majority of only nine in a large and active House, has to seek a new mandate from the people. Has Mr. Bevan made the date more precise? How long is not long? It is now nearly three months since Labour was so narrowly returned to office. In terms of parliamentary tenure, a year is short, or at any rate, not very long. There is still good reason for postponing general elections until at least the end of this year. No great new issues have risen, there is no noticeable shift of voters' opinion. And the Liberals, now almost holding the balance of power, reflect this equilibrium. In Monday's tally six of the nine Liberal M.P.'s voted against the Government; in an earlier vote on a related question six of them voted with the Government. The dissolution of Parliament awaits a clear-cut, outstanding issue. Mr. Bevan has let only the cat's whiskers out of the bag.

Mr. Attlee is in a better position to make an issue than Mr. Churchill, and he may decide the time is ripe this summer when the boom of tourist business and the balmy weather and holidays in the air encourage a general contentment.

Is It Subversive To Want Peace?

When the Rev. Dr. Hewlett Johnson, the Dean of Canterbury, spoke in Timmins recently he was pushed around by a mob, tomatoes were thrown at him, and he was treated altogether as though he had made some extremely inflammatory and subversive remarks. But in the reports of his address we could not find anything which bore out this deduction. Apparently the Dean said that Russia wanted peace, and that the people of the world wanted peace.

If this is subversive, we must be subversive too, for we agree with the Dean that Russia wants peace. But Russia also wants everything she can get by any means short of going to war. Russia is playing a very old diplomatic game—the game of the schoolyard bully who goes as far as he dares without having to fight. Nevertheless, Russia does not want war. No country with Russia's problems wants war.

Again, we agree with the Dean that the people of the world want peace. They want it so desperately that they are prepared to overlook a good deal of Russian insult in order to preserve it. We do not agree with the Dean that Russia wants to be friendly with the Western world; Russia will only want friendship when friendship pays better than bullying.

We have not seen any report of the Dean's speech which contained a word of subversion. There was a good deal of sound sense in what he said; there were some statements which are matters of opinion; there was a comparatively small amount of what we would call eyewash. But nothing inflammatory.

The Dean seems to be a man of goodwill, though perverse in some of his notions. Why jostle him and throw tomatoes at him because he says that the people of the world want peace? Isn't it true? If it isn't, Russia is right, and we are indeed a pack of warmongers.

Franco-German Conflict Over Coal And Steel Ended?

Earlier this month M. Schuman, the French Foreign Minister, made a startling proposal. It is more than a suggestion, it is a definite plan devised by French experts to amalgamate German and French coal and steel industries in the Ruhr and Saar. This great industrial area has been the seat of the greatest conflict of economic interests between the two countries for more than a century. It has been the pith of three wars. If the mines and plants are put under joint control and management, a chief cause of conflict will have been removed.

The German Chancellor has given the proposal cautious approval. The French and Americans have hailed it. The British are suspicious. They are afraid that it will result in a giant industrial cartel which could dictate to or cripple the British coal and steel industry. The British fear the competition from the low-paid German workers earning depreciated currency. The Germans may fear that the plan will harness their coal to French steel, with the French in the saddle. Would German steel production be permanently kept to French-imposed levels?

The Schuman Plan is economically efficient. The industries of the two countries in these areas are complementary; they are really one. To operate them as a unit would benefit both nations and result in cheaper and higher production. It would revive the industrial core of Europe. While the Plan may have quirks favourable to France or detrimental to Britain, it is both realistic and generously conceived. France as an occupying power and now with authority over the Ruhr, has not proposed a dictatorial measure. Genuine negotiation with the Germans is being carried on, in the hope that the Plan can be adopted in some form beneficial to the economy and industry of both countries, and at the same time, removing a principal source of discord.

Defence Of The West

By

A STUDENT OF EUROPE

THE Atlantic Treaty, signed a year ago, made sure that a Russian attack on Western Europe would involve America; it did not make sure that Western Europe would from the outset be effectively defended against such an attack. The fear remained that in case of war American—and British—strength might come too late to save Western Europe from invasion and occupation, and might once more be able to liberate the continent only after years of suffering.

Now the Atlantic Treaty nations have "resolved, by their united efforts, to build up a system of defence capable, of withstanding any external threat directed against any of them."

This is the first of the historic decisions taken by the Atlantic Treaty Council last week. It is impossible to overrate its importance. It commits America, Canada, and Britain, no longer only to the rescue of Europe but to the defence of Europe. It further commits them to build, by "united efforts" with the Western Europeans, a unified "system of defence."

✧ ✧ ✧

THE second decision, which dots the i's and crosses the t's of the first, is an even bolder break with the past. The defence of the North Atlantic area is to be based on the progressive "creation of balanced collective forces."

In principle, this implies nothing less than that there will one day no longer be American, British, French and other armed forces, but only one Atlantic Army, Navy, and Air Force. Obviously, this cannot be achieved at one step. But from this day on, we and all other member nations of the Atlantic Community will have to start recasting our defence policy and subordinating the completeness and balance of our national defence establishments to making the unified defence system of the West balanced, complete, and effective as a whole.

This is a tremendous decision, and it is to be carried out at once. The new permanent Council which has been set up for its implementation has been expressly briefed to produce "tangible results" before the next meeting of the Ministers in September.

✧ ✧ ✧

NO bolder or more revolutionary decision has ever been taken by the Foreign Ministers of twelve sovereign States. In its execution it will have to overcome the bitter resistance of the existing national Services, all of which have a habit of defending their department interests tooth and nail. It is essential to understand the absolute and vital necessity for setting aside these interests, in spite of the many glorious traditions attached to them.

The Atlantic nations are confronted with the grim fact that Russia, now "the only militaristic and aggressive Power in the world," is rapidly overtaking them in armed strength. She is doing so on a far narrower basis of industrial resources, by the simple device of allocating an exorbitant percentage of her national income to armaments, and keeping the living standards of her people ruthlessly down. The Atlantic nations cannot and will not likewise finance their necessary defence at the expense of their social and economic standards. This leaves them only one way of attaining the security which they at present lack: by cutting out the waste and overlap inherent in the existence of twelve separate national defence systems.

These defence systems were planned to serve variable national interests in unforeseeable contingencies. Now, since there is only one potential enemy, only one common danger, and only one overriding common need, they are a luxury we can no longer afford. Their place must be taken by one joint defence system planned to specification, to which all members of the Atlantic community make precisely fitting contributions. These contributions, to be effective, will absorb most of their available resources.

HOW will this Atlantic defence system have to be shaped to be effective? Some useful guidance can be had from a book "Defence of The West" which, by an odd co-incidence, appeared on the very day of the Atlantic Council's decision. Mr. Liddell Hart was writing long before that decision, and some parts of his book are outdated by it; but his main argument gains added pertinence.

This is based on an analysis of the chief campaigns—especially the German campaign—of the Second World War, and it leads him to the conclusion that no major military decision in that war was achieved by the mere weight of mass. Thus the campaign of 1940 in the West, according to Mr. Liddell Hart, was decided by no more than ten German armoured divisions—less than 200,000 men—which reduced opposing mass armies of several million men to helplessness. Similar examples are quoted from the war in the East.

✧ ✧ ✧

FROM this Mr. Liddell Hart makes two deductions, one comforting, one extremely uncomfortable. The first is that we need not be over-awed by the Russian superiority in crude manpower. The second is that our military policy of relying on large, slowly mobilized and slow-moving conscript armies, in order to oppose mass with mass, may be fundamentally wrong.

The defence of the West, Mr. Liddell Hart insists, calls rather for a standing force of between twenty and forty high quality divisions, "ready for action on the spot like a fire brigade," and capable of checking any Russian spearheads that could infiltrate in the face of air attack. "The preponderant effort to paralyze the following-up advance of the Russian masses should be concentrated on developing air strength."

Mr. Liddell Hart goes on to argue, with great power, that this kind of high-quality standing force is incompatible with the present system of conscription, which swells non-fighting establishments, dilutes the regular forces, perilously reduces the number of immediately available divisions, and merely produces reserves which will appear on the scene too late to affect the issue. His argument, though mainly directed at Britain, would seem to apply with equal force to France and the other continental nations.

NO doubt there is a widespread feeling that conscription is the highest effort a nation can make for defence, and there might be a sense of perplexity and anticlimax if the Atlantic Powers began their joint defence effort by dropping conscription where it exists and concentrating on the creation of regular and permanent high-quality forces. But in deciding what is necessary to give us the most effective defence against the actual threat we face, no mere emotions should stand in the way of hard-headed and realistic reasoning. What will save us is not heroic feelings but efficiency.

The Atlantic Powers have now set themselves the task of jointly attaining this defensive efficiency. They have proclaimed their readiness to sacrifice to this end the pride of great traditions, and even the principle of separate national defence systems. Having gone thus far they must not allow themselves to be frustrated by mere military habit and inertia. To achieve real security for the Atlantic Community it may well be that even the merging of national defence systems is not enough. We may need a new-model force, devised without a backward look, solely to meet the task in hand.

DISLIKES SOURCE OF INFORMATION

Sir: I notice an item in your May 17th issue, that Mr. Dit Clapper has received word from Ottawa that the Department of Public Works has decided to proceed with erection of the new Federal Building on Charlotte St.

While not wishing to detract from the prominence of Mr. Clapper, nor to dispute the validity of your source of information, it seems inconceivable to me, that a Government Department would give official statements to a defeated candidate in preference to the sitting member elected by a majority of the voters of this constituency.

If you honestly believe the information to be true, it doesn't reflect a great deal of credit on the political party you are championing, and I should rather think of it as one of the acts of the Liberal Party, which, in the past, it has been your policy to studiously "neglect" to print.

I feel certain, that if you took the trouble to think about it at all you would realize that you have done the Liberal party and the Liberal candidate an injustice by printing such a gross effrontery to the dignity and self-respect of our representative, Mr. Fraser.

Mr. Clapper has no more right to be the official recipient of information of this nature than has Mr. Tim Buck to open the new Civic Hospital as Prime Minister of Canada.

DAVID B. ROGERS.

554 Hamilton St., Peterborough.

ED. NOTE: Mr. Clapper received the information and it was official. Would our readers have preferred to have it suppressed?

CANNOT SEE WHY

Sir: Like "Private Citizen" I was very interested in Clapper's announcement regarding the plans for the new Federal building. As I understand it the people of this city rejected Clapper's bid to represent them in Parliament and I too fail to see why the proprietor of a sporting goods store should receive this sort of information before it has already been communicated to the Member of Parliament and the Mayor.

I take the liberty of presuming that neither of these officials had been informed of the matter, otherwise they, not Clapper would have made the announcement.

Yours truly,

The phrase "every inch a queen" would cover a lot of flesh if applied to Queen Salote Tupou, ruler of 30,000 people in the British protected South Sea Islands of Tonga. She stands six foot, two inches, and doesn't wear high-heeled shoes.

She has ruled since 1918, and recently celebrated her 50th birthday. She doesn't believe in rule by physical force, but rather by mental attainments. Educated in New Zealand, the Queen has made education compulsory in Tonga. Her people look up to her, in more ways than one.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

In those days there was no king in Israel: and in those days the tribe of the Danites sought the man inheritance to dwell in; for unto that day all their inheritance had not fallen unto them among the tribes of Israel. And the children of Dan sent of their family five men from their coasts, men of valour, from Zoran, and from Eshtaol, to spy out the land, and to search it, and they said unto them, Go, search the land: who when they came to mount Ephraim, to the house of Micah, they lodged there.

Then the five men departed, and came to Laish, and saw the people that were therein, how they dwelt careless, after the manner of the Zidonians, quiet and secure, and there was no magistrate in the land, that might put them to shame in any thing, and they were far from the Zidonians, and had no business with any man. And they came unto their brethren to Zorah and Eshtaol: and their brethren said unto them, What say ye? And they said, Arise, that we may go up against them: for we have seen the land, and, behold, it is very good, and are ye still? be not slothful to go, and to enter to possess the land.

And there went from thence of the family of the Danites, out of Zorah and out of Eshtaol, six hundred men appointed with weapons of war. And they passed thence unto mount Ephraim, and came unto the house of Micah. And they took the things which Micah had made, and the priest which he had, and came to Laish, unto a people that were at quiet and secure: and they smote them with the edge of the sword, and burnt the city with fire. (Judg. 18: 1, 2, 7-9, 11, 13, 27.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep: so shall thy poverty come as one that travelleth, and thy want as an armed man. (Prov. 6: 10, 11.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil. (Eph. 6: 10, 11.)

Hudson's Bay Scholarships

The United Kingdom Trustees of the Hudson's Bay Scholarships Trust announce that they have awarded two scholarships for the year 1950-51, for study at an approved university in Canada, to Mr. W. Farr (Cambridge University) and Mr. E. C. Stewwright (School of Economics and Commerce, Dundee).

The trust fund under which the scholarships are awarded was established to commemorate the 275th anniversary of the company's incorporation.

The value of each scholarship is $1,800 (Canadian). In addition, the transportation expenses between the United Kingdom and Canada are paid by the trustees.

A BRITISH OPINION

HOLIDAY JAUNT

Botanical Garden Surrounds Falls At Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont.—(CP)—This city's famous parks provide a constantly changing spring-to-autumn scenic attraction unrivalled in the Dominion. The 3,000 acres of park land have been developed into a great botanical garden and a museum of living plants.

Operated by the Niagara Parks Commission, the parks system extends along the Niagara river for 35 miles from Lake Erie to Lake Ontario.

Set in the lush green of the extensive parkways are the designed parks featured in an annual floral calendar. Approximately 150,000 plants are set out in the displays, which open in May with 60,000 tulips massed in a beautiful display. Most popular tulip beds are located in the Queen Victoria Park, which stretches across land facing the cataracts and in the Oakes Garden Theatre.

Lilacs share the spotlight in May in Queen Victoria Park and a new garden of 500 varieties is located in the Niagara Glen. For the iris lover, five hundred varieties have been set out at the Training School for Apprentice Gardeners, another unit of the parks system. In June peonies will be the floral calendar's feature at the training school.

Famous Rose Garden

The rose garden of Queen Victoria Park is at the peak of its beauty from June 15 until early July, but during the summer months roses also bloom in the Oakes Garden Theatre, at the Whirlpool and in other gardens along the 35-mile long parkway. When the rose garden was begun in 1914 it contained only 25 varieties, but almost every year new subjects are added.

Rhododendrons, from late in May through the early weeks of June, are displayed in Queen Victoria Park and Oakes Garden Theatre and from spring until fall the annuals, perennials and bulbs bloom in the theatre. Each year, from September until frost, hundreds of dahlias in some 50 varieties make a colorful showing.

Formal designs were decided upon for the Oakes and Rainbow gardens because of the buildings and streets, which made the creation of naturalistic or informal gardens undesirable. In these gardens the practice of carpet bedding, one of the oldest and most formal methods of planting, creates patterns in living color which follow rigid geometric design.

Mainspring of the development is the system of greenhouses, which are used in propagating and forcing houses and conservatories. Floral importations come from centres across Canada and the United States, from Edinburgh Botanical Gardens and from Kew Gardens, England.

RIMOUSKI RELIEF—Four trailer-trucks, loaded with $25,000 worth of relief supplies for the fire-levelled city of Rimouski, Quebec, line up in Nashua, NH, before beginning the long trip. Nashua was burned itself 20 years ago, so the townspeople, who know what Rimouski is going through, collected the supplies and $400 in cash

Vatican To Open Secret Archives For World Study

By ADRIENNE FARRELL

VATICAN CITY—(Reuters)—The secret archives of the Vatican, rich treasure-house of church history, are being completely modernized as a centre of research for the scholars of the world.

After nearly 10 years' work, Vatican authorities report that the labor of overhauling and cataloguing the vast store of ancient documents is now nearing completion. They hope to finish it within the year.

Founded by Pope Paul V in 1611, the archieves have been opened to students for the past 69 years.

Only now, however, has the full work of indexing them by modern methods been realized.

The buildings, which house the archives in the heart of the Vatican, are also being transformed. The "attic" reading rooms on the third floor of the Belvedere Courtyard have been opened up into large and spacious studies.

Steel linings have been provided to the bookcases and cupboards where the most precious of the documents and books are stored following a double scare from termites during the last two years. An invasion of these pernicious ants was found lodged in the thick Vatican walls within striking distance of the archives.

Scholars Visit Rome

Modernization of the archives will meet the growing needs of scholars from all over the world who come to Rome to consult the Vatican documents.

Last year, it was estimated that 253 scholars, of various nations and creeds, came to study among the Vatican archives. More than 25,000 documents were consulted and about 13,000 photocopies made.

The archives were designed by Pope Paul to preserve the records of his predecessors and to take important documents from the sacred congregations. From the end of the 17th century, they have also contained the correspondence of the Vatican secretariat of state.

Inexhaustible Mine

The archives provide an inexhaustible mine of information concerning the part played by the church in medieval and modern times in the ecclesiastical and political affairs of nations.

Among the most important are the 8,000 documents of the Castel Sant' Angelo collection, which was housed in the grim papal fortress on the banks of the Tiber until 1758.

They provide what is probably the largest collection of ancient church documents in the world.

During the war, the Vatican archivists helped to collect and preserve from destruction precious writings from convents, monasteries and churches throughout Italy. These have now been restored to their original homes.

There remain on the shelves of the Vatican several hundred thousand documents and books, placed there over the last 300 years, providing one of the richest sources of historical research material in the world.

Prairie Airline Helps Open North

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP) One of Canada's leading bush flying outfits operates over northern Saskatchewan. Its aim is to help in the development of natural resources.

Saskatchewan Government Airways, a crown corporation working northward from Prince Albert, last year flew the equivalent of 23 times around the world. It served hundreds of persons in scores of isolated settlements; freighted tons of supplies, equipment and food; and brought out some of the riches of the north.

Its services set the pace for a new chapter in fishing, trapping and mining activities in the province.

At Prince Albert headquarters are based 17 aircraft, ranging from a converted Canso flying boat to Tiger Moths, each with a use in bushland flying.

Work of the crown agency, says manager F. R. Glass, Jr., includes forest-fire detection aerial photography, air ambulance work, freighting to mining camps, hauling fresh fish, flying tourist parties and regular mail, freight and passenger service.

Six pilots are employed. Last years' revenue miles flown were 581,688.

Seek Agreement

CINCINNATI, May 25 (AP)—Representatives of 2,500,000 Presbyterians today asked the United States to seek international agreement stopping manufacture of atom and hydrogen bombs. The action was taken at the closing session of the 162nd general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States.

A. WARD SMITH EYE TOPICS

LONG-SIGHTEDNESS FREQUENT ERROR

The most common of visual conditions is popularly known as long-sightedness or Hypermetropia. A shortened form often is Hyperopia. The condition is that when an eye is looking at the horizon or when no effort at all is exerted on the focussing nerves and muscles, the focus of the distant object would be behind the retina or film layer of the eye. If such a condition of relaxation were possible, far distant, or for that matter all objects would be blurred.

Persons who are hypermetropic actually see extremely well. The lens of each eye being an elastic geletinous substance, and at the control of muscular and nervous energy, it is possible for an eye to control its hyperopia in most cases.

If each person only had one eye, Hyperopia for the most part would be reasonably comfortable. On the contrary it is necessary for the two eyes to function exactly as a pair. When any object is being regarded, each eye must direct itself exactly to that point. Indeed, a very delicate system of synchronized functions must be performed.

As Hyperopia does not usually betray itself in poor vision, its only subjective symptoms may be headaches, either at the front or back of the head, tiredness, poor digestion or general debility.

Repay Guard For Kindness

AUCKLAND, N. Z.—(CP)—Helmut Hippe has been rewarded for the kind treatment he gave 21 prisoners of war he guarded in a Saxony factory during the war.

Then a corporal in the German army, Hippe risked punishment from his superiors by smuggling extra rations to the prisoners and doing other things to make life easier for them.

One of the prisoners, Private Eric Dewe of South Canterbury, New Zealand, did not forget Hippe's kindness. He wrote to Hippe, offering to pay his fare to New Zealand and give him a job.

Hippe, who with a wife and young son had been eking out a bare existence as a draper's salesman in post war Berlin, jumped at the chance.

After a four-year battle of forms Hippe and his son recently arrived here.

Frau Hippe died before permission was granted for the family to come, but the father and son are intent on settling down as New Zealand citizens and forgetting the past.

Junior Farmers Dance Helps Manitoba Fund

ROSENEATH, May 25.—(ENS)—The Junior Farmers of Alnwick township held a dance in the L.O.L. hall on Tuesday. The proceeds of the dance are being sent to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. Prizes were given and Potters orchesra furnished music for dancing.

Reginald Timlin is president of this organization, Miss Marjory Sandercock is secretary-treasurer.

Inter-Church Group Ends Session

The inter-church Young People's group met Monday in the parish hall of St. Thomas' Anglican Church. Don Thompson, citizenship convener, was in charge of the program, assisted by Keith McGregor and Paul Sanders who gave readings.

During the business period for which Don Spicer, president, was in the chair, it was decided to donate $10 to the relief fund for Winnipeg flood victims.

Plans were made for the final fireside of the season to be held in the United Church Sunday school rooms at 8:30 p.m. next Sunday.

Plans were made also for a wiener roast to be held May 29, which will bring YPU activities for the season to a close.

The game period was supervised by Keith McGregor.

3-Man Race At Home Plate New Brooks' Shenanigan

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Everything happens in Brooklyn! It's corny but it's true.

Remember the day three men wound up on third base? The fly ball that bounced off Babe Herman's head?

The 1950 Dodgers Wednesday night added the novelty of a three-man Roman chariot race from third base to home plate that wound up an "interference" double play by Chicago Cubs. Sounds complicated. Well, it is.

The confusion in the eighth inning, was wonderful to behold. It practically chased the wrestlers off the television screens.

Jackie Robinson was on third, Gil Hodges on second. Eddie Miksis hit a ball to third base. That set it up.

The third baseman threw to the plate and catcher Mickey Owen chased Robinson back to third. When Robby arrived he found Gil Hodges also standing on the bag. Owen touched both men and the umpire ruled Hodges out.

Then Miksis headed for second base and Owen threw to Wayne Terwilliger. Although he had been ruled out, Hodges started for the plate in a three-man race with Robinson and Owen.

Down The Stretch

Down the stretch they came. Robinson was first, Hodges second and Owen third. But the finish was not critical. An objection was lodged. The relay from Terwilliger was taken by first baseman Phil Cavarretta who tagged Robinson sliding across the plate. Plate umpire Art Gore ruled Robinson out because Hodges interfered.

The official scoring was a double play—third baseman Bob Ramazzotti to Owen to Terwilliger to Cavarretta.

Oh yes, the score. Brooklyn won 6-1 with Dan Bankhead going the route for the first time.

Those Philadelphia Phils stuck right on the Dodgers' heels by blasting six runs in the eighth inning for a 6-3 edge over Pittsburg. Dick Sisler's three-run homer off Murry Dickson started the big uprising.

Shut Out Giants

Rookie Cloyd Boyer pitched fine relief ball for St. Louis Cardinals after lefty Max Lanier had to leave the game due to a pain in his shoulder. The Lanier-Boyer team shut out New York Giants, 2-0, with four hits. Montia Kennedy pitched a steady five-hit game but hits by Red Schoendienst and Stan Musial and a steal of home by Stan cost him the game.

Warren Spahn turned in his best effort of the season a three-hitter for Boston against Cincinnati, 4-1.

Rain washed out the "big game" in the American, the first of the New York Yankee-Detroit Tigers series.

Boston Red Sox clung to an early lead to down the St. Louis Browns, 7-5, for Mel Parnell's fifth victory.

Gene Bearden, the 1948 world series hero but a flop ever since bounced back with a fine relief job for Cleveland against Washington. Replacing Early Wynn in the second, Bearden allowed only four hits in 7 1-3 innings for a 5-4 decision over Joe Haynes.

Chicago White Sox came from behind to topple Philadelphia 10-7. The Sox have won only eight all season—the last three in a row. Nine Sox batters went to the plate in the eighth and five scored.

Hastings Victors

HASTINGS, May 25 (ENS) — Hastings Trent Valley League entry blasted Norham 23-2 in Hastings Park in a one-sided affair. Hastings fielded a full team for the first time and looked good. They had plenty of power at the bat and their pitching and fielding were excellent. West started on the mound and was replaced by Crowley in the fifth. Richardson took over in the top half of the eighth.

Gummer started for Norham and although hit freely, stayed out of trouble, and in the sixth was replaced by Wartman who worked hard but showed lack of experience.

Norham—Thrower, Platt, Yobsey, Runciman, Laver, Peterson, Wartman, Huckeye, Gummer.

Hastings—V. Phillips, M. Fife, M. Richardson, Ab. Beaves, M. Mueller, R. Scriver, D. West, P. J. Crowley, K. Oliver. Alternates, J. Wilson, L. Thomas, L. Stevens, B. Scott.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

Ashby's play CGE at seven Friday eve in the Bowl, followed by Marines against Westclox, to open the Girls' Softball League. The usual opening ceremony first, of course. Schedule should be in today or tomorrow. Loop umpires are Holly Mowry, Stew Richardson, Bill Leggitt and Hy Smith, with Ron Akers working the odd game. Prexy Bill Flint advises that teams playing against the junior Woollens will operate on a shorter Bowl diamond. All squads have bolstered this semester and, with fewer teams, more talent will appear on each. Ought to be a fine season for the femmes.

Men's melees there this p.m. are: East City vs. Orphans, and Mutuals vs. UEW. They served up two interesting tilts on Tuesday night with UEW finishing strong to beat East City 12-9 and mutuals riding to a 6-4 win o'er Orphans on Bob Greenlaw's two-run homer in the eighth. It might boil down into a hot four-way race yet. On paper, Mutuals have the best of it—with a strong pitching staff—but the others are showing signs of a real threat already. East City got butter fingers (or was it margene?) to kick away an early lead in a keen opening joust. And Orphans had Mutuals plenty worried all the way in the nightcap.

OLA Schedule Opens

OLA senior "A" schedule officially opens here on the morrow at 8.45 in Miller Bowl. The 1949 champs, Hamilton Tigers, oppose the new edition of the Petes, and it should be a swell scrap. Petes looked impressive in trimming Huntsville, the senior "B" title-holders, but the Tigers will be much tougher. Still, they can be beaten, too, and the homesters will hustle all the way to show the large local following that they're stronger than in the last campaign. Club had to raise the price to 60 cents for that extra provincial tax—figuring it a charge of 52 cents plus the required eight cents tax—but kids can still get in for two bits, the club absorbing that loss. And, as there are no reserve seats, the charge is the same all over the Bowl.

* * * * * *

Senior ball-playing Petes are off to Toronto tonight for another crack at the Aces, and then they're at home in Riverside on Saturday to Staffords. Beat the Aces 6-2 here on the holiday for three straight wins in the Viaduct League, and they didn't have a miscue all afternoon. Good twirling by Bill Edger — his second win in a row — after the first frame, and timely hitting, especially by Menzies, Dalton and Wilson. The Aces allowed four unearned runs with costly miscues. They used two twirlers and 'twasn't their fault. Danny Brown couldn't make it for this game, so Lefty Dadson had to fill in on first, as Stewart took third and Dalton short. A good-sized crowd on deck.

As The Roses Faded

Oh, the Roses that bloom in the summertime are still in the budding stage. The Brookdale Roses, that is, of the Lakeshore Baseball League. At least, so the intermediate Petes found yester aft down Bowan Villa way. Jake Jaquith threw a six-hitter at 'em and his buddies knocked the apple all over the garden for a nice 7-1 victory. Ray Fitzgerald toted a "distance" bat up twice to the plate to belt out homers, whilst Don Conway came through with four hits in five tries. Others went okay, also. Some 1,500 fans on deck, the ladies each receiving a rose from the sponsors. Whitby comes here Saturday to play the local Ashby-Petes squad a twilight tussles at 6.30 in Riverside, so fans can get a look at the 1950 edition.

Tennis opening day is this Saturday at the Kawartha Club—it being also guest day there for golfers. The racquet-wielders get away at 2.30 p.m. with all tennis-playing members and prospective ones invited to be on hand. Prizes for the winners with a dance and social evening in the clubhouse after the American tournament. This tourney is run on a self-handicapping system, making chances of all couples pretty well equal regardless of their class. Meantime, lots of tennis activity nightly on the Quaker courts, and the Kawartha Tennis League will start its schedule early in June.

Glen Lasswell Steals Headlines From Nags

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP) — Glenn Lasswell, the 18-year-old riding sensation of the New York turf season, is stealing the headlines from the horses.

The colorful kid out of San Ysidro, Calif., has a record of 37 winners in 26 days of New York competition, including four victories at Belmont Park Wednesday. The New York season now is 46 days old, but Lasswell sat out a 20-day suspension for rough riding at Jamaica.

Thirty of Lasswell's New York winners were ridden at Belmont, which has run 16 days, and the California kid is far in front for that meeting. He's only three victories behind Eddie Arcaro, the old master, for the New York season.

Wednesday he clicked on Gorgeous Reded ($29.30), Your Sun ($5.29)—that pair combining for an $88.80 daily double—Demon ($22.70) and Task ($13.20).

Cobourg Victorious

COBOURG, May 25.—(ENS).—Cobourg won the opening ball game here on Victoria Day, defeating Port Hope 17-2 in a game as one-sided as the score. Heavy hitters for Cobourg were Beckstead an Hogan. Cobourg pounded Woods out of the box in the third and Holman lasted until the last of the fourth, when he was replaced by Westcott, who finished. Jamieson, Cobourg pitcher, went to the eighth inning and was replaced by Campbell, but was never in any difficulty. Port Hope scored one in the third and the other in the fifth inning. Cobourg's big score came in the fourth, when they batted through the order for seven runs. A large crowd took in the opener.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

With 30 mixed rinks in attendance, almost half the membership of the club, the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club officially opened the 1950 season yesterday.

President S. Shields was brief with his address of welcome. He paid tribute to the committees who have been working hard to make the day a success.

We saw many of last year's members on the greens and many new faces. If all the other competitions coming up this season will be as well attended as was yesterday's, then our club is in for the biggest season ever.

Tonight the first ten pairs play in the President-Vice-President games.

Winners

First—Mrs. Knights, C. McIntyre, Mrs. Petrie, R. Gamble, skip.

Second—Mrs. Aitkenhead, S. Oakley, Mrs. Beatty, H. Taylor, skip.

Third—L. Bearne, K. Slodgett, Mrs. Cullen, T. Owens, skip.

Winners "Spider" contest — Mrs. R. Burns, C. Lawrence.

Bob Greenlaw Gains Tilt With A Homer

Bob Greenlaw's two-run homer in the eighth at the Bowl on Wednesday broke up a fine men's softball fray to give Mutuals a 6-4 win over the improving Orphans. A good-sized gallery saw a nip-and-tuck tilt with Orphans extending the classy Mutuals all the way. The winners used three good hurlers three innings each as Sanderson went the distance for the other side. His support was not quite as hot, though the losers generally went okay in the field. Harrison hammered out four hits in five tries for the Russelle squad and Carpenter got a double. Grafstein and Crowley each hit safely twice for the Dormer boys, the former having a two-bagger in his brace.

UE Softballers Earn Win

UEW finished strong at the Bowl on Tuesday night to earn a 12-9 men's softball decision over East City. The latter had a 7-1 lead halfway through but fell apart defensively with seven biscues as Hall, relieving Doris, held the easterners down with good support. Woods went the route for the losers, his backing breaking up a great contest in the late stages. McCarthy hit a homer and Thomas a double for the UE, the latter, along with Taylor, Pagett, Legrow, Hall and Mackness, having two blows each. Curry got three safeties, one a triple, for East City, as Wyatt had a double and single, Scriver two singles and Sullivan a three-bager. The latter had a nice catch and, UE a double play.

Petes Take Third In a Row With 6-2 Win Against Aces

Handing Toronto Aces their second loss in four starts, the Petes made it three straight Viaduct Baseball League victories here yesterday when they won 6-2 before more than 1,000 fans. Bill Edger kept eight hits scattered, but for three in the first, and whiffed seven for his second slab win of the early season. He had errorless support, while Aces were wobbly to give the Petes four unearned runs. Lefty Berry pitched till the fifth, giving way to Al Tapper.

Al Menzies hammered out two doubles and a single in four tries, while Pat Wilson and Howie Dalton each had two for four, one of the latter's being a triple, and Pat having a two-bagger. Loring Doolittle, Baz McMurray and Joe Irvine had two hits apiece for the visitors, Irvine hitting a homer into the river in deep right with none aboard in the eighth. Their first-frame run came on Calder's double, Bell's single and a two-baser by Doolittle. A double play by Aces and running grabs by Paul Estlick and Joe Lowrey were fielding features in an interesting tilt.

How They Did It

The Murphyites got two in the second on Menzies' double, an error, Estlick's walk and steal, and a bobble by McMurray on Edger's grounder. They got four in the fifth to finish it up. Edger was hit by pitcher and took second on Lowrey's sacrifice. He scored on a single by Garvey, the latter taking third on a hit by Dalton, and Howie moving up on the throw. An error by Bell let one in with Howie going to third, scoring from there later on a hit by Wilson. The latter took second on a wild pitch by Tapper, who took over then from Berry. A single by Menzies scored Pat, but Al was cut off at second, and Dadson whiffed.

Royals Trounce Bisons In Doubleheader

By The Associated Press

Tom La Sorda and Ronnie Lee are two of the smallest pitchers on the staff of Montreal Royals but they are tough customers when the chips are down.

Both La Sorda and Lee are left-handers. La Sorda stands five-feet-nine. Lee 5-11.

Wednesday the two pitched the International League's pacesetting Royals to a Victoria Day double triumph over Buffalo Bisons. Lee gained credit for the 8-5 first-game victory and La Sorda went the route in the 7-2 nightcap triumph.

Lee relieved starter Clyde King after the Bisons clouted King for four runs in the fourth inning. Lee held the Bisons to two hits and one run until he bowed out for a pinchhitter durnig a four-run rally in the eighth that gave the Royals the decision. The victory was Lee's fourth against one loss.

La Sorda stopped the Bisons on five hits in posting his second victory without a loss in the finale. The Royals scored in every inning but the first.

Spoil Leaf Day

Rochester Red Wings spoiled Victoria Day for Toronto Maple Leafs by taking two games 8-0 and 5-2.

Tom Poholsky blanked the Leafs on five singles in the opener while his mates collected nine hits, two each by Ed Mierkowicz, Steve Bilko and Hal Price.

Bill Reeder limited the Leafs to three singles in the second game. The Red Wings collected five hits but made the most of Rookie Paul Stuffel's wildness to win. Russ Derry chipped in with his seventh home run.

Baltimore Orioles edged Jersey City Giants 2-0 behind the brilliant four-hit pitching of Bob Raney. Raney allowed only two hits until the ninth when Fred Garken and Marvin Blaylock hit successive singles.

Babe Barna, with a home run and single drove in both Baltimore runs.

The scheduled game between Syracuse and Springfield was rained out.

Locals Capture Ball Win Over The Roses

By DON GRANT

The bloom was plucked Wednesday from the Bowmanville Brookdale Roses as Ashby's Peterborough intermediate team in the Lakeshore Baseball League, blasted them 7-1 in the opening game in Bowmanville.

Carmen Jaquith, a right-hander with a deluxe nothing ball, jogged through the nine-inning affair in easy fashion, scattering six hits and sending five Roses withering back to the Bowmanville bench on three strikes.

Up to the fifth inning he had only allowed one scratch single by Gallagher. Yourth started a mild rally for Bowmanville, but it was cut short by a snappy Ashby double play which retired the side. Casey, at second, Pagett at short; and Legrow, at first, featured in the play. In the sixth Gallagher slapped a triple in deep centre field and crossed the plate on the next out for the only Bowmanville tally.

Atomic Bomb

But in the fifth, Ashby's dropped an atomic bomb which resulted in six runs scoring. Sturrock's doom started with Floyd receiving a walk. Hits by Casey, Jaquith and Conway led the way for three runs. Pagett, on a fielder's choice, and Miller, a single, were chased home by Ray Fitzgerald, who dropped the first of two home runs over the right field fence.

Bun Legree replaced the fading Sturrock and managed to stop the barrage. Legree ran into trouble in the seventh but was saved by a fast double play featuring himself, the third baseman, Yourth, and the first baseman, Furey. In the ninth, with one out, Fitzgerald connected for his second home run, this time a circuit clout over the left field fence.

Don Conway again led the Ashby batters with a hot four for five. Harold Legrow had two for four, Ray Fitzgerald and Dave Casey each two for five, Gallagher for Bowmanville had three for three, while Yourth had two for four.

Legrow was robbed in the seventh of a home run when he slammed a Legree pitch into the trees in right field for a double. Don Conway had a tripe into deep centre, as did Gallagher.

Legrow pulled the feature play of the game, the old hidden ball trick. Faking perfectly (even the umpires lost track of the ball) Legrow caught Turrock off first base in the third inning to retire the side.

Line-ups:

Peterborough Ashby's—Conway, 3rd; Pagett, ss; Miller, lf, Fitzgerald, rf; Legrow, 1st McGrath, c; Floyd, cf; Casey, 2nd; Jaquith, p.

Bowmanville Brookdale Roses—Cowle, lf Vance, cf; Bagnell, cf; Gilhooley, 2nd; Yourth, 3rd Hooper, ss; Furey, 1st; Gallagher, c; Cox, rf Sturrock, p; Legree, p.

Umpires—Jack Billingsley, Peterborough, at the plate, and Norman Allen of Oshawa on bases.

White For Mourning

LEICESTER, Eng. (CP).—In obedience to a dying woman's last wish, 400 women dressed in white attended her funeral. She was Mrs. F. A. Whitbread, honorary secretary to the Ladies Bowling Association, who wanted the members to come in bowling "uniform."

Population Dilemma

BUDAL, Norway — (CP) — This little district in northern Norway has troubles. Although there are eight young bachelors there are no marriageable girls and although the district has a fine modern school there are only five children of school age.

CRACK SHOTS—A dangerous family to tangle with is the Harrison family of St. Catharines. They have three members who have all won the Expert's Award of the Dominion Marksmen's Association—highest honor to Canadian sporting rifle marksmen. Shown here with their trophies are Mrs. Lucy Harrison, 71, who scored 5958 out of a possible 6000; her son Ted, and his wife Kay, who each had perfect 6000's.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

The English international soccer team defeated Toronto All Stars 4-1 in an exhibition game at Toronto Wednesday before a crowd of about 10,000 at the Canadian National Exhibition sports field. The tourists led 2-0 at half time on goals by Charlie Vaughan, centre-forward with the English first division Charlton Athletic.

There never was much doubt about the outcome after Vaughan's first goal five minutes after the opening whistle on passes from the incomparable Stanley Matthews, dubbed "Mr. Soccer," and Ted Wainwright, inside right with the Everton English first-division team. His second goal was scored at the 21-minute mark, again on passes from Wainwright and Matthews.

Jackie Sewell, inside-right with Notts County, made it 3-0 after 51 minutes of play and Wainwright scored the clincher with only seven minutes to go. Ontario's goal was netted by Alex Ptolomey of Toronto St. Andrews spearhead of the Ontario attack, after 77 minutes of play.

J. W. Brown, president of the Canadian Standard Bred Horse Society, Wednesday criticized the Ontario government for banning night harness racing in the Toronto area. Brown is vice-president of the Thorncliffe Raceway in Toronto which opens a 42-day harness meet July 3. He told the crowd at the opening of the spring harness meet at New Hamburg that action of Premier Frost in ruling against night harness racing "is the greatest instance of class discrimination by the leader of any Canadian government since confederation."

Brown urged harness horsemen to support independent Conservative candidates in the next Ontario election as a form of protest.

The Toronto Addison Stables four-year-old colt Escador won the King Edward gold cup, feature of Wednesday's racing at Toronto's Woodbine Park before a Victoria Day holiday crowd of 22,000. Escador covered the 1 1-6 miles of the handicap for three-year-olds and up in 1.45 4-5, with Montana Sands second and Rogue third in the seven-horse field. The race carried $3,000 added. The winner paid $4.65 for a $2 winning ticket.

American-bred Prince Simon still ruled the favorite Wednesday night to win the Epsom Derby Saturday. The big colt, owned by William Woodward, New York banker, was quoted at 2 to 1 in a callover at the Victoria Club, headquarters of British bookmakers. French-owned L'Amiral eased off from 13 to 2 to 7 to 1. The Aga Khan's Khorrasan shortened from 100 to 7 to 100 to 8.

Dick Wakefield, New York Yankees' non-playing outfielder, Wednesday threatened legal action unless the New York club pays him for the time he was suspended. Right now Wakefield is collecting about $100 a day from the Yankees for not playing. Wakefield was traded to Chicago but declined to report unless the White Sox restored a pay cut given him by the Yankees. The deal was called off.

The United States' Trotting Association was sued today for $1,200,000 damages by a track operator who alleged in his action that the Association has established "a complete monopoly" over harness horse racing. John J. Carlo, a Buffalo lawyer who is part owner of harness tracks in Illinois and Michigan, filed the suits in Federal Court against the United States Trotting Association and its affiliate, the Canadian National Trotting Association.

Tommy Henrich, New York Yankees' first baseman, will leave the club in Philadelphia Friday for an examination in Baltimore by Dr. George Bennett of Johns Hopkins hospital. Manager Casey Stengel had hoped to use the veteran today against Detroit Tigers, but Henrich was unable to put any pressure on his lame left knee.

Juniors Triumph

HASTINGS, May 25.—(ENS).—Peterborough junior defeated Hastings 17-15 in an exhibition game in Hastings Park on Wednesday. Hastings built up an early lead, and, for six innings looked good but their defence fell apart and Peterborough crossed the plate seven times.

West went all the way for Hastings and pitched good, taking out ten via the strikeout. Turner started on the mound for Peterborough, but was replaced by Sullivan in the third, who pitched erratic ball, but was afforded better support. A return game has been arranged for June 3 at the Bowl.

Bats For An 89 As P-W Victors

By C. H. IRESON

The Peterborough - Whitaker Cricket Club defeated Grove School of Lakefield 154 to 110 in an exhibition match here yesterday. The School had won an earlier game 116 to 48. Grove put up a good show with H. Faulkner top scorer with 36, and they had 75 for five wickets as well as fielding good. Both sides were sharp in theier fielding. Bowling honors went to F. Booth with four for 17.

There were two outstanding performances, the 89 by Roberts and the bowling of B. Boyd in taking seven wickets for 44 runs, including the hat trick. W. Wright had 15, A. Harris 13 with J. Rollwagon with Roberts scoring freely at the other end ran the score to 142 for six. Later batsmen failed and only 12 more were added. Roberts' 89 is a local record for many seasons, and it included two sixes, 13 fours, and lasted 1½ hours.

The scores:

P-W — W. Wright 15, B. Roberts 89, E. Cotton 4, F. Booth 1, T. Scott 1, A. Harris 13, J. Rollwagon 17, F. Dyer 4, W. Tischall 0, S. Jennings 0, W. Freeman 3, E. Pelt 0 not out, extras 8—total 155.

Fall of wickets—1 for 49, 2 for 65, 3 for 65, 4 for 99, 5 for 121, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 for 152, 11 for 155.

New Zealanders May Abolish Upper House

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

WELLINGTON ,NZ —(CP)— New Zealand may this year become the only self-governing country of the British Commonwealth with a single-chamber legislature.

It is likely that a bill will be introduced in parliament to abolish the upper house, the legislative council, as at present constituted. Whether there are plans to replace it with another chamber is not known.

To abolish the present legislative council it may be necessary for the government to nominate members pledged to support the government's plans. The council is entirely a government-nominated body, on which members hold office for seven years. At present it has 31 members, of whom 25 are Labor supporters and opponents of the present government.

However, the size of the council is not fixed, so that if bills from the House of Representatives are obstructed, the government can nominate as many new members as it wishes to give it a firm majority.

The Legislative Council in recent years has played a very small part in the country's affairs. Very little legislation originates there and it has been used merely as a revising chamber to make minor changes through advisable by the government after bills have passed the lower house.

Unchanged for Years

Provision for an elective legislative council has been on the statute book for many years and merely awaits proclamation to come into effect. But in spite of many moves to end its existence the present council has survived through the years in its present form. The act at present on the statute book is now out of date and is never likely to be proclaimed.

However, the life of the council now seems definitely to be nearing an end. Prime Minister Sidney Holland twice introduced bills while leader of the opposition to abolish the upper house. His view is that at present the council is so much useless constitutional ballast which serves no good purpose and is a needless expense.

Abolition of the council as at present constituted was a plank in the National party's successful campaign at the general election last year. It undertook, however, to examine possible alternatives to "provide for some form of safeguard against hasty, unwise or ill-considered legislation," so the prospect of an elective upper house is not excluded.

It was at first believed that the government would leave this important constitutional change until more urgent tasks were completed during its first year of office.

However, the belief is now widely held in political quarters that proposals to deal with the question have already been drafted.

Will Try To Keep Religion Out Of UK Politics

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, May 25 —(CP)— Britain's main political parties are going to try to keep religion out of politics.

Labor and Conservative spokesmen agree in the House of Commons that financial provisions for church schools should remain as outlined in the 1944 education act.

Education Minister George Tomlinson and R. A. Butler, chief Conservative spokesman, said the 1944 act, which Butler piloted through parliament as education minister in the coalition government, represents the highest common factor of agreement on church schools.

"I would deplore," Tomlinson said, "any attempt to bring this issue into the hurly-burly of the ordinary political platform."

Church schools were a minor issue in Britain's February general election campaign. Some Roman Catholic spokesmen said the 1944 act represents a death sentence for Catholic schools.

Must Have Guarantee

The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, said recently that those responsible for church schools are required to satisfy the education ministry that they will be able to fulfil future obligations for building in blank-cheque fashion.

The Church of England, he said, is asked to undertake to meet "an unascertainable liability at an unascertainable time."

Under the act, "aided" voluntary schools must pay half the cost of external repairs and improvements to buildings in return for the right to appoint teachers to give denominational instruction.

Since 1944 building costs have risen sharply. Some schools say they will be unable to bear the load, and will have to revert to the status of a "controlled" school with an agreed syllabus and denominational instruction confined to not more than two periods a week.

The Independent Times said editorially it would be "unfortunate" if the demands of the education act resulted in a reduction of the number of church schools.

HAVELOCK, May 25 (ENS)— A juvenile lodge of the Orange Order was initiated in Marmora Saturday. Officers from the Mayflower juvenile Orange Lodge No. 284, Havelock, who attended the initiation were Mrs. Anson Seabrook, senior guardian, Mrs Robert Wrightly, assistant guardian and 15 members.

The organization was the responsibility of Mrs. Lindsay, Provincial Grand Lodge juvenile director. Twenty-three candidates were initiated into the new lodge, which is named The Pride of Marmora.

Those attending from Marmora were Muriel Cook, Edith Youmans, Blanche Derrett, Gail Sanderson, Glenna Ellis, Velma Wrightly, Joyce Wrightly, Lillian Toms, Norma McGowan, Iva Keating, Joan Embleton, Eileen Embleton, Betty Toms, Marla Whitney, Veletta Embleton.

Student Minister Serves At Apsley

APSLEY, May 25 (ENS)—Gordon Hendra, a student at Wycliff College, Toronto, is stationed in the village to serve this Anglican Parish for the summer months. A service was conducted in St. George's Church on Sunday evening for the first time since the interior has been re-decorated.

Teach Canadian Art To Arctic Children

OTTAWA — (CP) — Eskimos and Indian children in the Arctic will get a chance to study Canadian art from paintings by artist A. Y. Jackson.

This was decided at a recent meeting of the Northwest Territories Council presided over by Deputy-Commissioner Roy A. Gibson.

Mr. Jackson spent some time in the north last summer and made a number of sketches which will be put on silk screens, one for each Eskimo and Indian school in the Northwest territories. In addition, each child will receive a small print of the picture to take home.

A special committee headed by Mrs. Irene Baird has been selected to choose the pictures.

The committee consists of James Wright, C. H. K. Caplain and E. N. Grantham.

Saskatchewan Now Flies 17 Aircraft

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Since its inauguration Aug. 15, 1947, the Saskatchewan Government Airways has grown from a couple of small planes on forest patrol work to 17 aircraft serving every settlement in the northern section of the province.

The airways' energetic manager, Floyd Glass, said it was realized that if the north was going to develop at all, residents had to have faster means of travel than just canoe or dog team. The government airways provided that service by operating scheduled flights on four routes to every settlement.

Government business is only a small part of the airways' operations. It is licensed by the Air Transport Board for charter service from bases at Prince Albert, La Ronge and Goldfields. Any one of the scheduled flights may be interrupted at a licensed base for the plane to take men and freight of all kinds to the inaccessible spots.

It has been known for a flight to take a prospecting party clear across the Barren Lands almost to the Arctic Ocean.

When Mr. Glass first took off in his plane to plan the routes and the service, he had no radio and actually was going into the unknown. Today, he has a group of former R.C.A.F. pilots and engineers under his control whose equal for the work they do "can't be found anywhere."

Versatile Pilots

The pilots are called upon to take up any one of the aircraft—a Norseman, Beaver, Stinson or Canso—and not one plane has yet been involved in a serious accident.

In addition to flying passengers, mail and freight into the various settlements, they engage in forest patrol work, aerial photography and fisheries work. They also fly in supplies for schools, hospitals and transport officials.

Winnipeg-Edmonton

The government airways, in addition to its flying activities, operates here the only commercial aircraft overhaul shops between Winnipeg and Edmonton. The shops can handle aircraft engines up to 900 horse-power and can build airframes up to 20,000 pounds. Planes from Churchill and other northern Manitoba points, Waterways and northern Alberta come to the Prince Albert shop for overhaul and repair.

The airways also is a boon to the tourist trade. Fishing and hunting parties are continually being flown into northern areas, adding many tourist dollars to the province's coffers.

CMA President Requests Wide Study of World Affairs

TORONTO, May 25 —(CP)—A warning against the evils of complacency was given by M. A. East, Saskatoon, in the presidential address at the 79th annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here today.

Mr. East told Canada's industrialists at the opening-day luncheon that the Dominion, along with other democratic nations, is convinced that it is futile to negotiate with aggressors on a foundation of unpreparedness and vacillation.

"Failure to recognize and to attempt to deal with conditions adverse to peace and recovery is the wrong policy," said Mr. East, who at 45 is one of the youngest presidents in the history of the CMA. "It is not wise or prudent to be so engrossed with national affairs that study and action in regard to world matters may be neglected.

"Five years ago it was hoped that peace had been won. Technically, victory had been achieved, but in reality wars went on, and are being continued in great areas of the world. Efforts to maintain peace and promote recovery have been beset with difficulties and delays and the international machinery which was established has not fulfilled expectations.

"As a result, rumors of a third world war are casting their shadows. The democratic nations, who were victors in the two world wars, tried to avoid both, and are using every practical method to avoid a third. They believe, however, that there is a more dreadful calamity than war. Slavery is worse."

Mr. East praised the free enterprise system, which places emphasis on thrift and elimination of waste.

"Experiments in nationalization plans must be firmly resisted," he said. "The policy of the British Commonwealth and Empire, and of the United States during their expansion over many generations, has been based on the ability and enterprise of individuals. What they have achieved is proof of the wisdom of that policy and, if it is hoped to attain further success, it should be continued."

Mr. East denied that industrial development in Canada was out of proportion to other activities. Manufacturing, he said, employed only a little more than a fifth of the total labor force and this figure indicated plenty of scope for further expansion.

Mr. East concluded by discussing the question of unemployment, but he suggested that the problem, grave as it always was, must be kept in proportion. He stated that Canadian manufacturers had indicated belief in the future of the country by the investment of more than $7,000,000,000 in plants. This, he said, was a good omen for the future.

Following Mr. East's address, J. T. Stirrett of Toronto, general manager of the CMA, presented his annual report.

The report dealt at some length with the activities of the association for the last year, with particular stress being laid on domestic and foreign trade, the effect of currency revaluations, international tariff and trade conferences, labor relations and the freight rates problem. The membership, he reported, was at an all time peak of 6,417.

27 Guerrillas Killed

SEOUL, Korea, May 25 (AP)—The defence ministry Tuesday reported 27 guerrillas from Communist North Korea were killed Sunday 70 miles north of Seoul. That, it said, completed an army wipe-out of 700 guerrillas who came down from the north March 27.

C.C.F. CANDIDATE—Rev. J. W. A. Nicholson, retired United Church minister, is the C.C.F. candidate in the June 19 federal by-election in Halifax. Mr. Nicholson is a native of Oban, N.S. The vacancy in the dual Halifax constituency was caused by the appointment of Gordon B. Isnor to the Senate. John Dickey, Liberal, is the other member.

Quebec Wealthy With Varied Mineral Regions

MONTREAL, May 25. — (CP). —Premier Duplessis' statement last week that "vast" deposits of copper exist in the Gaspe Peninsula underlines the remark once made by one of his deputy ministers that almost everything but diamond has been discovered in Quebec's mineral regions.

The premier did not indicate the exact location of the Gaspe copper but he said there were "deposits of millions of tons." He also referred to the existence of "some oil" in Gaspe but said the finds so far are worth scarcely more than a mention.

It was tthe province's deputy mines minister, A. O. Dufresne, who said late last year that "almost everything but diamonds has been found in the province's undersoil."

There is even a possibility that diamonds may be found. A month ago the mines department reported areas of peridotite in the Abitibi district of northwest Quebec. Peridotite is a rock associtaed with diamonds elsewhere in the world. Although searches are going on in Abitibi, the department has as yet reported no diamond finds.

Valuable List

But diamonds or not, Quebec's list of minerals contains most of the valuable ones found elsewhere in the world.

Gold leads the metals list with almost $27,000,000 produced in the 1948-49 fiscal year. That is almost 1-6 of the province's $150,000,000-a-year mineral production.

Asbestos heads the non-metallic list with an annual value of $42,000,000. Quebec accounts for 80 per cent of the world's production.

Besides the commoner minerals, Quebec has metals such as uranium, the stuff behind the atom bomb, and titanium, a shiny metal used in white paint and certain alloy steels.

Government analysists have confirmed existence of uranium at Portneuf, near Quebec City, but no one has yet been able to determine the economic value of the deposits.

Other Production

At Allard Lake, 400 miles east of Quebec City and 27 miles inland from the Gulf of St. Lawrence, a mining company is preparing to produce titanium ore. The deposits are said to be among the world's largest and could make North America independent of imports from India, the present source.

Probably the most valuable of all Quebec's mineral deposits lies in northeast Quebec where plans are ready for a $200,000,000 development to exploit the 300,000,000 tons of iron ore already proven there.

Sarah Churchilll Tries Hand In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLWOOD, May 25 (AP)—Sarah Churchill, an actress with red hair and a famous father, reported for her first Hollywood movie this week.

The actress' father is Winston Churchill, noted for laying bricks, painting pictures, writing books and other accomplishments. She is here for a part in "Royal Wedding" with Fred Astaire, Peter Lawford and probably Judy Garland. The latter appears set to replace June Allyson, who dropped from the cast to have a baby.

"My father was very interested in this assignment," said Miss Churchill who has just returned from introducing her new husband, photographer Anthony Beauchamp, to her father: "He has always been interested in my career."

Broke Tradition

She admitted that her father was surprised when she forsook the traditional family field of politics.

"My sister Diana trained to be an actress, but she retired when she married a politician," Miss Churchill said. "My younger sister married a politician, and my brother Randolph became a politician and journalist, I turned out differently."

But despite the family's surprise at her chosen profession she declared there has never been any opposition from them.

Winnie Could Act

"My father might do very well as an actor if he ever gave up politics, brick-laying, and painting," she said.

Miss Churchill recently toured the United States in "the Philadelphia Story." It was during the Los Angeles run that she was picked for the "Royal Wedding" role by producer Arthur Freed. She will play an English dancer with whom Fred Astaire falls in love. She doesn't yet know whether she'll dance in the film, but she's ready for it.

Trent River WA Group Plans June Sports Day

TRENT RIVER, May 25 (ENS) —Mrs. Ross Polock presided at the meeting of Group 4 of the Women's Association of the United Church when the May meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Harold Vanvolkenburg. Mrs. John Scott read the 24th Psalm. Parcel post sale cards were distributed among the members, and there was discussion about the bazaar which is to be held at an early date in the church dining hall. The group has four appliqued quilts ready for sale. Plans were made for the sports day which is to be held at the home of Mrs. Frank McLaughlin in June.

Mrs. Walter Lewis, program convener, presented the following program: Readings by Mrs Frank Openshaw and Mrs. T. K. Thompson, solo by Mrs. John H. Scott. Mrs. Hughes was presented with a gift prior to her departure to live in Oshawa. The preture to live in Oshawa. The presentation was made by Mrs. F. McLaughlin and Mrs. Ross Polock read the address. Mrs. Thomas Wight, Mrs. Steve Deline, and Mrs. Thomas Thompson were contest prize-winners. Lunch was served by the hostesses.

Death Toll 33

SOUTH AMBOY, N.J., May 25 —(AP)—The death toll in Friday's munitions blast climbed to 33 Wednesday as state police announced identification of two more victims.

Buck Benny Rides On Indianapolis Track

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25 (AP) —Buck Benny rode again Wednesday, streaking down the main stretch of the Indianapolis motor speedway at a reckless 15 miles an hour.

The radio comedian's pace was just 100 miles too slow to qualify the 1904 Maxwell for the 500-mile race next Tuesday, however. He and his daredevil driver, Rochester, got the black flag to get off the track.

Benny, Rochester, Vivian Blaine and Phil Harris disrupted the stern routine of the speedway. Regular activity was suspended while the Benny troupe took over.

MONTREAL, May 25th — If you're a busy housewife — and these spring days seem to be times of great activity around the house — you're sure to appreciate the time-saving qualities of Jell-O. Tempting, tangy desserts can be whipped up in a matter of minutes with JELL-O JELLY POWDERS — and don't think the family won't appreciate the gay and colourful salads that can be quickly and easily prepared, too. The seven exciting "locked-in" flavors make Jell-O one of the most versatile products on the market. Yet you can enjoy Jell-O for less than 2c a serving.

Imagine Yourself in the Cocoanut Grove where Hollywood stars gather every night! And there — at a table near you, is June Allyson! She's lovely, isn't she? She knows that your admiring glances are a measure of her success. And she knows, too, that the WOODBURY POWDER she wears (in flattering Natural) plays a big part in her loveliness! June is one of the Hollywood stars who chose Woodbury Powder six to one in response to a recent survey. A unique ingredient in Woodbury Powder gives the smoothest, satiny finish you've ever known! Infinitely fine-textured and enchantingly fragrant — this exquisite powder clings for hours! And there are seven divine shades to choose from . . . 19c, 37c and 65c!

The Season's Here for tub-wash dresses and here's a hint to save you time, trouble and money! Soap and water alone won't remove grease spots, tar or fresh paint from your summer washables. But ENERGINE CLEANING FLUID removes these spots quickly and completely without leaving telltale rings or clinging odor. Energine is absolutely safe — contains no acids nor caustics, will not harm the most delicate fabrics nor affect colour of fast-dyed material — cotton, lace, rayon, silk, chiffon. And use it to remove unsightly stains on your slip covers made by greasy hands or oily hair dressings. 'Nuff said? And only 25c at drug and department stores.

Your Dreams Come True when you sleep "like an angel" on a heavenly-soft "AIRFOAM" mattress ("Airfoam" pillows, too!) Yes truly, the Goodyear, Super-Cushioned "Airfoam" mattress is a miracle of comfort! It's pillowy, featherlight latex foam — whipped to a frothy, air-filled texture, then molded and permanently "set"! Its soft resiliency supports every inch of your body easily and correctly. It's clean as clean can be — for it's repellent to germs and vermin and neither creates nor holds dust! Cool in the summer — cozy in the winter — it lasts many winters and summers longer! What's more — a Goodyear "Airfoam" mattress lightens housework — for it needs no turning! To find out ALL about it — simply write to me — Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. — for your FREE COPY of the amusingly illustrated "Goodyear Airfoam" booklet!

Best Way I Know to mothproof your winter woollens while you wear your summer silks is to do just what the big woollen mills do! . . . Mothproof with LARVEX! No need to wrap and store winter clothes out of reach of moths. One "Larvex" spraying actually mothproofs the cloth itself for a whole year! Larvex is so sure . . . moths will starve to death rather than eat anything treated with it! It's so quick . . . just spray the garment with Larvex and hang it in its usual place — ready for immediate wear — for there's no "moth-ball" odour at all! Larvex is inexpensive, too. Costs no more to "Larvex" a suit than to have it dry-cleaned!

I Believe In Buying Lemons By The Dozen — for their zesty, tangy tartness not only does "luscious" things to tea, fruit and vegetable juices, salad dressings and all kinds of dessert and pies — but to fish dishes like this:—

SALMON CORN RING

Corn Ring
3 cups canned whole kernel corn
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
4 tablespoons melted butter
1 1/2 cups crushed crackers
2 eggs, beaten
1/4 cup undiluted evaporated milk

Salmon
4 cups (2 lbs. canned salmon)
1/4 cup melted butter
3 tablespoons Sunkist lemon juice

Drain corn, add seasonings, half of melted butter. Place remaining melted butter in 8-inch ring mold, pack half the corn into mold. Mix 1 cup crackers with eggs and milk and add to remaining corn. Pack firmly into mold on first layer, top with rest of crackers. Bake in hot oven (425 deg. F.) 25 minutes. Flake salmon, heat with melted butter and lemon juice. Turn out corn ring on platter, fill centre with hot salmon. Serves 6.

Just one more thing:—when you're buying lemons, be sure they're SUNKIST CALIFORNIA LEMONS—they're the finest, juciest grown!

I Didn't Know how good Lemon Pie could be — 'til I tasted this wonderful pie made with DURHAM CORN STARCH! Here's the recipe, by Ann Adam — so no wonder it's delicious! . . .

LEMON PIE

Measure into double boiler, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 4 tbspns. Durham Corn Starch, and 1/4 tspn. salt; combine well. Gradually stir in 1 1/2 cups boiling water. Cook over low, direct heat, stirring constantly, until smoothly thickened; cover and cook over boiling water, stirring occasionally, until no raw flavour of starch remains — about 8 minutes longer. Stir into 3 slightly-beaten egg yolks; return to double boiler and cook, stirring constantly, 2 minutes. Remove from heat, stir in 1 tspn. grated lemon rind, 1/4 cup lemon juice and 1 tbspn. butter. Cool slightly, turn into baked and cooled pie shell. Beat 3 egg whites stiff but not dry; gradually beat in 6 tbspns. sugar; beat until meringue will stand in peaks. Cover filling with meringue, bringing it out to touch the pastry edge. Bake in a slow oven, 300 deg. F., until golden brown.

Look for this Ann Adam recipe, together with other Ann Adam favourites, on the new, easy-to-open Durham Corn Starch package!

Now That Warmer Weather is almost here — Gossard are ready with their superbly cool cotton mesh foundation. SPORTSMANSHIP IN "CANADA UNLIMITED"

From a Liverpool, N.S., dock, schoolmaster Thomas Pattilo and a friend pulled away . . . determined to test the tuna as a game fish. Near the fishing fleet they dropped an eight-inch homemade hook and 30 fathoms of codline.

Suddenly a tuna struck . . . their dory shot through the fleet. Angry fishermen watched them swamp a small boat, then slashed their line. But Pattilo was undaunted. Later in 1871 he tried again . . . and landed a gleaming, 600-pound blue-fin. Tuna fishing, for sport, had been born.

Good sportsmanship and teamwork made Canadians the first to try the tuna as a game fish. And teamwork with sportsmanship helps you, too. Together they keep your opportunities for work and play in Canada . . . unlimited.

THE PETERBOROUGH LOCK MANUFACTURING CO. LTD.

Statement Of The Strike Situation

To Our Employees and Citizens of Peterborough

In an advertisement in the Examiner you were informed of the earnings and conditions prevailing in our factory.

You also have been advised that the Conciliation Board recognized that wages and holidays granted by us to our employees were the best in the Lock industry and furthermore that this Company could not afford to grant any further increases.

This Company has always paid as high wages as any other company in the same line of business. We are not concerned with the rates paid by large industries not comparative to ours.

It is generally agreed by intelligent people that in order to compete in business, conditions must be equitable. Below is shown our minimum job rates and those paid by other Lock manufacturers in Canada:

MINIMUM JOB RATE	Male	Female
Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co. Ltd.	.93	.82
Belleville Lock Co. Ltd.	.89	.70½
Corbin Lock Co.	.80	.65
Stratford Brass Ltd.	.87	.68
Taylor Forbes Ltd.	.90	.75
Toronto Lock Co.	.75	" .65
Yale & Towne Ltd.	.90	.70

The above minimum job rates are reached automatically once the employee has completed the probationary period. Our starting rates also are considerably higher than those of our competitors, e.g.:

Company Name	Men	Girls
Peterborough Lock	.84	.70
Stratford Brass	.66	.50
Corbin Lock	.75	.58
Toronto Lock	.70	.60

There are several other smaller firms with rates even lower than these.

Incentives are added to above Peterborough rates bringing earnings of productive piece-workers to averages mentioned below.

Again we record the employees average earnings for the last quarter:

1. All employees (including boys and girls) - 1.09½
2. Male Productive Workers - 1.21
3. Female Productive Workers - .93

These rates are the highest paid by any lock manufacturer in Canada and away above the community average. Our union has signed contracts with two of our competitors at lower rates than ours.

HOLIDAYS WITH PAY

EIGHT PAID SATUTORY HOLIDAYS ARE ALLOWED

Between 1 year to 5 years' service ..... 1 weeks holidays with pay
Between 5 years' to 20 year' service ..... 2 weeks holidays with pay
Over 20 years' service ..... 3 weeks holidays with pay

We question if the U.E.W. has a better contract as regards holidays with any other firm in Canada. These holidays cost us over $33,000.00 yearly.

Our profits were practically nil for the first four months of this year. One of our competitors mentioned above reduced their prices on kick plates practically 15% on May 12th. This is a line on which no profit was shown even at higher prices.

During the last six months certain locksets and glass knobs were reduced as much as 25% and there are further reductions in the offing if we are to secure orders.

We are not a large or wealthy firm. Our Cash Reserves are small and as advised previously practically fifty cents of every sales dollar is paid out in wages. On top of this we have through the years granted Pensions, Profit Sharing and Insurance. This was done voluntarily, long before UEW stepped into our shop.

Our new owners, Bowser Inc. generously continued to pay Pensions, and when conditions warranted granted higher wages. Indeed they were so generous in this respect as you will see from comparative figures that we really priced ourselves out of the market, and due to high wages and high wages only, our sales are 25% lower for the first four months of this year than they were in 1949.

If the strike continues it is very problematical if we can afford to continue Pensions. These Pensions are paid from our earnings. The cost of Pensions and Group Insurance amounts to over 11% of our Capital Stock. This has been granted by our Shareholders as an object of goodwill. We question if any other business in Canada equals this record. The strike in addition to loss of business is eating into our Cash Reserves.

WHAT IS BEHIND THE ACTION OF THE UEW NO. 527 STRIKE COMMITTEE?

WHO ARE THEY?

DO THEY WANT TO DESTROY FREE ENTERPRISE?

WHY DID THEY FORCE FAIR MINDED EMPLOYEES TO ASK FREE FOOD ON THE STREETS OF PETERBOROUGH TWO DAYS AFTER THE STRIKE BEGAN?

ARE THEY FAIR MINDED?

ARE THEY STICKERS FOR ACCURACY?

They recently stated in an advertisement that the Company's profits for 1949 were the largest in their history. Actually the profits for 1949 were disappointingly small, being less than half those of 1948, and some of the officials of the Company took reductions in salary and further reductions have been taken this year.

Their statement regarding earnings is an example of dozens of other erroneous ones which they use as propaganda to create ill-will and dissatisfaction among our employees.

This Company, established in 1885, is one of the oldest in the city. We would again repeat that we have paid down through the years as high wages as any paid in the industry. Above all we want pleasant relations in our plant and the granting of Pensions, Holiday Pay and Insurance for our employees before any other Lock manufacturers in Canada, should show that we try to practice what we preach.

One would think that under these conditions U.E.W. would be satisfied. They are not. This Union does not negotiate—they threaten. We have been trying to explain our position since last September.

Remember this Company has no objection to INTELLIGENT UNIONISM.

In the meantime our back-log of orders is shrinking rapidly through cancellations and orders are going past us to our competitors. Spring and Summer are flitting past, then comes Autumn and Winter, when orders are small and work hard to get.

WORKERS OF THE PETERBOROUGH LOCK MFG. CO.

We know the great majority of you are fair minded and intelligent. To you we say either force your Committee to act intelligently or establish a new Union. DO THIS BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE.

The owners of this Company, Bowser Inc. are 100% behind local Management. Generally speaking our owners have satisfactory labour relations. However in the case of one Union, who acted as UEW No. 527 are now acting, Bowser Inc. were forced to close down the Fostoria Screw Company of Fostoria, Ohio, as they could not pay the high wages demanded. Fostoria Screw Company was one of the largest screw companies in the U.S.

"Bowser sold the Company to a purchaser, who was unable to continue the business due to the unfair demands of the Union. This Company was liquidated, the machinery sold, and went out of business, although it had been continuously in operation since 1912."

Owners are very much dissatisfied with the actions of U.E.W. No. 527. We have been increasing our wages for the past four or five years and there comes a time when we cannot grant any further increases.

This is to advise that if the strike continues very much longer, there is a strong possibility that this 65 year old Peterborough firm will close down completely. Incidentally we have been approached to move to a neighboring Province from which practically 50% of our business eminates. REMEMBER, A STRIKE IS A VICTORY FOR NO ONE. ACT BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE.

We have been approached by a number of our employees who would like to go back to work, but thep are being intimidated by the U.E.W.

We shall be glad to hear from you and see you back again. We would again point out that Wages, Pensions, Insurance and Holidays granted are far in excess of any in the industry.

We might say that our Pay Roll for the past year ran over $600,000. This will continue if we have the co-operation of our employees.

Remember this Company cannot afford to pay higher wages without going into liquidation. This we do not intend to do. THIS IS FINAL.

THE PETERBOROUGH LOCK MANUFACTURING CO. E. H. HOWSON, President.

OUR BUSINESS IS DOMINION WIDE. ONLY $14.75 OUT OF EVERY THOUSAND DOLLARS IS SOLD IN PETERBORO (OR 1½%). THE REST OF OUR PRODUCT IS SHIPPED FROM ATLANTIC TO PACIFIC.

Boys Must Work Duri ng Holidays To Pay Cost Of Cobou rg Break-Ins

COBOURG, May 25.—(ENS).—Eight juveniles, all collegiate students, with the exception of one boy who left school Tuesday, appeared before R. B. Baxter, judge of the juvenile court, on charges of breaking and entering and theft.

Judge Baxter reminded the boys that he could send them to the boys' training school if he saw fit. He directed each boy to earn, during the summer holidays, the amount of money to be paid back to those who were robbed and to cover damage to premises caused by breaking into them.

The charges covered break-ins at the collegiate, a $175 store robbery and a break-in at the public school and a lumber yard office. One boy's case was adjourned owing to the absence of his parents.

Sets Up Manitoba Fund Alnwick Community

ROSENEATH, May 25.—(ENS).—A public meeting of the citizens of Alnwick township was held in the township hall, Roseneath, on Tuesday to set up a central committee through which all money for Manitoba Flood Relief Fund should be sent. The community is anxious to aid the flood sufferers and is appealing to the various organizations to assist individually rather than through a house to house canvass.

The Rev. R. C. White was appointed chairman of the committee. Silas Sherwin is secretary, and A. J. Campbell, treasurer. Final date for the work of the committee will be June 15.

An emergency meeting of Alnwick Red Cross was called and a donation of $50 was voted to the Winnipeg Red Cross to aid the people in the flood areas. Mr. James Brown, treasurer, has forwarded the money to Winnipeg.

Moderator Attends Anniversary Service

NORWOOD, May 25—(ENS)—The Rev. Dr. C. L. Cowan, moderator of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, was guest speaker at the evening service at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Sunday, when the church anniversary was celebrated.

Special music at the morning service included a quartet by Miss Barbara Davey, Miss Shirley Godin, Miss Jacqueline Rogers and Miss Barbara Cuthbertson and an anthem.

In the evening a male quartet from Hastings United Church sang. The church was decorated for the anniversary. Dr. Cowan's visit was the first by the church moderator to St. Andrew's.

Ask Agreement Like U.S. Plant

WINDSOR, May 25 (CP) — George Burt, Canadian director of United Automobile Workers (CIO), said Wednesday his union would press to gain benefits for employees of General Motors of Canada Limited, equal to those obtained at Tuesday's settlement between the union and General Motors in the United States.

The UAW has been negotiating at Windsor and Oshawa plants of General Motors since early April.

Mr. Burt said the negotiations should "be able to work out a satisfactory agreement soon on our demands, which are similar to those which have now been settled in the United States."

The United States agreement provided a five-year contract giving General Motors workers a 19-cent economic package and $100 retirement pensions.

WMS Bazaar Proceeds Exceed Sum Of $140

Those helping in the kitchen were Mrs. Bert Scott, Mrs. Thos. Stevenson, Mrs. Samuel Buck, Miss Rose Squires.

Those in charge of home baking tables: Mrs. Armar Weir, Mrs. Lewis Freeburn, Miss Pauline Weir; fancy work, aprons, and hand painted pictures, Mrs. Rork Ferguson, Mrs. George Irving, Mrs. John Marks; vegetables, potted plants, Miss Mima Carter, Mrs. Robert Leeper, Mrs. Elsworth Hogg.

New Development

HULL, England, May 25 (CP)—A Hull firm has developed a lightweight aluminum pack for use in the packing of freshly landed fish. The fish, washed, filleted and cut into family portions, is kept fresh for 60 hours at normal temperatures, or indefinitely if frozen. Many experts had considered it impossible to produce such a pack economically.

Praying For War

BOSTON, May 25 (AP)—The people behind the Iron Curtain are praying for war between the United States and Russia to deliver them from oppression, according to Representative Walter H. Judd (Rep. Minn.). Judd told the Northern Baptist convention Wednesday night that in five eastern European countries he visited within the Soviet sphere he found the people have "such a hatred for their oppressors that they are praying for war."

Supper hostesses were: Mrs. H. Raper, Mrs. P. Stinson, Mrs. S. Snelgrove and Mrs. F. G. Stinson.

Vancouver Museum Mostly Kept In Crates

VANCOUVER (CP). — Vancouver has one of the best museums in Canada, but it is mostly in crates. And as the saying goes, you can't tell one item from another without a program, but there is no program.

Despite these handicaps, more than 1,000,000 adults and swarms of children clamber to the public library attic each year to browse around what is, in effect, an illustrated history text.

The only person to register disappointment recently was a youth who groused because the small-arms display had been removed. It was taken out because somebody cut the glass with a diamond and stole some guns.

The cramped attic holds only a fraction of the specimens owned by the city. The rest are carted in the basement.

Curator T. P. O. Menzies says there are more than 1,000,000 valuable items on hand, which could fill the entire library building.

Roseneath News

Mrs. Thomas Shaw and daughter Heather, of Cobourg, are guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sandercock.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sherwin were Mr. Hedley Sherwin, Cobourg; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mortlock, Peterborough, and Mr. Frank Shearer, Harwood.

Mr. Thomas Turk, Mr. Everett Turk and daughter Linda, Cold Springs, were dinner guests on Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brown.

The Misses Nellie and Irene Hearns are spending a few days in Cobourg.

S. Africa Mines Under Handicap

JOHANNESBURG. — (CP) — The South African gold mining industry is losing about 50,000 working days every year due to the high rising incidence of pneumonia among mine laborers from tropical areas during their stay in South Africa.

Tropical natives umber approximately 40,000 among nearly 314,000 native laborers employed by the gold mining industry. Statistics compiled at the South African Institute for Medical Research by Dr. David Ordman, indicate that in the last 10 years there has been a steady rise in the incidence of pneumonia from 50 to 125 per 1,000 a year, or from 2,000 to 5,000 actual cases.

To combat this adverse human and economic factor in the mining industry, Dr. Ordman has been conducting research into control of pneumonia and the preparation of more effective prophylactic.

He has recommended that all natives coming from tropical regions should have two injections of the vaccine at the time of their recruitment at an interval of a week and a third one on arrival at Johannesburg.

Dr. Ordman attributes the high rate or pneumonia among tropical natives to two main factors: the germs of the local natives to which they are not accustomed and the general lowering of resistence to their own germs under the new conditions of life, a colder climate and the rigors of mining work.

The pneumonia incidence rate among South African native mining laborers has remained unchanged for several years at under 25 per 1,000 per year.

Preservation of Wine Cellar Pet Project of Three Govts.

By WILLIAM BOSS

LONDON, May 25.—(CP).—Historic relics are at once a source of revenue and of affection to increasingly dollar-conscious Britain. They're wonderful magnets for tourists, and they appeal to the country's consciousness of its past.

The two-fold appreciation is shared by Britons of whatever political outlook, and the efforts to save souvenirs, however bulky or apparently unmanageable, continue under successive Governments.

Preservation of Henry VIII's wine cellar has been a cherished task of first a Conservative, then a Coalition and finally a Labor Government, which is just about to finish a job begun 10 years ago.

Built 400 years ago as part of the basement—though still on ground level—of the palace of Whitehall, it originally belonged to Cardinal Wolsey and later to King Henry.

Looks Like Shed

Outside it resembles nothing more than an oversize brick shed, 62 feet long, 32 wide and 29 feet six inches deep.

But inside it is famous for its vaultings and columns, so famous that an outcry arose when it was proposed in 1938 to demolish it to make way for a modern block of office buildings in Whitehall. Its exterior couldn't harmonize with the proposed block and it would have used up valuable space. So it was proposed to sink it 20 feet.

The work is almost done. The building was ribbed with steel, put on rollers and—a quarter of an inch at a time— it was moved 43 feet.

Then the original site was excavated, underpinnings sunk and the building first moved at the same rate, then lowered 1-16th of an inch at a time to its new foundation.

No piece of Dresden china was more carefully handled. When finally the cellar came to rest the cracks in its structure were no more serious than before, and even the rubble stonework of its interior, which could have crumbled into powder if jarred, was intact.

The 800-ton masterpiece was preserved, and visitors to Britain may see it "by special arrangement" by going through the new block when completed.

Commented the Daily Telegraph: "There is no record of any comparable achievement anywhere in the world."

Postpone Decisions

LONDON, May 25—(Reuters)—Trade union and Labor party chiefs Wednesday postponed crucial decision which are expected soon to inaugurate a new drive to raise the living standards of Britain's lowest-paid workers.

Convict Unionists Of Conspiracy

LOCKPORT, N.Y., May 25 (AP)—Two officials of the United Auto Workers (CIO) were convicted Wednesday night of conspiracy in connection with strike violence at the Bell Aircraft Corporation near Niagara Falls, N.Y., last year.

The jury found three other men guilty of riot.

Eight other unionists were acquitted. All 13 were tried on both charges.

Martin Gerber, Elizabeth, N.J., regional UAW director, and Edward F. Gray, Buffalo, N.Y., subregional director, were those convicted of conspiracy, a misdemeanor for which the maximum penalty is one year in prison and $500 fine.

Those found guilty of riot were Joseph Blachowitz and Joseph Ippolito, both of Buffalo, and Donald Fried of Hamburg, N.Y.

Riot is a felony for which there is a maximum penalty of five years in prison and $1,000 fine.

Fried is a member of the United Steelworkers (CIO). The other defendants belong to the UAW.

Judge John S. Marsh set next Thursday for sentencing of the five convicted.

Say Blows On Head Killed Woman In Hotel

WINDSOR, May 25 (CP)—Mrs. Margaret Cody, 53, of Windsor, whose battered, nearly-nude body was found Tuesday in a downtown hotel room, met death as a result of blows on the head, Dr. C. V. Mills, coroner, said on Wednesday.

Two men are held for questioning.

Police are continuing investigations into the slaying of the slight, grey-haired woman. They have not said whether any charges will be laid.

Hush-Hush Project

PRETORIA, South Africa, May 25.—(AP).—The Union of South Africa has launched a "hush hush" uranium production project which government leaders think will help the west maintain world atomic supremacy. Qualified informants connected with the project disclosed Wednesday that a number of pilot plants have swung into production at key points along the rich Witwatersrand golf reef.

ly get down to the tough problem of just what kind of a pension scheme it should propose for the government's consideration.

Two proposals which may be considered by the committee as ways of bettering the present system are:

1. A pension of $40 a month for all those 70 and over without a means test, that is they will be able to obtain the pension whether they have sufficient means to maintain themselves or not.

2. A pension of $40 a month for all those 65 and over with the current means test still a hurdle to be passed.

Garson Defends

gave notice that the session's pre-prorogation drive will start June 1, with morning, afternoon and evening sittings five days a week beginning on that date.

In the flood debate, Mr. Garson said the Manitoba overnment had been seriously misjudged by many persons who did not have a full knowledge of the facts.

No Complaints

When he visited Winnipeg last week-end, he said, he had expected, in view of press criticism, to hear a "blast" against the government from municipal authorities. However, the municipalities had no complaints. They had been warned by provincial authorities six months ago and had made preparations against the flooding.

Farmers, as a result of experience gained in the 1948 flood, made plans to evacuate stock, grain and equipment, although it must be conceded that no amount of preparation could cope with a flood of the magnitude that eventually developed, Mr. Garson said.

Still, he added, "that does not sound like lack of foresight."

The Manitoba Government has spent $1,750,000 in getting pumps, sandbags and other equipment to the municipalities. In addition, they were given engineering advice and, in farming areas, hay was provided for stranded cattle and assistance given in the evacuation and care of 9,000 head of cattle.

Fleming Raps Mail Suspension

OTTAWA, May 25 (CP)—Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) protested in the Commons Wednesday against the action of the post office in suspending the mailing privileges of the Lions Club of Leaside, Toronto suburb.

He said that action should create "real concern" in the chamber since the stoppage order was issued over the mailing of raffle tickets to raise funds for Manitoba flood relief and other welfare work.

There had been nothing criminal in the club's action. The tickets had been mailed to club members for distribution, not to the public.

June 10 Air Force Day

OTTAWA, May 25 (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton Wednesday announced that Air Force Day will be observed Saturday, June 10 when 22 RCAF stations across Canada will hold "open house."

Too Many Clerics Spiritual Nursemaids

LONDON, May 25 (CP) — Instead of serving as prophets of God, many clerics have to act as "spiritual nursemaids," the Rev. Robert T. Kitcham of Chicago, Ill., secretary of the General Association of Regular Baptists in the United States, declared here Wednesday.

He was chief speaker at the 24th annual conference of the Fundamentalists Baptist Young Peoples' Association of Ontario and Quebec. About 800 attended the one-day sessions.

Delegates approved the free transfer of the Muskoka Baptist Camp to the Fellowship of Independent Baptist Churches of Canada, with the provision that a special program for young people be held each summer.

Alexander Lauds Wavell's Work

COCHRANE, May 25 (CP) — Viscount Alexander, one of Lord Wavell's closest friends, said Wednesday that he was "more sorry than I can possibly say" to hear of the death of the British war hero.

Lord Wavell, who died Wednesday in London, was a "most distinguished soldier," the governor-general said. He recalled the field marshal's "very fine" handling of poorly-equipped troops in Africa during the early part of the Second World War and his "brilliant" campaign against the Italians.

The governor-general who is visiting here, recalled also that Lord Wavell had visited at Government House, Ottawa, just a short time ago.

"It is particularly sad news to my wife and myself, as Lord Wavell was staying with us in Ottawa only a short time ago and we both thought that he was in such good form and looked well.

"The field marshal was a most distinguished soldier. His handling of inadequate and comparatively poorly-equipped troops in North Africa during the early part of the war was very fine, while his campaign against the Italian was brilliant.

"He will be greatly missed by a host of friends and none will be sadder at his death than the Royal Regiment of Canada, of which he was honorary colonel."

CANADA PRODUCES NEWSPRINT FOR ALL THE WORLD

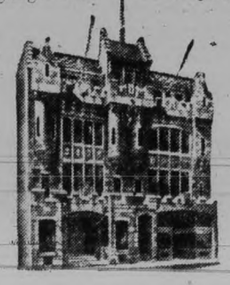
In all likelihood, the newspaper you read is printed on Canadian newsprint; for Canada produces 4 times as much newsprint as any other country in the world. 3 out of every 5 newspaper pages throughout the world are Canadian paper.

Why Seagram's sells Canada first

This is an ada[illegible] Seagram to promo[illegible] and help sell Canadian products to [illegible] markets of the world.

The campaign is appearing in magazines and newspapers published in various languages and circulated throughout the world. The peoples of many lands are told about the quality of Canadian products and see Canadian scenes illustrating these products.

The advertisements are in keeping with the belief of The House of Seagram that the future of every business enterprise in Canada is inextricably bound up



A campaign such as this not only helps Canadian industries but also puts money in the pocket of every Canadian citizen. One dollar of every three we earn comes to us as a result of foreign trade. The more we can sell abroad the more prosperous we will be at home. It is with this objective that these advertisements are being produced and published throughout the world.

Almost Too Hot For Freshies To Work Outside

The kids had a good day, but a few factors got together to gum up the 24th for the older folks.

For one thing, spring was a little too late this year, and there was a frantic rush Wednesday to look after all those little things like cleaning up outside and painting garages and verandahs.

For another thing, it was almost too hot to work, as the thermometer jumped up above 80. This forced many spring cleaners to rush into their houses at odd intervals to cool off.

But once it was cool enough but too dark to work, out came the big box of fireworks. From sunset until after midnight, the city was lighted with sparks and garish red and green flames from "burning schoolhouses," pinwheels and what have you.

North end residents were startled around midnight when one citizen, who came home late, set off his fireworks in the last few minutes of Victoria Day.

City hospitals reported no children or adults burned by fireworks, and only one accident admission was made—a south end factory worker with a lacerated finger.

Traffic Light

Traffic over the holiday was "safe, sane and sober," said provincial police. They reported light traffic on the highway around Peterborough; lighter than usual for the 24th.

City police arrested nobody on the holiday, and city traffic was not heavy. Cobourg also reported light highway traffic.

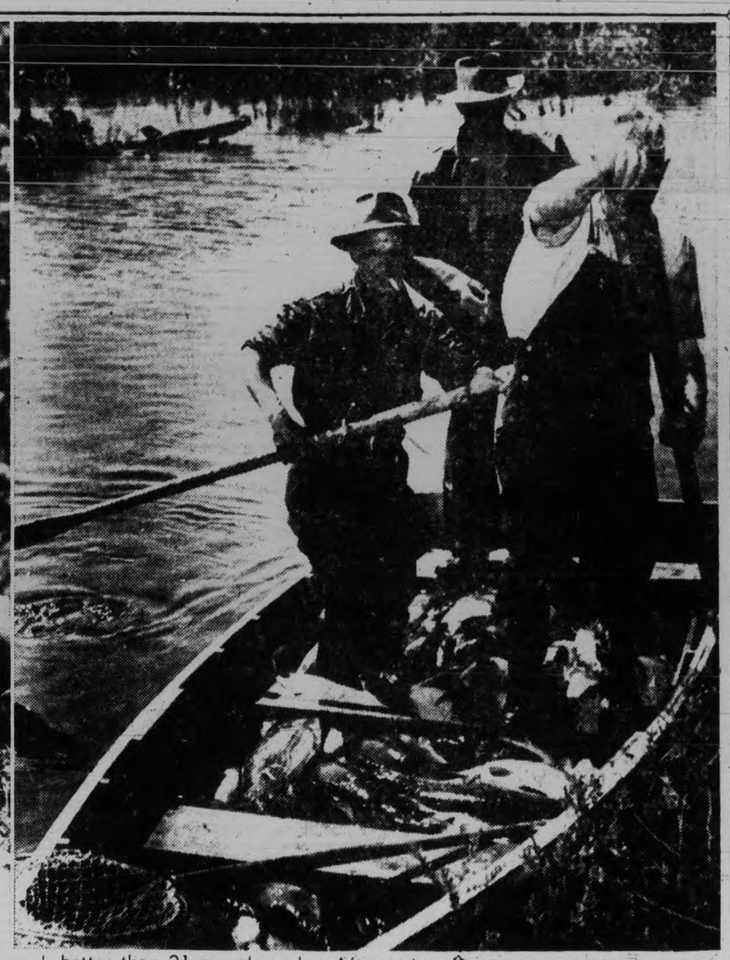
Out on the streams, lakes and rivers, fishermen were a-plenty. They lined the Otonabee's banks north and south of the city, whipping the river to a rich, creamy lather with flies, plugs and minnows.

Few Trout Fishermen

Not so many of the anglers were after trout, although on several streams, city fishermen eager for a mess of speckles, reported heavy fly hatches and plenty of jumping fish.

One pickerel fisherman landed a big brown one at Young's Point; but the stream fishermen hadn't as much luck. Pickerel fishing was said to be not so good.

Peterborough racing fans wept as a favorite, Escador, took the King Edward Gold Cup in the sixth at Woodbine. But, they said, we'll make this back on the King's Plate on Saturday.



DEATH COMES TO CARP, the nuisance fish of the Kawarthas, as Lands and Forests men lift their trap nets at the mouth of McLaren Creek on Sturgeon Lake. At RIGHT, biologist Charles Weir tabulates two large carp, an ordinary and mirror variety, two of the total of 200 carp that went better than 21 pounds each. After stripping the net, a punt sunk to the gunwales with carp, is poled ashore to lime pits by Chester Bishop, LEFT, Toronto biologist Mel Peters and Harold Flood. A total of 768 fish were taken on Tuesday afternoon in one trap net; carp accounted for a third. —(Examiner Staff Photos.)

Lock Co. Would Open Plant If Enough Men Will Return, Union Resists Company Bid

If a sufficient number of their employees are willing to go back to work the Peterborough Lock Co. is prepared to open the plant and resume production, E. H. Howson, president, said today. "We have been approached by a number of our employees who would like to go back to work," Mr. Howson declared, "but they are being intimated by UEW Local 527."

Today the strike at the Peterborough Lock Co. enters its fourth week, and there is little sign of the two parties getting together to negotiate.

Local 527, bargaining agent for the 170 production workers, is demanding a 42½-hour week with 45-hour take-home pay. Other union demands include the raising of men's minimum rates from 93 cents an hour to $1, and women's from 82 cents to 87 cents; a revision in the time schedule and seniority protection.

The company claim they are paying higher starting rates and higher minimum job rates than any of their competitors in the lock industry. And they say they cannot afford to pay higher wages.

Would Meet Employees

Mr. Howson told the Examiner he thought the employees were being misled by their union leaders.

"If the strike continues much longer there is a strong possibility this 65-year-old Peterborough firm will open up in another centre where favorable labor conditions exist. Already we have been approached to move to a neighboring province from which 50 per cent of our business eminates."

"I'd like to meet the employees and speak to them," he continued. "Meet them and speak to them in our own shop—I wouldn't want it to be a 'packed' outside affair dominated by the union."

"We've lost a lot of business because of the strike, including hospital contracts," he said. "Our wage rates are above the community average and we are prepared to offer the old contract."

"If we get a sufficient number of employees who would like to go back to work, we are prepared to open up again," said Mr. Howson.

Union Reaction

The union reaction was prompt and sharp.

"Like all anti-union employers the management of Peterborough Lock is going to try and break the picket line in order to smash the union," Romeo Leonard, president of Local 527, declared. "They want to take their workers back to the days of 30-cents-an-hour wages."

"The only contract is what the company offered at the beginning of negotiations. We refused it then and we refuse it now."

He labelled this back-to-work movement as "part of the campaign to drive the workers into accepting anything in order to get back into the plant."

Company figures show employees' average earnings for the last quarter are as follows: All employees $1.09½, male production workers $1.21 and female production workers 93 cents an hour.

"These rates are the highest paid by any lock manufacturer in Canada and away above the community average," is the compnay comment.

Examiner Fund For Flood Relief Reaches $2,444

There is encouraging news today from southern Manitoba. The Red River which has made thousands of people destitute in that region is at last receding.

This brings up the problem of rehabilitation.

It has been estimated that the minimum financial help required by the flood victims is $10,000,000. As official agent for the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund, the Examiner is forwarding any money received from the people of Peterborough and district.

To date the total acknowledged in these columns amounts to $2,444.50. Many donations smaller than $2 have also been received and forwarded to the fund headquarters in Winnipeg.

Those wishing to help the disaster victims should make out their cheques to the "Manitoba Flood Relief Fund" or the "Rimouski Fire Fund."

Salvation Army Bands Hold Music Festival

Bands of Salvation Army corps between Kingston and Whitby and from as far north as Fenelon Falls, met at the Salvation Army Temple on Wednesday for a music festival of the Mid-Ontario Division. There were some 1,300 participants in the first, of what is planned to be an annual event.

The festival was sponsored by Brigadier Reg Gage, divisional commander, and Peterborough has been chosen as the venue because of its large accommodation.

Chairman of the festival was Percy Merritt, territorial band inspector.

The afternoon session was devoted to smaller bands and music groups. Bands playing were from Fenelon Falls, Bowmanville, Cobourg and Port Hope. Stevie Robinson of Peterborough played the drum and the Fenelon Falls Songsters sang. Major Cyril Everitt, ATCM, of the Peterborough corps, gave a talk on music appreciation.

The larger bands performed at the evening session which opened with the massed bands playing under Band Inspector P. Merritt. Bands which played were from Peterborough, Kingston, Belleville, and the Oshawa Songster Brigade and Peterborough Temple Songsters' sang. A piano quartet was played by Mrs. S. J. Richardson ATCM, Mrs. Ben Smith, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Routley.

Lack Of Grain Hinders Growth

Farmers are deeply concerned about the lack of rain at this critical stage of the growing crops. They were hoping that his season was not going to be a repetition of a year ago, with a long stretch of dry weeks that ended in the evening of Grassland Day, June 29.

Robert E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, recalled today that he joined F. C. Paterson here a year ago, and that for a full month there was almost no rainfall.

In the last two days I have been talking to 25 or more farmers at their homes in Smith, Monaghan, Cavan and Otonabee, and it is only to be expected that they are becoming anxious," Mr. Bell said.

"This could be the turning point in the results and success of this season," Mr. Bell said. "The new seeding of spring grain has made a good start, the fall sown wheat looks healthy, and pastures are in pretty fair shape, but the ground is dry and caking especially where there is lack of humus."

East winds that appeared to promise rain since last week have drifted off, and a large section of the province requires moisture now that the temperature has moved up around 75 and 80 degrees.

Crossing Street Man Stricken

Stricken as he crossed Simcoe St. before noon, Charles Laing McIntyre, 50, of 493 Gilmour St., died today. Dr. J. R. Epping was called, but Mr. McIntyre was dead before the doctor arrived.

Husband of the former Marjorie Jean Elmhirst, Mr. McIntyre had been a dealer in agricultural implements until 1938, when he joined the late A. E. Thompson as a real estate and insurance salesman.

Born in Keene, he was the son of the former Agnes Nelson, and the late F. D. McIntyre. He was educated in Keene and Peterborough, and was a member of Trinity United Church here.

He is survived by his widow, his mother, a daughter, Linda Claire, three brothers, J. Arthur, of Peterborough, David and Ross, of R.R. 8, Peterborough; three sisters, Mrs. Frank Graystock (Annie), of Peterborough, Mrs. Lester Fraser (Jean), of Lakefield, and Mrs. Ross Comrie (Mabel), of Keene.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

200 Carp Raised in One Net

By NICK NICKELS

STURGEON LAKE, May 25—A midnight phone call a month ago from biologist Charles Weir of the Department of Lands and Forests, Lindsay, informed me that carp nets were being laid at the mouth of McLaren Creek on the west end of Sturgeon Lake. I forgot all about it until this week when another urgent call came through that the nets were being lifted. Could I make it? It seemed doubtful. Could I come some afternoon through the week? No, it might be the only run of the season.

Mr. Weir met me in Lindsay and we drove north eight miles along Highway 35 and turned east to Sturgeon Lake below the village of Cameron and hiked a couple of miles to the large marsh. Deputies Harold Flood and Chester Bishop and biologist Mel Peters were waiting. We rowed in two boats to a familiar 12 by 12-foot trap net at the mouth of McLaren Creek that had two net wings stretching from shore to shore. It was disappointing for a moment to find everything so quiet. Nesting black terns wheeled in the south-west wind and bitterns boomed faintly in the rushes.

The three net keepers pulled their heavy punt beside the traps and anchored it. They began pulling gently on the sides of the net until the water started boiling up in great swirls. The more the net was exposed the more frantic became the underwater action until huge tails and threshing bodies beat the enclosure into a constant smother of spray. It was alive with fish fighting to submerge themselves to the floor of the rising net. It was more than human muscles could do to raise the net past the point where glistening backs showed their dorsal fins in tightly-packed rows.

Dipper out the Fish

Harold Flood reached for a sturdy dip net and, though soaked to the hide and half blinded by spray, commenced to dip out game fish that were to be released for lucky summer fishermen. Mr. Weir in our boat kept score as Harold counted each dipper full. The other two men held the edge of the net gamely and even gained some advantage as the unwanted fish were released and the larger fish became played out.

By actual count the trap contained 768 fish, three snappers and two painted turtles. Breakdown of the fish was as follows; Carp, 200; large mouth bass, 17; small mouth bass, 19; sunfish, 120; catfish, 202; suckers, one; and pickerel, nine. And there were some whoppers of every species.

The carp, of which the department was attempting to rid that particular section of Sturgeon Lake, were the largest by far, averaging about 12 pounds each, many of them going over 20. There were two varieties, the common kind and mirror carp, which are adorned with occasional large scales somewhat bigger than silver dollars. Some were the pale and dark green of the green bass but the majority were of a golden brown shading down to salmon-colored bellies. The common conception that carp are docile fish is entirely wrong. When disturbed, as they were then, they fought as vigorously as a muskie and kept it up much longer. As strongman Flood ladled them into his punt, one at a time, the biologist and I sat and talked of carp.

Overgrown Goldfish

This ugly fish is nothing more than an over-grown goldfish. It belongs to the same specie and originated, was cultivated and considered highly edible in Ancient China and Japan many years ago. It was brought to Europe by travelling monks who saw fit to keep them in the moats of their monasteries. They esteemed them highly as food and Europeans even now consider them so.

Somehow, the odd specimen was brought to the Americas in the bilge holds of sailing ships, and released. During the past 200 years they have multiplied in amazing numbers. They are not relished by people on this continent except by those of the Jewish faith. On the American commercial market only fish that will dress about nine pounds—a 12-pounder—is saleable. The Canadian market is negligible.

According to Mr. Weir, carp have one of the largest brains of any fish. They act with some degree of intelligence and their eating habits very destructive. Carp live on such vegetation as wild rice, wild celery and numerous grasses favored by many of our choicest game fish. They root out this beneficial growth and have gained the popular name of "fresh water pigs."

Three Reasons for Netting

Carp are netted at present for three reasons; (1) To save this natural vegetation in our lakes and streams. (2) to keep them out of the shallow marshes where game fish deposit their spawn in spring. (3) to record a lake's fish population while carp are being disposed of. It was of sufficient proof to me after watching the actual fish count in that one trap net, that fishermen who say a lake contains nothing but carp are entirely wrong. Carp are gaining certainly, and comprised about one-third of the take.

These coarse fish are put into open pits ashore and covered with earth and lime. Experiments with people who want carp for crop fertilizer has not proved satisfactory. They try to take more than they can handle and come for them at their convenience. It is necessary to dispose of them immediately.

"Are carp any good at all?" I asked Mr. Weir.

The only recommendation for their existence, he thought, was to provide carp eggs as natural food for game fish. Travelling down wind from the reeking pits I was inclined to agree with him and try to forget the ugly brutes as quickly as possible.

City Assessor To Return To Hamilton

Norman A. Wilkes, assessment commissioner, was unanimously recommended today by the Hamilton Board of Control for the position of assessment commissioner in that city.

Canadian Press despatch from Hamilton attached the information Mr. Wilkes served 18 years on the staff of the Hamilton assessment department before going to Peterborough late in 1948.

The Examiner relayed the news to Mr. Wilkes at noon today.

"When I sent my application for the Hamilton commissioner post, I told Mayor Swanston and Ald. Hugh Waddell, chairman of the finance committee, about it," he said. "I think all the members of the council were informed. I suppose the Board of Control's recommendation will go to the Hamilton council tonight.

"I like Peterborough and the work here so well, that it will be like pulling teeth to get me out of this city.

"The relations with the council, our department and the public have been very pleasant. However the difference in salary for the Hamilton position is something one has to consider."

Mayor's Tribute

Mayor Swanston said: "I don't think there is anything the council can do but give Mr. Wilkes our blessing and let him we regret to lose him. We have been hearing about this matter since the winter. A former Hamilton Controller told me at that time that they should never have let Mr. Wilkes get away from their department."

"Mr. Wilkes did take us into his confidence, I can't say what the council may wish to do about it, but, personally, I don't think we can compete in salaries with Hamilton. I consider Mr. Wilkes the best assessment commissioner we have ever had."

Farmer Fined $50 Drunk Last August

"I want to get a break. You gotta give a farmer a chance. We been keeping you fellows for years," protested Howard Fairfield, RR 1, Cameron, brought to trial in Police Court today on a charge of being drunk August last year.

He was charged and convicted as a second offender under the Liquor Control Act. Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, fined him the usual $50, and costs, or two months.

When he first appeared in court last August, Fairfield asked for an adjournment. He failed to come back and was arrested on a warrant Monday.

Senate Turns Tables On House Thinks Commons Needs Reform

OTTAWA, May 25 (CP) — A 72-year-old Liberal Senator from Alberta thinks that if there's any reform necessary in Canada's parliamentary system, the House of Commons—not the Senate—is the place to start.

Senator G. H. Ross of Calgary gave notice in the Upper Chamber Wednesday of a motion to set up a joint parliamentary committee to study constitutional changes affecting the Commons. These would include suggestions for "the better functioning" of that Chamber.

Senator Ross' notice brought evident delight from Senators who for years have been hearing talk of the necessity of Senate reform.

Only the day before many of them sat in the Commons galleries and witnessed a day-long debate on a motion to launch a broad study of proposed changes in the functions of the historic Senate.

Today members of the Commons will have an opportunity to witness the same kind of debate—in reverse. Senator Ross is due to speak on his motion this afternoon.

Need Changes

The motion of the Calgary Senator, who has been a member of the Chamber since 1948, said it was "expedient" to appoint a joint committee to study "constitutional changes affecting the House of Commons, including the better functioning of the House of Commons in our parliamentary system, with a view to formulating proposals to be presented to the government for discussion at the forthcoming Dominion-Provincial constitutional conference."

The motion said such a committee should have "power to call persons, papers and records, to sit while the House is sitting and to report from time to time."

It asked that a message be sent to the Commons "requesting that House to unite with the Senate for the above purpose and to select, if the House of Commons deems it advisable, some of its members to act on the proposed joint committee."

The motion was almost identical—in reverse—to one sponsored in the Commons Tuesday by George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader. This asked for a joint parliamentary committee to study broadly suggested reforms for the 102-member upper chamber, reforms that have been suggested for years but never acted upon.

Mr. Drew reviewed attempts at Senate reform down through the years and said there was "widespread criticism" of the present constitution of the Senate. M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, said his party long had advocated outright abolition of the Senate.

Rejected Motion

Prime Minister St. Laurent rejected the motion on two counts.

First, he said, adoption would mean the defeat of the government since he regarded it—despite Mr. Drew's denial—as a motion of non-confidence in his administration.

Second, it was an invitation to "break faith" with the provinces, invited to the conference to discuss means of amending the constitution, not to discuss constitutional amendments as such.

CCF and Social Credit spokesmen endorsed the motion, moved on a government motion to go into supply.

Earl McQueen skippered the Atomic.

Death Investigated

SAULT STE. MARIE, May 25. —An inspector of the Ontario provincial police criminal investigation branch has been called in to investigate the death of Emil Yakawachuk, 40, whose body was found floating in the St. Mary's river near here Wednesday. Yakawachuk, an employee of the Algoma Central Railway, apparently had been dead about 10 days. An autopsy has been ordered.

Charges Income Tax Robs Army Widows

OTTAWA, May 25 (CP) — Clarie Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South) Wednesday advised the armed forces to investigate the "theft" through income tax provisions regarding pension fund monies paid to widows of some permanent force officers.

Mr. Gillis told the Commons defence comhittee a case had been brought to his attention recently in which the widow of a permanent force officer had been assessed about $650 tax after the army had paid over to her $3,000 that her husband had paid into a pension fund.

"I think the services should get after this sort of thing. When it comes to stealing the money from a widow, it's pretty bad."

Ask Priest Stay Out Of Politics

LA SALLE, Ont., May 25 (CP) —The Rev. Leo Marchand, parish priest in this town near Windsor, said Wednesday night he was ignoring a resolution passed unanimously by town council and directed to the Bishop of London, asking that the parish priest "keep politics out of the pulpit."

The council resolution said Father Marchand was "undemocratic, unjustified and unreasonable" in his criticism of town officials for the untidy appearance of the town.

Father Marchand said "I haven't any criticsim to offer. I'm saying nothing."

Mayor Louis Chappeau, a member of Father Marchand's parish, said several members of council had been attacked from the pulpit "including myself."

Constable Devey Warmly Praised

Provincial Constable Ronald Devey, stationed at Belleville, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Devey, Murray St., won warm commendation for his cool head and unselfish concern following an accident early this week on Highway 2 east of Belleville. Constable Devey's patrol car and another became involved in an accident. Devey, completely unmindful of his own injuries, and with blood dripping from his scalp and facial lacerations, went to the aid of the people in the other car. Its driver, Wesley Brown of Oshawa, praised Constable Devey's action warmly.

The constable and two occupants of the other car were later taken to hospital. Constable Devey is still in hospital, but his condition is reported to be good.

Phosphate Back Pre-War Rate

AUCKLAND, N. Z. (CP)—One of the biggest post-war reconstruction jobs of the Pacific has reached an advanced stage on the phosphate islands of Nauru and Ocean which lie just below the equator.

These islands, vital to the great farming industries of Australia and New Zealand, were wrecked during the war by German raiders, Japanese bombers, and lastly by American bombers and capital ships during the Japanese occupation.

Their output now is equal to the highest pre-war record and may exceed that figure during the present year.

Phosphates from Nauru and Ocean islands are the largest source of fertilizer for pastures in the intensive dairying industries of the two southern dominions. They became a major target for the enemy in the war. Two German raiders sank shipping off the islands and smashed the great loading equipment. Then the Japanese captured the islands and occupied them for the later years of the war.

When the Japanese were driven out after three years it was clear that on Nauru the phosphate settlement would need rebuilding completely, and that the phosphate quarrying, transport, drying and storage plant would have to be entirely replanned.

Wholesale Destruction

Tram lines had been ripped up by the enemy, sleepers being used for firewood and rails cut into short lengths for building machine-gun posts and pill boxes. Great cableway towers had been toppled over and cut into lengths for building underground shelters. Costly conveyor belting had been cut up and used as floor covering.

Engineers of the British Phosphate Commission, which controls the island, found ways of using much of the damaged steelwork, as replacements were extremely scarce in the immedrate post-war years. They also redesigned the plant to make greater use of mechanical handling, thus speeding up production.

Greatest engineering feature of Nauru was the huge loading cantiliver which jutted out to sea, enabling vessels lying offshore to be loaded with phosphate at high speed. Although badly damaged by enemy action, the vital parts of the cantilever miraculously escaped destruction. Repairs took a long time but engineers improved the loading rate in the process.

Before the war phosphate could be shipped at the rate of 550 tons an hour into a vessel's hold. Now it can be delivered at 1,600 tons an hour. As a result of a 10,000-ton vessel can be fully loaded in a day, a major consideration in the open Nahru roadstead where maximum use must be made of periods of calm weather.

The plant at Ocean Island before the war was not so extensive as at Nauru and it was less severely damaged. At both islands, however, much reconstruction work still remains to be done, but eventually it will result in much more efficient operation and a larger output than before the war.

Flood Car Wash

WINNIPEG—(CP)—One resident took advantage of the water swirling through the city. He drove his new car into a pond on a nearby street, put on his rubber boots, pulled out a mop and proceeded to save $2 by washing his own car.

Northern Fire

HUDSON BAY, Sask.—(CP)—Prompt action by fire-fighters is credited with saving the plywood factory here when it was threatened by a grass fire. The fire was believed extinguished, but strong winds fanned embers and flames reached the factory before firemen arrived.

Above is a map of Greater Winnipeg showing the districts and suburbs which have been inundated by the flood waters of the Red and Assiniboine Rivers. One eighth of Winnipeg is now under water, but this area is only a fraction of the 600 square miles of Southern Manitoba swamped by the flood. The Manitoba Flood Relief Fund has been established in Winnipeg to help flood victims whose furniture and personal belongings were lost, and its funds will go into operation as soon as the flood waters subside.

Manitoba Valley Looking For A Miracle

By R. J. ANDERSON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The Red river valley is looking for a miracle.

It needs one. The frosty nights of Indian summer are perilously close and there may not be wheat to reap before the chill winds begin to sweep the prairies.

Along the serpentine course of the Red, which in five weeks had inundated 600 square miles of southern Manitoba more than 2,000 farmers wait impatiently for their land to emerge from the flood of 1950. Whether they can sow a crop is uncertain.

A Manitoba government official said last week only a "miracle" will help many wheat farmers. A resulting loss of possibly $20,000,000 was forecast. That would have repercussions far beyond the comparatively-narrow flood belt. Its inhabitants must buy their necessities elsewhere.

Manitoba in 1950 is not completely dependent upon her wheat crop. The province in the last decade has seen an influx of industry, new businesses, fresh money. But her economy still is based on the golden grain and what happens to the Red river valley, a rich farming district, affects Winnipeg, The Pas and Flin Flon. A severe crop loss this year will hurt.

Big Drop

An estimated 500,000 acres of good wheat country has been flooded. Recent, well-based estimates indicate that only 2,662,000 acres in Manitoba will be sown to wheat this year—a drop of 505,000 from 1949.

To be expected, of course, is a sharp—perhaps a corresponding—increase in the acreage sown to coarse grains. Barley, oats, rye and flax are good cash crops and mature more quickly than wheat. But that there will be heavy financial setbacks for the farmers seems certain.

In the kitchen of every western Canadian home hangs a calendar. The farmer has only about 100 days in which to sow and reap a wheat crop. There are only 99 days between now and Sept. 1, when frost can be expected on the prairies. Only five per cent of Manitoba's wheat seeding has been completed, the latest in years.

It may be mid-June in the flood belt before a crop of any kind can go in. That will be too late for wheat.

A HOLY ROLLER—A tank of the First Hussars, tagged the "Holy Roller," will be presented to the City of London, Ont., June 4 to be mounted as a memorial to citizens who died in the Second World War. It is the only Canadian tank which fought its way from D-Day to the end of the war—a year in battle. Presentation will be made at the First Hussars reunion.

House Of Commons Hears Attack On Sex Comics

OTTAWA, May 25 (CP) — W. D. Wylie (SC-Medicine Hat) on Wednesday opened a Commons attack against the sale and distribution of what he called "sex comics and passion literature" which had now replaced the now-banned crime comics on Canadian news stands.

Speaking on a supply motion, he said "certain" publishers in Toronto and Montreal had found a loophole in the law banning crime comics and now were flooding the country with what one newspaper had termed the "torrid tales of turbulent passion."

The Justice Department should take action—perhaps by way of prosecution—against the publishing companies.

He held aloft a bundle of the publications for the Chamber to see and identified three Toronto firms as being among the publishers.

Ottawa Drama Group Gives Canadian Play

OTTAWA, May 25 (CP)—The Canadian Repertory Theatre, Ottawa's professional drama group, broke fresh ground Tuesday night by producing its first Canadian-written play.

The three-act domestic drama, "Days of Grace," was written by William Doyle, a fourth generation Ottawan. The plot evolves around the financial problems of an Ottawa civil servant who finds it necessary to dabble in shady dealings in order to live in the style to which his genteel manner has accustomed him.

The play, described by Ottawa drama critics as "provocative theatre fare," will run throughout the week.

Mayor Denies Rapping Premier

WINNIPEG, May 25 (CP) — Mayor Garnet Coulter Wednesday night denied "very firmly" that he had ever accused Premier Douglas Campbell of maladministration in the Manitoba flood crisis.

He was replying to a statement made in the House of Commons by J. A. Ross (PC-Souris). Mr. Ross said he had heard the Winnipeg Mayor charge in a radio broadcast that the Premier had been "guilty of criminal negligence" in his handling of the situation.

"In one of the meetings of the city's flood-control committee," Mayor Coulter said, "there was somewhat harsh criticism of Premier Campbell, but not by me.

"It is possible that some such expression (as that referred to by Mr. Ross) was used."

Mr. Coulter refused to name the committee member in question.

(Alderman G. E. Simonite, in a statement following the meeting May 17, said the Premier's handling of flood control came "pretty close to criminal neglect of the people he is supposed to represent.")

Rev. Arthur Lloyd Dies At Summer Home

OTTAWA, May 25 (CP)—The Reverend Arthur Q. Lloyd, minister of Bell Street United Church in Ottawa, died Wednesday at his summer home in nearby Rideau Ferry, Ont.

Mr. Lloyd recently retired as president of the Ottawa Church Ministerial Association. He also was a former chairman of the Ottawa Presbytery of the United Church. He is survived by his widow, the former Agnes Starke and by two sons and one daughter.

Mr. Lloyd was born in Risca, South Wales, and came to Canada 46 years ago.

Funeral services will be held Saturday and burial will be in Maple Vale Cemetery, Smiths Falls.

Hand On Throttle

COCHRANE, May 25 (CP) — Viscount Alexander, governor-general of Canada, showed Wednesday that locomotive engineering is among his varied accomplishments. Returnnig here Wednesday after an official visit to Kapuskasing, his excellency took the train orders and handled the throttle for the trip from Cochrane to Porquis Junction, a distance of 25 miles.

Hundreds Of Citizens Pay Final Respects

SYDNEY, N. S., May 25 (CP) —Hundreds of citizens assembled here Tuesday to pay final respects to H. P. Duchemin, journalist, lawyer and educationist who died in hospital at Halifax Sunday.

The funeral service, held at his residence, was conducted by the Rev. Murray MacDonald, pastor of First United Church, assisted by the Rev. E. B. N. Cochran, rector of St. George's Anglican Church.

Eulogy of Mr. MacDonald made reference to the irreparable loss suffered by the death of Mr. Duchemin who for 36 years was prominent in the Canadian daily newspaper field as president of the Canadian Press and other executive capacities served in that co-operative news gathering service.

Strike Threat Ends

BRANTFORD, May 25—(CP)—A strike threat at the Brantford Coach and Body Company plant ended Wednesday night when Local 397 of United Automobile Workers (CIO) voted 178 to 40 to accept an agreement reached at a conference in Toronto on Monday with Labor Minister Daley.

QUEBEC LIBERAL LEADER—Quebec's Liberal party has chosen George Emile Lapalme, 43-year-old member of parliament for Joliette-l'Assomption-Montcalm, as provincial leader. Mr. Lapalme, shown above, will resign as soon as possible from the Commons to devote all his time to the job of preparing for the next Quebec election, probably 1952.

Justice From Calgary Gets Honorary Degree

ANTIGONISH, N. S., May 25 —(CP)—Mr. Justice William A. Macdonald of Calgary, brother of Premier Angus L. Macdonald of Nova Scotia, received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree Wednesday at closing exercises of St. Francis Xavier University.

His son, Bruce, was a member of the largest graduating classes in the University's history, receiving his Bachelor of Arts degree. Mr. Justice Macdonald received his Bachelor's degree at St. F. X. in 1903.

Ray Milland, Academy Award Winner, Portrays A Member Of Alcoholics Anonymous

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 25.—(AP)—Ray Milland, who won an academy award for his rye-soaked performance in "The Lost Weekend," is again doing a picture about drinking.

But this time the greying Welshman is not prowling for bottles in chandeliers. He portrays a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, the organization which helps chronic drinkers recover their balance.

"I guess it was inevitable," said Milland, who drinks moderately in private life. He portrays an A.A. member who is sent to straighten out a young actress (played by Joan Fontaine) who is on a binge in a hotel room. The picture is called "Mr. and Mrs. Anonymous."

Not Too Realistic

George Stevens, producer-director of the new film, said actual meetings of A.A. will not be shown.

"There would be too many side plots if we showed the meetings, where people tell how they have conquered alcoholism," he remarked. "Instead, we are using one case. Double-A will be used as a background for the story."

Ordinarily a woman field worker would be sent to aid a female drinker, but through a mix-up, Milland arrives. He is a married man—get the plot?

"I have learned about Double-A from many of my friends," said Stevens. "The results have been amazing. I have seen people who were hopeless drunks restored to normal life."

His search for realism did not extend to attending a Double-A meeting. "I wanted to," he said, "but I was afraid people would see me there and start saying, 'Oh-oh, Stevens is on the bottle again'."

"South Pacific" Tops

The touring company of "South Pacific" pulled into Los Angeles this week, welcomed by an advance sale of over $500,000. The demand is well warranted; this is the show of a decade.

Rodgers and Hammerstein, who seem to have the happy faculty of being able to top their previous efforts, will have trouble beating "South Pacific." It is as fresh and delectable as a new made pie.

In the local company Richard Eastham, who subbed for Ezio Pinca many times in the New York cast, may be even better than the romantic Italian, Janet Blair, late of the movies, is almost as good as Mary Martin.

Report Plane Crash In Area Of Bogota

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 25 (AP)—Lansa Airways said Wednesday night one of its DC-3 transports had crashed on a slope of Galeras volcano near Pasto, 95 miles south of Popayan. The two-engine plane was carrying 22 passengers and three crew members.

The airline said it had received no word on the fate of the occupants of the transport. The newspaper El Espectador quoted peasants in the region as saying they believed the plane exploded in the air and was destroyed.

Rossellini Weds Star By Proxy

ROME, May 25 (AP)—Roberto Rossellini and Ingrid Bergman, whose widely-publicized romance was climaxed last February by the birth of a son, were married by proxy Wednesday in Juarez, Mexico.

The nuptials in absentia broke through legal delays that had blocked the couple's path in the United States, Sweden and Italy since February, when Miss Bergman quit her film career to bear the Italian director's son.

The ceremony was performed at 1 p.m. EDT by Judge Raul Orozco in Juarez, just across the Rio Grande from El Paso, Tex. The judge said Javier Alvarez a Juarez lawyer, signed the register for Rossellini and Arturo Gomez Trevino, another Juarez lawyer, signed for Miss Bergman. Two witnesses were present.

Rossellini announced the marriage in Rome through a spokesman and declared "this is not bigamy. Miss Bergman is now legally Mrs. Rossellini."

The much-heralded romance of the until-then US movie queen and the Italian director blossomed while Rossellini and Miss Bergman were filming the movie "Stromboli" on a volcanic isle in the Mediterranean.

Rossellini said the marriage would be registered officially in Rome. He said it would be recognized here and his lawyers advised him it also would be recognized in Miss Bergman's native Sweden.

Wallis With Sniffles Pokes Fun At Prince On First Meeting

NEW YORK, May 25 (AP) — The first time the Duke of Windsor met Wallis WArfield Simpson she had the sniffles and halfway made fun of him.

The love story that shook the Commonwealth began at a week-end fox-hunting party in the country on a cold, dark English winter day of 1931—five years before he became King.

The duke, who was then the Prince of Wales, noticed the fair stranger among the usual hunting crowd, apparently bored.

"Wallis did not ride, and obviously had no interest in horses, hounds or hunting in general," the duke writes in a new portion of his memoirs published in Life Magazine this week and to be published in Canada next week by the Montreal Standard.

"She was also plainly in misery from a bad cold in the head.

Takes Lead

"Since a Prince by custom is expected to take the lead in conversing with strangers, and having been informed that she was an American, I was prompted to observe that she must miss central heating—of which there was a lamentable lack in my country and an abundance in hers."

The duke said he expected her to say yes, but she replied she liked the cold houses of Britain.

"I am sorry, sir, but you have disappointed me,' she said.

"In what way?"

"Every American woman who comes to your country is always asked the same question. I had hoped for something more original from the Prince of Wales.'

Echoes Lingered

"I moved away to talk to the other guests, but the echoes of the passage lingered."

So began a slow-growing acquaintance. Later, the Prince got to know the Simpsons better and liked to drop by for cocktails.

"They had a small but charming flat in Brayston Court, Bryanston Square. Everything in it was in exquisite taste and the food, in my judgment, unrivalled in London.

"I was impressed by her habit of reading the four leading London newspapers every day, from cover to cover. Her conversation was deft and amusing. But, most of all, I admired her forthrightness. If she disagreed with some point under discussion, she never failed to advance her own views with vigor and spirit."

The thing that apparently turned a casual friendship into something more was the interest Mrs. Simpson took in the Prince's visit to the depression-stricken areas in Britain.

"She was genuinely interested in how the Prince of Wales went about the job. It all began with something as simple as that.

"In character Wallis was, and still remains, complex and elusive, and from the first I looked upon her as the most independent woman I had ever met.

"And then one day she began to mean more to me in a way that she did not comprehend. My impression is that for a long time she remained unaffected by my interest.

Plans Upset

"Presently the hope formed that one day I might be able to share my life with her, just how, I did not know.

As his love for Wallis grew, the duke said, he intended to talk it over with his father. But King George V was then almost 70, and was failing rapidly.

Before the Prince could discuss the matter, the King was stricken at his country home at Sandringham in January, 1936, and died peacefully, with his wife and children standing by the Royal deathbed.

Writing about earlier years, the duke recalled that toward the end of the First World War his father ordered him to stop flying. The order to stay on the ground came after it was widely published in the press that he had made a flight near London with a Canadian air ace, a Victoria Cross winner who had a wounded arm in a sling and had to fly the plane with only one hand on the controls.

The duke did not mention the Canadian's name.

TED FLETCHER, Winnipeg, is blind, but he's as well-informed about the Winnipeg flood as any one. Every day Mrs. Fletcher reads newspapers aloud to him, and he follows radio news broadcasts intently. The Fletchers have a personal stake in the news that is being made these days, for their home is under water. They are shown here with Mr. Fletcher's seeing-eye dog, Mickey, in a cottage provided rent-free by Bill Wood of Winnipeg Beach. People like the Fletchers will be assisted by the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. Contributions may be addressed directly to the Fund in Winnipeg or paid into The Examiner.

Files Libel Suit

CHICAGO, May 25 —(AP)— Preston Tucker Wednesday filed a $5,000,000 libel suit against the Crowell-Collier Publishing Company, charging an article in Collier's magazine June 25, 1949, libelled him. The article was written by Leslie Velie and was titled, "The fantastic story of the Tucker car." Tucker and seven associates were acquitted Jan. 22 on charges of mail fraud and securities exchange commission rule violations in connection with his $28,000,000 rear-engine car enterprise, which flopped.

Reports Ship Sunk

HONG KONG, May 25 (Reuters)—Captain L. C. Church of the 1,175-ton British merchantman Ebonol, radioed the Royal Navy from Swatow today that his ship had been sunk off Sugar Load Island near there "either by a mine or a time-bomb." He said seven passengers, all Chinese, were killed in the explosion Wednesday, but all the crew—including two British officers—were safe, although some suffered injuries.

Only Few Accidents Mar Victoria Day Celebrations

By The Canadian Press

The weatherman was on his best behavior as Canadians celebrated Victoria Day Wednesday.

Sports events and other celebrations attracted great crowds all across the country, with an unofficial estimate of 65,000 busy at various sports in Toronto. There a crowd of 22,000 was at the Woodbine race track, with 11,500 at the International League baseball game, another 11,500 at the International soccer match, 4,000 at a racing motorcar meeting and big crowds at many other parks.

Railways and motor coach lines reported a heavy traffic load as holiday-goers returned home on Wednesday night.

The fine weather was believed a factor in the low accident toll. Only three accidental fatalities had been reported in eastern Canada this morning. Jackie Davis, 7, was killed by a truck in Toronto and seven-year-old Roy Skewes was drowned while fishing at Caledonia, Ont. At St. Felix de Vadois, Que., Roger Fredette, 23, was killed when his motorcycle hit a truck.

Minor Injuries

Only minor injuries apparently resulted from the fireworks displays, large and small, that dotted the land Wednesday night. At Dresden, a wayward rocket dropped into a $150 stockpile of fireworks and the helter-skelter shooting sent the crowd scattering. One person, Landi Johnson, suffered minor burns.

Fire Director Raymond Pare at Montreal said extra precautions helped in keeping order. These included posting firemen at each alarm box in Griffintown and the Point St. Charles districts. Reinforced police squads patrolled the streets. Only two arrests were reported.

Parliament sat as usual at Ottawa and so did the railway commission. Provincial government employeers and the provincial courts worked as usual at Quebec and French-speaking schools remained open.

But for thousands of others the holiday was a chance for relaxation and they enjoyed it. The flooded-out town of Emerson, on the border between Manitoba and the United States, had an impromptu powerboat race down the main street late in the day and most of Emerson turned out for a sing-song in the school-house Wednesday night.

At Winnipeg most of the flood-weary populace spent the day catching up on their rest as the waters slowly receded.

BORDER CROSSING

British subjects domiciled in Canada may be admitted to the United States without passport or visa for a maximum period of 29 days.

Nescafé is real coffee at its best

One satisfying sip and you'll discover that Nescafé brings you all the flavour and "lift" of pure, freshly roasted, freshly brewed coffee. With Nescafé you get perfect COFFEE every time.

Even the 4-oz. jar makes about as many cups as a pound of ordinary coffee — yet costs you less. The big family size jar saves even more. And Nescafé stays fresh to the last spoonful.

Nescafé is made in an instant — right in the cup. No mess, no bother. No messy grounds.

DRINK NESCAFE AND ENJOY THE FINEST CUP OF COFFEE YOU EVER TASTED

"Nescafé" (pronounced NES-CAFAY) is the exclusive registered Trade Mark of Nestlé's Milk Products (Canada) Limited to designate its Soluble Coffee Product. It is composed of extra choice pure soluble coffee and added pure carbohydrates — maltose and dextrose — added solely to protect the flavour.

Millbrook Forms Home and School

MILLBROOK, May 25 (ENS) — Home and School Association was formed Monday at a meeting in the library of the school. Thirty-three people became charter members.

Mrs. E. Chambers of Peterborough, a vice-president of the Federation of Home and School Associations, presided.

Mrs. Chambers called attention to the display of Home and School literature and showed the charter for Millbrook Home and School Association.

Mrs. L. M. Richardson of Peterborough, past council president, spoke briefly on membership and explained the duties of the membership convener.

Mrs. T. G. Husser, reporting for the nominating committee, brought in the following slate of officers: president, Mrs. Bruce Ingram; vice-presidents, Mrs. J. T. Crowley and Mrs. Herbert Patton; recording secretary, Mrs. E. Nattress; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. E. Hobbs; treasurer, Mrs. Stuart Snelgrove; executive committee, the Rev. A. A. Chote, the Rev. T. G. Husser, Mrs. Homer Ouellette, Mrs. H. Argue, Mrs. H. Perkin and the two school principals, J. A. Thompson and Percy Hamilton.

Mrs. A. W. Nelson of Peterborough, district chairman, conducted the installation of the officers. Each executive member was given a copy of the constitution and the president was handed the gavel and escorted to the chair. Mrs. Snelgrove took over the treasury.

Mrs. G. A. Spicer, formerly of Peterborough and a past council president, expressed her good wishes for the success of the new association.

Volunteers To Improve Park On Crowe River

MARMORA, May 25 (ENS) — Marmora Lodge No. 237 of the LOL is making plans to improve the memorial park on the bank of Crowe River. Members plan to fill in the beach, the brick siding to the changing room will be completed and if funds permit, additions to the playground equipment will be made.

Another project is to make a better approach to the park from Highway No. 7.

Saluting as she boards are Commander Kenneth Mitchell (left) captain of the Foudroyant, and an unidentified officer.

Journalists Get Code Of Ethics

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, May 25 (AP)—A sub-commission of the United Nations adopted a code of ethics for journalists Tuesday night.

A preamble to the code said its purpose is to safeguard freedom of information and the press which, it said, can best be accomplished by newspapermen seeking truth with a spirit of responsibility.

Before final acceptance, the commission beat down the so-called "propaganda clauses" which would have pledged newspapermen to "work for peace."

The peace proposals were sponsored by Lebanon and Yugoslavia.

The United States delegation said adoption of such a clause would be dangerous because it would make fostering propaganda, no matter how worthy, part of a newspaperman's job.

The commission's meeting were boycotted by Russia because of the presence of Chinese Nationalist delegates.

The code, as adopted—its enforcement will be up to newspapermen themselves—calls for:

Factually accurate and objective news coverage; no acceptance of bribes; no calumny, libel or plagiarism; voluntary corrections of false news; identification of rumors as such; responsibility for all statements published; respect for the private lives of individuals; respect for the confidence of news sources; and wide background knowledge of foreign countries by correspondents covering those countries.

Course for Future To Be Charted At IODE Meeting

A large part of Canada's development over the last half century is wrapped up in the history of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire which this month is holding its 50th annual meeting in Montreal. About 1,000 members from coast to coast are expected to attend. Mrs. W. Gordon Hall, regent of Municipal Chapter is the Peterborough delegate.

A milestone in the career of the nation-wide women's organization, this Golden Jubilee meeting will be a time of "stock-taking." "It will be a time for members to reflect on past achievements of the Order as they chart its course for the future," says Mrs. Frank McCurdy, National president.

Much has happened since that day 50 years ago when a Montreal woman, Mrs. Clark Murray, conceived the idea of a national women's organization to inspire Canadians with a love of country and of Empire.

Today the Order boasts a membership from Prince Edward Island to the Yukon of more than 30,000 women in 930 chapters. It also is organized in Bermuda, the Bahamas and in India. In addition it is associated with the Victoria League in England and the Daughters of the British Empire in the United States.

Chapters in Canada are linked through municipal chapters in communities with three or more primary chapters. All are organized under immediate direction of their provincial chapters and at the head is the National Chapter with headquarters in Toronto. Ontario with 391 IODE chapters has the largest membership. British Columbia comes next with 119 chapters, and Alberta has 103 chapters. Quebec has 82 chapters, while Saskatchewan and New Brunswick each has more than 60 chapters. Nova Scotia and Manitoba have 57 and 46 chapters respectively. Prince Edward Island has four primary chapters and the Yukon three, which are supervised directly by the National Chapter.

To inaugurate its Second War Memorial the Order has raised $583,000 to be distributed along educational lines similar to the First Memorial, which amounted to more than $500,000 in bursuries and scholarships.

While war memorials, education, wartime and post-war services, immigration and child and family welfare are the major branches of IODE work, activities of individual chapters are as varied as the needs of the communities in which they operate.

"By its encouragement of authors, musicians and artists, the Order has enriched the cultural life of Canada," said Mrs. McCurdy. "And as we look into the second half of this century we realize our great organization cannot stand still—it must expand through the years that lie ahead."

"The broad scope of our aims and objects will enable us to accept the challenge of the future" she concluded.

Joan Evans Weds Vincent D. Marino

At the Church of the Sacred Heart on Monday morning, Joan Beverley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Evans, 381 Mark St., became the bride of Vincent D. Marino, son of Mrs. Marino and the late Frank Marino.

The ceremony and nuptial mass were performed by the Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant. Mr. John Armstrong, organist, played wedding music and Anthony DeNoble sang "Ave Maria" during the signing of the register.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle Mr. Stanley Smallwood of Kitchener. She wore a gown of sheer white nylon over blue belgaline and a becoming headdress of white net with seed pearl trimming and lace gloves. She was carrying orchids on a white prayer book. Mrs. Elwood Manley, her attendant, was frocked in cerise bengaline and wore a white braided headdress. She carried a nosegay of mauve and yellow carnations.

The groomsman was Mr. Philip (Pete) Vitarelli and ushers were Frank Marino Sr. and Frank Marino Jr.

The reception and wedding breakfast were in Marino's dining room. The bride's mother assisted to receive wearing navy with white accessories and a navy hat. Also the groom's mother who was in a figured silk dress and had black accessories. Each wore a corsage of carnations.

When leaving later on a wedding trip to the United States the bride was wearing a grey checked suit and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Marino will live at 161 Lake St.

SUMMER'S IN THE AIR and every girl wants to look her prettiest whe nshe dines and dances under the stars, whether in town or in the country. Rhinestone studded strapless dress of gunmetal chambray (left) embroidered with silver thread. The summer frocks, are (centre) of nylon marquisette over self taffeta slip with bodice delicately stitch-tucked and (right) gossamer net over taffeta highlighted with fine braid work and featuring the season's most exciting decolletage.

Union Jack Marks Entrance To Empire Day Tea Room

Red, white and blue were the keynote colors for tea room decorations at the Centennial Empire Day Tea. Patriotic-to-the-core members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion placed a large Union Jack at the doorway of the YWCA Green Room for Tuesday afternoon and smaller flags stood on the tables inside.

The tea was highlighted by the table bouquet in which it had been contrived to combine the flag colors in one flower by inserting a tiny red rosebud in the centre of a white carnation with petal tips tinted blue. Also in the charming arrangement were large gladioli, little America 'mums and iris and it was tied with ribbon striped with matching colors and surrounded with clouds of sky blue tulle. Corner tapers were white and shining silver tea things were set on white linen.

Four draw prizes were interesting feature of this event. A huge basket of groceries was the main one and this went to Mrs. E. Dormer. As a consolation a crocheted apron was awarded on a second ticket and No. 1463 was drawn. The prize can be claimed from Mrs. A. Gynane, 212½ Charlotte St. A box of English biscuits was won by Mrs. W. Williamson and Mrs. A. Mason won the iced and decorated three-layer cake, made and donated by Mrs. S. Windsor.

Draws were made by Mrs. Chas. Ray and Mrs. G. K. Fraser, Mrs. A. Kent was in charge of ticket sales on the main draw.

The sale of home made candy and tickets on the biscuits were in charge of Mrs. Gynane and Mrs. J. J. Cooke. The cake raffle was conducted at the home baking table where Mrs. E. Dormer, Mrs. Harold Howell and Mrs. Harold Woods in charge.

Handwork offerings included aprons, children's pyjamas, babies' knitted sets, novelties and shell jewelry. Mrs. J. Mackness, Mrs. G. Walker and Mrs. E. Cooke were making the sales.

President Mrs. A. Mason and vice-president Mrs. G. Stevens were receiving and Mrs. R. Ritchie was at the treasurer's table.

Mrs. M. J. Swanston poured tea with Mrs. E. Evans of Oshawa, zone representative to the Auxiliary and they were relieved by Mrs. W. R. Philp and Mrs. G. K. Fraser.

Mrs. E. Graham and co-convener with Mrs. A. Parrington were hostesses in the tea room and servers were Mrs. C. Kernohan, Mrs. W. Downer, Mrs. G. Pearson, Mrs. F. H. Patterson, Mrs. F. Kiff and Mrs. B. Graham.

Supplying the table was looked after by Mrs. E. Duvall, Mrs. P. R. Castle, Mrs. J. R. Earnshaw, Mrs. T. Sarginson and Mrs. C. Robinson.

Red Cross Sent Three Lots Flood Workers' Necessities

That the past month has been a busy time at the Red Cross rooms was clearly shown by reports given at the meeting Tuesday afternoon.

Three shipments of emergency requirements for flood workers were packed and sent to Malton Airport to be flown to Winnipeg. These shipments consisted of flashlights and batteries, new sox, gloves and hip waders donated by the people of Peterborough city and county.

Special mention was made by various firms, organizations and individuals who assisted by soliciting, donating, packing and transporting the required articles.

A direct line from Ontario headquarters in Toronto to Winnipeg headquarters made it possible for the local Red Cross Branch to quickly contact relatives of some Peterborough people who were anxious about their welfare.

Mrs. Charles Ray explained that Red Cross policy in regard to the Winnipeg Flood Relief situation was established by National officers of the Society at a conference with the Manitoba Division and the officials of the Manitoba Relief Fund. The Red Cross has been appointed the official agency to look after evacuees in the matter of emergency relief and welfare. The Society will probably have to take care of evacuees for some weeks after the flood subsides and until their homes are pronounced fit for re-occupation by the sanitary authorities.

The appeals of the Manitoba Relief Fund, headed by Mr. H. W. Manning, is asking the public of Canada for ten million dollars. This Manning fund is strictly limited in purpose to rehabilitation of evacuees by purchasing furniture and furnishings for the homes when re-occupied.

Any contribution to the Red Cross Disaster Relief Fund will be promptly sent to the Divisional office and will be expended for emergency relief and welfare of evacuees until they can be returnd to their homes.

Mrs. W. M. Cruthers will head a committee to organize a campaign to collect donations of canned juices, canned vegetables, sugar in five-pound bags, canned meats and chocolate bars. This appeal will be made next week in Peterborough and a shipment sent to Winnipeg.

Red Cross officials, the wardens and reeves of Haliburton and Victoria counties have been invited to observe a Red Cross disaster practice in Peterborough to be held at the Exhibition grounds on Monday evening, May 29, at 7:45 o'clock with a discussion at the Red Cross rooms after.

It was reported that Dr. Bailey of Lakefield has been going to Apsley Hospital every Wednesday from 2-10 p.m. since the local branch has not as yet been able to secure a new resident doctor for the Red Cross Hospital.

Special acknowledgments of gifts of layettes to the Society was made to the Thursday Club and to the Young Mothers' Club of St. Paul's Church.

The treasurer, Miss Iris Whalon gave a report of the month's disbursements and read names of those who gave cash donations to be sent to aid Red Cross Disaster Relief work in Manitoba.

Badges of service were presented to several members who have given so much time and effort to further the work of Red Cross. As the presentations were made by the chairman, Mrs. C. J. Ray, Mrs. F. H. Hooper read an account of the special efforts of each recipient. Those who received this recognition were: Mrs. J. H. Vernor, Mrs. C. G. Graham, Mrs. John Mills, Miss Maude Rush, Mrs. D. A. Loomis and Mr. R. M. Glover.

Cullis-Brown Union

A wedding of interest here took place in Owen Sound First Baptist Church Saturday when Laura Brown, Reg. N., and John Alexander Cullis pledged vows. The bride is younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robertson Brown of Owen Sound, and the groom son of Mr. and Mrs. John Treleaven Cullis of Oakwood. The Rev. Ralph Clark conducted the ceremony, Mrs. Colin Cashore was organist and Mrs. Ralph Howlett the soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a filmy gown of white embroidered organdy over taffeta, the bodice finished with Peter Pan collar, the sleeves long and pointed over her hands and the full skirt extending in a train. Her fingertip veil of tulle was arranged on a tiny cap of organdy and she carried white starlight roses set in puffs of white tulle and tied with tulle.

Miss Lois Brown, maid of honor for her sister, Miss Marion McMillan of Detroit and Miss Lois Cullis of Oakwood, bridesmaids, blue taffeta embossed with white stars with scalloped frills of the taffeta as headdress. They carried nosegays of pink sweet peas and cornflower, cenfred with white roses and edged with pink frills.

Mr. Donald Wunker of London, Ontario, was groomsman and ushers were Bruce Vanstone and Murray Cook.

After a reception in the church parlors the couple left for Miner's Bay Lodge, Haliburton, to spend their honeymoon. The bride travelled in a navy gabardine suit and had white and navy accessories and a corsage of blue feathered carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Cullis will live in Peterborough.

Yes, with NEW SPIC and SPAN, the drudgery of cleaning with soap is over. Because NEW SPIC and SPAN has a magical dirt-dissolving ingredient that no soap or old-style cleaner has!
Just wring out a cloth so it's damp—not wet. Then, once over—and dirt's gone!
NEW SPIC and SPAN is now as mild for hands . . . as a beauty soap, no red roughness. And still safer for paint, too!
So quit trying to clean with old-fashioned cleaners and soaps, that get only part of the dirt. NEW SPIC and SPAN gets all the dirt.
USE NEW SPIC & SPAN

DOROTHY DIX

Bachelors Has Advantages But There Also Drawbacks

DEAR MISS DIX: What are the advantages of being a bachelor? What are the disadvantages of being one? J. B.

Dorothy Dix

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The principal advantage of being a bachelor is that you are free. You can come and go as you please. You do not have to punch the home time clock. You do not have to rack your brain thinking up alibis when you stay downtown to play poker with the boys. If you want to stay at home of an evening and read, well and good. If you want to step out also well and good. You are own master.

You can spend your own money on yourself. You can blow it in for a new car or glad raiment or put it in the savings bank. You do not have to see the dollar you have toiled for so hard go for groceries and coal and doctors' bills and baby clothes and millinery.

Can Take More Chances

Kipling says "he travels the fastest who travels alone." The bachelor can give up a poor job on the chance of getting a better one. The married man can take no such risk. The single man has many doors of opportunity opened to him that are shut to the married man. He can go to many places to which he could not take a family.

These are some of the advantages that the bachelor enjoys. Some of the drawbacks are that, while he is free, even freedom has a pricetag on it that often makes it cost more than it is worth.

It is true that he can go and come as he pleases without meeting any reproaches when he returns, but that is because nobody cares whether he ever gets back or not. True, he can spend his money on himself, but after he has bought himself a few garments and a car, what else is there for him to buy? A family costs a lot, but it is the best old-age insurance in money and happiness that any man can take out.

In every human heart the dominant desire is for love and companionship and for somebody to belong to you. The married man has these and the bachelor lacks them, and that is what makes marriage a paying proposition.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a fine husband and do not regret marrying him ten years ago, but after I had to ask for carfare, money for a wave or manicure, I just started padding the bills. It seemed simple and saved argument. There are thousands of other women doing the same thing. We do it willingly for the most part, because we love our men, and if they are willing to spend their money on the grocer and the butcher instead of giving it to their wives, why not put it that way? Ask husband to give us an allowance, you say? Just try it. C. R. K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I have tried it. For years I have been nagging husbands about giving their wives allowances, and try to make the poor dumb creatures see not only how unfair and unjust they are to expect a wife to work for her board and clothes, but also to realize how it humiliates a woman to have to go like a beggar to her husband for every cent she spends and how it outrages her sense of justice never to have any of the money she earns given her as her right instead of as a gratuity.

Men know they wouldn't like to be dependent on the most generous father in the world, and that they would die of self-contempt if they had to ask every morning for a little carfare or the price of a package of cigarettes and know that they couldn't pay their share of any little treat, but they think that being of the feminine persuasion just naturally gives a woman the soul of a parasite.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 30 years old and am the sole support of my father, a brother 22 and a sister 19. Both my brother and sister are capable of working and taking care of themselves, but they are too lazy to do so. I am engaged to a splendid girl, but they protest against my marrying her. Shall I marry the girl and leave my brother and sister to take care of my father as well as shift for themselves? Or shall I break of the engagement? SID

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are doing your brother and sister harm in making parasities of them instead of forcing them to stand on their own feet. Marry your girl and leave them flat so that they will have to either work or starve, but as they are young and inexperienced you should help them to support your father.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: There is so much written on how to attract and hold a husband and therein lies much difficulty. If we attract and marry a man or woman with means that are unnatural, that marriage is doomed because we cannot be unnatural all the time. If we are sloppy or spendthrifts, ill-tempered or drunkards, we should atract some one on our own plane. On the other hand, too many marry just to be married, without holding to their ideal. If we go downtown to buy a dress or an automobile and let the clerk talk us into buying something different from that which we had in mind the chances are we will be dissatisfied. The same holds true with husbands and wives.

GERTRUDE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: In our sober moments, before we have taken a draught of the intoxicating elixir of love, all of us have worked out a pattern of the man or woman we would like to have as a mate. We know perfectly well what qualities he or she would have to have to be congenial, what characteristics he or she would have to have to hold our respect and affections.

Don't Follow Through

A girl thinks that when she chooses a husband he will be a man of character and dignity, the sort of man who is respected by other men. A boy thinks that he would like a wife who would be a good housekeeper, one who would be thrifty and a good manager, who would feed him well and save his money. And then the girl runs across some handsome good-for-nothing with a way with him and sweeps her off her feet and she marries him. Or the boy meets some pretty doll who rolls her eyes at him and he falls for her and marries her. Then when they have got their bargains home and have had time to look them over carefully, they find that they don't suit at all. It is marrying the ones who fire our fancy for the moment instead of the ones who come up to our ideals, that is responsible for most of the failures in marriage.

What you say about the difficulty of keeping up a pretense in marriage is also true. No man or woman, for instance, can keep up the role of lover year after year, if he or she does not really care for the one to whom he or she is married. You can't infuse warmth into duty kisses nor put real feeling into forced caresses.

But there are a lot of things that a man or woman can deliberately do to keep the love fires burning. They can put fuel on the flames by showing each other affection; by considering each other's tastes; by handling each other with diplomacy, by taking as much pains to entertain each other as they would strangers upon whom they wished to make an impression.

FOR THE SUMMER BRIDE, wedding gowns are softly styled in sheer fabrics. Airy rayon marquisette gives delicate charm to the gown (left) which has a full train. Shirred bands of marquisette with lace applique frame the shoulders and curve to form a panier effect at the sides of the skirt. Short, bouffant dress (centre) which clears the floor by eight inches is made of embroidered Swiss organdy over a rustling taffeta slip. The embroidery borders the full skirt and bands the gathered fichu collar. A long train floats from the full, hooped skirt of the formal organdy gown (right). Loose-petaled flowers are embroidered on the snug bodice.

Of Interest to Women

What's Right

You go to a hospital to visit a person who is almost ready to leave the hospital, and there are several other visitors in the room.

WRONG: Talk and laugh as loudly as you like, since the person you are visiting is no longer very ill.

RIGHT: Out of consideration for other patients keep your voice low.

Juveniles Take Test Equipment

Two 12-year-old Lakefield juveniles were charged today with breaking, entry and theft following two thefts totalling about $300 in test equipment and chemicals from the American Nepteline Mines laboratory.

The thefts were made May 16 and May 21 and looked to Chief Constable Garnet Samis like highly specialized jobs in which the thieves wanted only equipment to test ores.

He wasn't looking for juveniles until Sergeant William Aggas, Identification Officer of the Peterborough city police force discovered some blurred fingerprints made by children on a window pane. Both entries had been made by prying open a window.

All of the loot was recovered, but some of the chemicals had been used and about $50 worth of the test equipment was broken. The boys had been playing with some highly dangerous chemicals. They could have blown themselves sky high with some of the mixtures.

When asked why they had stolen the equipment, one of them answered, "Just for testing." Their first take was valued about $100 and their second about $200.

Mayor's Fund Total Has Reached $1,600

Peterborough's response to the need of the stricken cities of Winnipeg and Rimouski is moving along through several channels.

The Examiner opened a subscription list in conjunction with other newspapers and at the request of the Winnipeg committee. City Council authorized Mayor Swanston to begin a fund to be received through the office of City Treasurer Couper. Its total this morning was approaching $1,600.

The Masonic Order is directing its own contribution from the membership, and Bishop Gerald Berry sent out last Sunday an appeal to all the churches of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Peterborough in behalf of the people of Winnipeg and Rimouski.

This collection is to be taken up next Sunday morning. People of good heart are giving to the Winnipeg Relief Fund or both, but it is unlikely that the total amount from Peterborough will be known for the reason that it will be sent through different branches of generosity.

Barber Shoppers Plan Concert Flood Benefit

A benefit concert, receipts for the Manitoba Relief Fund, will be presented Sunday night in the Summer Gardens by the Peterborough Citizens' Band and the local chapter of the S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A.

During intermission of the band's program the chorus and the chapter's two quartets, the Four Hoarsemen and the Lift Lock City Four, will sing several selections.

The program of the band is: Selection, I Love a Parade, (Harold Arlen); march, Middy, (Kenneth Alford); overture, Lyceum, (Otis Taylor); popular selection, Hawaiian War Chant, (arranged by John Noble); concert march, Knightsbridge March from the London Suite, (Eric Coates); novelty selection, Hail, Hail, All Around the World, (arranged by Paul Yoder); waltz, Missouri, (arranged by Fred Logan); selection, Serenade from the Student Prince, (Sigmund Romberg); overture, Three Traces, (Charles O'Neill); selection, Deep Purple, (Peter DeRose); selection, Stouthearted Men, by the band and chorus, (Sigmund Romberg); hymn, Abide With Me.

Fire Destroys Farmer's Home

BELLEVILLE, May 25 — Fire of undetermiend origin Tuesday morning completely destroyed the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd White, 9th Concession of Rawdon Township. Nothing was saved from the home but a studio couch and a few chairs.

Mr. and Mrs. White were away from home at the time of the fire, having left early in the morning. About 10 o'clock a neighbor, Bill Carter, noticed smoke rolling from one of the windows, but by the time help was secured only a few articles of furniture could be saved.

Mr. White is an employee of the Ontario Highways Department. There is one teen-aged girl Marion.

The farm home was known as the former Sam Townsend home. A garage adjoining the house was burned, but the barn, situated across the road from the house was saved.

Members of the Belleville Fire Department answered the alarm and assisted in saving the barn from the flames.

Boy's Leg Broken By City Grader

Five-year-old Bob Duder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Balfour Duder, had his left leg broken when run over by a city grader Tuesday, driven by Ambrose Clancy, 109 Sophia St.

The youngster was believed to be following the grade on his tricycle as it travelled south on Oxford St. When the grader stopped and started to back up, the boy rode up alongside it and was hit by a front wheel of the grader.

The first Clancy saw of the boy was when the youngster rolled away from the front wheel after he had backed the grader about 13 feet.

Helped by David Corvet, 73 Parkhill Rd., Clancy picked up the youngster and took him to his home at 563 Armour Rd. in a car they hailed.

Jack McGibbon, Clancy's foreman, was called and he took the boy to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it was found his left leg had been broken between the knee and ankle.

Constable Stewart Fife investigated.

Court Dismisses Two Charges

Two charges of failing to remain at the scene of an accident and failing to report an accident against Ronald Palmer, 287 Westcott St., were dismissed in police court today.

The charges arose from an accident in which Palmer collided with a parked car on Park St. and drove [illegible] other car shortly after [illegible] night May 10.

Constable Sherman Kelicle testified that through information from a service station he went to the home of Palmer, and found he had a car corresponding in color to light blue paint left on damaged fender of the first car hit, owned by Henry Sarasas, 287 Park St. Palmer's car was also damaged.

Palmer said in court that he hit the car and with the help of the owner of the second car, Harold Loomis, separated the cars which had become locked together by the crash.

He added he left his name and address with Loomis with the understanding that Sarasas was to be informed. He also said he thought the damage would not amount to more than about $25.

By accident Sarasas was not informed in the morning and reported the incident to police.

Palmer said all the cars were repaired at a total cost of $22. Loomis appeared in court and corroborated Palmer's evidence.

Defence counsel Gordon H. T. Farquharson argued there was no evidence that Palmer had tried to avoid his responsibility and had committed no criminal act.

"I'm inclined to agree," commented Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw. The magistrate made it unanimous.

CLEARING HOUSE

Down slightly on last week, the clearing house figures for the week ending May 24 were $2,216,981. The figures for the week ending May 17 were $2,951,483.

LISTOWEL, May 25 (CP)—B. L. H. Bamford, 63, today announced his retirement as editor and publisher of the Weekly Listowel Banner after 48 years in the newspaper business. He will be succeeded by George Tatham, native of Woodstock, who has been in the newspaper business since 1946.

French Filly Wins Major British Classic

EPSOM, England, May 25 — (Reuters) — Marcel Boussac's French filly Asmena today won the Oaks, major British classic for fillies, over a 2½-mile course here.

Another French horse, Mme. P. Lafarge's Plume was second with J. Musker's Stella Polaris third.

Asmena, winner by a length, started at 5 to 1. Plume, a 10-to-1 shot, ran 1½ lengths ahead of Stella Polaris. Stella Polaris was 100 to 7.

No New Fires In Haliburton

Chief Forester A. B. Wheatley, Lands and Forests, Lindsay, has his fingers crossed this morning in regard to the fire situation over the holiday. So far, the patrolling Beaver aircraft from Algonquin Park has not reported any new smoke as result of careless campers and smokers over Victoria Day.

There are only two fires going at the present time, both being held. The larges one, and that closest to Peterborough county has covered 350 acres at Oblong Lake in Haliburton County. One hundred men were engaged on controlling it on Tuesday. The second fire, in Hindon Township, Haliburton, is also under control.

There was a total of six fires in the Trent District last week. Four of them in Cardiff, Methuen, Stanhope and Chandos are out and it has been determined that of the six fires, three were caused by smokers, two by campers and one of unknown origin.

Wilgress Has Luncheon Pearson's Honor

LONDON, May 25 —(CP)—L. Dana Wilgress, Canadian High Commissioner to the United Kingdom, Tuesday gave a luncheon in honor of L. B. Pearson, External Affairs Minister, and Trade Minister C. D. Howe.

The luncheon was held at 12 Upper Brook Street, new home of Canadian High Commissioners in London. Other Canadians attending were Norman Robertson, Clerk of the Privy Council and Secretary to the Canadian Cabinet, and Max Mackenzie, Deputy Trade Minister.

Among the British guests were Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer; Food Minister Maurice Webb, Kenneth Younger, Minister of State; Automobile Magnate Sir William Rootes and top officials of the Treasury, Foreign and Commonwealth Relations offices.

Howe, who plans to fly back to Canada Thursday, is here for Anglo-Canadian wheat negotiations. A Canada House spokesman said the talks are going on "day and night."

Pearson, who came to London for last week's Atlantic Council meetings, will sail tomorrow for home aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth.

400 Fighting Kirkland Forest Fire

Fear Wind Shift To Endanger Town; 73 Fires In Ontario

TORONTO, May 26.—(CP).—Ontario's biggest forest fire has spread over 5,000 acres in Teck Township, the Department of Lands and Forests reported today.

Some 400 firefighters have been placed on the fire lines by the Government in an attempt to hold the blaze which could easily endanger the town of Kirkland Lake should the winds shift.

T. E. Mackey, chief of the forest protection branch, said some showers had fallen in the district, alleviating the situation. "There seems to be some indication that the showers will move south and east which will be of great help," he said.

There are 73 separate fires in various parts of the province with the second largest blaze in the township of Street near Sudbury. Men have been landed by an RCAF helicopter to battle this blaze. The helicopter was used owing to the difficulty of taking in supplies and fighters by more convential means.

"The helicopter has proved itself to be invaluable in landing men at the isolated point," said Mr. Mackey.

Altogether the department has 800 men on the fire lines in various parts of the province.

While some fires have been extinguished by fire fighters other blazes have broken out in other sections of the province. The hazard in the central and eastern Ontario sections remains high with the bush travel ban still in effect.

Fires by districts are: Port Arthur 1; Kapuskasing 3; Cochrane 14; Sault Ste. Marie 1; Gogama 1; Temiskaming 25; Sudbury 12; North Bay 5; Algonquin 4; Trent 2; Quinte 5.

ATLANTIC PACT AT WORK—One step in co-operation of Atlantic Pact countries is well under way—giving American "know how" to military men of our European allies. Here a US officer gives technical details of a light tank to officers from France, Italy, Belgium, Norway and Greece. This training centre at Eschwege, Germany, is one of several at which European military personnel are given instruction in operation, maintenance and repair of equipment sent them under the mutual defense program.

Refused To Help Battle Fire

LINDSAY, May 26 (CP) — A young Haliburton man who refused to help fight a bush fire in that area has been convicted under the Forest Fire Prevention Act.

Clifford Vickery, 21-year-old laborer, who was among 100 Haliburton men asked by Constable William Lovell to fight a 350 acre bush fire near Oblong Lake May 20 was fined $25 and $2.50 costs in police court here.

Several other charges laid by Provincial Police at Minden are pending.

Sees Atom Power Within 20 Years

TORONTO, May 26 (CP) — Canadian industrialists were told Thursday they may have atomic-produced electricity feeding their plants about the time their baby sons of today are in engineering school.

The forecaster was Dr. L. G. Cook of the National Research Council, Chalk River, and his audience the annual general meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

Summing up current views he envisioned a pilot of an experimental plant in eight to 10 years and a plant available for special uses to selected customers in about another 10 years. However:

"There is no reason to expect atomic energy industry to spring into being overnight, displacing at once the power industries which now serve us and disrupting in a few years the whole pattern of our economy.

"It will almost certainly follow the course of supplementing rather than supplanting existing economical sources of energy supply.

"Our judgment is that clearly no one should delay sound and economical additions to power supply, whether by fuel-generated electricity or water power because somewhere in the future atomic energy will come on the scene as an additional source of power.

Blast Wrecks Oakville Tug; 2 Die, 4 Injured

OAKVILLE, May 26.—(CP).—Two men were killed and four injured late Thursday when an explosion ripped through the tug Radell as she lay moored near this lakeshore town, 20 miles west of Toronto. It is believed the blast originated when a spark touched off fumes settled in the bilge.

Dead are John Peze, 32, of Galt and Garland Guy of Newfoundland.

Injured are Danny Hensberger, St. Clements, Ont.; William Koch, Conestoga, Ont.; and Bill Grygoski and Jack Lishman, both of Kitchener.

Guy's wife, expecting a baby shortly, was taken to hospital following the accident. It is feared the child may be born prematurely.

The men had been brought here from Kitchener to conduct diving operations to salvage RCAF practice bombs, dropped in Lake Ontario during wartime training.

Working On Engine

They were trying to start the engine of the tug when a terrific blast rent the boat and set it afire. It sank in 18 feet of water, its bottom torn out by the explosion. Guy's body was not recovered.

Burning oil from the explosion spattered a nearby dock and an auxiliary sloop, setting fire to both.

Koch and Grygowski were sitting on the deck when the explosion occurred. Koch said he was thrown 40 feet by the blast into a field.

Quietly Discharge Soldiers Believed Linked With Reds

OTTAWA, May 26.—(CP).—The forces, reacting to the Communist menace, have quietly discharged some servicemen from the post-war forces and for the first time are spelling out one of Communism's basic tenets as a military crime. The Commons defence committee, wading through a husky bill to consolidate and modernize defence legislation, Thursday night approved a clause which takes the place of a one-word offence known as sedition.

It provides for penalties up to life imprisonment for persons liable to military law who "publish or circulate any writing, printing or document in which is advocated, or who teaches or advocates, the use, without the authority of law, of force as a means of accomplishing any governmental change within Canada."

That amounts to Communism's advocacy of the overthrow of government by force. Defence department law officers said the clause is taken from the criminal code and told a reporter it is being injected because of the cold war and the Communist threat.

Many Penalties

Life imprisonment is the top penalty, but there are numerous others that could be imposed, among them plain dismissal from the service. Thus the clause conceivably might be used as a lever to oust Reds.

No mention was made in the committee of discharges of Communists or sympathizers from the forces. The reporter asked the officers if any had been discharged for that reason. They declined comment. One said that such matters come under the heading of military secrecy.

It was indicated reliably, however that the process of easing persons out of the civil service for security reasons has touched the forces as well as the National Research Council, the National Film Board and other branches of government.

Sells His Puppy To Bury Friend

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP). — Holding back the tears, Rudy Loizzi 13, sold his beloved pup Brownie for $2 Thursday to help raise funds to bury a 17-year-old pal who was drowned.

The pal, Frankie Romanger, lost his life 10 days ago while playing with Rudy and other friends on an East River dock.

Frankie's parents were short of cash, and his body has been at Bellevue Hospital morgue since it was recovered two days ago.

Boys of the neighborhood started collecting a funeral fund Thursday. After Rudy sold his pup, another lad sold some pet pigeons and tossed $3 into the kitty, made up mostly of pennies and nickels.

Some boys ran errands for tips, others collected rags and bottles to sell.

There was $35 in the pot this morning.

The grown-ups who knew Frankie, were expected to kick in with the rest of the money needed.

Prisoners Seize Guns Riot Near Manila

MANILA, May 26 (AP) — A riot broke out in the big Muntinglupa prison, 15 miles south of Manila, shortly after noon today.

First reports said 17 prisoners and one constabularyman had been killed and many were wounded.

Constabulary headquarters said the prisoners, part of 6,000 criminals housed there, seized machine guns and began firing.

Buildings were set afire. The armory was reported destroyed.

Muntinglupa is the largest federal prison in the Philippines.

Constabulary headquarters here said telephone lines to the prison had been cut and only meagre information was available.

Millionaire's Daughter Kidnapped By 2 Thugs

MEXICO CITY, May 26 (AP) —Two men kidnapped the six-year-old daughter of a millionaire movie house operator on Thursday and left a note demanding $18,000 ransom in gold.

The child, Norma Granat, was snatched as she and her nurse left the home of her father, Samuel Granat, owner of a chain of movie houses. The men gave the nurse the ransom demand then drove quickly away with the child.

The note gave no instructions for delivering the gold, but it warned that if police were notified "the child will be killed."

Blood On Island Rocks Believed Clue To Bandit

MONTREAL, May 26 (CP) — Search for a gunman who cut down a policeman and a bank manager Thursday in an attempted bank robbery, extended today to the eastern end of Montreal island where drops of blood were found on rocks at the river edge.

Police said they believed the thug accidentally shot himself after wounding RCMP constable Alex Gamman and bank manager S. G. Bickley in the abortive attempt to rob the bank of Toronto branch on downtown Beaver Hall Hill.

Detectives are holding a taxi driver who told them he had driven a man answering the gunman's description to the eastern end of the island.

Det. Capt. William Fitzpatrick led a heavily-armed squad to the spot. They said blood on the rocks indicated that the bandit had washed his wound in the river.

A tiny island near the main island was searched before dawn and police moved through the brush under the light of parachute flares fired by detectives carrying rocket guns. But except for the blood no trace of the bandit was found.

Meanwhile, hospital authorities said the 58-year-old policeman, felled as he attempted to stop the robber, was fighting for his life with a wound near the heart.

Condition of the bank manager who suffered a leg wound, was reported as "good."

The bandit fled from the bank without taking any money.

In an effort to steal a car for a fast getaway, the gunman jammed his gun into an unidentified motorist as the latter was getting out of his car. The car owner refused to hand over his keys and darted across the street.

The gunman then fled on foot.

7,000 Trucks Jam Roads For Red Rally

Allied Forces Kept At Full Strength In Case of Putsch

BERLIN, May 26. — (CP).—All 13 trunk roads into Berlin were closed to normal traffic today to make way for 7,000 trucks and buses bringing thousands of blue-shirted East-German youths to the city for Sunday's monster Communist youth rally.

Throughout East Berlin this morning gangs of workmen and young volunteers were unfurling flags and erecting huge "peace" placards in Unter Den Linder and other main streets and squares.

The Western Allies intensified their precautions against Communist violence as 200,000 young East Germans jammed the city's Russian sector.

Communist officials appeared as anxious to keep their "free German youth" out of the Allied sectors. Warning the demonstrators away from West Berlin, the Reds brought in 6,000 "people's police" from the surrounding Russian zone to augment a force of 15,000 already on duty in east Berlin.

Strengthen Guards

With 300,000 more young Germans reported en route to Berlin, specially allied precautions went into effect at dawn today. Five British armored cars and 50 soldiers occupied a strategic post behind barbed wire, 500 yards from Potsdamer Platz.

East and West German police guarded the opposite sides of the square.

Other potential trouble spots in mid-city also were staffed with an allied military reserve.

The total allied military force of 8,000 officers and men was on the alert.

Three deserters from the Communist "People's Police" including a girl escaped into the western sector early today and appealed for political refuge. Two others had deserted Wednesday night and surrendered in the U. S. sector.

Plan Big Parade

The youth demonstrations are scheduled to reach a climax Sunday in a six-hour "peace and unity" parade. But with east zone newspapers and officials warning the youths away from West Berlin as a "false show-window," competent allied sources said they had almost entirely discarded earlier fears that the Whitsun demonstration was disguise for a violent putsch against the west.

They added, however, that Communist demonstrators who wandered into the allied sectors might be endangered by anti-Communist crowds, for West Berlin tempers have grown hot against the east zoners and the Russians.

Transport Crash Blocks Highway

NAPANEE, May 26 (CP)—An injured truck-driver screamed for help today as rescuers spent a frantic two hours to free him from the crushed cab of his transport.

Bob Johnston of Toronto suffered face cuts and undetermined other injuries when the big truck, carrying an 18-ton load of sugar, crashed into the railing of a 50-foot bridge across the Napanee river.

He was taken to hospital in Kingston, 30 miles east of here. Traffic on No. 2 highway—main road link between Toronto and Montreal—was held up for 3½ hours.

Johnston, a driver for Hanson Grocers of Toronto, was given a sedative by a doctor during the time he was trapped. A tow-truck chain was passed through the transport cab and around the twisted steering-wheel to free Johnston.

About 40 feet of steel railing was ripped away in the accident. Gasoline spilled, causing fear of fire, but firemen played water on the wrecked truck during the rescue.

Deadlock Soon Over

LAKE SUCCESS, May 26. —(AP).—Secretary-General Trygve Lie said today he hopes for a definite break by June or July in the United Nations deadlock over China. Lie also declared Russia still has full confidence in the United Nations and wants it restored to its normal functioning. This has been disrupted by the Soviet walkout - strikes which started Jan. 10 concerning the China representation question.

Clean-up Squads Take Over In Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, May 26 (CP) — Operation Rainbow started today at both ends of the Red river disaster area.

Clean-up squads moved into Greater Winnipeg flood zones behind the retreating river, to start a city-wide scrub and disinfect campaign.

The first train in two weeks moved into Emerson, the international border town where the muddy Red's month-long rampage started.

Risk of further serious damage in the worst flood of a century was minimized by the No. 1 expert on the river's actions.

"Greater Winnipeg now is out of danger as far as wholesale evacuation is concerned," said D. M. Stephens, Deputy Resources Minister for Manitoba and water-level adviser to Brig. R. E. A. Morton's flood-control headquarters here.

He said in an interview that only phenomenal rainfall could put the river back to its 30.3 foot level of last week-end. Even 30.3 feet, peak since 1852 in the twin cities of Winnipeg and St. Boniface, Man., is more than two feet below the point at which, the army says, general evacuation would be necessary.

Mr. Stephens said he agreed with a Canadian Press assessment that:

There is only a remote possibility now that any failure of public utilities, such as electricity and water, will occur;

Greater Winnipeg's 20 miles of dikes probably will hold firm since the pressure on them is being reduced hourly;

All risk of further serious damage in the Greater Winnipeg area will disappear as soon as there is assurance favorable weather will continue through Monday.

Today there was a good prospect the weather will be about perfect through the week-end.

Brig. Morton was less definite than Mr. Stephens Thursday, but he was more optimistic than any other time since he was called in by the provincial government May 6 when the Red's full fury struck first at Greater Winnipeg.

Stranahan In Finals

ST. ANDREWS, May 26 (AP) Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., advanced to the finals of the British amateur golf championship today with a 4 and 3 victory over 54-year-old Cyril Tolley of Britain.

33 Die As Wall Of Fire Sweeps Street Car; Doors Jam, Trap Rider

Chicago Gas Truck and Trolley Collide, 8 Buildings Destroyed As Raging Flames Engulf Whole Street

CHICAGO, May 26. — (AP). — A wall of fire enveloped a crowded street-car after it struck a double trailer gasoline truck Thursday night and 33 persons died in the flames. Thirty others were injured, at least three critically. About 20 remained in hospitals. Many of the dead and injured were Negroes. The spreading flames from the thousands of gallons of gasoline in the huge truck set fire to eight two-storey buildings and several automobiles. No bodies were found in the wrecked buildings. But more than 100 persons—mostly Negroes—were made homeless.

The accident occurred near the end of the evening rush hour—7:30 p.m. EDT—near the heavily populated 63rd and State Street district, on the city's south side.

(A similar accident — but far less costly in lives—took place in Toronto in May, 1946. A gasoline trailer truck crashed into a crowded streetcar at Bloor and Bathurst Streets and burst into flames. Three persons died and 42 severely injured. The truck, its brakes defective, hurled down Bathurst hill, with the driver jumping clear before the collision.)

The crash and a deep roar were followed by black smoke and billowing flames that surged along State Street like rolling flood waters.

Panic Reigns

Panic followed the crash. And there was terror and confusion at the scene long into the night.

Thirty-three pieces of fire equipment answered the extra-alarm fire. Four hundred policemen were on duty.

Traffic snarled as more than 20,000 persons milled in the vicinity, flocking to the scene of Chicago's worst street car accident. It also was Chicago's worst fire disaster since 61 persons died in the La Salle Hotel blaze June 5, 1946.

The frantic, trapped passengers screamed hysterically as they fought to flee from the flaming streetcar. Thirty-two of the esti-

Break Smuggling Ring Linked With Revolution

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP)—Seven men and an attractive blonde have been seized in a crackdown on an alleged $3,000,000 counterfeit smuggling ring said to be linked to a Caribbean revolution plot.

The fantastic scheme, according to an authoritative source, was to sneak $3,000,000 in bogus United States bills into Cuba's national treasury, exchange them for good Cuban money and then finance a revolt in the Dominican Republic.

The blonde and four men were arrested here and one man was apprehended in Miami Thursday. Two Cubans were held in that country.

Serves 19 Years In Navy Takes $19,000 For Binge

LOS ANGELES, May 26 (AP) —What would make a United States navy officer, with 19 years of honorable service and combat duty, rifle a ship's safe of $19,000 and then blow it all in a wild six-month binge with a blonde?

Lieut. Bascom B. Boaz is in jail today accused of just that. Broke, he is there in lieu of $10,000 bail awaiting preliminary hearing on charges of embezzlement of government funds and desertion from the U.S. Navy.

What made the 42-year-old officer do it?

"Domestic trouble started me drinking," he said, "and drinking magnifies all troubles. That kept on until I felt like I was cracking up."

His current trouble started last November when he got drunk in a Long Beach hotel and felt the urge to continue the binge.

"I went over to the ship (the navy tanker Navasota) and went aboard. I had a right to. I was the paymaster. I left the ship 20 minutes later, drunk and with $19,201.50, mostly in small bills.

"I hailed a cab and told the driver to head north. I handed him $300, gave him $500 more on the way. I also tipped him $180 so he could buy a television set for his boy.

"In Oakland, I gave him another $1,600 to go out and buy me an automobile. That's the last I ever saw of that guy."

At Fresno, Calif., he picked up blonde Pearl Rosemary Carter.

"She befriended me but she never knew that I stole the money."

Miss Carter was with Boaz when Federal Bureau of Investigation and Naval Intelligence officers arrested him Thursday. She was not held.

Boaz said they hired more cabs and took in the gambling casinos at Reno and Las Vegas, Nev.

"My luck was bad and the money went fast."

UK Announces Abolition Of Gas Rationing

LONDON, May 26 — (CP). — Britain today abolished gasoline rationing.

Fuel Minister Philip Noel-Baker, who made the announcement in the House of Commons, said the move——a major step in the gradual easing of Britain's wartime controls — is effective Saturday.

He said two American oil companies, the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the California Texas Company, have agreed to bring in additional supplies of oil and to accept sterling instead of dollars in payment.

A provision of the agreement between the Ministry and the companies was that Britain abandon rationing.

Noel-Baker said both American concerns propose to send the sterling they will earn under the arrangement on building tankers in Britain or in expanding their services.

The news was welcome to Britain's motorists, for whom gasoline has been rationed for more than 10 years.

Since gasoline supplies went on ration, September 23, 1939, during the first month of the Second World War, motorists have been allowed varying amounts, permitting from 80 to 270 miles' driving a month.

The Labor Government for some months has been under pressure from the Conservative Opposition and from motoring groups to do away with rationing.

Says Keays Fired And Knows It

TORONTO, May 26 (CP) — Commissioner W. H. Stringer said today that J. Ernest Keays of Belleville was formally discharged from the Ontario Provincial Police force — and that Keays knows it.

Keays, a former constable, charged publicly in 1948 that there was maladministration of justice in the Belleville area. A Royal commission last July found the charges groundless and recommended that he be fired.

Commissioner Stringer said:

"Provincial Constable J. E. Keays of Belleville was dismissed from the Ontario Provincial Police force by order-in-council dated July 14, 1949, and Provincial Constable Keays was so advised by registered mail."

Giant London Plane Brings Flood Supplies

LONDON, May 26 — (CP). — A giant Stratocruiser left London airport today with eight tons of sheets, pillow cases, towels, blankets and medical dressings for citizens of flooded Winnipeg.

L. Dana Wilgress, Canadian High Commissioner to the United Kingdom, saw the huge plane off. Also at the airport was Patrick Gordon-Walker, Secretary of State for Commonwealth Relations.

The craft was piloted by Captain W. US May, former Canadian bush pilot. It is due to arrive in Winnipeg tomorrow.

The airborne aid represents the first instalment of £100,000 $310,000$ worth of supplies earmarked by Britain for Canadian disaster relief. Some later shipments will be sent to the fire-ravaged Quebec cities of Rimouski and Cabano.

Pension Plan Presented To Committee

Doesn't Approve Test For Applicants, Sets Ages At 60, 65

OTTAWA, May 26.—(CP)—A prominent Canadian welfare authority believes old-age pensions — without a means test—should be provided for men of 65 years and women of 60.

Dr. H. M. Cassidy, head of the University of Toronto school of social work, states, however, that the pensions system should be one which would "discourage premature or unnecessarily early retirement from gainful employment."

The maximum payment should, he believes, be more than $40 a month, since that amount was scarcely adequate to meet living costs in the larger urban cities, such as Toronto.

Dr. Cassidy, author of many books on social and welfare planning, is expected to expand on these and other views on pensions when he appears before the joint parliamentary committee on old-age security today.

However, in a brief which he circulated to committee members previous to his appearance, Dr. Cassidy stated that he does not agree that applicants for old-age pensions should have to pass a test showing that they have insufficient funds to maintain themselves.

"A good system of old age pensions or of retirement benefits should be based on a number of principles, notably universal coverage, individual contribution, benefits payable without means test, benefits sufficient for basic maintenance and incentives to individual saving."

Based on pension payments which prevailed in 1947, he estimated that his plan may cost Canada about $327,000,000 in 1951, $365,900,000 in 1961 and $420,700,000 in 1971.

To meet part of this cost, Dr. Cassidy suggested that income earners in Canada contribute five per cent of their income to a pension fund which could be gathered through the federal income tax department. The minimum annual charge would be fixed at $15 and the maximum at $100.

Income exemptions would be allowed and would run $600 a year for single persons, $900 for a married person, with additional exemptions of $150 for each dependent child.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion Public Weather Office in Toronto at 9.30 a.m. EDT

Skies are cloudy over most northern regions and in western sections of Southern Ontario this morning. The weather over Northern Ontario is cool and showers but warm air still covers most southern regions. A few light showers were reported over Southwestern Ontario Thursday night.

The cool air over Northern Ontario is advancing slowly southward and early this morning moved into northern Lake Huron region. The progress of the cooler air is so slow that the shower activity along its leading edge has become very light and widely scattered.

The cooler air is expected to cover all regions of the province Saturday. Warmer air spreading across the prairies will bring rising temperatures to Northwestern Ontario Saturday.

Forecasts:

Eastern Lake Ontario, Haliburton regions: Sunny and warm today. Clouds with occasional light showers tonight and Saturday. Cooler Saturday. Winds light today, north 15 Saturday. Low tonight and high Saturday at Trenton and Killaloe 55, 65.

Summary for Saturday: Widely scattered showers. Cooler.

Man Surrenders In Murder Case

TORONTO, May 26 (CP) — William G. D. Clark, 24, of Toronto, sought in connection with a hotel-room slaying in Windsor, surrendered to police Thursday and was charged with murder.

Clark denied any connection with the slaying.

He said he read from newspaper accounts that police were looking for a man named Clark in connection with the fatal beating of Mrs. Margaret Cody, 53, whose nude body was discovered in a Windsor hotel room Tuesday.

"I was in that hotel Monday night, but I'm not the man they're looking for," Clark is reported to have told police.

The room the woman's body was found in was registered under the name of William Clark of Toronto.

Clark said he went to police to clear up suspicions in regard to his name and the fact that he had been in Windsor at the time of the crime.

Following Clark's surrender, Toronto police communicated with Windsor police and found they held a murder warrant for Clark. He was then charged with murder. He is being held pending arrival of Windsor police.

U.S. Senate Approves Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP) —The United States Thursday gave the administration a victory by approving the $3,120,550,000 foreign aid bill which has been snagged by a Republican fight over President Truman's "point four" program.

By a 47-27 roll call tally it passed and sent to the White House the single package measure authorizing economic assistance to non-Communist countries throughout the world. The House of Representatives approved the compromise bill Tuesday.

Although it contained $260,000,000 less than the administration had requested, the bill included the controversial "point four" program for economic help to backward areas of the world which Republican Senators vainly tried to scrap.

INJURED ON BICYCLE

Losing her balance on her bicycle, Miss Marie Joseph, 140 Sophia St., ran into a hydro pole Thursday and fell to the sidewalk knocking herself out. Constable Stewart Fife took the girl to Dr. L. Zacks who ordered her to St. Joseph's Hospital for X-rays. No fracture of the skull was revealed by the X-ray pictures and she was reported by hospital officials today as being in good condition.

Aeronautics Act Gets Rough Passage By MP's

OTTAWA May 26—(CP)—A series of amendments to Canada's Aeronautics Act, bringing it up to date and improving its application, won a rocky passage through the Commons Thursday.

With the amending bill in committee stage, Howard Green (PC-Vancouver-Quadra) led a brisk opposition attack against many of its provisions and renewed an assault on Trade Minister Howe as the minister responsible for Trans-Canada Air Lines.

Mr. Green charged that "hangovers" of "arbitrary and dictatorial" powers originally assumed by Mr. Howe are hampering the role of the Air Transport Board in efforts to develop Canadian aviation. Even now, as trade minister, Mr. Howe retained a grip on TCA which the cabinet was afraid to loosen.

Then, supported by John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre) and M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, Mr. Green centred his attack on a government proposal to give the effect of law to hundreds of civil safety directives approved neither by parliament nor cabinet.

Stricken From Bill

He moved that the provision be stricken from the bill, but withdrew it when Transport Minister Chevrier, piloting the legislation, mated 48 passengers burned to death, their lives snuffed out in a matter of minutes after the collision. Many of their bodies were piled in a charred mass at the rear doors.

The truck driver perished in the cab of his truck. It was loaded with between 7,000 and 8,000 gallons of gasoline.

Few Identified

Only a few of the dead passengers were identified. Many were burned beyond recognition. One was believed to have been the motorman, Paul Manning, 42.

The conductor escaped by jumping through a rear window. About 15 passengers escaped in the same manner, many of them with clothes aflame. The rear doors on the street car jammed and the Chicago Transit Authority ordered an investigation.

The crash occurred as the street car—one of the new stream-lined cars — moving south in State Street, swung suddenly to the left to enter a switch back siding in a vacant lot on the east side of the street. A flooded underpass at 64th Street had made it necessary to reroute the car.

Witnesses said the car crashed into the northbound truck. Gasoline poured out of the torn sides of the trailer, spilling and spraying over the street car into the street.

Open Switch

A Transit Authority spokesman said the car was moving at a brisk speed when it entered the switch. A flagman said he frantically waved at Motorman Manning that the switch was open—in a position which would change the course of the car. The car continued on—and collided with the gasoline truck.

One witness—Peter Simadis, 40, a tavern owner near the crash scene—said the fire "was travelling in a series of explosions, spreading so fast that no one could have escaped its path.

"I ran to the telephone but before I could complete a call to the fire department the front window of the tavern cracked under the intense heat and then fell inside."

The intense heat blistered billboards 75 feet away. Four or five explosions followed the crash.

Mrs. Mary Pokorney, 42, a telephone company supervisor and one of the passengers who escaped with minor injuries said one passenger had shouted a warning "look out" before the crash.

Doors Jammed

"Then I heard a crash and the car rocked, then righted itself," she said. ". . . I saw people sprawled about the car. There was black smoke everywhere. . . At first all doors were closed. Then someone got the back door open and I fell out."

Another passenger, Arlene Franze, 18, said "everyone in the street car was panicky. . . The screams were horrible. It was just like a nightmare."

She said the passengers could not open the rear doors.

"They clawed at them, but they wouldn't open. Finally a colored woman smashed a window with her fist and people crawled through it."

Other passengers described the frantic efforts of passengers to get out of the burning car. Many were trampled in the aisle and others were killed before they could get to the broken windows.

When the bodies of the victims were removed, they were laid in a charred mass under tarpaulins on the sidewalk and priests administered last rites of the church to the group.

The truck driver was identified as Mel Wilson of Valparaiso, Ind.

St. Thomas To Vote On Factory Building

City council of St. Thomas, of which Major John F. Peterson, formerly of the Examiner staff, is mayor, has decided to submit to a vote of the ratepayers June 15 a question of erecting an $80,000 factory building.

If this expenditure is approved, the building will be offered for sale to any manufacturing company interested in locating there.

Mayor Peterson said recently that the United States and British industrialists hesitate to consider municipalities lacking immediately available space.

It is known that some Quebec municipalities have been taking a lead in this speculative type of building.

20-minute car wax

Most car polishes take hours to apply—they cost you a stiff back and sore muscles when you're through.

In June Reader's Digest (now on sale) you'll find news of a new liquid wax that can be swabbed on in eight minutes, wiped off with fingertip pressure in just 12 more. Yet it leaves your car with a shiny, durable surface that lasts for months—and $1 buys enough to do two cars.

New Theatre Group

LONDON, Ont., May 26.—(CP).—Campus Players '50, a new theatre group, has been formed here with a tentative program of two plays a month during the summer season. It is the hope of the groups, which includes a number of college students, to produce their plays at Convocation Hall, University of Western Ontario.

PLAY AT STORY HOUR

Around the World in Stories, a play presented over a mock broadcast at the Public Library May 12, will be repeated Saturday morning at 10.30 at the Children's Story Hour. More than 300 attended the first performance and many were turned away. Miss Lillian Wesley, juvenile department librarian, said today Saturday would be the last story hour until the fall.

ARRIVING FRUITS

Florida limes and watermelons have reached Peterborough fruit stores anticipating the thirst summer induces. Missouri strawberries were 35c the small box yesterday, an increase over the Kentucky berries that sold recently at 29c. Local asparagus is 15c a bunch, and potatoes from Alabama are displayed in store hampers.

MP Apologizes For Statement

OTTAWA, May 26 (CP)—J. A. Ross (PC-Souris) apologized in the Commons Thursday night to Mayor Garnet Coulter for a statement in which he had reported Mayor Coulter as charging the premier of Manitoba with "criminal neglect" in Manitoba's flood emergency.

Rising on a question of privilege, Mr. Ross said he had learned that the statement had been made not by Mayor Coulter, but by the deputy mayor, Alderman C. E. Simonite.

He said he had heard the report attributing the statement to the mayor in a news report over a Winnipeg radio station. He mentioned the report in a debate on Manitoba's floods in the Commons Tuesday.

Approves Request For Gas Station

Application of the McColl Frontenac Oil Co. to erect a $25,000 service station on the south-east corner of Lansdowne St. and Monaghan Road was placed in the hands of the city clerk today. It was explained to the Town Planning Board Thursday night that there would be no storage tanks erected there—if for no other reason than the property on which they have an option to purchase is too small. Gerald DeLong, district sales representative, asking the board for its approval on Thursday, said the service station would serve a need for that portion of the city and the building would be a "landmark." It would be erected far enough back on the property to avoid screening the view of converging motor traffic. The board saw no objection to the application and it is now in the hands of the city council.

UK No Defence In Atom War

LONDON, May 26 (Reuters)—One of Britain's foremost atomic scientists today published an opinion that Britain would be almost defenceless in an atom war.

Professor P. M. E. Blackett, writing in a booklet just published, termed adequate atom defence of the British Isles "quite impracticable."

He added that atom bombs would not necessarily prove quickly decisive in a war between Russia and the United States.

He also claimed it would be a "major blunder" to launch atomic attacks from British air bases.

Blackett, professor of physics in Manchester University, recently aroused wide interest in the west and in Russia with his book, "The Military and Political Consequences of Atomic Energy."

Man Found Guilty Of Cruelty To Dog

CAMPBELLFORD, May 26 — (ENS)—Donald Stephens, RR 5, Campbellford, was found guilty of cruelty to animals in police court, Thursday, when he appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter on a charge laid by Provincial Constable Don Erskin of Brighton.

On May 18, Stephens shot a dog belonging to Mac Little, of RR 5, Campbellford, wounding the animal about the head and face. Dr. J. E. Trimble, veterinarian of Campbellford, testified seeing the dog as he drove along the highway near the Little home. He stopped to see what ailed it, then notified the owner and treated the dog for gunshot wounds, removing several pellets.

Crown Atorney Harry A. Deyman prosecuted the case, and J. F. R. Douglas defended Stephens. A fine of $3.00 and $7.50 costs was levied by Magistrate Baxter. The dog is recovering satisfactorily.

Leslie Peterson of Dartford appeared on a charge of trapping out of season. He was found guilty and fined $10 and $2.50 costs. Reg. McCulloch, local game conservation officer, laid the charge.

Campbellford Girl Graduates As Nurse

CAMPBELLFORD, May 26 — Miss Patricia Robertson, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Robertson of Booth St., was a member of the graduating class of nurses who trained at St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto. She received her degree at the graduation ceremonies held in Convocation Hall, University of Toronto on Monday. Her older sister, Margaret, is also a graduate nurse.

Have 55 New Cases

COBOURG, May 26 (ENS) — Fifty-five new cases of communicable disease were recorded for the week ending May 20, it was reported by the headquarters of the Northumberland and Durham Counties Health Unit. In spite of the warm weather, whooping cough is still fairly prevalent with 10 new cases reported, five of them in Cobourg. German measles are quite widespread with 37 new cases, 20 of them in Port Hope, 11 in Bowmanville and the remainder spread out in the rural sections. Three cases of chickenpox, three of red measles and two cases of mumps, complete the list.

Running Lottery

NEWCASTLE, England, May 26 — (Reuters)—A Roman Catholic priest, Father Clullum MacCabe, was fined £6 10s. ($20.15) Thursday for running a lottery in his presbytery. His assistant priest and 27 persons associated with the draw were fined a total of £14 10s. It was stated that the profits had been used for new church schools and not a cent had gone to private profit.

Plan Concert For Flood Aid

CAMPBELLFORD, May 26. — (ENS).—The first money-raising scheme for the Campbellford Community Flood Relief Fund, under the chairmanship of Mayor J. E. Ayrhart, will take place Sunday night at Edgewater Park, where a concert will be staged by the Campbellford Citizens' Band, the Hill Billies and other talent of the district. Guests will be asked to contribute to a collection.

Mr. Wesley Sweet is donating the park, and with Mr. J. M. Herd is arranging the program.

Service clubs, bridge clubs, lodges and individuals have all been asked to contribute to the fund in any way they can.

Proceeds obtained from all sources will be banked, and a lump sum will later be forwarded to the Manitoba Food Relief Fund.

Both of the local branches of the chartered banks are accepting donations.

Alnwick Woman 88 Breaks Collar Bone

ROSENEATH, May 26.—(ENS).—Eighty-eight year old Mrs. Thomas McCracken of Alnwick township, took a weak spell Wednesday and fell off the floor, fracturing her collar bone. She received medical attention from Dr. George H. Field, M.D., Roseneath.

Mrs. McCracken resides with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ross McCracken, on the 7th Concession of Alnwick. Mrs. McCracken's only worry is that she cannot raise her right arm to assist with the daily household chores.

Gets 20 Years

ROUEN, France, May 26—(AP)—Louis Blondeau, 39, accused of causing his wife's death by forcing her to sit twice while naked on a hot stove, was sentenced Thursday to 20 years at hard labor. A jury in the assize court here found Blondeau, a hairdresser, guilty of voluntary homicide. He denied the charge. The wife died as a result of her burns.

Cobourg Groups Hold Bingo For Flood Fund

COBOURG, May 26 (ENS) — Cobourg service clubs, Legion, B & P Club and other organizations met Thursday night to arrange for the giant bingo to be held June 9 in aid of the Manitoba Flood victims. Chairman was Frank Powers of the Knights of Columbus.

Representing the Lions Club was E. P. McQuaig; Kinettes, Mrs. Harvey Brent; B. & P. Club, Mrs. Margaret Jones and Dorothy Moon; Rotary, Russell Manning; Legion and the town, Mayor Jack Burnet; Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. E. Niles and Mrs. J. Ewart; Kinsmen, Bob Finkle; Kiwanis, Ed. Campbell and Allied Labor Council, J. Dickson.

Prizes are being procured and the committee hopes to fill the new recreational centre to capacity. The Business and Professional Women's Club is looking after the loudspeaking equipment and is assisting in the sale of tickets on the draw. The canteen will be in charge of the Kinettes.

The Government Advertises Butter

The Marketing Service of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is at present inserting advertisements in the principal newspapers advertising butter. The advertisements are conceived and executed in the best commercial style, and if they were being inserted by the dairy industry we would have no fault to find with them. But as they are being inserted by the Dominion Government we should like to know why the Government is using public money to advertise one commercial product in opposition to another commercial product?

* * *

We can provide part of the answer to our own question. The Government has large supplies of butter on hand and wants to get rid of it, and it has decided to do what wise sellers do in such cases —advertise. But the Government is using money from the public treasury to advertise butter in competition with a group of contributors to the public treasury who manufacture margarine. If the Government is going to use public money to take sides in matters of trade, let every manufacturer and retailer take warning.

* * *

We do not attach too much importance to this matter, but we think the Government departments would be wise to watch such things very carefully in future. A Government which professes to believe in private enterprise should not push special products in competition with others. Everybody knows that the Department of Agriculture has got itself into a mess in the butter business, but one mess is not cleaned up by making another.

Conflicting Reports

A former British Air Ministry intelligence officer this week published a book in New York. He says in his appraisal of the Soviet Air Force that the Russians have no aeroplane capable of delivering the atom bomb. They are now attempting to build, he reports, a six-engine long-range bomber to compete with the American B-36. The present air equipment of Russia seems, therefore, not to be formidable, even though the writer, Asher Lee, says that their aircraft factories have now an annual jet-plane production three times as large as the U.S.A.'s.

But there are less comfortable reports about Russian preparedness. The London editor of a private news letter called Intelligence Digest, who published the news of the explosion of Russia's first atomic bomb three weeks before the announcement was made to the world by President Truman says that Russia has developed and already exploded a new type of atomic bomb more powerful than any so far tested by the United States, and that the Soviet High Command is massing large air-borne forces behind the Russian-Turkish border, as a direct threat to the Middle East oil areas of Arabia and Iraq. This news, if true, may be of historic importance.

Field Marshal Wavell

The sudden death of the Earl Wavell touches Canada rather intimately because of the Field Marshal's recent visit to this country and the warm impression he made in Montreal and Toronto. Viscount Alexander, as Governor-General and a famous soldier, has paid tribute to Earl Wavell, who was one of the greatest generals of our time. His star did not burn steadily, for his fate was to lead armies in the first unhappy years of the war when men were few and their equipment less.

Wavell was Commander-in-Chief in the Middle East in 1940, when the Italians with half a million soldiers in Africa, with full armour, staged their offensive to gain a North African empire. The British could muster only 100,000 men, with little tank and aircraft support. The Italians took French and British Somaliland, Libya, and advanced into Egypt. In December of 1940, Sir Archibald Wavell struck back with his 'Desert Rats,' when the Italians were sixty miles within the border of Egypt. In rapid order he took Bardia, Tobruk, Derna, Benghazi and did not pause until he reached El Agheila in Cyrenaica. In this brilliant campaign of two months Wavell destroyed Graziani's army, captured more than 130,000 prisoners and enormous quantities of materiel, at a cost of only 1,800 casualties. The British offensive of early 1941, waged from three sides, resulted in the restoration of Ethiopia, and the virtual extinction of Italian influence in Africa. Later defeat and the subsequent campaigns of the Eighth Army, successor to Wavell's troops, eclipsed this 1941 triumph. Yet, with odds of seven to one, over all but impassable terrain, it was one of the most brilliant in military annals.

Wavell's military gamble in Greece, the descent of Rommel's Afrika Korps and the epic of Tobruk followed. Wavell was transferred from the Middle to the Far East, and served there as Commander-in-Chief, and Viceroy of India. Recognition of his services came to him; his Field Marshal's baton, an earldom, and the esteem of Allied generals and defense ministers who knew him to be a tactician and strategist of the highest ability. Britain and the Commonwealth have lost a great soldier, who gave them their first military victory of the last war.

Canada Buys More Than Britain

March's trade figures give a topsy-turvy twist to the usual view of Anglo-Canadian trade. In that month Canada bought more from Britain than Britain bought from Canada; an unprecedented situation in this century. The excess was $2,400,000. Thus for that one month Canada had a technically unfavourable balance of trade with Britain. It should not cause alarm. On the contrary, it should be viewed as a favourable balance of trade, for it is not permanent, shows that Britain is achieving her aim of selling more goods in Canada to pay for Canadian exports, and that she is doing what the Americans have advised —balancing her trade books.

If the situation were permanent Canada would rightly feel alarmed, for a fifth of Canada's national income is represented by exports, and Britain has achieved its credit balance in March by selling more to Canada, and also by cutting down on her imports from this country.

Britain's dollar shortage is also a Canadian problem. It is of great importance to Canada that Britain be able to overcome the shortage. That is one of the reasons that a Dollar-Sterling Trade Board was set up last year, under the first chairmanship of J. S. Duncan, Canadian industrialist and businessman. It is the reason that the Canadian Chamber of Commerce has sponsored the joint Anglo-Canadian Trade Committee. As Mr. Duncan points out, "the importance to Canada of her sterling area export markets is widely understood. Any significant curtailment of our export opportunities can quickly affect our primary producers and thence pyramid its depressing effect throughout the whole economy. Despite the phenomenal growth of Canadian exports to the United States, the sterling area remains an important market for most of our basic commodities. It provides our chief export opportunities for such goods as wheat and many manufactured items that we cannot normally expect to sell in the United States."

Mr. Duncan believes that those who doubt the ability of the United Kingdom to close the dollar gap are lacking in faith. "One might ask those doubters, did they have the vision in 1947 to foresee that two years later the streets of our Canadian cities would be filled with small British cars, representing imports of more than $30,000,000 last year?"

The March figures do indicate that Britain is succeeding in overcoming the dollar shortage. It is heartening that at the same time Canada is approaching a balance with the United States. Our debit balance was only $3,700,000, compared with $44,000,000 for the corresponding month last year. What is now necessary for Britain and Canada to continue to achieve some sort of balance, but in larger figures. To reach it by cutting down on exports and imports would damage world trade and depress the Canadian economy.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Not everybody is suffering from a split personality, but many are rather badly cracked.

A village in the Orkneys awoke one morning recently to find that 97 dead whales had been washed up on its beach. That's going to strain the garbage disposal facilities for a day or two.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

SIR: The Prime Minister must have had a swell view of Peterborough when he woke up in his private car Saturday morning. It was on a siding bang up against the Co-op mill's wall, and within sound of all the traffic noises of George St. What's the matter with the people who arranged this? Why couldn't his private car have been parked somewhere pleasant?

ANSWER: Lack of imagination, I suspect. It would have been very pleasant if the P.M.'s car had been stationed on the other side of the bridge, in Ashburnham, so that when he looked out the window he could have seen Little Lake, and when he went for his early morning constitutional he could have strolled through quiet, leafy streets, or along countrified walks.

Mr. St. Laurent did later have a chance to see the city's situation. In private conversation he commented on the similarity between our Peterborough landscape and that of the Eastern Townships (Compton area) where he grew up. The view from our Hospital Hill last Saturday, in the spring verdure and crystal sunshine, was peerless.

* * *

ALPHA: Why are insurance rates so high on little English cars? I have one, and I have to pay the same rates as if I owned an American-type car three times as big and three times as dangerous. Why should that be? For instance, if I hit another car, I am not likely to cause it half the damage I would as if I could go 75 miles an hour and the car were as big as a Ford. Yet my collision rates are not lower.

ANSWER: It may be that the insurance companies have not yet had time to devise new statistical tables to gauge accurately the kind and likelihood of collision damage caused by a small car. Also, of course, Canadian and American car manufacturers would not be anxious for the insurance companies to give lower insurance rates to English cars, because to do so would reduce the operating costs of English cars . . . Until this year the licence plates for English four-cylinder cars were very cheap because they came in the category of old 4-cylinder Fords. But either the government or the Canadian car manufacturers woke up to the fact that the licences were quite cheap (another favourable point for the English car owners) and the licence fee was more than doubled.

* * *

SIR: Why do they call it "Dutch courage"?

ANSWER: Dutch courage is artificial courage inspired by intoxicating drink. The adjective Dutch is a reference to Holland gin. Kingsley, in Westward Ho!, has this: "Pull away at the usquebaugh, man, and swallow Dutch courage, since thine English is oozed away".

* * *

DEAR ALPHA: Is pipe-smoking among men increasing? If so, why? My husband has taken up the pipe. I can't imagine why. I am sure he doesn't like it and prefers cigarettes. I think it is just an affectation and it smells the house up.

ANSWER: I cannot say, though have noticed around Peterborough that more men are smoking pipes. Perhaps the reason is that it is cheaper than cigarette-smoking. A pipe of ordinary tobacco does not cost any more than one cigarette, lasts longer, and a man of ordinary tongue and palate cannot smoke as many pipes-full as he can cigarettes, nor would he want to. A pipe is a satiating (if not more satisfying) smoke.

If pipe smoking is increasing, a reason may be that our Canadian women have not yet taken to pipes, (though one pipe maker in Toronto has, in addition to his regular lines, a small pipe designed "for women smokers"). It is still a male prerogative and one of three left. The second is, of course, shaving. Have you noticed that men are tending to make more of a ritual of shaving than ever before? I think it is to assert their masculinity in face of their women-folk.

* * *

ALPHA: I understand that the Prime Minister went to call on the Bishop during his visit last Saturday. Was that on the itinerary?

ANSWER: The P.M. gave very generously of his time when he was in Peterborough. As a matter of fact, Canadian Press reports of Tuesday last said that the Prime Minister seemed to be rather fagged at the end of his Winnipeg visit. (He flew to Winnipeg to inspect flood damage the next day, Sunday morning, after leaving Peterborough Saturday night and getting back to Ottawa in the small hours of Sunday a.m.) It was Peterborough, not Winnipeg, that took his energy.

But in spite of his busy Peterborough official time-table, he did take time to pay a friendly call on Bishop Berry, who is, I believe a native of Quebec province, and, like Mr. St. Laurent, perfectly bilingual. They undoubtedly had a nice chat, possibly in French.

Here is a matter of interest. The P.M. brought with him his principal private secretary, a man who was also private secretary to Mr. Mackenzie King. This gentleman, still young in years, is as knowing a person politically, as there is in Canada. A real wizard. He was a former I.O.D.E. scholar to Oxford, and was at one time a professor at the University of Manitoba. It interested me that the P.M. thought his Peterborough visit sufficiently important to bring with him his chief secretary, a very important person.

By the way, as most of my readers know from hearing him, Mr. St. Laurent speaks faultless English. His charming address at the opening of the Civic Hospital was delivered extemporaneously; he did not use notes. It is only when he is aroused and his face flushes, that he tends to give Gallic inflections to English words.

FOR THE RECORD: Here is a surprising figure: Peterborough County has 62 hotels (including summer hotels). But they have a total of only 1,349 rooms. Cityless Victoria County has 70 hotels, with a total of 1,461 rooms. Peterborough, the hub of the Kawarthas, with a large transient business from tourists, commercial men and industrialists, has eight hotels, three or four them regularly catering to travellers wanting accommodation. The total number of hotel rooms available in the city is only 271.

America Debates National Health Plan

From NORA BELOFF
In Washington

A BRITISHER travelling, as I did, from one end of the American continent to the other, had better brief himself on one subject from which there will be no escape: "Is socialized medicine a success?"

At first I was amazed to find such alert concern, in areas as remote from Europe as California or Oregon, over a tough and obscure issue of British home politics. Soon I discovered the interest is bound up with the hottest domestic controversy dividing the American public today: what to do in the United States itself about what one Congressman recently called "the barrier of the almighty dollar" which "separates millions of Americans from adequate medical attention".

The Truman Government has its own programme for establishing compulsory medical health insurance, which Congress has so far refused even to debate. The "Fair Dealers" now plan to thrust their programme forward as a major election issue next November.

Seventeen years ago, when the slump brought Roosevelt and the Democrats into power, America had no federal laws on social security at all. Since then extensive laws have been passed to protect the people from loss of wages as a result of unemployment, old age and industrial accidents to provide for their dependents after their death. Nothing has yet been done however to extend compulsory insurance to ill health and meanwhile bills for doctors and hospital treatment have steadily mounted.

There is plenty of charity for the destitute and no danger of the penniless family's being refused admission to hospital when the need is desperate. But for the average earner, the medical bill often spells catastrophe. I know, for example, of a case where the head of a family of dependents was deprived of half a year's earnings to pay the bill for his aged mother, who spent a few weeks in hospital dying of cancer.

Leader of the reform movement is the President's Administrator of Federal Security, Oswar Ewing, whose recent visit to Britain appalled his opponents, and who is now making no apologies for plans to introduce an equally comprehensive health system in the U.S. Replying to his critics at the Democratic Rally at Chicago this week, Ewing declared: "The health of one American child means more to us than the rantings of all the medical lobbyists in Washington".

Nevertheless, even Ewing's own party is sharply divided on the proposed health reform and a number of other limited and less expensive proposals has been submitted to Congress as alternatives.

* * *

THE opposition campaign is conducted on a nationwide basis by the American Medical Association, which is lavishly pouring out publicity material predicting the impoverishment of doctors, servility of patients, collapse of medical standards and political subservience of the profession, if Ewing wins. Pamphlets find their way into private letter boxes, are regularly distributed to every practising doctor, and are coaxed on to the news-desk of newspaper offices.

In all these documents Britain is the bogy: rocketting death rates, destitute practitioners, dying patients deprived of their chosen family doctor, are cited as illustrations of Britain today and America tomorrow.

The response to this campaign is far from uniform: in many cases individual Americans, upset by an excessive medical bill of their own, are inclined to react in exactly the opposite direction. British consular staff, in widely separated areas of the U.S., have told me that indignant Americans are beginning to show a marked interest in the British health service experiment. The official British Information Services are constantly being asked to send out material or lecturers to present the other side of the case. The casual visitor from Britain, besieged with questions, begins to wonder whether the lavish opposition campaign itself has not boomeranged against its own sponsors.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Then was Jesus led up of the spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil. And when he had fasted forty days and forty nights, he was afterward an hungred. And when the tempter came to him, he said, If thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread. But he answered and said, It is written, Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

Again, the devil taketh him up into an exceeding high mountain, and sheweth him all the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them; and saith unto him, All these things will I give thee, if thou wilt fall down and worship me.

Then saith Jesus unto him, Get thee hence, Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve. Then the devil leaveth him, and, behold, angels came and ministered unto him. (Matt. 4: 1-4, 8-11.)

* * *

And in the synagogue there was a man, which had a spirit of an unclean devil, and cried out with a loud voice, saying, Let us alone; what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? art thou come to destroy us? I know thee who thou art, the Holy One of God.

And Jesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. And when the devil had thrown him in the midst, he came out of him, and hurt him not. (Luke 4: 33-35.)

Precious Aluminum Medal

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

The old saying that the only sure things are death and taxes may be expanded, we think, to include a third—values change in a changing world. Crafts and skills once closely guarded become widely disseminated, possibly not always for the better. Materials once precious become semi-precious, in some cases even commonplace—and quite often for the better. Investigators of historical remnants at Queen's University recently came across an instance of the latter when they found that the first University medal, awarded to a Dr. Robert J. Foster of Kingston, was cast in aluminium.

Aluminum nowadays has become so much a household metal that housewives genuinely felt a sense of loss when it was taken away from them by war. Yet in 1859 when Dr. Foster stepped up at Convocation to receive his prize, the shiny metal was nearly as precious as platinum. Dr. Foster, who practised in Kingston from 1860 until his death in 1876, probably treasured his aluminum medal as we would a gold award today.

Bethany Holds Holiday Parade

BETHANY, May 26.—(ENS)—Even the weather man assisted in making the Bethany Athletic Association's celebration of May 24 a huge success. Record crowds were in attendance for all events.

The boys' band, organized during the winter, made their first public appearance, heading the parade from the school grounds to the Athletic Park. Prizes for entries in the parade were awarded to Bobby Edmunds, Eleanor Bigelow, Janet Bigelow, Catherine Reynolds, Marie Lowery, Grace Bigelow, Barry Smith and Reginald Palmer. The Rev. T. S. Gault and Mr. Henry Jakeman were the judges.

The home teams were successful in all the ball games. Bethany senior hardball team led by a score of 16-6 against the Millbrook seniors. The softball club took a winning score of 11-2 over the Millbrook girls, and the third game, Bethany seniors vs. Baillieboro seniors resulted in an 8-2 score for Bethany. Umpires for the games were Dr. J. Wright, Melville Woods, Russell Kidd, Brenton Dawson, Fred Hie.

The booth was in charge of Bruce Ryley, George Smith, Ross Carr, Roy Jarvis, Clarke Pomeroy, Mrs. Harold Sanderson, Mrs. Reg. Edmunds and Mrs. Bruce Ryley.

The evening's entertainment held in the town hall consisted of two short one-act plays by the Springville Young People's Union, directed by Mrs. Bert Visee: comic hill billy songs by Herb Mullins, of Peterborough, and several selections by Miss Mignon Mayneord, also of Peterborough. A dance wound up the evening.

Special Meeting To Mark Anniversary

MOUNT PLEASANT, May 26 (ENS) — Mrs. H. Baker was hostess to the members of the Woman's Association of the United Church for the May meeting held at her home, Wednesday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. H. H. Lowes conducted the meeting. Mrs. M. Jones read the scripture lesson and Mrs. James Fee gave the devotional. She said: "Today is ours and ours alone. We must live our lives just for today, not worry about yesterday's shortcomings nor look to the tomorrow."

The members answered the roll call with "A noted woman in the Bible."

Plans were made for next meet-Wednesday, June 21, after which a Silver Tea will be served on the church lawn.

The women from Springville and Fairmount Associations and all former members of the local organization will be invited to attend this meeting, "the observance of the 25th anniversary of the United Church of Canada." "Thank You" notes were read from Jimmy Tully, Mrs. L. McConkey, Miss A. A. Sisson and Mrs. J. Windrem.

The program was made up of the following: Mrs. Thos. Graham gave the reading "Cattle in the Stall"; Mrs. M. Jones, "Things Work Out"; Mrs. D. Hayes, "The Faults I See in Me"; Mrs. Bert Fee, who was visiting in the community sang a solo "Lord For Tomorrow and its Needs"; and Mrs D. Lawson conducted a contest "Numbers."

The hostess served refreshments and was assisted by the co-hostesses, Mrs. D. Hayes and Mrs. H. Gardiner.

See New Mines On West Coast

By Dave STOCKAND

VANCOUVER, May 26.—(CP)—Advances in science and industry can be gauged by the minerals most sought under the surface of the earth.

An example of this is British Columbia's $130,000,000-a-year mining industry, born 100 years ago in the coal fields of Vancouver Island.

Debut of two minerals new to the province—asbestos and perlite—and renewed interest in another—uranium—was reported today by Thomas Elliott, a spokesman for the British Columbia and Yukon Chamber of Mines.

He said industrial growth and a building boom have created an ever-increasing market for asbestos, the fire-resistant, fibrous mineral mined in Quebec. Perlite, a kind of volcanic rock, is needed in the building and plastic industries.

First Season

Quest for uranium began in BC. after the birth of the A-bomb, but this is the first season asbestos and perlite have appeared on the mining horizon here. Asbestos, at this embryo stage of the game, appears the most promising.

Hr. Elliott disclosed the "big two" of asbestos—Johns Manville and Asbestos Corporation — are interested in spreading operations to B.C. if good strikes are made —and this appears likely.

Mr. Elliott gave two other reasons for the boom in asbestos prospecting — the high cost of shipping the material west and the possibility of expanding markets in the western United States.

Serpentine rock formations — telltale sign of asbestos deposits —are "found in a great many different places in B.C." And when worthwhile mines are found "prospectors will have no difficulty in finding backers."

The short-fibered asbestos, the kind located in B.C. and previously ignored as worthless, has "commercial value never realized."

The outlook is bright, too, for finding lodes of perlite, "a fine insulating material."

Toronto Aces Defeat Petes For First Local Ball Loss

Dropping a 6-3 decision to Toronto Aces in Toronto last night, the Petes took their first loss in four starts this season in the Viaduct Major Baseball League. Gunner Whitehill, a warm-weather hurler, had to start on the Murphyites' mound—as Dadson has a sore arm and Plunkett was recovering from the flu — and the veteran right-hander ran into early trouble to give Aces a lead the Petes couldn't overcome.

Whitehill had his old control working but he didn't have his curve going right the first few innings, and a bolstered Aces' crew got enough to hold within four frames. They counted three in the first on an error, Malloy's triple and a home run by Doolittle. Three more scored for them in the fourth on singles by McMurray, Davis and Doolittle with a double by Sadler. They were held well in check from then on, Joe Lowrey pitching the last two chukkers.

Went Good

Al Williams, ex-pro right hand twirler for the Toronto team, was in good form to limit the visitors to seven hits, well scattered but for three in the eighth. He whiffed 11 and issued only one walk. Both sides fielded in good style with but two miscues each in a rather snappy encounter. Whitehill fanned four and Lowrey one, the latter being a bit wild to start as he issued three walks in the two innings he toiled on the mound.

Davis, McMurray, Sadler and Doolittle supplied the main batting punch for Aces with two bingles apiece, some for extra bases. None of the Petes hit too well under the lights, but Freddy Garvey and Al Menzies came through with two for four each, as doubles were clouted by Lowrey, Brown and Menzies. Estlick pulled off a fine catch in deep left.

Rallied Late

The Petes' three runs came in the eighth on a single by Garvey, a miscue on second on Dalton's fielder's choice, and then solid doubles by Menzies and Brown. They had the Aces worried both when it was 3-0 early in the game and again when it was 6-0, but they just couldn't come through in crucial spots to drive in the odd run and make it still closer. The aces were at top strength while the Petes were throwing a pitcher who wasn't quite ready, and giving Edger a rest while Dadson's arm gets right and when Plunkett is ready to go again—likely here on Saturday against Staffords.

Mutuals Take 8-4 Win Against UEW

Mutuals handed U.E.W. an 8-4 defeat in the nightcap of last night's evening double-header of men's senior softball at the Bowl, behind the seven-hit twirling of Hunter. He struck out nine and received fine support from his mates, both at bat and afield.

A bad first inning proved fatal to U.E. as Mutuals shelled Ritchie early and scored eight before Reg. Gordon quelled the fire. The latter twirled fine ball for eight innings and allowed no runs. Jack Mackness brought the crowd to its feet several times with remarkable catches, while Ted McCarthy snared two beauties up near the seats back of third.

Bell Beats Busmen

Bell Telephone defeated Bus Drivers 16-7 to open their part of the Civic Softball League schedule finishing strong after the Busmen took an early lead. Eleven of the losers went down on strikes, as both sides switched players around several times. Edmison replaced Clark, Sage took over from Edmison and Knox for Sage in the fifth for the Drivers, and Barker replaced Anderson in the seventh. Harrison and Conway were Bell replacements with Gerry going out. Teams:

Bankers Victorious

Don Brown matched the deliveries of three Loblaw pitchers Thursday night to lead the Bankers' entry in the Civic League to a 10-9 win. The game was called at the end of the seventh due to darkness. The Loblaw nine jumped to a 2-run lead early. The Bankers rallied in the fourth to pull ahead by one run but Loblaws in their half of the inning went up two runs 5-3. Loblaws managed to stay up a run in the sixth inning 7-6 due to several Bankers' errors. Bankers outscored the grocers in the seventh 4-2 to take the game.

"My reason for saying the 1950 senior lacrosse club is a lot stronger than last year's team," Manager Pete King told us several days ago, "is three-fold. We have a heavier bunch, a faster team and better harmony. The newcomers are all classy players, too." The whole crew did click well in that exhibition against Huntsville, the 1949 senior "B" champs, in walloping them to a fare-thee-well. But Hamilton Tigers, who are here tonight at 8.45 in Miller Bowl, are the '49 senior "A" winners, so this will be a real test for the Creighton crew. First fray of the OLA senior "A" schedule, and it should draw a huge crowd, as a sizzling gutted-stick scrap is assured.

That was an interesting AP item recently from Greenwood, S.C.: "James L. Roundtree, 24-year-old baseball fan, became enraged Saturday by a decision of base umpire James McGowan, 58. Roundtree drew a pistol but it failed to fire when he pulled the trigger. Umpire McGowan drew his pistol and shot Roundtree dead. McGowan is being held without charge pending an inquest." It is sincerely hoped that no Peterborough pistol-packing fans are admitted to a game, and likewise we wouldn't like to see any of our umpires getting odd ideas of packing a rod for protection purposes. Since there might well be a charge laid without awaiting an inquest.

Whitby Boys A-Coming

Fresh from a Lakeshore Baseball League victory over the Roses of Bowmanville on the holiday, the Petes intermediates open their home stand 'gainst Whitby at 6.30 p.m. tomorrow in Riverside. Yes, a twilight tilt, and it might be an interesting duel, though we don't know much yet about the visitors. Former local junior and intermediate stars, as well as some ex-seniors, make up a promising lineup for Peterborough, playing intermediate "A" ball in a good circuit. They seem to have plenty of power at the plate to suit folks who like to see base-hits sprinkling the park. As who doesn't?

* * * * * *

Toronto Staffords make their Viaduct Baseball League debut in the park that flows by the river over Ashburnham way tomorrow aft at three. They tackle the senior Petes, who haven't been doing too badly for themselves so far this diamond semester, even though not up to full strength as yet. Two or three USA college imports to come here in June, perhaps about floodlight time in Riverside, and then, too, a couple of the locals have been ailing. But the men o' Murphy are proving this early in the season that they're a bunch to be reckoned with, and the Saturday afternoon attraction should draw well when it's the Staffords squad.

Aces Take The Trick

It was 6-3 last eve in Toronto for Aces as they jumped Gunner Ed Whitehill early for a 6-0 lead. The Gunner wasn't quite ready to go yet, awaiting hotter weather for his curve ball, but Ed Murphy hadn't any choice. Dadson's arm is still ailing, and Doug Plunkett—shaking the flu—was being saved for the Saturday scrap here. Bill Edger needed a rest after pitching May 24. Joe Lowrey threw the last two frames and, but for a bit of wildness, did okay. At that, the Petes had Aces worried plenty on several occasions, especially when they drove for three runs in the eighth and had another on board when the third out was made. Garvey and Menzies each had two for four at bat, and Estlick roped in a nifty catch in deep left. Aces used their ace twirler, a young ex-pro named Al Williams, who fanned 11.

Five teams in the Girls' Softball League this summer here, affiliated with the PWSU for junior and intermediate "A". Top team in a playoff series goes into intermediate playdowns, as the Woollens prance along the junior playdown path. Remaining squads will have a round-robin serial after the CGE Co. holidays for the local intermediate honors, as the squad in the "A" playdowns will be known as city senior champs. Got it? Schedule is in to night, and shows the opening this e'en in the Bowl at seven. Ashby's meeting CGE, followed by Marines against Westclox. Two sound tilts on tap, we expect, and this should prove a stronger and better-balanced loop than for some years in the borough of Peter Robinson.

LAWN BOWLING

By HERB MARTIN

The 1950 schedule books were distributed to the bowlers last evening, and each bowler is asked to read it thoroughly from cover to cover.

This season in conjunction with the regular rink schedule, there will be a doubles schedule, and regarding these two competitions we wish to draw the skips' attention to:

First—Page seven, paragraph beginning "Winning skips shall be, etc."

Second—Page 8, "Doubles competition."

Read these two important announcements and then govern yourself accordingly.

The ladies also have their activities fully covered in the book.

We begin the popular "Family Hour" mixed rink tournament tomorrow evening, 7:30 o'clock.

In the first half of the annual President-Vice-President games, Thursday evening, the President took a big lead of 40 points, the president himself setting a good example, he being 10 points up on Vice-President A. Black. However, tonight is another night and maybe the Vice's hired help may turn the trick.

All rinks that did not play in this competition last evening, will play tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

President—S. Shields 17, G. Coleman Jr. 16, R. Hopkins 10, R. Downey 21, R. Knox 21, R. Gamble 16, E. Wall 16, J. Adams 28, A. Aitkenhead 17, H. Clegg 11, total 175.

Vice-President—A. Black 7, N. Routley 16, G. Coleman Sr. 11, J. D. Fitzpatrick 11, R. Dyer 5, W. Jeffries 14, B. Jeffries 18, K. Sloane 13, R. Hutchinson 26, P. Moore 14, total 133.

Two Soccer Tilts

A double soccer bill is scheduled for Saturday afternoon when Petes play O'Hallorans in Ontario cup elimination series. Kick-off at 2.30 prompt. Referee James Buchan. In the evening at 6.30 Kingston United (last year's Ontario cup finalists) play UE (Peterborough) in an Eastern League game. At present the local teams head the league and the visitors will have a strong eleven in an attempt to take the top position. Referee is James Buchan.

A large number of local soccer fans attended the English Internationals all-star game on Wednesday, May 24. The next big attraction is Manchester United vs. English Internationalist on Wednesday, June 14 (correct date). This will be the first occasion that two visiting Old Country clubs have played in Canada against one another.

East City Gets Close One Over Orphans

Red Sullivan's East City squad edged a 9-8 decision over the fighting Orphans in the curtain-raiser of the twin bill in men's softball at the Bowl last evening.

The teams battled on fairly even terms throughout, each collecting ten hits. Terry Woods went the route for the victors, outlasting two rivals to earn a close decision. Homers by Wade and Griffin and two smart double plays featured, one by Burns unassisted, while Lewis, Wade and Greenlaw made sparkling catches afield in a fine, crowd pleasing game.

Yanks Lash Detroit 6-4 As Cards Edge Giants 7-5

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Any day now you'll hear the cry: "Break up the Yankees."

Thundering through the West with eight straight victories, the world champions head East with a 3½-game lead in the American League.

Casey Stengel's surprising New Yorkers are doing better than the 1949 "miracle team." A year ago today they had a 22-10 record. Now it is 22-8.

And they are doing it without "Old Reliable"—Tommy Henrich—sidelined by a knee injury.

High spots of the trip were the three-game sweep in Cleveland and Thursday's 6-4 triumph over Detroit. Oddly enough it was just a year ago that Tommy Byrne silenced the Tigers for decision No. 22. He went it alone that afternoon. Thursday he needed help from Joe Page in the late innings.

Byrne makes a habit of whipping Detroit. His lifetime record against them is an imposing 10-2.

Big Wheel

Yogi Berra——the other half of the winning battery—was the big wheel at Detroit. Berra delivered a base-loaded homer for the winning margin.

Berra's belt came off Art Houtteman in the fifth inning. It gave Byrne a 6-0 edge that melted under homers by George Kell and Hoot Evers in the eighth. Then Page came in to stop the Tigers.

The Boston Red Sox, fence-busters at Fenway Park, barely hobbled out of the West with a 5-5 mark. They almost did not make it.

It took a grand slam homer by Walt Dropo, topipng a six-run rally in the eighth inning for the Red Sox to subdue St. Louis 15-12. Johnny Pesky helped the cause with five of the 19 hits.

Blanks Senators

Bob Lemon of Cleveland caught Washington Senators by the shirttails and hauled them back into a fourth-place tie with the Tribe. Lemon shut out the Senators with three hits, 3-0.

Homers by Paul Lehner, Sam Chapman and ePte Suder jerked Philadelphia Athletics out of their losing ways with a 6-1 victory over Chicago.

Eddie Sawyer's Phillies continued to get fine rookie pitching as Bob Miller, up from Terra Haute, Ind., blanked Pittsburgh 3-0, with eight hits. It was the third start and third victory for the 23-year-old righthander. The Phils hopped on Cliff Chambers for all their runs in the fifth, featured by triples by Mike Goliat and Andy Seminick.

Preacher Roe wobbled through the early innings before settling down to make Chicago his fourth victim 5-4. Homers by George Shuba and Roy Campanella topped Brooklyn's 12-hit drive against loser Bill Voiselle and two others.

Drop Game

Manager Leo Durocher and his second baseman, Eddie Stanky, were chased long before Leo's New York Giants dropped a 13-inning game to St. Louis Cards 7-5. Leo and Eddie got the thumb for arguing with Umpire Lou Jorda over a called strike in the fifth.

The Cards racked up Dave Koslo with four runs in the third inning and took a 5-1 lead on Andy Hansen in the fourth. Johnny Lindell's two-run homer topped the third-inning explosion. Wes Westrum's homer with two on and Tookie Gilbert's clout with nobody on routed Howie Pollet in the sixth.

Then it turned into a 5-5 battle between relief pitchers Kirby Higbe of the Giants and Al Brazle of the Cards. Brazle picked up the decision in the 13th when a walk to Red Schoendienst Stan Musial's single, Lindell's double and a single by Enos Slaughter broke up the game.

Here And There In Sports . . .

By The Canadian Press

Asmena, a French filly, who seemed lame as he paraded to the post, romped home ahead of 18 rivals in the rain Thursday to win the famed Epsom Oaks.

Plume Two, another French-bred horse, was second, a length back of the winner. British-bred Stella Polrais was third, another 1½ lengths away.

The Royal family was on hand for the 1½ mile classic for three-year-old fillies, but the King's entry, Above Board, never was in contention.

Residence rules bar George Masters, Toronto lacrosse player, from playing in the British Columbia Lacrosse League this season so far as the Canadian Lacrosse Association is concerned.

Gene Dopp, secretary of the CLA, said Thursday night at Toronto that Masters, now on holiday in Vancouver, is expected in Toronto shortly. Masters is to play with Hamilton in the Senior Ontario League this year.

The Vancouver Richmond-Kerrisdale Club of the Coast Inter-City League seeks Masters' services and may be allowed to use him in a couple of games.

Dopp explained that the Vancouver club can use Masters in a couple of exhibition games while the player is on the coast. But the CLA rules are that a player must qualify by April 30 under the residence rule, and Masters did not do this as far as Vancouver is concerned. Therefore he is not eligible to play league games on the coast under the CLA.

Montreal Alouettes announced Thursday night that Johnny Newman and Marv Meirowitz, two linemen who starred with McGill University football teams, have signed with the Big Four club.

Both players graduate from McGill this spring.

These McGill acquisitions are the first since the Alouettes and Redmen established a close liaison with the arrival of coach Vic Obeck at McGill a few seasons ago.

President Leo Dandurand of Alouettes commented: "We knew that in time McGill would be able to supply us with prospects for the Alouettes and I am delighted that our close association with the Redmen has started to pay off."

Said coach Lew Hayman: "Both Newman and Meirowitz have come to us highly recommended and we're going to give them every chance to make the team."

At Fort Worth, Tex., Sam Snead, the money man from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., swept in Thursday with a four-under-par 66 to tie giant Skip Alexander, the Knoxville, Tenn., slugger, for first place in the opening round of the $15,000 colonial national invitation golf tournament.

Alexander's great round—just one stroke over the competitive record for the par 35-35—70 7,035 yard Colonial Country Club course—stood up until Snead, golf's No. 1 man in money winnings and everything else, posted an identical 33-33 score.

Ed Oliver of Seattle, Wash., finished with a 68 while E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, Canadian open champ from St. Andrews, Ill., and jaunty Jimmie Demaret tied for the next spot with 69s.

Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., the tournament favorite, had a 71 and a tie for ninth place.

Manchester: England's barnstorming soccer team, scored an easy 5-0 victory over the St. Louis Simpkins Thursday night at St. Louis before a crowd of 8,500.

Wakefield Refuses To Report To Minors

DETROIT, May 26 (AP)—Outfielder Dick Wakefield stood firm today in his determination not to report to the minor league team which bought him from New York Yankees Thursday.

Even a telephone call from his new team, Oakland Oaks of the Pacific Coast League, failed to sway Wakefield from his decision not to play minor league ball.

"I'm going to telephone baseball commissioner Happy Chandler and try to find out how this thing stands," said Dick, obviously irked over the Yankees' decision to sell him.

The Yankees, in announcing the sale, said none of the teams in either the American or National League had been willing to pay the usual $10,000 waiver price to get the big outfielder.

NOW even a 12-year-old can wax your car in 20 minutes without rubbing!

Sensational discovery by makers of JOHNSON'S WAX gives a "diamond-shine"—guaranteed brighter, tougher, longer lasting than any other wax job!

CAR-PLATE

Nothing else like Car-Plate!
Unlike other auto waxes, Johnson's Car-Plate is a smooth-flowing wipe-on liquid . . . a basic new chemical discovery in the Johnson's Wax Laboratories. Even after hours of rubbing, no other wax can match the finish Car-Plate gives so easily and quickly!

Just spread on... and wipe!
Imagine waxing a whole car in 20 minutes! Car-Plate needs no rubbing to make it shine. Just spread it on the cleaned surface . . . then wipe lightly. So easy a 12-year-old child can do an expert job and call it fun! Won't harm the finish of any car.

Guaranteed!
The makers of Johnson's Car-Plate unconditionally guarantee that it will give your car the brightest, smoothest, longest-wearing wax-finish it has ever had. Your money back if not completely satisfied.

Only $1.00
10-oz. can will wax the largest car two times!

The shine wears longer!
Car-Plate gives a deeper, richer gloss than any wax you've ever seen because of a special blend of waxes perfected by Johnson chemists. This completely new kind of auto wax literally coats your car with a shield of wax. It's highly water-resistant and guaranteed to outwear any other wax by many months!

IMPORTANT! Car-Plate is a wax - not a cleaner
Car-Plate, like any wax, should never be applied to a dirty surface. For quick thorough cleaning of your car, Johnson's Carnu is recommended.
Once applied, Car-Plate's protective diamond shine lasts month after month. Dust wipes off easily. Occasional washing takes only a fraction of the effort it would ordinarily take.
Johnson's Carnu—the perfect pre-cleaner before using Car-Plate—is sold wherever Car-Plate is sold.

Acquitted On Charge Giving Wrong Name

Charges against Ernest Brick and his father, Ambrose Brick, Toronto, of wilfully obstructing justice by giving the wrong name of the driver of a truck involved in an accident, were dismissed by Magistrate W. R. Philp KC in police court today.

Evidence in the case against Ernest Brick was heard Tuesday and the magistrate reserved judgment to today. The magistrate said he believed Brick wilfully gave the provincial police the wrong name. But he decided the offence did not come under the section of the Criminal Code in which they were charged.

He added that he did not consider the charge included the common law offence of public mischief.

Ambrose Brick had been remanded two weeks, but when the case against his son was dismissed, the crown attorney offered no evidence against Ambrose.

However, when Magistrate Philp, read the charge to Brick and then told him that it was being dismissed, he apparently did not hear the magistrate correctly and said, "Guilty."

Purchase Tax Will Stay Sir Stafford Cripps Rules

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, May 26 —(CP)— Purchase tax, which makes an ordinary British radio two or three times as expensive as its Canadian counter-part, is here to stay.

Sir Stafford Cripps, brushed aside all Conservative arguments to the contrary, said the tax has replaced other indirect taxes, and must become a permanent feature of the economy.

Anyone who proposes to abolish purchase tax, the Chancellor of the Exchequer said in the House of Commons, will have to find another way of raising £300,000,000 ($930,000,000) a year.

Sir Stafford was answering Conservative criticism of the finance bill, which implements provisions in Britain's 1950-51 budget. Anthony Eden, deputy Conservative leader, earlier recommended appointment of a commission to study proposals for removing anomalies in the tax.

Purchase tax originally was introduced as a wartime expedient. It adds between 33⅓ to 100 per cent to the retail price of a wide range of goods.

Organizing Revolt

Currently, clothing organizations are trying to organize a revolt against the high price of clothes. One of the chief grievances is that the price differential is so great between utility goods, which are exempt from purchase tax, and non-utility goods, which often bear the full tax.

Utility goods are those produced under standard specifications, with the idea of guaranteeing reasonable quality at low price. But the utility variety is sometimes hard to get.

One standard complaint is that good-quality gabardine skirts sell at about 25s. ($3.85), if you can get them, compared with £5 or more in the non-utility range.

W. Lister Barber, a London clothing merchant, recently called purchase tax "today's biggest criminal" in forcing up living costs. H. W. M. Brown of Portsmouth told a London meeting:

"I meet quite a large number of dear old ladies who are old-age pensioners. They want to buy a piece of flannel to make a nightgown to keep out the cold. They have to pay the tax, because, according to the government, it is a luxury."

Seek Higher Wages

OTTAWA, May 62.—(CP). — The Ottawa Police Association Thursday appeared before a wage arbitration court in a bid for higher wages and other concessions. John P. Latchford of Cornwall, counsel for the Police Association, asked for a 10-per-cent salary increase with special pay boosts for officers whose duties have been doubled because of the city's annexation program. He also asked for a 5½ day week.

Plan Code Of Conduct

LONDON, May 26 (Reuters)— The British National Union of Journalists Thursday announced the creation of an ethics committee to enforce a journalistic code of conduct. It will advise members on their rights to refuse to undertake assignments which might lower the prestige of the profession. The announcement said the appointment followed increasing charges in parliament and elsewhere of distortion in the press.

Television Plans

TORONTO, May 26 (CP) — Education aspects of television were discussed by Fergus Mutrie, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's director of television, in an address Thursday to the Canadian Association for Adult Education. He said that education would not be forced on the audience when the CBC television programs start functioning. Television primarily is a medium of entertainment. Therefore education would be implanted with a coating of entertainment.

Fire Razes Chapel

QUEBEC, May 26 (CP) — A Two-alarm fire late Thursday night gutted the old chapel—converted into a parish cinema—of the Notre Dame De La Paix Church and threw a panic among 700 persons attending a parish bingo in the big basement underneath the church itself. No one was seriously injured and damage was estimated at $50,000 by the Rev. Gedeon Matte, parish priest.

Many Attend Funeral Of Mrs. R. Armstrong

The funeral of Mrs. Robert Armstrong, 519 Bolivar St., who died Sunday at the age of 70, was held Wednesday at the Nisbett funeral home. The service was conducted by the Rev. D. Bruce Gordon and was followed by burial at Little Lake Cemetery.

The funeral was largely attended and there were many floral tributes.

Pallbearers were Melville King, Lloyd King, Roy Jones, Jack Jones, Jack Wright and Arnold Fallis, nephews of the deceased.

Mrs. Armstrong leaves two daughters, Mrs. Malcolm Latimer (Marjorie) of Peterborough and Mrs. Chas. Forsythe (Pearl) of Bridgenorth, and two sons, Robert Newton and Keith, both of Peterborough.

Mantel Radio And Electric Clock Stolen From W. S. Rose Cottage

BRIDGENORTH, May 26 — (ENS) — A mantel radio and electric clock were stolen Wednesday night from the Chemong Lake summer cottage of William S. Rose, 265 Rubidge St.

Entry was gained by breaking the hinges off the door. The window on the north side of the cottage was also partly pried open.

Rose left the cottage around 9 p.m. Wednesday and the break-in was discovered when he returned from work 6.30 p.m. Thursday.

George Sills, a neighbor, claimed he heard a car start up about 3 or 4 a.m. Thursday.

However, as he was used to the sound of cars around the cottage, he did not investigate.

A check of the cottage's contents showed a mantel radio—purchased a few days previously—was missing, as was an electric clock. There was no damage.

Provincial Constables Roy Feeley and Jack McKendry are investigating.

Caused Disturbance Two Youths Fined

Two Apsley youths pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance at an Apsley dance Saturday night and were fined $10 and costs today in police court.

The two were Harold Young, 18, and Otis Ernshaw. A similar charge against a third youth, Gerald Whitmore, was dismissed when the crown offered no evidence.

Provincial Constable Bert Howden told the court the two had gone into the dance without paying admission. The doorman asked them to leave, and a heated argument followed in which one of the youths said he could lick any man at the dance and the other was ready to back his pal up.

Steadier Course Predicted For Canadian Economy In '50

MONTREAL, May 26 (CP) — The Canadian economy appears to be on a steadier course than appeared likely at the end of 1949, the monthly business review of the Bank of Montreal said today.

Two factors, neither clearly foreseeable several months ago, have been responsible, the review said, adding:

"At home, new capital outlays, instead of falling below last year's figures appear to be headed for a new peak. Externally, the general revival of business activity in the United States has maintained a demand for Canadian export to that market sufficiently buoyant almost to offset contractions elsewhere."

The official survey of 1950 capital outlays planned by business and government anticipates an expenditure of $3,600,000,000, the report said.

Represents 5% Increase

"Such a program represents an increase of $170,000,000, or five per cent, over comparable 1949 outlays and, if accomplished, will not only exceed anything previously achieved in both physical and dollar terms but will account for any unusually high proportion—22 per cent—of the country's total production of goods and services."

The review noted that direct governmental expenditures of a capital nature, federal, provincial and municipal, are expected to be higher by $96,000,000 in 1950. Investment plans of enterprises, institutions and housing projects under governmental jurisdiction are raised by $79,000,000. Private capital outlays, while likely to show a slight reduction, would still represent an anticipated 69 per cent of the 1950 aggregate.

Show Increase

The report said that in every month since last October the Canadian dollar value of merchandise exports to the United States showed a progressively greater increase over the same month a year earlier.

The report added:

"Since the beginning of this year imports of British merchandise have been running above and exports to Britain below, a year ago." The characteristic balance in favor of Canada, which exceeded $53,000,000 last October, was thus rapidly reduced in the four succeeding months and actually turned adverse to the extent of over $2,000,000 in March, the first time that Canada has been a net debtor to the United Kingdom in merchandise trade account since March, 1932."

Survey In Toronto

OTTAWA, May 26 (CP)—Toronto has been chosen as the site for the conduct of a medical study into the power of various diseases to attack and cripple children, the health department announced Thursday. It said $13,600 will be set aside from Federal health grants to finance the study. The findings will be used as a guide in treatment and rehabilitation.

Record Strong 'Quake

PASADENA, Calif., May 26.—(AP).—A tremendous earthquake about 6,000 miles away was recorded late Thursday on the seismograph here. It was the third tremor reported in the last 17 hours and by far the strongest, said Dr. Charles Richter of the California Institute of Technology Seismological Laboratory. The shock was recorded at 6:29.58 PDT.

Don't Get Bonuses

OTTAWA, May 26 (CP) — W. Chester S. McClure (PC-Queens) asked in the Commons Thursday night "what bonuses" had been granted to Canada's lighthouse keepers that they might keep abreast of the cost of living. Transport Minister Chevrier replied the lighthouse keepers as civil servants got regular statutory increases from time to time and would not be entitled to bonuses.

Can Keep Budget If Services Slashed-CBC

OTTAWA, May 26 (CP)—A. D. Dunton, chairman of the CBC said Thursday that the publicly-owned national radio broadcasting system could live within its means if it slashed services.

He made the statement before the commons committee on radio broadcasting after disclosing that the CBC is heading for its third consecutive deficit.

He was asked by A. L. Smith (PC-Calgary West) if an end to the deficits was in sight. Mr. Smith said he did not want to see the corporation follow the footsteps of the publicly-owned Canadian National Railways and finish continually in the red.

Mr. Dunton said that in 1936 parliament had said it was providing the CBC with revenues from a $2.50 annual licence fee on radio receiving sets. It told the corporation to go out and do its best and live within its means.

Caught In Squeeze

The CBC had been able to do that for years, but then it got caught in the squeeze between static revenues and climbing costs. The CBC felt that while a $2.50 fee might have been sufficient in 1936, it was not enough today when the value of the dollar was about half of what it was 14 years ago.

The CBC could still operate on the revenues from a $2.50 fee, but it would have to reduce service to some parts of the country, eliminate some programs, reduce the quality of others, abolish some departments and cut staff.

The CBC felt that any decision to reduce services should be made by parliament.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Dairy Cattle Prices Firm At Jersey And Holstein Auctions — Northumberland Holstein Club Picnic June 5 — Peterborough Junior Clubs Down To Work With 117 Members — Junior Farmers Going To Quebec June 16 — Land Needs Rain.

The junior clubs have settled into the routine of their projects with 117 members, Robert E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, reported yesterday. These young people are distributed as follows: beef calf club 24; forestry club 24; tractor club 24; east dairy calf club 23; and west dairy calf club 22.

Peterborough county club enterprise this year has acquired a new energy and outlook. The county wheat club is under way with 18 growers listed, and the Beaver oats club of the Norwood Agricultural Society, of which G. A. Brethen is president, has some sixty members.

Mr. Bell has already visited many of the junior members at their homes, and says he was greatly impressed by the quality of the calves in both the dairy and beef breeds. He specially mentioned the beef group for the type of calves the youngsters are taking into their care until achievement day in the fall.

✦ ✦ ✦

MILLBROOK FAIR JUNE 7

Prize lists have been distributed for the Millbrook Spring Show Wednesday June 7. A wide range of classes has been set up for horses.

Jersey breeders are holding their parish show again at Millbrook. Three beef breeds will be represented: Shorthorns Herefords, and Aberdeen-Angus. There are also classes for swine. An exhibit of agricultural machines is included in the program. Millbrook Lions Club have charge of the carnival features.

The Millbrook and Cavan directors are hoping for a big attendance from Peterborough and the district.

✦ ✦ ✦

HOLSTEIN AUCTION

Ontario Hospital at Langstaff sold 69 Holsteins May 22 for a total of $23,620, an average of $342. The top priced heifer was bought by Albert St. Jean of the Nipissing district. He also took the high bull at $390. Dr. Jose Figueroa of Mexico paid $3,425 for nine head ranging from $450 to $400 for bred heifers down to $300 for open yearlings. One of the buyers was James L. Calvert of Reaboro who paid $410 for a bred heifer.

As further indication of auction values, Fred Marsh of Mooretown in Lambton sold 46 Holsteins May 18 for $15,210. The average was $330. Highest price was $515 for a six-year-old cow. Wesley Williams of Petrolia paid $385 for a heifer in calf to the $17,100 bull Glenafton Enchanter owner by the Lambton Holstein Breeders' Association.

✦ ✦ ✦

HOLSTEIN CLUB PICNIC

Northumberland Holstein breeders are holding their picnic and judging competition Monday June 5 on the farm of George and Lindsay Anderson, west of Campbellford.

Roy Ormiston will take charge of the judging at 10:30 a.m. Prizes are offered for men, women and juniors. The after-lunch speaker will be Norman Martin, a national director of the Holstein-Friesian Association, and prominent Elgin county farmer.

Hon. W. A. Goodfellow is expected to be present, and also Dr. Fred Robertson, MP. The president is John W. Rannie, and the members of the local committee are; Craig Nelson, Roy Pollock and W. A. Petherick. Agricultural representatives of the neighboring counties have been invited.

✦ ✦ ✦

FORESTRY CLUB

The 24 boys and girls of the forestry club organized by R. E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, will assemble at Lakefield high school grounds June 10 at 9:30 a.m. for their first outing to two woods in the district. John Bell, zone forester, is going along with them for an introduction to their club project. The young people will begin with a study of leaves and twigs north of Lakefield.

The season's program is likely to include a trip to the county forest, and another to the Ontario forestry branch at Orono.

The members of the club are: Bruce King of Belmont; Ernie Batten and Keith Tedford of Dummer; Stewart Ellis of Douro; Dorothy Jackson, Jean Hoskin, Doreen Dowdall, James D. Hoskin, Allan Dowdall and Doug Jackson of Omemee; R. A. Davidson and Garry Stewart, Otonabee; and Donald Irwin, Smith.

Edward G. Wilson, Henry Wagner, Phyllis Scott and Albert Wagner of Chandos; Shirley Robertson, Buckhorn; and from Harvey township—James Coones, Marion Windover, Betty Webster, Audrey Windover, Eldon Stockdale and Kathleen Webster.

✦ ✦ ✦

$635 FOR TOP JERSEY

George H. Innes of Woodstock received $635 for a bred heifer at the first of a series of Jersey cattle consignment sales near St. Thomas a week ago. Total for 52 head was $11,300. Second highest price was $500 paid by Arden T. Harrison of Birmingham, Alabama, for a two-year-old heifer. Charles Williams and Son of Tilsonburg took five choice cows for $1,275.

A junior bull calf sold for $80 for the Red River Relief Fund.

MISS A. ARTHUR ON AIR

Northumberland junior farmers listened with special interest to the noon CBC broadcast May 18, which featured Aldythe Arthur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alden Arthur of Wooler. She spoke on the subject "Looking Over Club Work," relating her experience in eight projects and her winning the county honor pin.

Miss Arthur also described the garden club work through which she won a short course at Guelph, a Canadian Countryman prize. She is one of the many girls in this district assisted by Miss Jean Noble, home economist, with office at Bowmanville.

Ralph Banbury, Northumberland agricultural representative, reports that new groups are being formed under the direction of a club leader appointed by each senior Women's Institute. The special work for the girls' clubs this year is "The Cereal Shelf."

✦ ✦ ✦

BUS TOUR FOR JUNIORS

Junior Farmers have arranged for a bus tour to Ottawa, Montreal and Sherbrooke, a three-day outing that will include a visit to Central Experimental Farms. They are leaving at 8 a.m. on June 16, and will be home Sunday night. John Edmison is in charge. The first 37 members who apply for tickets will get away on the trip.

Meanwhile the Juniors have announced their church service Sunday night at Gilmour Memorial Church on the Chemong Road. The sermon will be given by Rev. W. F. Tong of Lakefield, United Church minister who has returned from China. The Juniors are assuming the other details of the service, under the leadership of Burritt Mann.

The order of service includes the invocation by Mr. Mann; scripture reading by John Edmison; responsive reading by Miss Mary Morrison. The offering is to be sent to the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. Junior Farmers everywhere have undertaken to help this cause.

✦ ✦ ✦

BENEFITS OF FERTILIZER

James Elliott of the soil department of OAC recently inspected some of the farms north and south of the city. He was particularly interested in soil use and management.

A summary of observations in the district indicated clearly that lands that have been sustained by recommended practices of soil fertility are showing good stands of hay. One field that was seeded seven years ago is rewarding its owner and his fertility program with one of the best stands of alfalfa Mr. Elliott has seen this season. Strong growths of grass were also noted in need seedings that were started according to established practice of fertility and rotation.

The practice on one of the farms is to use between four and seven tons of fertilizer a year, a method renewal of the soil that has grown out of conviction of its value in substantial returns year by year. In contrast was a farm that has been a stranger to fertilizer, and its comparative poverty is now causing the owner investigating concern.

The first farm has been producing ample hay for its livestock with a considerable volume for sale, even this last summer. There are no complaints under that management. The other field has been starved. In the familiar figure of the bank, its mineral account has been overdrawn, and the supply of nutriment will have to be built up again.

✦ ✦ ✦

GRAND FIELD OF WHEAT

Will Dawson has a field of Cornell wheat that is a delight to the eye. About the end of March, and just before the last snow storm, he top-dressed it with nitrogen "to see what it would do." From observation and experience he had a general idea of what to expect, but the results, so far, exceed the probabilities he had in mind.

The field of ten acres had wintered well, and Mr. Dawson decided to give it a shot-in-the-arm as a pick-up to help it through the backward weather. He drew out 500 pounds of ammoniam nitrate, and averaged 80 pounds to six acres, leaving the rest of the field for contrast.

Incidentally he skipped several strips for further example. This week they stood out plainly indicating the course of spreader. Where the nitrogen was applied, the wheat has made stronger growth—knee high on Tuesday—and is a darker shade of green than the plant color of the rest of the field.

That is a progress report. It will still be interesting to see—if normal rain falls—the effects in the stalk when the grain has headed out.

Hard On Plow Points

Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, remarked that whatever the final field and yield rating may be, the effect of nitrogen is visually demonstrated. He went on to a permanent pasture from a mixture recommended by Ernie McWilliam. It came through the winter in a healthy condition, a combination of alfalfa, ladino clover, brome and so on.

This pasture was providing abundant forage for sheep. Mr. Paterson's comment was a suggestion that the field could herd twice the number of the flock.

Mr. Dawson's reply was to the effect that the next thing he'd know was that he'd have his hands full of sheep, and his intention was mainly to have some around the farm because he likes to see them. He did not lose a lamb this spring.

On a field beyond a damp woods, Stewart Dawson was plowing in a fall sown rye as "green manure" to help sustain fertility and open texture of the land that will soon be planted in hybrid corn.

The ground was so dry that the plow was not getting the depth Mr. Dawson liked, and even the new points were losing their sharpness.

"I wish there was a lot more of that practice," was the approving comment by Mr. Paterson.

ON THEIR LAST JUDGING ENGAGEMENT AT DURHAM PLOWING MATCH.

This picture of the late Tom Brown (left) and Thomas Henry Graham was taken at the Durham county plowing match on a crisp October afternoon in 1948 on the farm of Sid Connell, west of the Walter Bowles place and Scott's Corners.

They had an easy and pleasant assignment judging the plow teams in the remnant classess that were still listed for horses. In the cushioned comfort of their automobile they could scan the scene of competition. Probably they reached their decision of awards from that snug retreat, leaving it betimes to walk across the sod for a close-up view of the horses straining at their traces.

That may have been only a gesture of "making it look good" a little show of dutiful intent in the performance of their chore of selecting the winner in a field dominated by tractors. They had known the working farm horse from boyhood, the agricultural type and heavy draft, and with that experience they could screen them a couple of rods away.

The competing horses and their two judges were alike survivals of agricultural practices out of the past. Youth was at the wheels of nearly a score of tractors. The classes for horses were mainly a concession to sentiment and to the old ideal of straight and symmetrical furrows.

Tom Brown's automobile was a grandsire of the tractor, a symbol of the quickened pace in farming that tolerated the handplow only where elders of their generation were loth to discard the implement that had served the needs of the agriculture of their day.

They are both gone now. Mr. Brown was buried last Saturday, and Mr. Graham last July. For years they had been associated on the board of directors of the Peterborough Exhibition. Mr. Brown was president from 1939 to 1946. Mr. Graham had been for years chairman of the heavy horse committee. Younger men are in their places. Hugh Stewart has succeeded the one, Haig Kelly the other.

The show goes on without them and the gosoline-powered machine hums through the work that used to be done by horses when Thomas Henry Graham and Tom Brown were in their prime. In their last plowing match appointment they were happy together that afternoon on a Cavan farm, as another agricultural season was warning and the chill of approaching November was in the air.

The Troubador Of The Hay Field

The bobolink fluttering above the field of clover sings of summer,—and conceivably of feathered felicity.

Wearing his new wedding garment of glossy black relieved with white and pale yellow, he devotes his decorative presence, his tuneful music and his ecstasy of Maytime exclusively to his spouse. If he is not always under foot, he is in within range of hearing. He is utterly uxorious. His mate and their nest is the centre of their little world in and above the fragrant grasses. When he leaves her it is only in short flights of radiant song.

The swallow skims the waving wheat, zooming the fences and their fringe of wild cherry trees in full blossom, sportive and erratic fellows glorying in their wings.

The bobolink hovers continuously around the house these nesting days, ardently attentive. His tinkling arpeggios suggest an animated Swiss music box repeating over and over its little tune.

The song sparrow from the tip of a cedar seems in love with his own music, that melody of spring that haunts the memory when autumn comes and the birds are gone. The bobolink appears to sing his love for his mate, a lyric fidelity unconcerned about the world beyond the fence of their hay field. He is only a transient troubador of summer, although that expression is far from fair to one so constant.

The cadenza of the bobolink floating on the air before you have caught sight of him is one of the charming accompaniments of the stern and dynamic business of the season fashioned for the service of man. Sheep are heavy with wool and ready for the shears as they ruminate in the shade these warm afternoons. Bees have sipped the hepaticas and found the first bloom of the orchards. Cattle are in the pastures, the spring grain is extending its first inches, and the fall wheat looks vigorous.

In nature's plan the bobolink apparently gives himself a high ting, so absorbed is he is in his family affairs of a brief summer before taking off again to resume their autumn role as rice buntings of Lousiana.

Cattle Prices Up 50 Cents During Week

TORONTO, May 26 — (CP)— Cattle prices climbed 50 cents to $1 higher at the Ontario Stockyards this week and hog prices also made strong advances, gaining $3 a hundredweight, the Dominion Marketing service reported today.

The cattle run of 6,297 head was 1,080 less than last week. The drop in receipts was due mainly to the market being closed on Wednesday for Victoria Day. Trade was active at the price advance with most of the supply cleared.

Good to choice weighty steers sold at $28-$29 with a top load at $29.50. Good light steers were $26-$27.50 and good heifers sold at $25.50-$26. Medium to good cows brought $20-$22.50, with canners and cutters from $15-$17.50. Good heavy bulls sold at $21-$22.50. Medium to good fed yearlings were $25-$28 with choice up to $29. A few picked stockers and feeders sold at $23-$25.

Calves totalled 1,890 head. Prices advanced 50 cents to $1 a hundredweight on Tuesday with good to choice vealers at $29-$30. Common to medium vealers ranged from $17-$27.

Hog receipts were 2,817 head. The market settled on Tuesday at $32 for Grade A with sows at $22.50 dressed.

Sheep and lambs were 220 head. Good spring lambs sold higher at $34-$35 a hundredweight. Good light sheep were $13-$15.

Aeronautics Act

offered to reduce from $5,000 to $1,000 the maximum fine for those who fail to abide by the regulations.

Mr. Chevrier said the legislation was necessary because safety regulations now could be ignored since they did not have the force of law. There had been infractions.

When the aeronautics bill finally was cleared through committee stage, the Chamber turned to study of Mr. Chevrier's departmental estimates and he heard Mr. Green renew his sessional fight for greater benefits for veterans of Canada's wartime merchant navy.

The Senate opened debate on a motion seeking reform of the Commons and heard Senator G. H. Ross (L-Alberta), its sponsor, charge that "horseplay" goes on in the lower house in the making of the law and that its members are wont to engage in vote-catching tactics.

Need Greater Freedom

In the aeronautics debate, Mr. Green urged that the Air Transport Board be given greater freedom. Its "handicaps" dated from the date when Mr. Howe was transport minister because "he likes to have power in his hands." Though holding another portfolio Mr. Howe still was the arbiter of TCA routes.

The government had said the board would help expand Canadian civil aviation, but its judicial powers were limited because any approving decision it gave in a licence application could be vetoed by the transport minister. At the same time, any denial it gave could be appealed to the minister.

Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel) said the public found it "very confusing" that the TCA should be under the trade minister.

Mr. Chevrier told the chamber it would be "improper" for the board to have powers which were too wide when the largest air line in Canada—TCA—was owned by the government. As for the operation of TCA by Mr. Howe, that was the decision of the Cabinet.

"Retrograde Step"

In the clash over safety directives, Mr. Diefenbaker termed the provision "a retrograde step" under which parliament would abdicate its legislative authority to officials who could act "on the caprice of the events of the moment."

Mr. Graydon said "take us another mile along the road of Order - in - Council government."

Mr. Chevrier said the directives —signed by himself—were necessary because there were times when the urgency of a situation made it essential to move more quickly than orders-in-council made possible.

Committed For Trial

TORONTO, May 26.—(CP). — George H. Babcock, 56, of Ayr, Ont., Thursday was committed for trial on a charge of fraud in mining stock deals. The Ontario Securities Commission charged that Babcock, in process reports of the Kazabazua Mining Corporation, solicited business for two other companies, of which he is president and general manager.

Convert Barn To Garage Cost City $10,000

To convert the horse barn at the municipal yard on Townsend St. to some useful purpose, now that the horses have vanished, will cost around $10,000 in a rough estimate as reported at the meeting of the sanitation committee of the board of works Thursday. Ald. J. E. Gillespie presided with Ald. T. D. Miller, Ald. H. Dodds and Mayor Swanston present.

The horses have been sold, and most of the stable equipment, for more than $1,900, as compared with an estimated $1,650.

The litter carrier brought $80, but it is staying in its ceiling place "until the first rainy day" when the purchaser is expected to call for it. Four old wagons are still to go at $10.82, for which they have been sold, but the stalls have not yet been taken.

The new trucks are operating this week, and "getting over the ground on time, said Elmo Pierce, superintendent, although the 24th was a holiday, and the department is beginning the five-day week.

Cost $22,000 To Build

Finally, at any rate the garbage collection system has been entirely motorized, but the barn raises a problem. It cost $22,000 at a time when the Council was still unconvinced that the switch should be made entirely from horses to trucks.

City Engineer Chalmers has been consulting about alterations to the building with J. H. Eastwood who built it around ten years ago.

Ald. Gillespie said the building was in good condition, but the ceiling is too low at 10 feet, and the spacious loft is just waste space. Mr. Chalmers said the barn was "tied in" by the ceiling, and a double row of posts, not by the roof, a condition that complicated the problem of change.

The sanavan truck is 10 ft. 8 in. high, and some of the graders also reach to that level.

The building is being considered for storage or garage use. City Council has talked for years about the need of a garage, to minimize repair and upkeep bills, and that may be the decision probably next week when more details will be ready for the Council in committee of the whole.

Ald. Gillespie listed equipment that would be needed, air compressor, hoists, etc., amounting to about $3,000.

Board Approves Extension To Grandstand

A 48-foot extension of the grandstand at Morrow Park was authorized by the directors of the Exhibition Thursday night. It will be of wood construction, covered, and will be built on the west end of the stand. Cost is estimated at $3,000, and seating accommodation should be more than 600. The work will be started as soon as possible, probably next week.

A new class for dual purpose Shorthorns has been added to the cattle section of the show.

Biggest prize in the agricultural production section is in a new competition for baled hay. The first award is $100, second prize $50, third $25 and there are twelve prizes of $10 each.

The class for baled hay is new to Peterborough Exhibition, and is a continuing influence from Grassland Day of June 1949, when the $100 top was adopted to attract forage farmers from a wide area. It was taken by Wm. J. Murphy of Lindsay.

Alex. Huston of Otonabee said Thursday night that $75 was a substantial prize even for high quality hay. Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative, argued that the extra $25 to make it $100 would have a wider appeal throughout rural Ontario, and would "glamorize" hay.

"I'd like to see 40 bales at least in this new class," Mr. Paterson said. "There is a vast difference between good hay and just ordinary hay, and that is one of the things we are trying to emphasize."

Charles E. Moore said that hay assumed a greater importance than ever in farm management. Reeve M. H. Johnston agreed with him, and moved the $100 top price, seconded by Mr. Moore, in amendment to Mr. Huston's "$75 is high enough" motion.

Record Business Year Promised Tourist Resorts

All good tourist resorts in Ontario are going to have a record business year, Thomas C. McCall, deputy-minister of the Department of Travel and Publicity, told resort owners and members of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce at the chamber's 61st annual dinner Thursday.

Resorts which have been giving good value to their customers are showing increased bookings for the summer. But certain resorts, areas and some of the big metropolitan hotels are faced with a slump in bookings. His observations were based on the results of a survey just completed.

"If you run a good place you're going to get business," Mr. McCall said.

The dinner was held especially to honor the resort operators section of the Chamber of Commerce, [illegible] said. It was also the first time, he pointed out, that ladies had been invited to an annual meeting.

County Council Present

Mayor Max J. Swanston, present as a guest, welcomed resort owners and members of the Peterborough County Council to the city and promised the support of the city council in any plan to promote the welfare of the district and increase tourist trade.

Mr. McCall said there was a tendency at present to look on the 22,000,000 tourists who come to Canada in a year as one huge mass and forget they are individuals. But it was true that most of the holidayers were looking for three basic things, fun, a change of scene and value.

Most people, he said, to whom we issue invitations as vacation visitors seek little more than an opportunity to get away from the crowds and the noise of urban life and obtain the great boon of rest and relaxation in the great out-of-doors which we have in such abundance.

Canada is a foreign country to Americans and Canadians should stop trying to ape Americans, and preserve their own individuality. Americans enjoy the slower tempo of life in Canada; the courtesy of Customs officials and police officers—in contrast to their American counterparts—the sight of the Union Jack flying over public buildings; and the respect for law and order which seems to be an integral part of Canadian life.

They don't like such things as cheap pandering to their patriotism to get business some Canadians try by flying American flags at every service station and hot dog stand.

Ontario caters, not to the luxury trade or the tin-can tourist, but to persons of moderate income. And to those tourists, On-

Fenelon Council Reinstates Chief

FENELON FALLS, May 26 — (CP)—Village council did an about-face Thursday night and reinstated David Gordon as chief constable of the community's one-man police force.

But a squabble over salary and other matters may not be over yet. T. H. Moffatt, one of two councillors opposed to the rehiring of Gordon, announced his intention to resign.

Gordon was fired recently after requesting a salary boost from $1,450 to $1,800 a year. But he claimed there were "personal" things behind council's action and that it was illegal. A group of business men and other citizens supported his contention.

Council agreed to increase his salary to $1,725.

Chief Gordon also is weed Inspector, collector of municipal monies, road superintendent, parks superintendent, sanitary inspector and relief officer.

Plan Variety Show To Aid Flood Fund

A variety show, in aid of the Mayor's Fund for Manitoba Relief, will be staged at the collegiate auditorium June 1.

The program, composed of a number of short acts and skits, will be produced by Bob King, and James Fraser, manager of the Chamber of Commerce will be emcee.

All proceeds will be for Manitoba flood relief, and all acts are donating their services.

On the program will be: Helen Hajnik, soprano; Mignon Mayneord, concert whistler; Tony Burns, Peterboro's Al Jolson; Knox Theatre Group, in short sketches; The SPEBSQSA; Smith and Hendry, singing Scotsmen; Marion and Ted Bradshaw, magicians; Peterborough's own Accordion Band.

Obituary

MRS. SUSAN DARLING

A resident of Otonabee for the past 18 years, Mrs. Susan Darling, RR 11, Peterborough, died Thursday in her 91st year after a lengthy illness. She died at the home of her grandson, Clifford Darling, lot 23, concession 15, Otonabee.

Born in Smith Township, the daughter of the late John Clifford and Sarah Dawson, she was the wife of the late William Robert Darling.

She is survived by one grandson, Clifford Darling, and three great-grandchildren.

She was a member of Murray St. Baptist Church.

Funeral service will be held on Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Kaye Funeral Home, the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Baptist Church officiating. Burial will be at Ray's Cemetery, Lakefield.

INTRODUCES NEW MEMBER

James Lillico, city lawyer, was inducted into the Kiwanis Club Thursday by Milf Hardill. Before Al Plaskett, president, presented him with the Kiwanis pin Mr. Hardill outlined the responsibilities of a member to the club and the club to the member.

Employees Give $100 To Aid Flood Victims

Residents of Peterborough and district have not forgotten the plight of their fellow Canadians stricken by fire in Rimouski and flooding in southern Manitoba.

By Thursday night $2,592.50 had been acknowledged by the Examiner for the "Manitoba Flood Relief Fund" and the "Rimouski Fire Fund."

Donations continue to come in. On Thursday the employees of Dominion Woollens and Worsteds tapped their community chest fund for $100—the money to help the rehabilitation of flood victims in the Winnipeg district.

For the first time since the rampaging Red River overflowed its banks making thousands homeless in southern Manitoba, and destroying millions of dollars in property, the story is beginning to slip from the front pages of newspapers.

The danger of further inundation seems over but the work of rehabilitation has only begun. And there is still the danger of disease.

Contributions of $2 or more will be acknowledged in these columns.

Goes Down Manhole For Elusive Quarter

When it comes to digging down for that extra 25 cents for the Manitoba Relief Fund, you have to hand it to the four little girls, Margaret Lustic, Carol and Donna Kennedy and Marilyn Panter who operated the cold drink stand on Rutherford St., on Thursday. They collected $6, chiefly from CGE workers at noon, but they were short two-bits.

One workman threw them a quarter from across the street and it stopped rolling at the edge of a manhole, and dropped down. The cover was too heavy for the girls to lift. Mrs. Jack Kennedy, one of the mothers, worked with the heavy lid and finally went below ground for the illusive piece of silver. Mrs. Kennedy got very soiled but the kids were happy and even mascot pup Blondie barked his approval. Between them all they had salvaged another previous contribution for a worthy cause.

ILLUSTRATES CITY'S HISTORY

Gordon Bailey, a Peterborough cartoonist and writer, sketched cartoons of Peterborough's history at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday. He was introduced by Ralph Standish and thanked by Walter Howell.

PARADE SUNDAY

The 50th Heavy AA Regiment, RCA, will parade at the armouries at 1 p.m. Sunday for the laying of the 57th Regiment (Peterborough Rangers) colors at St. John's Church. Dress will be battle dress, web belts, berets and medals. Ex-members of the 57th Regiment will parade in civilian dress with medals at the armouries at 2 p.m.

Board Rezones Hunter E., Admits Cleaners

Two deputations were heard Thursday night by the Town Planning Board. Both had zoning problems.

Four Ashburnham residents, headed by Miss Jean Gillespie, 138 Hunter St. E., said they were opposed to the election of a dry cleaning establishment on the lot west of 138 Hunter St.

Property values in the Mark to Rogers St. block on the north side of Hunter would be depreciated, they claimed.

Chairman James Dutton read a petition signed by nine residents of Hunter St. E. and Rogers St. objecting to "a permit of any kind being granted for any commercial purposes" in that area.

Miss Gillespie claimed that when the sale of the lot was negotiated through McCannan Real Estate there was a provision it was to be used for the building of residences only. However, she freely admitted there was nothing in the deed to that effect.

Complicating Factor

A complicating factor is that the city had previously given Ferguson's Cleaners and Dyers a permit to build on the lot." But that was before the city was zoned.

Ferguson's did not build because of a wartime shortage of proper steel. Raloh Standish explained on behalf of the company. And since the original permit expired the area had been zoned so as to exclude dry cleaning establishments.

"We can't freeze all the land around town," said James Hamilton, one of the Board members.

"And yet if the dry cleaning establishment goes up we will be going contrary to our own zoning bylaw," said Hubert Sills.

In a cautiously worded resolution the Board decided to turn down the objections of the petitioners and advised the city council that they will "give consideration to rezoning the area adjoining the railway track to a petty trade and warehousing district."

William Tinker pointed out that residents felt there would be an objectionable odor and generally such a building would reduce the value of their property.

"And there's no doubt it will," he said.

Make Inquiries

Inquiries were made of the Fire Marshal's office and strict specifications were laid down. If these are adhered to there should be no unusual fire hazard, the Board felt.

Another area, next in favor of the dry cleaning establishment, the Board members claimed, was that it was the suitable area for commercial development in Ashburnham and there was definite need for it.

"Under these conditions we see no objection to a permit being offered to Mr. Ferguson," recommended the Board.

The trustees of church property, revenue of which goes to the House of Providence, want rezoning of two pieces of land south and east of St. Peter's Cemetery.

They feel the land could yield some revenue where at the moment it is unproductive.

Has Option

The McColl Frontenac Co. has an option on a site on the triangular parcel of land south east of Monaghan and Lansdowne. Despite the fact this parcel is bounded by railway tracks and industries it is labelled residential in the city plans.

James Dunn, speaking on behalf of the trustees, pointed out that the land is anything but residential and nobody would build there to live. He would like to see it opened for commercial purposes.

"Yes," he assured Chairman Dutton, "the trustees would be quite willing to sell it to the city and have the money go to the House of Providence." He said he was referring to the south east corner only.

The Board stated they saw no objection to such a service station providing there be no storage tanks erected there and the city take steps to eliminate the traffic hazard.

Land Re-zoned

On the city council's request the triangle of land will be rezoned for petty trade and warehousing.

The block of land directly south of St. Peter's Cemetery presents more of a problem in the Board's opinion. At present it is vacant.

Mr. Dunn said that at the end of about 30 years it would be required for cemetery use in any case and it was a matter of yielding some revenue in the meantime. The trustees were even more desirous of seeing the area did not deteriorate than the Board he said.

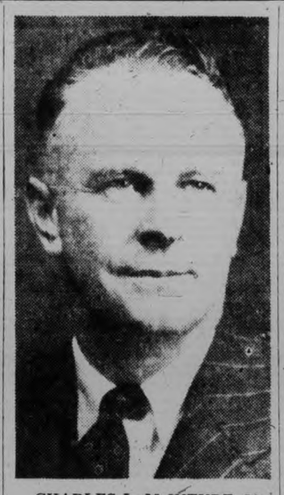
Fred Overend, a trustee, confirmed this.

Mr. Sills stated one difficulty was that land to the west was residential and if an exception were made for the church property it would be creating a precedent.

No decision was reached on this request at Thursday's meeting of the Board.

DONATE $10,000

A recent addition to the list of donors to the Winnipeg Flood Relief Fund is the Canadian General Electric Company of Canada, which has given $10,000 to the fund.



CHARLES L. McINTYRE, 50, of 493 Gilmour St., died while crossing a city street on Thursday. He was a well known resident of the city and had been in the real estate business here for a number of years.

Union Complains To Head Office Of Mismanaging

Local 527, United Electrical Workers, have sent a telegram to the Bowser Corporation, Chicago (parent company of the Peterborough Lock Co.) claiming the local management is guilty of technical inefficiency and poor labor-management relations.

The telegram, signed by R. J. Leonard, Local 527 president, says the inefficiency of some members of management has resulted in scrap; waste and returned orders. The upshot of this alleged tendency has been a general lowering of the quality of Peterborough Lock products, the strikers claim.

Union officials promise to supply evidence of this "mismanagement" on demand.

As an indication of poor labor-management relations it is pointed out that there have been two strikes at the plant in four years.

Sneak Thief Runs Off With Trousers, Tie

It seems that thieves as well as everybody else like to keep up appearances.

Peering through his wardrobe Thursday night Gilbert Windrum, Wellington St., found that a sneak thief had run off with a $40 suit, trousers and a tie. Apparently nothing else in the house was stolen.

Mr. Windrum recalls that he left his home on Sunday for some time and the door was unlocked. The thief must have entered the house during his absence and whipped the duds.

It wasn't until Thursday night when the owner decided to wear his suit that the loss was discovered.

Provincial Constables Roy Feeley and Jack McKendry are investigating.

RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT

Jack Richardson was re-elected president of the Y's Men's Club Thursday night at its weekly meeting in the YMCA auditorium. Others elected were: 1st vice-president, Joseph Barnard; 2nd vice-president, Gordon Morrison; secretary, Cecil Osborne; treasurer, Wallace Davidson.

I. McRae Named Assistant To Vice President

Ian F. McRae, works manager of the CGE's Peterborough plant was recently named assistant to the vice president in charge of manufacturing for Canada, Kirk Corkery of Toronto. Mr. McRae will continue in his present position as head of the Peterborough plant.

Born in Vancouver early in the century, Mr. McRae came to Peterborough in 1925, and apprenticed himself to the CGE, entering the Test course at that time.

Graduating before the four-year course was finished, Mr. McRae moved into the switchboard engineering department. In 1937, he became assistant to Carl Salmonsen, who was then works manager.

In 1941, he succeeded Mr. Salmonsen, and a flood of war contracts placed more than 5,000 employees under his command. In addition to his job as works manager, Mr. McRae in 1941 was made director and manager of Genelco Ltd., government-owned wartime company operated by CGE here.

Keenly interested in civic affairs, Mr. McRae is a member of the board of governors of Civic Hospital, and a past-president of Peterborough Rotary, and the YMCA.

Disaster Fund Boosted By $500

The Peterborough Kinsmen Club joined Thursday night with other service clubs in the city to help the flood area of Manitoba and the fire area of Rimouski-Cabano. The members voted to give $300 to the Manitoba Relief Fund, $100 to the Rimouski Fund and $100 to Cabano.

Four new members, William Van Atter, Grant Caldwell, Thomas Casey and David Fowler, were initiated into the club at the meeting held in the Kawartha Golf and Country Club. The ceremony was conducted by 2nd vice-president Clare Boorman, past presidents Stanley Gilmore and Vernon Selkirk.

Nominations for the 1950-51 executive were accepted.

MacLeods Gather In Skye For Big Reunions

By TOM CHALMERS.

RUNVEOAN, Isle of Skye, Scotland, May 25 (Reuters) — MacLeods from all over the world at the call of their hereditary woman clan chief, Flora MacLeod, are back in the Isle of Skye for a week of junketing.

Their meeting place is the old stronghold of Dunvegan Castle, with its legends of fairy pipers and fairy flags, which brought doom or salvation to the ancient clan.

Skye is the island of the Scottish Hebrides where Bonnie Prince Charlie took refuge after his disastrous attempt to regain the thrones of England and Scotland for the Stuarts.

It is the home of the MacLeods, whose fame and arrogance are enshrined in the famous story of precedence, where the chief, taking his seat at the conference table, declared:

"The seat does not matter — wherever MacLeod sits is the top of the table."

It is also called without undue satire the MacLeods had a boat of their own in Noah's flood.

Comes Long Way

One of the eldest of those here for Skye week is Malcolm A. MacLeod who is making his first visit to Scotland after 50 years in New Zealand. He is 72.

Youngest member of the clan present is one-month-old Patricia Maeve MacLeod of Fortree.

Norman G. MacLeod of Calgary handed to the clan's chief a message from the mayor of Calgary saying the bearer was the son of the commander of the first RCMP post, Fort MacLeod.

Scots in Nova Scotia sent a telegram of greetings.

MacLeods from Canada, the United States, New Zealand, South Africa, India and other corners of the earth were entertained to tea on the ramparts of Dunvegan by Flora herself in kilt and plaid—her piper playing Maccrimmond tunes from the castle jeep.

Marie McDonald Wants To Bury Publicity Tag

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, May 26 (AP)—"I wish they would bury 'the body' and leave Marie McDonald," sighed beautiful, blonde Marie.

"The body" tag was hung on Marie in 1944 and she has been stuck with it ever since. It happened when she was working in "A Guest in the House." She had 17th billing in the film until an alert press agent dreamed up the title for her. When picture came out, her name was third in the cast.

"It was wonderful," she recalled. "I became famous overnight. It was right after Frank Sinatra was dubbed 'The Voice' and then it began to turn into a handicap.

Boomeranged

"Like so many publicity ideas, this one boomeranged. Now I'm stuck with 'The Body' and Marie McDonald was lost in the shuffle."

The glamor girl complained that she isn't the type to fit her unwanted handle. "'The Body' is a seductive femme fatale, the other woman," she declared. "It's contrary to my personality.

"I don't mind their publicizing my figure. And I wouldn't mind 'The Body' so much if they would add a word like 'heavenly' to it. After all, Betty Grable hasn't done so badly on 'The Legs.' But Betty is always the sweet heroine, despite the sexy publicity."

Always Other Woman

She lamented that producers always cast her as the other woman. She really wants to do light comedies and musicals, such as her current one, "Hit Parade of 1951." But she realizes she'll still have trouble escaping "The Body."

"Why," she said, "the last time my mother went to a preview of one of my pictures, she sat next to a woman who said she couldn't stand to see that horrible Marie McDonald. Even though my mother knew it was just a role, she couldn't stand it. She had to leave and have a good cry."

EDMONTON,—(CP). —If you love your dog, don't feed it white bread. Or cake or pie, or cookies, either.

That's the advice of Edmonton veterinarian who says dog owners probably show their best appreciation of man's best friend when they feed it commercial canned dog food.

But if you must feed your dog bread, be sure it's brown bread, the vet says. White flour such as used in making white bread, cakes, pies and cookies causes degeneration of the nerve cells of a dog's body.

As far as scientists can discover, this effect of white flour is evident only in the nervous system of dogs. Cats and most other animals, as well as humans, seem to be immune to it.

Opens Tunnel

NEW YORK, May 26 (AP) — Mayor William O'Dwyer Thursday officiated at ceremonies marking the opening to traffic of the longest, costliest underwater tunnel in the United States, a tube linking Manhattan and Brooklyn under the East River. It cost $80,000,000 and eight lives —one life for every quarter-mile of its white-tiled length.

Elected President

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., May 26 (CP)—Col. S. C. Oland, of Halifax Thursday was elected president of the Dominion Brewers' Association, succeeding J. D. Cross of Calgary.

LIBERAL CANDIDATE — Angus E. Elderkin, a Nova Scotia apple grower, will represent the Liberals in the June 19 Annapolis-Kings federal by-election. Mr. Ederkin was declared elected to the seat at last year's general election following a recount. However, the Annapolis-Kings polling later was declared void by the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia. Mr. Elderkin is opposing George Nowland, Progressive Conservative, who held the seat before the general election.

HUSTLED TO HOOSEGOW—An unidentified youth is forced into a patrol wagon by three policemen at Calgary when scuffling broke out after a speech by the Dean of Canterbury, known as the Red Dean. The Dean—Rev. Hewlett Johnson—was escorted from the hall unharmed. His tour is sponsored by the Canadian Peace Congress.

Alberta Hutterites Abandon Mexico Home

MACLEOD, Alta., May 26. — (CP).—Prospects of a mass migration to Mexico by some of Alberta's farming Hutterites have dimmed in the eyes of some of the scheme's promoters following a trip to the promised land.

A delegation went south to clear the way for the move after the pacifist religious sect became restless in Alberta where expansion of colonies has been curbed. Twenty-one returned quickly and the Lethbridge Herald reports that all but two diehards were disgusted with the land and conditions in Chihuahua Province where they planned to settle.

Two delegates remained in Mexico to negotiate for land in another area.

Those who returned said farming methods were 100 years behind the times. It was common to see pigs, chickens in the dwellings. Sanitation in many houses and business places was termed terrible.

Charges Schools Play Centres

CHATHAM, May 26.—(CP).—Canada's schools should be brought back to their basic function—to educate—Dr. Charlotte Whitton of Ottawa, Thursday night told the annual meeting of the Associated High School Boards of Ontario. The welfare worker struck out at modern education methods and said democracies need strong schools and an educated citizenry at this time when western civilization faces a challenge which "can lead to annihilation of a good part of the life of this planet."

In the event of actual combat, she said, civilian and military forces capable of training in scientific, mechanized, chemical, bacteriological and atomic warfare, would be needed.

These things could not be accomplished in sudden speed-ups with young workers and students "who have coasted along on pleasant options, selected courses, recommendations and as many extra-curricular appendages to basic education as the centipede has legs."

As the trustees of the purpose and function of education, Dr. Whitton asked if the school boards were satisfied that their schools were discharging their role as places primarily of education.

"Or are they not concerned that the primary schools are more nearly play centres, the elementary schools becoming boys' and girls' clubs, many of the secondary schools really youth centres?"

Thoroughbreds Crowd List For King's Plate

TORONTO, May 26 — (CP) — The racing strip at historic Woodbine Park will be crowded with good thoroughbreds when they start the classic Kings Plate on Saturday afternoon. And no one feels too sure in choosing the winner of the 91st renewal of the Plate, which this year has $20,000 added to the King's 50 guineas.

A total of 17 Canadian-bred three-year-olds started in the Plate trial last Saturday, split into two divisions. Jack McIntyre's Blue Dance was an easy winner of one division, covering six furlongs in 1.15. J. Frowde Seagram's Roamite won the other division in 1.15 4-5.

Several horses that have been touted as Plate winners at one time or another trailed those two last week. All are possible winners Saturday when they travel 1¼ miles, or three furlongs longer than the trials.

Carr Hatch's Unionville will be ridden by jockey J. Nichols, who rode the winner of the last race at Belmont Park, New York, on Thursday. Hatch had been unable to secure Eddie Arcaro to ride his good colt.

Two other United States riders definitely engaged are Chris Rogers, aboard Vince Sheridan's McGill, and Clarence Picou, rider of Blue Dance.

Bookmakers Needed For UK Theatres—Shaw

LONDON, May 26, (CP) — What's wrong with British show business? Nothing, says George Bernard Shaw, that a few experienced bookmakers couldn't cure.

In a letter, Shaw said the trouble is that show business is a sport, not an industry.

"What is needed," he wrote the independent weekly Economist, "is a board of experienced turf bookmakers, betting against all the films and plays as they now bet against all the horses and dogs.

"The bookmaker does not back his fancy and bet against outsiders, he bets against all racers and budget for, say, 10 per cent . . . and is not driven out of business if an outsider wins or a favorite loses, as our film speculators are."

Shaw's letter followed an article in the Economist entitled "Where Angels Fear To Tread." This dealt with the dangers of financing British films and plays.

Wings Trounce Montreal In 10-4 Victory

By The Associated Press.

Eddie Yuhas, who never won more than 10 games in any of his previous three seasons in baseball, is well on the road to a 20-victory campaign.

The 26-year-old righthander with the high flying Rochester Red Wings turned in his sixth victory without a loss Thursday night as he pitched the Wings to a 10-6 victory over Montreal Royals.

The victory also was the Wings' sixth straight and it moved them within 1½ games of the International League's pace-setting runner-up Syracuse Chiefs.

Yuhas, who was signed by the parent St. Louis Cardinals in 1943, didn't play professionally until 1947 due to a four-year stretch in the United States Army.

Yuhas had the Royals beaten, 10-4, going into the ninth when he weakened a bit, walked a batter and permitted two singles. Consecutive errors by Ed Nietopski and Del Wilber followed and little Jackie Colum took over. Collum nailed the next three hitters to end the game.

Lefty Bill Kennedy pitched his second straight shutout as Baltimore Orioles defeated Jersey City Giants 4-0 in the only other game played.

Kennedy, who set a organized ball record in 1946 when he fanned 456 batters for Rocky Mount, N. C., allowed only four singles in besting Andy Tomasic.

A scheduled game between Springfield and Syracuse was rained out while Buffalo and Toronto were not scheduled.

Gregg Asks Industrialists Find Spot For Older Vets

TORONTO, May 26 (CP) — Veterans Affairs Minister Gregg today asked Canadian industrialists to find places in their plants for middle-aged veterans of the First World War.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, he said some 12,000 of them are at present registered as in need of employment.

"Some of the arguments against employing men over 45 years are pretty well known. There is the standard one about the greater costs to the company's pension plan and group life insurance.

"It is true it will cost a little more, but, if you will have your actuarial people work it out for you, you will find that the percentage increases won't be as great as it first appears, and I am sure that the rewards will far outweigh the money costs.

"Through taxes you can leave these men to the care of government, or you can continue the better and more direct method of utilizing their skills, loyalties and integrity—many of them old comrades of yours and mine, and get for your money the service and loyalty they will gladly give you."

Less Than Three Per Cent

The 12,000, stated Mr. Gregg, constitute less than three per cent of nearly 500,000 veterans of the First World War still alive.

C. A. Pollock of Kitchener told the meeting's research conference:

"It is sound policy and planning for the future for small Canadian businesses to set themselves up with research facilities—as a first step on the outside and, secondly, inside the business organizations.

"The first can be done by utilizing the industrial research services of the Ontario Research Foundation and, after experience in this manner, the second stage can be moved into by adding research staff to the organization on a utility basis. . .

"It is recognized everywhere that the future of industry is closely linked with industrial and scientific research. In this sense Ontario has opportunities not paralleled elsewhere in Canada, and perhaps not equalled anywhere on this continent when supporting population is considered. It only remains for manufacturers to make the best use of them."

Wants Exchange Of Arms Easier

TORONTO, May 26 (CP)—General A. G. L. McNaughton Thursday night urged simplification of the exchange of arms between Canada and the United States.

Addressing the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Gen. McNaughton, chairman of the Canadian section of the Canada-United States Permanent Joint Board on Defence, stated:

"As matters stand in the dangerous situation which exists it would not be sensible to consider trade in arms from the point of view of revenue. Rather we must look at it primarily for the purpose of promptly providing both our countries and also our allies with the most modern, standardized weapons of the highest efficiency.

"Having regard to this and to the mutually-advantageous result which is sought as a contribution to the security of North America and of the other countries of the North Atlantic community, it seems to me that it is not unreasonable to expect the removal of legislative restrictions which introduce other considerations and so stand in the way of efficient organization and procedures."

Father Of The Year

NEW YORK, May 26—(AP)—William O. Douglas, United States Supreme Court justice, was named "Father of the Year" Thursday. Alvin Austin, director of the National Father's Day's Commitee, said Douglas was selected because he was considered "the most colorful and outstanding personality in (American) public life today who by his thoughts and acts exemplifies the committee's 1950 theme, 'for a safe world tomorrow, teach democracy today'." Father's Day is June 18.

TWO TRAINS COLLIDE

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, May 26—(AP)—Twelve persons were killed and 12 others were injured early today, when an express train collided in Slovakia. The engineers of both trains were arrested. Officials said their carelessness had caused the collision.

IUEW Taking Lead In Baltimore Voting

BALTIMORE May 26 (AP) — The International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO), battling a rival organization whom it accused of being Communist controlled, took a slight lead in early returns Thursday night in the General Electric Company election.

The IUEW led 1,058 to 833 in inconclusive returns from 15 small shops and divisions.

Some 95,000 workers in 57 G.E. plants throughout the United States were eligible to vote in the National Labor Relations Board election to decide, plant by plant, which union should represent them.

None of the returns so far are from the major G.E. plants such as Schenectady, Lynn and West Lynn, Mass., Erie, Pa., and Cleveland.

Communications Survive Worst '50 Test

WINNIPEG, May 26.—(CP)—Railway telegraph communications, strained as never before during the 1950 floods, are just beginning to get back to normal.

The nerve centre of greater Winnipeg, vital to the communication of personal and business messages and the flow of news to other parts of Canada, were in the heart of the month-long battle against the Red river.

While wires hummed with an unprecedented volume of traffic, backed-up sewer water lapped at cables beneath the streets.

Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian National Railways lines were deluged with personal messages from worried relatives and people offering shelter to the homeless. Dozens of newspaper correspondents from Canada and the United States poured out millions of words.

The C.P.R. handled its peak load while 25,000 gallons an hour of muddy water was being pumped from its basement at the corner of Portage Ave. and Main St.

Emergency Circuits

Both companies arranged emergency circuits. They installed emergency power plants when the electrical supply was threatened two weeks ago.

Messenger boys delivered by bicycle, canoe and by trudging in hip boots through flooded suburbs. Disrupted telephone communications often made verbal delivery impossible. Radio stations and newspapers published lists of unclaimed messages.

First major failure was the C.P.R.'s pneumatic-tube system for dispatching telegrams to the depot and the Winnipeg grain exchange. Water which smashed the tubes poured through them into the building's basement.

The C.N. telegraph office, farther from the water, lost no cables.

The C.P.R.'s biggest crisis came May 23, when a rip in the waterproof covering of a cable serving The Canadian Press—and through it the city's two newspapers and three radio stations—cut service to and from the west.

The CP bureau moved into prearranged facilities in the Telegraph building and lost only half-hour in the switch. Emergency arrangements got service back to normal within five hours.

Sees New Locomotives

OTTAWA, May 26 (CP) — A high-ranking railways official predicted Thursday that oil-fired gas-turbine locomotives may soon replace steam and Diesel-electric locomotives in the railways field. S. W. Fairweather of Montreal, Canadian National Railways vice-president in charge of research, told the Engineering Institute of Canada that the high cost of coal already has made steam locomotives obsolete.

Howe Returns Home

MONTREAL, May 26—(CP)—Trade Minister C. D. Howe arrived here early today from London where he attended wheat and lumber talks with United Kingdom officials and left immediately for Ottawa. Mr. Howe said he was happy with the outcome of the talks but could make no statement before conferring with other cabinet ministers.

Blaze In Studios

BURBANK, Calif., May 26 — (AP)—Fire causing damage unofficially estimated at more than $500,000 swept the Burbank studios of Columbia Pictures Corporation early today. The paint shop, sawmill, generating plant and numerous sets were destroyed.

A NURSE AND INTERNES from the Central Division of the Montreal General Hospital gingerly prepare to carry S. G. Bickley, wounded manager of the CIL building branch of the Bank of Toronto at a recent noon-hour holdup, into an ambulance as crowds of curious office workers look on. Also severely injured was Constable A. Gammon, of the RCMP, who was on his way to the Bank of Canada head office when he heard the manager shout for help. The officer is in dying condition.

Two Motorcyclists Suffer Injuries

Two motorcyclists were slightly hurt when they became tangled with a car at George and Brock Sts. Wednesday.

George Tully, 667 Chamberlain St., suffered a scraped and bruised left leg and hip. Calvin Scott, 557 Brioux, had a scraped left leg and knee. About $60 damage was done to Tully's motorcycle and about $45 to Scott's.

Tully and Scott were riding their motorcycles south on George St. As they were approaching Brock St., a car driven by J. E. Paquett, RR 9, Peterborough, pulled out into the George St. traffic.

Tully jammed on his brakes, skidded and toppled over on his right side. Scott, just behind him, also braked and skidded into Tully's bike and hit the left rear fender of Paquett's car.

Constable Louis Rodreque, who investigated the accident, reported the brakes on Paquett's car didn't pass a braking test. He also said Paquett had been drinking.

Appointed Ambassador

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, May 26—(AP)—A. H. J. Lovink, former representative of the crown in Indonesia, has been appointed ambassador to Canada, a royal decree announced today. Dr. Herman J. Van Royen, the present ambassador in Ottawa, has been appointed envoy to Washington to relieve Dr. Eelco Van Kleffens.

TO VISIT CANADA— Hon. Liaquat Ali Khan, prime minister of Pakistan, is to visit Canada this month, accompanied by Begum Ali Khan and a large staff. The party will arrive in Ottawa May 30 to spend three days in the capital and then pay brief visits to Kingston, Toronto and Niagara Falls, Ont.

Queen Mary 83

LONDON, May 26 — (AP) — Queen Mother Mary today celebrated her 83rd birthday with member of the Royal Family while greetings poured in from around the world. The King and Queen invited 30 royal guests to a birthday lucheon at Buckingham Palace a short drive from Queen Mary's own stately dwelling—Marlborough House.

To Withdraw Troops

SYDNEY, Australia, May 26—(Reuters)—Prime Minister R. G. Menzies announced today that Australia had decided to withdraw her troops from Japan. Britain and Australia, each with several thousand troops in Australia, have shared the Commonwealth's occupation burden in Japan.

Kiwanis Gives $200 To Rimouski Fund

Realizing the need of financial aid by the people of Rimouski and Cabano, Kiwanis Club directors voted to give the Rimouski fund $200 at a meeting Thursday night.

A week ago the club received an urgent appeal from the Kiwanis Clubs of Winnipeg requesting help and replied promptly with a cheque for $1,000. Other donations in the past month have been made to the new Civic Hospital and St. Joseph's Hospital, each receiving $500.

Col. Astor Entertains Famous Publishers

LONDON, May 26 (CP) Col. J. J. Astor, chairman of the Times and president of the Empire Press Union, Thursday entertained a distinguished group of Commonwealth editors and publishers at his London home.

Guests of honor were the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester. Others attended included Sir Harry Brittain, founder of the EPU; Maj.-Gen. Lord Burnham, managing editor of the Daily Telegraph; Sir Frank Newnes, vice-president of the British Periodical Publishers Association; and Walton Cole, editor of Reuters News Agency.

The gathering brought together most of the advance guard of delegates to the seventh Imperial Press Conference which opens in Ottawa June 8. The first group of delegates will sail from Liverpool May 30 aboard the Empress of Scotland.

TEMPTING, EASY, THRIFTY DESSERTS

Sumptuous — yet so Simple!

Jell-O Marmalade Bavarian

1 package Orange Jell-O
1¾ cups hot water
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup heavy cream
⅓ cup orange marmalade

Dissolve Jell-O in hot water. Add salt. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in cream, whipped only until thick and shiny, but not stiff. Fold in marmalade. Turn into mould. Chill until firm. Unmould. Garnish with additional whipped cream, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

So Fresh and Flavorful!

Jell-O Grapefruit-Grape Jewel

1 package Raspberry Jell-O
2⅔ cups hot water
¾ cup drained grapefruit segments
¾ cup seedless green grapes

Dissolve Jell-O in hot water (or use juice drained from grapefruit, with water to make 2½ cups). Chill. When slightly thickened, add grapefruit and grapes. Turn into dessert glasses and chill. Makes 6 servings.

It's easy to understand why Jell-O is fresher flavored — so much more enjoyable. For when you buy Jell-O Jelly Powders, you enjoy the advantages of over 2 generations experience in making jelly powders that folks like better. Seven wonderful "locked-in" flavors. Mrs. M. Dean Buried Little Lake Cemetery

Rev. D. P. Morris of Selwyn United Church conducted the funeral services of the late Mrs. Marcus Dean from the funeral home of A. Comstock and Sons (on Tuesday).

Following a short illness, Mrs. Dean passed away at the Civic Hospital. She was born in Bobcaygeon but had lived in S for many years where she made a great number of friends which the large attendance at her funeral service reflected.

Pall-bearers were Ross Bick, Jim Preston, Marcus Fowler, Bruce Fitzgerald, George McIlmoyle and Edson Kelso.

Interment was in Little Lake Cemetery.

Miss Elma Coon, RN Buried In Linday

Rev. Dr. James Semple of George Street United Church conducted the funeral services of the late Miss Elma Coon on Thursday from the funeral home of A. Comstock and Sons.

Miss Coon passed away at Royal Victoria Hospital in Montreal following a lingering illness. On graduation from Ottawa Civic Hospital she assumed the duties of an X-ray technician.

During the war Miss Coon saw service in South Africa and on the hospital ship Letitia as a Nursing Sister. When D.V.A. hospitals were opened following the end of hostilities, she served in them at Peterborough, Kingston and Montreal.

Miss Coon was a member of the Society of Radiologist Technicians and a member of the Ontario Society of Radio Graphers. She was also a member of the United Church, having been active in the work of George Street United Church while in Peterborough.

Pall-bearers were six nephews, David Anderson, Charles Coon, John Frise, Reginald Vickey, William Dobbin and Ralph Quibell.

Interment was in Riverside Cemetery, Lindsay.

Record Business

tario is offering top value, Mr. McCall said.

The American tourist is no longer a free-spending, hell-for-leather fellow who doesn't care how much he pays for anything so long as he gets it fast. Ontario is facing its most difficult period in competing with the attractions of other provinces and other countries.

Criticizing Our Faults

At the same time there are many people in Canada who are selling Canada down the river by overcriticizing some of its faults.

They say, "We haven't anything to offer tourists." They report on some resort which has hard beds and another one which serves poor food.

"But for every one that is substandard, there are at least 20 good ons," Mr. McCall pointed out. He said the department gets 400,000 letters from tourists in a year who write to say they liked what they found here.

Ontario people don't realize how much the province has to offer tourists, Mr. McCall said. They forget Canada's and Ontario's colorful history. Americans know little of Canadian history and would be very interested if told, he said.

"We should walk with pride among the nations of the world and assert ourselves in the light of historic tradition which saw two great peoples fused into one country," the speaker asserted.

"In the Kawarthas I think you are missing a bet by not selling this tourist industry to your merchants and local councils," Mr. McCall told the tourist operators.

Many farmers say they think very little of tourists. "It's high time they realized there are 22,000,000 appetites to be satisfied crossing the border every years."

The federal government was spending $1,100,000 in tourist advertising this year and Ontario one-third of a million dollars as well as the hundreds of thousands spent by the two railroads he pointed out.

This money was being wasted if resort owners and merchants didn't get behind their Peterborough Chamber of Commerce and bring the tourists here.

"You can't wait until May 15 to get out tourist guide books," he warned. There was lots of competition from other countries for the $10,000,000,000 it is estimated Americans have to spend this year on holidays.

Mr. McCall was introduced by James M. Fraser, manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce and thanked by Tom Lawler, a director of the Chamber.

Seated at the head table were Jack Daugherty, president of the Rice Lake Tourist Association and Mrs. Daugherty; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lawler, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Fraser, president and Mrs. P. D. Scollard, Mayor and Mrs. Max Swanston, and Norman Wilson, Apsley, Warden of Peterborough county and Mrs. Wilson.

Speaks About Hymn Authors

Monthly meeting of All Saints' Women's Church Year was held Thursday afternoon in the chapel with 48 ladies present. Mrs. H. Dummitt read the scripture lesson. Guest speaker, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris, gave an innteresting address about three authors of hymns, Joseph Scriven, Isaac Watts and Mrs. Cecil Francis Alexander. A vocal solo, "Bless This House" sung by Eileen Hall, and a piano solo, "Whispering Hope" played by Barbara Moucks, two members of the junior choir, were delightful contributions to the program.

President, Mrs. J. Adams, asked members to keep June 7 in mind, the date of the "friendship tea" to be held in the Parish Hall. Collection for the month amounted to $95.89. The Rev. W. E. Kibblewhite closed with benediction, after which refreshments were served by Mrs. Herbert Hall and her group.

Daring Swim Suits Shown In Summer Tog Parade

A parade of classy swim suits to close the season's hottest day and open a revue of summer play and vacation togs was viewed with interest Thursday evening at the YWCA.

About 150 women were in the Green Room and recreation room for the entertainment offered by the Kappa Gamma Club, members of which are girls who graduated from Collegiate last year.

Displaying the daring new styles, as well as conservative classics in every type of swim suit were girls from the Ornamental Swimming Club who are perhaps most at home in such attire. Each was a masterpiece of figure flattery made from totem print, pic and pic lastex, nylon, hammered satin and brown wool lastex shown in a superlative style. Several, like the latter, had hidden detachable bras to be worn with other clothes too and others were boned to stay up without straps.

"Terry's" ranging from short after-tennis jackets to knee and full length robes are somewhat new and wonderfully useful accessories for the summer sport lover. Mostly in white, but also in a range of colors, ingeniously fashioned for style and easy wearability, a variety of the types available was worn by the swimmers who chose shades to harmonize with their suits.

About 50 pieces of other sportswear were modelled, two or three often combined, and many being wardrobe convertibles that can fit into many plans. The clothes ranged from bra and halter tops, to tailored shirts, shorts to slacks and short topcoats to raincoats.

Cut for sophistication and to accent femininity is the black broadcloth blouse, modelled by Miss Mary Scollard, which was most strikingly combined with a full circle skirt, the print showing black, green and red on a white background. Commentator Mrs. J. A. McNeill also wore one of these blouses with a very full peasant skirt printed on black.

A three-piecer that caught the fancy featured a sailor collar on the halter top, trimly cut shorts and a skirt to make a sun dress, all in white with navy trim. "Daisy Mae" borders on shorts and tops were a new idea displayed. Also shirred lastex tops that can be worn several ways.

Denims have taken over the season and several combinations were shown, mostly in "sailing blue." A reversible bra with shorts and belted jacket showed red for a change of color, and a skirt had red, white and blue braid trim. There was a precisely cut golfer shirt too.

Brilliant-toned cottons made skirts and blouses to mix and match. Paisley made a practical skirt and striped chambray another, the latter teamed with an orchid halter. Something new for the beach is the cotton print swim suit with matching skirt to form a strapless sun dress. For town there was a pair in grey broadcloth featuring cuffed pockets and front and back pleats with tuck trim on the blouse.

For cooler hours there were wool slacks in an uncommon tartan with a matching weskit, a pleated tartan skirt with red reefer jacket and cashmere pullover and a wool skirt in brown and yellow check design worn with a brown sweater, also gabardine slacks. And for over everything when it's wet or dry, the trench coats, also smart for travelling.

Other models were Misses Marley Jobbitt, Ruthann Brown, Fern Carveth, Wilma Watson, Jackie Rose, Bunny Hutchison, Zetta Jameson. Miss Shirley Sisson commented for guests in the recreation room.

Board Chairman Addresses Group

Observers from the Civic Affairs Study Group expressed appreciation of their reception at this month's City Council and Board of Education meetings when they gave their reports at the regular meeting Thursday night.

Mrs. C. K. Hurst, Mrs. H. C. Turner and Miss M. McIntosh reported proceedings at Council meetings of May 1 and 15, and Miss Margaret McCulloch gave a resume of the Education Board's monthly meeting. Discussion on points of interest brought out was entered into freely by the 30 women present. Talk centred on the acceptance of the major plan for this city and the matter of an extension to the Collegiate and an annex to Prince of Wales School. Rigid restrictions of the Department of Education before building can begin were surprising to some.

Mr. Frank Jobbitt, chairman of the Board of Education addressed the meeting, explaining the make-up of the Board and its functions. He said that the election of chairman of the Board was by ballot, without nomination. The chairman then appoints a striking committee to nominate standing committees for, appointments, property, supervision, health, advisory vocational and accommodation and each committee elects its own chairman by ballot.

Demands on the time of those who serve the citizens on this board were mentioned and Mr. Jobbitt said no remuneration is received, in spite of opinions to the contrary. He spoke also of the extension to the Collegiate which is now planned.

He was questioned by the women on various aspects of the work he mentioned, particularly on the arrangement of the High School Area Board and the Board. He said in future the cost to county pupils will be arrived at through consideration of capital and operating costs.

It was particularly noted that the Department of Education is more interested in having provided general classroom accommodation than auditorium space and that vocational accommodation is to be curtailed in the future.

The group expressed pleasure in the further safety measures for school areas now in use and in the showing of Safety League films in all schools by the police.

Observers appointed for June meetings are: June 5, City Council, Mrs. John Nornabell and Mrs. J. E. Watters; June 19, Mrs. Chas. Pilon and Miss Cathleen McCarthy; Board of Education, June 8, Mrs. Blake Bell and Mrs. Romeyn Stevenson.

The next group meeting will be on June 22 at the YWCA.

Red Cross Lauded RLS Awards Given

LAKEFIELD, May 26.—(ENS).—Reeve W. C. Grant presented Royal Lifesaving medals and certificates at the Red Cross meeting this week.

"The Red Cross," said Reeve Grant, "is one of the most important organizations in the village, and greatly lessens the task of the Village Council in times of stress." On behalf of the residents he expressed appreciation to all members of Red Cross for the time, money and effort which they have donated to the swim project.

Awards given were:

Bronze cross—Denise Doubt.

Bronze medal — Nancy Doubt, Morley Brown, Bob Pratt.

Elementary lifesaving — D. J. Armstrong, Betty Jane Rath, Patsy Nickles, James Fraser, Glynn Griffiths.

Mrs. Pansy Forbes of Peterborough gave a brief address on first aid and water safety.

Mrs. Hugh Ketchum, president of the Red Cross, presided for the evening.

Mrs. F. L. Erskine, a member of the executive, who leaves next month to reside in Hamilton, was given a cup and saucer, presented by Mrs. J. Huddart.

Mrs. S. A. Grylls was appointed secretary.

The following gave reports: Mrs. R. Currie, treasurer's report; Mrs. F. L. Erskine, wool convener; Mrs. C. Foster, quilts; Mrs. Wallace Hendren, school nurse, reported that her work was completed for the year, fourteen vaccinations being given during the past month.

Mrs. H. D. Wilford, who is in charge of the swim project, announced that a swimming instructor had been engaged and would be in the village the middle of June.

It was moved by Mrs. L. Leonard and Mrs. Huddart that Mrs. Wilford be given authority to purchase supplies for the swim project from the budget set aside.

Mrs. Leonard reported on contributions received for the Winnipeg flood.

Mrs. Ketchum asked for three drivers to drive the child being taken to the YWCA for treatments next week.

A layette, made and donated by the CGIT, was on display.

Two water safety films were shown.

THESE HANDSOME DRESSES for the bride's mother are carefully styled to flatter the mature figure. For the formal church wedding (centre), the mother wears a gown of pink chiffon with a tunic-styled top of pink lace. For the informal wedding (left), she models a two-piece dress of gray silky rayon mesh. The snug jacket is fastened with gleaming steel buttons. Decorative yoke of pearl-embroidered gray marquisette highlights the gray crepe dress (right) which is appropriate for the semi-formal wedding.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

Always Agree Only Tactic With Disputatious Husband

DEAR MISS DIX: Is there any cure for an argumentative disposition? My husband is good and kind, but he has the arguing complex and contradicts everything everyone says. He is always on the other side of every question no matter what it is, or if he ever thought of it before or not. I find that the only way to live in peace with him is to yes-yes him, and the only way to get the things I want is to pretend that I wouldn't have them at any price. This saves a lot of useless arguments and quarreling, but it means sacrificing my personality and more or less living a life of lies. Am I doing right or wrong in thus playing up to my husband?

PUZZLED.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think that in your case the end justifies the means, and that it is better for you to pretend to agree with your husband than it would be to be in a perpetual wrangle with him. "Peace at any price" should be the motto hung above the fireplace in every home. And certainly there cannot be any peace in a household in which the husband and wife are continually arguing over everything from politics to pie and where no one dares, to introduce a new topic of conversation for fear of starting something.

Of course, when men or women are arguers it is because they are possessed of colossal vanity and consider that the world is waiting with bated breath for their opinions. It is their way of turning the spotlight on themselves and they think that it shows great originality and superior intelligence to disagree with everyone on every topic.

There is no arguing with the arguers, no convincing them of how unfair and unjust and tiresome they are. To dispute what they say merely brings on more words and gives them a fresh start. The only possible way to shut them up is a surface agreement that cuts the ground out from under their feet.

You have been wise enough to perceive this and this enables you to live in peace and harmony with an arguer, and if it calls for a few white lies, believe me they are the sort on which the Recording Angel drops a tear and blots them out. But, Lord, how I pity a woman who has a husband with the arguing habit.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have a friend who has had everything that the heart of woman could desire. A devoted and wealthy husband who lavished upon her everything that money could buy. Suddenly her husband lost his health and his money. For four years her mother was a helpless invalid and my friend had to nurse her. She lives in a poor little house. She has shabby clothes. She has to do all of her own housework. But she is always smiling and never downhearted. No one has ever heard her utter a word of complaint. How can she do this? She, who has had so much, never mentions it.

ONE OF HER ADMIRERS.

ANSWER: It is not the things that a woman has that make her happy. It is what is in her soul. This woman has strength and courage and sportsmanship and she takes whatever blows life hands her on the chin and if she is knocked down she gets up and fights again.

Whether a woman is crushed by misfortune or not depends altogether on her own morale, on the stuff of which she is made. There are women who, when they lose their money, spend the remainder of their lives beating upon their breasts and telling about how they never expected to come to this. And there are other women who, when their fortunes are swept away, shrug their shoulders and courageously go out into the world and find jobs and get more fun out of it than they did in being rich.

Trouble is the acid that tests character. It shows whether a woman is pure gold or pinchbeck.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: About two years ago I married into a family who play cards and dance. I could get much pleasure from these amusements and fit in much better with my in-laws, but it would horrify my mother. She believes these are great evils and no one can make her think that they can be done in decency. Shall I be a wallflower everywhere I go, or play cards and dance and risk losing my mother's love?

L.G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I cannot advise you to hurt your mother, as you would by doing the things which she thinks are wrong, but which are in reality harmless diversions. You cannot argue with nor change fanaticism.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 21 years old and have been having a love affair with a married man. He is the father of two children and has a wife who is most attractive and devoted to him. At first I led him on against his will. I knew all about his wife and children, but I did not care and I won him away from his wife. Now he is crazy about me and wants to divorce his wife and marry me, but somehow I have come to realize just what I am doing to his children, so I told him that things had to stop and I wanted him to give me up. I still love him, but I feel that this sacrifice must be made. I am willing to make it, but he is not. What shall I do?

ISHTAR

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: The tragedy of every divorce is the children. Children need a settled home and a sense of security in which to grow up. They need love and tenderness as the flowers need sunshine; they need the guidence of both a father and a mother, and when they are deprived of these their lives are blighted.

Surely any man and woman must feel, if they have any conscience or any sense of honor, that they should stand almost anything in the way of marital unpleasantness rather than to bring such a fate upon their children.

So you are right in refusing to buy your happiness at the price innocent little children's well being.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a young girl graduating from high school. Not having money I am not able to take a four-year college course. I am not interested in teaching nor nursing nor business, and I have no special talents. Under these conditions how can I be successful in life?

ELSIE

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You can't be successful in anything unless you are interested in it. You have to love your work, you have to be willing to put every bit of yourself into what you are doing to get results. The lackadaisical people always fail.

Evidently you lack energy and ambition. Your trouble is laziness and until you cure yourself of that fault you will never amount to anything.

Dessert To Be Special Treat Is Chocolate Mint Pie

By KAY REX

OTTAWA, May 26. —(CP)— Chocolate Mint Pie is an excellent desert, either for "company" dinner or just as a special treat for the family.

Ingredients: one tablespoon gelatine; One-quarter cup cold water; two squares (two ounces) unsweetened chocolate; one-half half cup boiling water; three egg yolks; one-half cup sugar; one-quarter teaspoon salt; two drops oil of peppermint; three egg whites; two tablespoons sugar; one baked nine-inch pie-shell.

Soak gelatine in cold water for five minutes. Cook chocolate in boiling water, beating until smooth. Remove from heat, add gelatine and stir until dissolved. Beat egg yolks slightly, add sugar and salt. Slowly add the chocolate mixture. Add oil of peppermint and chill until partially set. Whip the egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in the two tablespoons sugar. Fold into chocolate mixture, pour into baked pie shell and chill until set. Yield: One nine-inch pie.

✧ ✧ ✧

Fruit Whip is an ideal springtime dessert.

Ingredients: two egg whites; one quarter to one-half cup sugar (or half sugar and half honey); one cup fruit pulp, fresh or canned; two teaspoons lemon juice.

Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Gradually beat in sugar or honey. Fold in fruit pulp and lemon juice and pile whip lightly into individual dishes. Serve cold with custard sauce. Yield: six servings.

Recipe for the custard: ingredients: two tablespoons sugar; one teaspoon cornstarch or two teaspoons flour; dash of salt; 1½ cups milk; two egg yolks or one whole egg; one-half teaspoon vanilla.

Mix sugar, cornstarch or flour, salt and one cup of the milk. Scald in double-boiler. Beat egg yolks with remaining milk. Add slowly to the hot milk, stirring constantly. Cook until mixture coats a spoon (about five minutes). Remove from heat, add vanilla. Yield: six servings.

✧ ✧ ✧

Health experts say that dancing until dawn may be romantic, but when it means two hours sleep before a heavy day it loses some of its glamor.

Everyone, regardless of age, needs an adequate amount of sleep to stay healthy. Most of us need an average of eight hours a day.

✧ ✧ ✧

Child's desire to conform—to be "one of the gang"—is a basic urge and health experts say parents should make an effort to allow a child to follow this instinct. Stubborn insistence on a different form of dress, different views and habits on the part of the parents may assume major importance to a child. Within reason the youngster should be allowed to be like other children in his neighborhood.

Daughter Says Father Shot At Her, Foreman

Sixteen-year-old Betty Brick testified in police court today that her stepfather, William Brick, Haultain, shot at her and Harry Rowe, 41-year-old father of seven children who lived three miles east of Apsley, early in the morning of May 1.

She said she knew her father objected very strongly to her leaving the house with Rowe, road foreman of the Department of Highways.

She testified that as Rowe was leaving the Brick home, Brick came out as far as the door and then went back in.

"I told Harry to go on because there would only be a fight," the girl said.

Brick then came out of the house and said "what's the matter?"

"I said he won't come in," Betty testified.

Brick went to the door of the truck in which Rowe was sitting, to pull him out and "give him a trimming."

Rowe reached back of his seat for an eight-inch steel bolt and Brick said

Got Gun

"I've got something that'll fix you," and went in and got the gun, the girl testified.

The girl then went on: Rowe was pulling away in his truck from the lane to the highway about 30 feet away. She was standing on the verandah. Brick came out with the gun and pointed it toward Rowe in the truck. She yelled because she though Brick was going to shoot. Rowe, hearing the shout, stopped and backed up his truck on the highway.

"Don't shoot. I'll go out to him," Betty said. At the truck she said to Rowe, "he's going to shoot us."

Rowe told her to get in the truck. She was almost completely in the truck when the shot was fired from the verandah.

Helping Wife

Both she and Rowe told the court she had been living in Rowe's home about six months "as a housekeeper helping his wife." Rowe said he paid Betty $10 a week, but hadn't paid her every week.

Rowe had been at the Brick home Sunday afternoon before the shooting. He drove with Brick, Mrs. Brick and Betty to Young's Point. They returned later and had some supper. During the day and evening the two men consumed two bottles of wine.

After a time Brick "started to chew the rag," telling Rowe he should make his own wife out more often and bring her down to the Brick home.

Rowe said that he often offered to take his wife out, but she refused. He then offered Brick the truck to go and get Mrs. Rowe. Brick didn't accept the offer.

Shortly after, Rowe started to leave and the events which led up to the shooting started.

Rowe denied there had been any hard feeling between Brick and himself in the house. He heard the report of rifle and saw the flash of the gun, but he couldn't see Brick. In Apsley he found a bullet hole in the running board of his truck and the muffler near the door by which Betty had been getting in.

Asked by defence counsel W. B. Gordon, "Where you aware William Brick took exception to Betty staying at your place?" Rowe replied, "Yes."

Stayed Night

Rowe said after the shooting he drove on with Betty and they reported the incident to Provincial Constable Howden. They then drove to the East road and stayed the rest of the night in the cab of the truck. At daylight Rowe drove Betty to her aunt's home in Young's Point, about 22 miles away and then reported for work near Apsley.

"Will you tell me why you didn't go turn to your own home that night?" Mr. Gordon asked Rowe.

"I figured it was too late," Rowe answered.

Under cross-questioning Rowe said there had been some talk during the evening about hugging between him and Betty. Asked if he would have used the steel bolt he reached for, Rowe said "No, I don't think so." He said he was unable to find the bolt there.

Betty Brick gave her evidence without taking an oath after Mr. Gordon questioned her ability to understand the implications of an oath taken on the Bible.

She said she had gone to church but when Mr. Gordon asked her "Do you know what it is to tell the truth?" the girl said "I say so."

The trial was adjourned to Monday morning Magistrate W. R. Phin, KC and Juvenile Court to attend. Brick's bail of $2,000 was reduced to $1,000.

Jordan Funeral

The funeral of John Jordan, 620 Union St., who died Sunday, was held Thursday from the Angle-Jay Funeral Home. Mass was said by Rev. R. Garley, at St. Peter's cathedral with Rev. K. Mil and in the Sanctuary. Father Garvey also conducted the graveside prayers at St. Peter's cemetery. Pallbearers were A. R. Bennett, J. Foster, J. Laing, J. Jenkinson, F. Fry and B. Whaley.

Western Oil Stocks Boon On Exchange

TORONTO, May 26 —(CP)— Western oil stocks boomed ahead to the highest average price level in 13 years as the session progressed on the Toronto stock exchange today. The trading spotlight turned from penny golds to the western oil list. Volume for the first three hours was 2,661,000 shares.

The western oil list started strong and climbed rapidly. Some signs of slackening in interest were evident in mid-session. Royalite and Home Oil were ahead fractions and Calgary and Edmonton, Pacific Petroleum, Okalta and Superior Oil showed gains ranging from five to 25 cents.

Industrials were strong in early trading but lost much of the advantage as the session progressed. Papers showed a stronger tone.

A few individual low-priced gold stocks traded briskly for some good gains. Much of the list was under pressure of profit-taking on recent strong advances.

Base metals sagged slowly with losses about tripling gains.

DRAWS HORSE

Bernard Wannamaker, 315 Bethune St., has drawn a horse in the Irish Sweepstake for the Derby to be run this Saturday in England. Name of the horse is Lucky Shot, and as name is last on the list. But Mr. Wannamaker will get $750 for drawing it—win place or show for Lucky Shot.

Real life as a cabbie sees it

Here are stories—some touching, some tender, some humorous—by a veteran New York taxi-driver of the parade of life he sees through his rear-view mirror.

For instance, the fare with the suspicious-looking sack—the unwed couple about to have a baby—the wife bringing her husband home from 10 years in prison—the homeless family who begged to sleep in the cab.

June Reader's Digest, now on sale, brings you these colorful real-life dramas—told by a cabbie who likes his job.
